NOTES FROM THE FILES OF A NEWSGIRL

Billy Daniel's, nothin but SINGSATIONAL, came into town with only a few hep to his identy T'other day, (but 'twasn't his fault) nevertheless, he's great for my money any day. Billy opened at the Cricket Club after completing successful engagements in N. Y. . . . S'a funny thing, but most folks nowaday's never give married couples their best wishes, instead they give them odds . . . Marian Abernathy bringing down the house (House in this case, is the Last Worl, Jerk) with her oh! so fine arrangement of "Hey Little Boy" . . . Hunter Gray Trio terrific as always, putting you in any kind of groove you wanta be put in, whether it's Hot, Sweet, Mellow or Groovy . . . Duke Johnson, Song writer informs us he has quite a number of articles designed and written to help other song writers who invariably gets hooked starting in the field. You'll probably hear more about it later . . . Alice Keys largely responsible for the booking of the acts over at Paul Rubins' Cricket Club informs us: There's nothin but big names in store for all NiteLifers who visit the spot . . . Big, wide and handsome Kenny Washington now in strict training, talking nothing but football nowadays . . . Omega "Skeets" King causing a customer to spill his drink (and Scotch at that) as she smiled prettily at him at Nelson Creswell's Cresbar . . . Who was the cute little ex-chorine in the Downbeat t'other A. M. trying to drown a torch in giggle water that just refused to be drowned? . . . Dansational Nicholas Bros. back in Paris again with their dancing tootsies . . . As a result of a column mention some time ago, we were informed that Joe Shipp has been labled "The dimpled darling." How bout that? . . . I've printed this before I know, but there is so much truth in it, we wanted to print it again, o'ja mind? . . . This was taken from the Kansas Herald: "Editing a newspaper is a nice thing. If we publish jokes, people say we are rattled-brained. If we don't we are fossils. If we print original matter, they say we don't give them enough selections. If we give them enough selections, they say we are too lazy to write. If we stay in at the office, we oughta be out looking for news items. If we go out, then we are not attending to business . . . There you have it, and that's just about how the story goes.

NOTES, NEWS AND NONESENSE

Aha, Eddie Davis tells us that "A woman's allure really evaporates, when she put on a sweater two sizes too large" . . . Disc Jockey Gene Norman really going over with a bang with those "Just Jazz" concerts. Next concert to be held at Civic and in Pasadena, will feature Dizzie Gillispie and band . . . We'll still maintain that the lowest prices in drinks are at Dynamite Jackson's Paradise Lounge . . . Hear that the Elks Lounge in Watts boasting a nice crowd, featuring the blues singing on week-ends of your Theat: Ed. Now that REALLY is something!!!! . . . That clamatis 23 perfume put on by the Giddings. Pharmacy will really hold you "Smellbound" . . . Well it's about that time again, ya know. They say nothin is really work unless you would rather be doing something else, and on a day like this I would rather be doing something else.

YVONNE DE CARLO, co-starring currently with Tony Martin and Peter Lorre in Universal-International's Marston production "Casbah," gives this advance demonstration of what the glamorous bathing beauties will be wearing on the seashore this summer.

Leonard Modulated From Music to Mail

Harlan Leonard, who once lead the hot Kansas City band under the same name, has quit the profession and is now working at the postoffice. The famed Kansas city bandsman has also purchased a home in Pasadena, and will desert the music profession and do nothing but relax from here on in. Relax, that is, when he isn't working at the postoffice.

Duncan Dances

Arthur Duncan, dancer-vocalist, has been signed for a featured spot in the current Bal Tabarin show. The popular little dance stylist and singer is fast gaining the recognition his showmanship and dance ability deserves.

There are about two pounds of radium in the world, worth about $18 million.

Joe Liggins and His Crew Opens at Downbeat Nitery

THE MOST TALENTED fingers in the kingdom of swing are those of Leomine Gray, who is featured with the Hunter Gray trio. The outfit recently concluded a terrific week at the Million Dollar theatre with the famed Ravens and Johnny Otis band. Miss Gray does everything to a piano but make it stand up and whistle "Nature Boy." Her style of playing is refreshing, and she's as talented as she is lovely! Don't take our word for it, you've got eyes. SO HAVE ! ! ! !

Leomine Gray Brightest Star on Musical Horizon

Each week the Million Dollar theatre keeps topping its previous session with a sock flesh package, but the lineup of the Ravens, Johnny Otis' band and the Hunter Gray trio, which closed the other Tuesday will be a tough one to beat. And that Hunter Gray trio with Leomine Gray on piano. Wow!

The Hunter Gray trio, who recently completed a sock four weeks engagement at the New Orleans club, San Francisco, is made up of Tony Gunn, drums, Hunter, Sax and Lemoine Gray, pianist and vocals. Of all the dolls who have zoomed across the musical horizon in a blaze of glory during the lear 1948.

Miss Gray is without a doubt the most refreshing. Somewhat on a Hazel Scott kick, Miss Gray plays more piano with her left hand than La Scott does with both of hers. For personality, she'll make Dorothy Donegan take a back seat, which is saying a lot as I consider Miss Donegan to have personality plus. This Gray gal, who authored the Sherman Williams hit, "Hello," is a tall, very attractive brownskin lass who needs only to be discovered by a talent scout to get the one big break her playing raes. Her slick salesmanship and youhftul personality is a solid click wherever the Hunter Gray trio plays.

Gray himself (who is very lucky to be married to one so charming and talented as Leomine) is a top saxist having formerly played with some of the country's leading dance orchestras. He formed his trio a few months ago and with Gunn beating them skins Mrs. Gray's little boy Hunter can just sit back and relax and wait as they're bound to be "discovered." They play too much music not to be. As for Leomine, well . . . remember that name as you'll be hearing plenty about he rone of these not-too-distant days. I don't know which I would rather do, listen to her play the piano or kiss her. Musically, that's a compliment!

Henderson Leads Top Swing Crew

Pianist Horace Henderson, who made quite a rep with his own band back in the windy city, and former Lena Hore accompanist, is leading a swingy little crew nitely at the House Of Rhythm, Long Beach.

Mr. Henderson, a pianist of top ability, has one of the zippiest little combos in the profession. Arthur Edwards, one of the two sole survivors in the big Natchez (Miss.) fire several years ago in which Walter Barnes' entire orchestra and several hundred dancers were burned to death, is playing bass with the outfit.

Elaborate Anniversary Party Given for Last Word Employees

The Last Word nightclub celebrated its first birthday (under the ownership of the Messrs. Edward Factor and Cy Miller) last Tuesday evening (or rather, early Wednesday morning) with an elaborate after-hour party. And what a party!

Following the completion of the last show, the management announced that a party "for the employees" would be staged, and for all the remaining guests on hand to "stick around" and enjoy the celebration.

And truthfully speaking, of all our many years of covering the nightclub beat from Harlem to Hollywood, we have never witnessed a more elaborate party as was given the other ayem by the Last Word management. There were more stars on hand than there are in heaven! Joe Turner and Jimmy Witherspoon, rated among the top ten blues singers of the nation, were on hand to sing a few numbers. And what singing! The boys let their hair down and gave out with lyrics never before heard in a nightclub, and take it from an overworked and underpaid nightclub reporter they rocked the joint! Leon Rene, who wrote "When The Swallows Come Back To Capistrano," was on hand. Eddie Dudley, featured with Ethel Waters played a piano solo, Marian Abernathy, Bobbe Caston, Eddie Miller and oh so many others sang a few songs to the satisfaction of all those present. Leomine Gray (the GRAYtest pianist-entertainer in the nation) gave out with Boogie Woogie), and then the fun began! Following Miss Gray's number, the management announced that the drinks and eats "is on the house!" An elaborate table was laid for the more than 100 guests in attendance. The partners Factor and Miller unlocked their liquor cabinet and announced "here it is, folks, let's drink and be merry!" And drink and be merry is what we didn't do anything else but, until the wee hours of the morning!

Champagne, Scotch and just about any brand of liquor on the market was on hand, and it flowed like water. It was a most orderly affair, and a fine tribute to two great guys, Mr. Factor and Miller, who will always head our list of top nite spot owners who go all out in presenting to the public the tops in entertainment at their famed Central avenue bistro.

Happy birthday, Last Word Cafe!

The noise you heard Tuesday night which sounded like another California earthquake was the rousing welcome being given Joe Liggins and his famous Honeydrippers, who moved into the Downbeat club for a limited engagement, following the Paul Gayten trio and singer Annie Laurie.

There isn't much to be said about Liggins that hasn't already been said before. He plays a rocking style of rhythm, his band is one of the finest little outfits around these parts and, of course, he made the song "Honeydripper" famous—and the song "Honeydripper" did likewise for Mr. Liggins.

Little Willie Jackson, a great little sax star, is a product of California music circles and blows enough horn to keep you satisfied even if you never hear the song "Honeydripper" again.

Ted Shapiro, genial Downbeat club owner, knows how to pick 'em for his spot. (Acts, we mean). He gives the public good entertainment and his cozy little club is an ideal spot to take mother, siser, wife, sweetheart or friend. Never any rough stuff, always an atmosphere of continental gaiety.

Liggins, who returned a few weeks ago from a cross-country theatre-nitery tour, closed last week at the Million Dollar theatre and had the guys and gals in the audience whistling and yelling in approval. They do the same thing at the Downbeat whenever he takes to the banstand, only in a more refined manner. But no matter where it is, when Joe Liggins steps to the bandstand, you're bound to hear a thundering round of applause. The guy has a sensational litlle band. We love his style of music, and as long as Joe Liggins is at the Downbeat club, the Downbeat club will be our after-sundown address!

Betty Hutton Is Solid Sender in Elmer Rice Pic

The new arrival this week on the screens of the Paramount Hollywood and Downtown Theraters, film version of Elmer Rice's smash hit, "Dream Girl," reveals a completely new Betty Hutton.

With emphasis laid on hilarious, if slightly unconventional light comedy, "Dream Girl" costars Betty Hutton, in the title role, with Macdonald Garey as the man of her dreams. As a matter of fact, Betty has four men in her dreams, but it's Garey who finally manages to convince her that living a dream is much more fun than just imagining.

Betty, who has exhibited her own brand of inimitable exuberance in previous film appearances, emurges in "Dream Girl" as a completely different person, a subdued, incurable romantic who lives in a fantastic dream-world. She has even acquired a new voice, one with a dreamy quality which is said ti fit her portrayal perfectly.

And the fabulous Hutton singing? That, too, has vanished. In one of her flights of fancy the dream-girl imagines herself as "Madame Butterfly" and the famous Hutton brand of "be-bop" gives way to "Butterfly" without the slip of a note.

A cast of favorites appear in support; featured are Patric Knowles, Virginia Field, Walter Abel and Peggy Wood.

Nice Work If You Can Get It; And Gipson's Got It!

By J. T. Gipson, Theatrical Editor

It may interest my readers (particularly the cute little kiddies) to know that I once interviewed Lena Horne in the nude.

She was barefooted up to her chin! And I hasten to add for the benefit of those who think anything is possible in Hollywood, that this it not customary. Interviewee's usually wear clothes. But not this time, and I was glad all over. It was raining like mad, so she said, but I couldn't tell: Talking to Lena Horne with no clothes on, who'd pay any attention to the weather?

"Hello," I said, not caring whether my approach was original or not.

"Hello," she said, apparently feeling likewise. She had just been given a rub-down by a massaeur (Hmf, imagine anyone getting paid for that kind of work!) and was relaxing comfortably in a plain, old upright bed. Only clothes she had on was a white turbin-like snood covering her copper colored tresses. Her face was covered with greasy goo, and she was resting before going to the theatre for her first show.

"How long is your current tour booked for?" I asked in the seriousness of a good interviewer. She answered that the Oriental in Chicago would be her last theatre appearance before returning to Hollywood and pictures.

"What about your love life, Miss Horne?" I probed. "Are you in love with anyone?"

"Oh, J. Teeeeeeee," she cooed, "don't go romantic on me at a time like this. (I know of no better time to go romantic on a person, thought I to myself, devilishly but saying nothing.)

"If you must know," she continued, "just tell your readers that I'm desperately in love with my work!" And she does take her work seriously, too! During World Hell No. 2, she played more army camps than any other Negro performer. Which reminds me of the classic line a G-I pulled during one of her wartime USO tours. She turned down a Joe's offer of cake at a party, saying: "I have to watch my figure." Replied the soldier: "You eat the cake, I'll watch your figure!"

Laying there undrapped, she confessed that she was born in the borough where the tree grows, Brooklyn, if you've never read the book and don't know what I'm talking about. Her overnight rise to stratospheric heights was nothing short of phenominal. Grant never took Richmond like Lena Horne took Hollywood. She has a personality as sincere as a baby's hug, and she's the most beloved actress in Harlemwood. The loveliest, too, if you ask me (and even if you didn't.)

Let's continue on with the interview. The poor girl laying there with no clothes on is probably catching h[illegible]th a cold, and all for the sake of accommoding me with a story.

"Well, er-rr-rr-r, Miss Horne," I stammered, trying to keep my mind on my work, "do you believe Hitler is dead?"

"I don't know. Do you?"

"I don't know. Do you?"

"You just ask me that."

"So I did."

"Has it stopped raining yet?" I asked.

"Why, No!" she said.

"Well, mabbe it will."

"Yeah," she replied, maybbe so."

"How are your children?" I asked, with every ounce of sincerity I could muster.

"ooOOOH, J. Teeeeee," she cooed again, half-smiling and half-laughting. "You're a darrr-rrrling, and I love you!"

"Why?" I asked. (Silly of me, wasn't it, when the conversation was on the verge of turning in my favor?)

"Because," she explained. "you're the FIST reporter to ever ask about my family. Most interviewers always ask me about my love life, and silly stuff like that."

"Well, how ARE they?" I asked again, remembering the adage, towit: "If you want the Cow, go after the Calf!"

"They're swell!" she said, I keep their pictures in the dressing room with wherever I work."

"Sure you do," I sarcasm'd, "and also Billy Srayhorn's!"

"Oh, Sweetpea?" she smiled. "He's my little buddie, so don't start pouting."

"Hmf," I hmf'd.

"Why don't you tell your readers about him? He's a great guy!"

Okay, readers. Billy Strayhorn is an arranger for Duke Ellington's band. Billy Strayhorn wrote "Take the A-Train." Billy Strayhorn thinks he's cute just because Lena Horne keeps a 20x22 inch picture of him in her dressing room wherever she works. I don't know him personally. Only not to speak to. And not because of Lena Horne, either! I just don't like arrangers!

"Well, I gotta get up and dress for the theatre," she said, "thanks for all the swell write-ups you've given me. You're a sweetheart." (I looked silly as hell when she said tht; stuck my finger in the corne of my mouth, shook my head fom side to side and said 'glub-tub," or something just as silly.)

She had to get up ad dress for the theatre, but I didn't wanna leave. I was ajoying myself. But the Operator said my three minutes wee up, and to signal when it finished talking.

You see, Lena Horne was in Chicago and I was in Los Angeles!

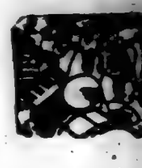
King Cole Returns to City July 16th

Nat "King" Cole and his world famous trio, featuring guitarist Irving Ashby and bassist Johnny Miller, return to his headquarters in Los Angeles July 16 for an indefinite stay at Ciro's, popular Sunset Strip nitery. Ale group, following the Ciro'sun will open at the Million $ thatre Aug. 10 for a week with Bany Carter's new band.

Nat and his budds spent all of June at the NewYork Paramount theatre in a brilliant presentation which so featured the singing sensation Kay Starr, as an extra added attaction.

The King's latest ac, "Erutan Yob" (spelled backwrds — Nature Boy) long ago assed the 1,000,000 mark in sale and Mrs. Coles' little boy Nataniel has been ringing up the iggest box office grosses of h 10-year career since the NB cord was released three months ago on a purple-label Capitol dr.



Rockets Return

The dancing trio, ated as one of the best in sho busines, leave for Las Vegs next week to begin a limitedengagement at the swank El Rancho club.

THEATRE — NITE SPOTS

J. T. Gipson, Theatrical Editor

J. T. GIPSON

PATROLLIN' THE BRONZEVILLE BEAT: Jonnie Patterson oughta be looked over by a talent scout. She has a voice as breathless and exciting as a Trumpet chorus by Dizzy Gillespie! . . . Penny Williams (who says more with her eyes than most dolls do with words) has most of the bachelors in the social set running over each other for an intro. She's a chic chick. . . . Levi Burnley (the colyum's "shadow") has fallen heart over heels in luff with a Bowie named Essie. . . . The Bob Williams-Hazel Weaver romance has no more future than a cake of ice. It blew up in smoke the other sundown over a doll named Della. . . . Corinne Sims, who stenogs so efficiently for the Los Angeles Pleece dep't, has one of the nicest dispositions of any dumpling we know. She's Eric's wife. Eric, as if you didden know, plays all that bass with the Monte Easter band. . . . Aside To My Undertaker: When I die I don't even want Almena Davis to attend my funeral. If she does I'll get up and walk out! . . . Hey, Joe Adams. How 'bout a battle of music between my band (Monte Easter) and your crew (Eddie Davis)? We'll spot you two arrangements, a piano solo and still blow yer brains out! . . .

MR. GIPSON

FROM HARLEM TO HOLLYWOOD: The studios are overlooking a good bet in Gayle H. Dooms (Harlem's answer to Sabu). He has talent and is my idea of a miniature Orson Welles! Did'ja see him in the Talisman studio documentary film, "The Negro Sailor?" That's the kind of acting we enjoy! . . . Harriet Ortega (she's a member of the dancesational THREE FLASHES), in the Downbeat club last week wearing one of those off-the-shoulder dresses with curves too tight in just the right places. She's as pretty as she thinks she is. . . . Overheard In The Memo: "She's got six kids already. Whassamatter, ain't her old man ever heard of Ovaltine?" . . . Hadda Brooks and Dorothy Donegan will do a tune auth'd by Ye Ed titled "Include Me Out of Your Dreams." Tune comes out when the record ban is lifted, and Dorothy (as a favor to the Gip) will sing for the first time in her career! Wait'll ya' hear the tune!! . . . Boyd Pinkston (you know him better as Mac) opens a Men's Shop next week on 36th and Western. If some of his clothes are as smart as the ones he wears, he should get richer just peddlin' garments! . . . "Any girl past nineteen," says Arthur Adams, "is middle-aged." . . . Vaino Hansen (she's as exciting as her name) is studying law at L. A. State College. . . . Have you heard Cat Anderson's recording of "Trumpet No End?" Whew! What terrific trumpetooting!! . . . Buddy Garcia celebrated his 29th birfday last week, and may the Lord forgive me for telling such a bare-faced lie! . . . 'Ja ever notice Florence Williams' cute smile? She stenogs for one of the local barristers. You can tell she's from California. You can tell it by the sunshine in her smile. . . . Julie Anderson and Raymond Brown feel the same way about each other. . . . Florita Ware (she's a top fave over at this desk) spent the holiday in Elsinore. . . . John Lee, Managing Editor of the EAGLE, attended Jessie Mae Brown's wedding reception and said, "Where do you get a drink—is there any beer around here?" "We can give you some water," he was told. "Who's dirty?" he demanded indignantly. . . . Byron and Beau, sensational dance team, have the greatest act on the niteclub circuit! . . .

THE WEAKLY NEWSREEL: Margo Pickett (she's one of the reasons lotta guys flock to the Downbeat) looks good in white. Ah, hell! She looks good in ANYTHING!! . . . Mary (what th' heck's her last name?) came into Jack's Basket Room the other two in the ayem and had all the guys drooling over her loveliness. They were really looking. Looking? You mean GLARING! Mary's the cute Congo club cashier. . . . Choe Adams had his telephone number changed last week. Oh, please! How famous can we get? Just for the helluvit I oughta list it in the col'm and have all you guys etc. call him up all hours of the yawning. May still do it. Depends on the mood I'm in next columntime. . . . You can say what you wanna about Bill Alexander, but giving credit where credit is due, the guy is just about the top painter and commercial artist in town. I have two favorite artists: Wm. Alexander and a Young, named Leonard. They can paint a scene prettier than the scene itself! . . . Gladys Bruce, the pet of the social set, is recuperating from a cold. Tough luck always happens to the nicest people! . . . Sportsman Pete Shephard is also a top singer. His singing's got oomph! . . .

IN MEMORY OF A FRIEND: God wrapped his heart around the soul of Leroy S. Hart and called him to heaven last week. Do I hear some guy in the second row ask? "Who is Leroy S. Hart?" He, until his untimely death Thursday last, was Managing Editor of the Los Angeles Sentinel. I have met three great guys in my life. Leroy S. Hart was one of them. Six years ago I had the extreme pleasure of working under Mr. Hart who, at the time, was Managing Editor of the California Eagle. Mr. Hart taught me more about the newspaper game in a month than I could ever hope to learn in a lifetime. He, like John M. Lee, was a hard boss. But he was a good one. He didn't care what I told the people in my column, as long as I told them the truth. He was a stickler for facts, a prince of good fellows with a heart as big as all outdoors and a friendship as sincere as a handclasp from the late FDR. We loved Leroy HEART from the depths of ours. And if God answers prayers, may the soul of Leroy Hart rest in peace. Until we meet again, Goodnight, Sweet Prince!! . . .

MEMOS OF A MID-NIGHTER: If Almena Davis was a man and I was Jewish, I'd call her a "momser." . . . Ha! Talk about a sensayuma! James "Hawk" Nelson (who plays all that Tenor with the M. Easter band) called Monte the other day and said: "I won't be at rehearsal today. I'm making love to a chorus girl." "We have no rehearsal today," answered the startled bandleader. "Well," said Hawk as he hung up, "I just want you to know that if you had a rehearsal, I wouldn't be there." . . . Matthew Thompson, the progressive young b'snessman about town is a great Don Juan and many girls have gone crazy over him, some of whom were not crazy already. He is handsome, electrifying, brilliant, gay, sweet, strong, clever, smart, witty, pungent, well-dressed—and that oughta rate a bottle of Scotch! . . . The 1947 telephone directory reveals the startling fact that there are only 4 Virgins in Los Angeles. . . . So it doesn't pay to advertise, huh? A famed moom pickcha starlet read in last week's col'm about the chickens being sooo fat and fine down at boxer John Thomas and sportsman Willie Sampson's Poultry Mkt. (4019 S. Avalon) and came all the way from Hollywood, s' 'elp me God, just to buy a couple! Her initials are 13-23. . . . They tell me the little Anti-Social editor of the Los Angeles Spittune has a birthday coming up. I would send her a present but there's no way of wrapping up a bronx cheer. . . .

THE FINALE: Spencer Browne, the town's top tonsorial artist, is the best-dressed barber in town. He changes his clothes more times a day than my nephew who is three months old. . . . Not that it's news, of course, but someone over my shoulder in a friendly game of Klob Yosh asked who I thought was the loveliest debutante in the teen-age set. That's easy. Ruth Thompson, who is much prettier than her brother Matthew. . . . Other Thug-Hunters in the Police dep't. should take a lesson in "dealing with the public" from Offic'r. Kenneth Shipp. What a wonderful little guy he is. But don't let his friendliness and easy-going manner fool ya!—he's tougher'n three Jersey Joe Walcotts! . . . One of the happiest days of my life was spent at the Elks Lounge (Watts) the other evng. in the company of Nadine Coles and Elyse (Toole) Desormes, two of the best friends I've had in my life. Elyse encouraged me when I first started in the newspaper game, and she's never stopped plugging for the col'm. Nadine has always been a friend. And I love 'em both from the bottom of what I call my heart. . . . "Are those real diamonds?" I asked a famed local playgirl the other night when she was bedecked with an armful of ice. "If they aren't," she quipped, "I've been raped!" . . . The Max Williams referred to in the col'm several editions ago about investing in a gambling den is Max Williams, the gambler, and NOT Max Williams, the Printer! . . . I call it a col'm. You can meet me in the Dunbar hotel lobby and call it whatever you like!

PAUL GAYTEN, who leads the famed Paul Gayten trio, is surrounded by a group of fans and friends in the interior of Johnny Murray's Record Shop, 4161 S. Central Ave., where he appeared in person last Saturday to autograph hs latest recordings.

The Female T-Bone Walker Is Clicking at Last Word Nitery

In case some of you wondered why we're always plugging the Last Word, you have only to catch the current show for the answer. Those guys Factor and Miller really know what they're doing when it comes to giving the public what it wants. And the public will always want such stars as Marian Abernathy, Little Emily Foster, the 5-Bits of Rhythm, La Tanya, Johnny Creach and Bobbe Caston That's the lineup now on tap at the Last Word nitery.

Marian Abernathy, who is called the female T-Bone Walker, The Blues Woman and other names (all of which are nice), is a more polished and refreshed singer than when she last appeared on Central ave. several years ago. Her style of singing the blues in a big, round, deep Tallulah Bankhead'sh voice is on the solid side. At the show caught by this reviewer, she wrapped things up in a neat little package and walked away with honors. Tho on the other hand, you can't very well single out any one performer on the current Last Word bill and label that particular entertainer "star." Every act at the Word is a star. Take little Emily Foster, for instance. (and we'd gladly take her any time!) she can hold her own (and often does) on any bill featuring any artist in show b'sness. You know what those five entertaining bits of rhythm can do; La Tanya's the hottest hip-hurler to hit these parts in ages, and Bobbe Caston is and always has been a favorite!

Yep, it's a solid show at the Last Word, and proof that we're not just going haywire in our sugary review of the bistro is the fact that the club is enjoying capacity b'sness.

In case they didn't know it, owners Factor and Miller have a bartender who sings better than most guys who do it for a living. His name is Eddie Miller, and the grand little guy once sang with Leo Davis and Kenneth McVea's band. Not, of course, at the same time.

Why shouldn't we column-praise the Last Word whenever we feel like it? Here's a club not only with a star-studded show, and top performers, but a bartender who can out-sing most singers in other clubs!

SITTING PRETTY is shapely Miss Gladys Leonard, entrant in contest. Yes sir, the Miss Bronze Pacific Coast Beauty Contest in conjunction with the beauticians, barbers, and business men and women popularity contest, reaches a boiling point with many red hot beauties standing in line to have their photos taken for this big event. This year the affair will be bigger than the one held at the Avalon ballroom last year. Yes, indeed, ladies and gentlemen, Sid Hazeur, mgr. of the Bronze Pacific Coast production, says, "The girls are not unlike a beautiful bouquet of rare roses." New entrants, call at 5521 South Central Ave. AD. 7832.

Matthew Thompson And Joe Shipp Sign Easter Band

Monte Easter, whose band broke all existing records last week-end during their two-day engagement at Sammy Warren's Elks Lounge, in Watts, were signed up last week as the featured attraction at the soon-to-open Club Chesterfield, a newly-planned bistro to be owned and operated by Matthew Thompson and Joe Shipp, popular young businessmen about town.

Shipp and Thompson announced that their plan to bring Billie Holiday to the Angel City for the opening of their spot went haywire when it was learned that Miss Holiday wouldn't be able to leave the state of New York for a certain period until her parole is up. Miss Holiday, who is one of the top singers of the nation, was recently released from prison following her conviction on a narcotics charge.

Appearing with the Monte Easter band will be the Nelson Alexander Trio, and Valda Williams, singer of the blues. The Club Chesterfield will announce its opening date next month.

Ethel Waters in Benefit for Santa Monica NAACP Branch

One of the most distinguished singing actresses of our day, Miss Ethel Waters, will come to Barnum Hall, Santa Monica, on July 10 for one appearance only.

This is a benefit program and is under the auspices of the Santa Monica NAACP.

Miss Waters, long a favorite with all types of theater business, now adds another phase to her remarkable career, that of a one-woman show. Her present "Theater of Ethel Waters Hits" combines successes from many of her past performances, including "As Thousands Cheer," "Cabin in the Sky," "Mambas Daughters" and others. A number of new songs and dramatic bits are also prominently placed on the program.

Fletcher Henderson, the well-known pianist-composer, will be the accompanist, and Ed ley Jr., baritone, protege Waters, the assisting ar

Evans, Matson Qualify for Olympic Finals Fri. & Sat.

(Special to the California Eagle)

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—The grand old man of the American cinders, Barney Ewell, Northwestern's Bill Porter, and those two flyers from the Islands, Lloyd LaBeach and Herb McKenley, provided the major thrills and upsets here last Friday and Saturday in the AAU Track and Field meet.

The New York Athletic Club won the team championship by 84 points to the runner up Los Angeles Athletic Club's 69 1/3.

Upsets And Records

The upsets and the record shattering went like this:

1. On Friday afternoon, hammering Herb McKenley, the Jamician ace, generally regarded as the finest quarter miler of all times, set a new worlds record for the 400 meters when he came flying home in front by 15 yards in the time of 45.9. McKenley came back to loaf through a 46.3 400 meters on Saturday to easily outrun former Jefferson High School (LA) star Mel Whitfield and San Francisco's amazing prepster, Ollie Matson.

2. Lloyd LaBeach equalled the worlds mark for 200 meters around a curve when he was clocked in 20.8.

3. Barney Ewell pulled the first big upset when he bought Harrison Dillard's string of wins to an end at 82 by defeating the Baldwin-Wallace flash in a 10.6 100 meters. The time was slow considering Dillard had beaten Ewell the previous day in a 10.4 100 meters.

4. Northwestern's Bill Porter, however, provided probably the meet's biggest surprise. Porter, who had not only been known as a fine hurdler, but as the "last man to beat Harrison Dillard," clipped the great Baldwin-Wallace ace timber topper by two yards in a 14.1 110 meter high hurdle race. The defeat of Dillard was especially surprising due to the fact that Dillard has consistently run the event in the 13s class. The defeat marked he first time Dillard had been beaten in the high hurdles since Illinois' George Walker defeated him in the North Central Association Track meet in 1946. Porter was previously the last man to beat Dillard having bested the Ohio hurdler in the Los Angeles Colisieum Relays in 1947. The defeat was in the 220 yard low hurdles.

Negro Athletes Star

Long legged Herb Bartren, the Michigan flyer who has suddenly blossomed into one of the nation's top half milers, came roaring home in front to cop the 800 meters in the good time of 1.51.3. He was chased across the wire by two other Negro runners, New York University's Reggie Pearman, and Tarver Perkins of the Illinois A. C.

Jumping without the presence of Willie Steele, Paul Johnson of Michigan State and Lorenzo Wright of Wayne University, finished in the order in the broad-jump.

Southlanders Qualify

Among the local athletes who placed better than sixth, thereby qualifying for this Friday and Saturday's Olympic finals at Northwestern University, are: Leonard Evans of Los Angeles City College in the hop step and jump and Ollie Matson of San Francisco in the 400 meters.

Should newspapers print the whole and unadulterated truth? If so, one might read such items as the following:

Andrew S. Pinchbottle, employed in the local steel plant, died at his home next Monday a week. The doctor said it was heart failure. What a laugh! Everyone in town knew that too much whiskey killed him!

LEONARD EVANS

Lorenzo Wright Out for Tripple

EVANSTON, Ill.—A husky, barrel chested Negro star athlete from Wayne University will be out to set Olympic history this week end in the final United States Olympic trials at Dyche Stadium, in Evanston.

Wayne University's great star Lorenzo Wright holds the distinction of being the only athlete among 200 Olympic trial competitors who have qualified in three different events.

Seventeen others have qualified in two events, but two of the seventeen, Cliff Bourland and Fortune Gordien have announced that they would forsake one of their events in the final trials. Bourland will only run the 200 meters and Gordien will compete only in the shotput.

Wright is entered in the 200 meters and the 100 meter dashes, and the broadjump. The 100 meter finals will be held on Friday afternoon while the 200 meters will be held on Saturday morning. The broadjump will be Saturday afternoon.

Tuskegee Athletic Awards Presented

TUSKEGEE, Ala. — Miss Theressa Malone and Claude C. George were awarded the Malone Awards for 1948 here last week.

The annual awards of cash, which are presented to the man and woman student who have done the most to bring glory and fame to the institute during the year, were presented at special services here.

Miss Malone was awarded the woman's Malone prize on the basis of her outstanding ability on the track while a member of the champion Tuskegee woman's track and field team. Miss Malone is considered a good choice to make the United States Olympic team.

George was awarded a Malone award on the basis of his outstanding prowess on the basketball court while a member of the 1947 "Skeegie" casaba squad.

The awards are made possible by Mrs. Rosa Malone of Seattle, Wash., a graduate of Tuskegee Institute.

Olympic Tests At Evanston This Weekend

Special to the California Eagle

EVANSTON, Ill.—The greatest array of American track and fielr talent assembled since 1936, well over 200 strong, will be out to win one of the 56 free boat rides to London this coming Friday and Saturday when the final U. S. Olympic trials are held here at Northwestern University's giant Dyche Stadium.

With the field narrowed down to six men from the NCAA finals and six men from the AAU finals, the competition for the comparatively scant places will probably be greater in most events than will be found at London.

Not since the United States hosted the Olympics in 1932 at Los Angeles, has there been a greater interest in track and field throughout the land. The meet here Saturday is expected to lure more than 60,000 spectators into the Wildcat bowl.

Here in Evanston and sorrounding terriority, every man woman and child who has a passing knowledge of track and field has set himself up as an expert. Of course the new found wonders are picking what they think will be the final U. S. Olympic track squad.

As one could probably guess, the gamblers and sporting bloods who usually steer clear of track and field, are betting heavily on the Olympic finals. The boys in the betting houses are favoring USC's Mel Patton to win both number 1 sprint places, Gil Dodds to grab the 15000 meter win spot, and Chuck Fonville and Willie Steel to be out in front of the broadjumpers and shot putters. Off his performance last week end in the AAU, Harrison Dillard has slipped to "even money" for the top U. S. hurdler.

U. S. Olympic Games Funds Fall Short

CHICAGO—The necessary funds needed to send the American Olympic team to London this summer are still far short, it was revealed this week by Olympic Chairman Average Brundage.

The announcement stated that of the $500,000 needed, the committee was about $90,000 short.

The team is due to sail July 14, from New York. The committee further said that a part of the money would come from the track finals at Evanston and the swimming finals at Detroit.

ON THE TURF

By Geo. A. Ramsey

CALIENTE, Old Mexico—Before a gala holiday crowd of more than 8000 lovers of the sport of kings Texas Son, who was running with $1,500 claimers stepped up in class to whip some of the best sprinters on the grounds and capture the feature event last Sunday. It was "The Independence Day" handicap at six furlongs. Opening on the morning line at ten to one the fans thought that he was outclassed and installed Wickford Point the favorite and Little Delph second choice. But when the running started it was Texas Son from wire to wire lasting to beat Adam W. by a neck, with Silver Leader who ran for $15,000 at Santa Anita third. The winner paid in the mutuels $14.40, 6.00, 4.20 across the board. The time was 1:11 3/5. In the secondary attraction called "The Liberty" also at six furlongs Ronnie Vee the fast son of Rip Rap-Sweepingly came from sixth place in the stretch to wear down the pase setting Almo Boy and score by two lengths. Paying in the mutuels as favorite $4.80. The daily-double combination of Adaleg winner of the second race and Alice Q. victor of the third paid $221.40. While the quniela backers of Pima Chieftain and Audrito who finished in that order received $49.20. General Manager Walter C. Marty. Announced for this Sunday two big feature events to support the twelve race program. The feature attraction will be "The El Cerrito" handicap at one mile and one-sixteenth. The best handicap horses on the grounds will compete in this event. "The Abberta" is his secondary attraction at six furlongs. Again the best sprinters will vive for honors. At the greyound races it's that popular miracle man General Manager William Collier that has made hare and hounds races at Caliente the greatest night sport that has ever hit the border own. With some of the best dogs in the country competing and large payoff with qunielas paying as high as $700. The fans crowd this unique plant five nights a week, Wednesday thru Sunday. General Manager Collier plans many big event thru the months of July and August. Many Negro clubs and organizations will be his guest. The Dennis T. William Post of the American Leigon with the bugle and drum corps and ladies auxiliary will be one of the feature nights for August. When one ask's another along Market Street where your going the answer is always the same. I'm going to the dogs. So-long George.

If grease in a frying pan should catch fire, throw a handful of salt or baking soda into it. Never use water; it spreads the flame. If there's a cover handy, use it to smother the falme.

Yankees Ink Hampton Ace

HAMPTON, Va. — Three-time All-CIAA and one-time Negro All-American halfback Tom Casey of Hampton Institute has signed a contract to play with the New York Yankees of the All-American Football Conference, it was announced this week.

The 24-year-old Navy veteran, who hails from Wall, Pa., was one of the top backs ever to perform in the CIAA. He was chosen on the All-Conference teams of 1943, 1946 and 1947. He was also selected as a first team Negro All-American.

Graduating in June at the head of his class, Casey will report to the Yankee training camp July 28.

Jamaica's Wint Beaten in 880

(Special to The EAGLE)

LONDON — Jamaica's Arthur Wint, considered by many authorities, including United States Olympic Track Coach Dean Cromwell, as the world's top middle distance man, could do no better than third here Saturday in a special 880-yard run.

The race was run as a part of the Amateur Athletic Association's track meet.

The winner of the race was slim 24-year-old Britisher Harry Bartlett. The time was 1:52.2.

Australian John Trealor dampened British Olympic hopes when he defeated the top island sprinters in a slow 9.8 100-yard dash.

G. V. Nakenville of England ran the mile in 4:14.2.

TICKET SALE ON

Public sale of tickets for the August 18 charity football game in the Rose Bowl between the Los Angeles Dons and the San Francisco 49ers opened this week.

The game will mark the curtain raiser of the local football season and also the first time a professional football team has played in the giant Pasadena Arroyo. It will also be the first appearance of Jimmy Phelan as a local coach.

Tickets can be secured from the Dons' home office, 706 South Hill.

DONS INK GRAHAM

The Los Angeles Dons of the All-American Football Conference announced this week that Mike Graham, 5' 11 stick of football dynamite from the University of Cincinnati has signed a Don contract.

Graham become the fifth fullback on the Don's rooster. The AAC team opens training camp July 15 at Ventura.

JARRIN JOHN INKS '48 CONTRACT

Heach Coach of the Los Angeles Dons of the All-American Football Conference, Jimmy Phelan, announced this ween that John Kimbrough, All American fullback from Texas A&M and star fullback for the Dons for two years, has inked his 1948 Don contract.

DODGERS SIGN CHAPPIUS

Brooklyn—That Chap-Bob Chappius, All-American halfback on the 1947 University of Michigan's mythical National Champion and Rose Bowl Champion team, signed this week with the Brooklyn Dodgers of the All American Football Conference, owner Branch Rickey announced this week. Although the rival National Football League had announced that Chappius was all but signed with the Philadelphia Steelers of that league, the Wolverine ace decided to cast his lot with the Dodgers Rickey said. The Branch of Brooklyn did not announce the terms of Chappius' contract. The Dodgers meet the Los Angeles Dons September 10 in Los Angeles for their first game.

RAMS SIGN TWO MORE VETERANS

Two more of the rough and tough veterans of the '47 Los Angeles Rams of the National Football League, have signed 1948 contracts, owner Dan Reeves announced this week. The two veterans are guards Roger Eason and Milan Lazetich. The announcement was also made by another Ram veteran—Old 98 Tommy Harmon—that he would forsake football wars in favor of doing television broadcasts for NBC.

Edwards Moved To Third Base

BROOKLYN—Roy Campenella, hard hitting rookie Negro catcher was returned to the Brooklyn Dodgers this week in hopes of bolstering the disappointing National League Champions hitting power.

The announcement of Campenella's return from the St. Paul Dodger farm team, by Branch Rickey astounded the sporting world due to the fact that number one Dodger catcher, Bruce Edwards, has been doing very well behind the plate. However the amazement turned to disbelief when Campenella reported the early part of this week. The 194 pound husky Negro lad was assigned to a starting catching position and Bruce Edwards was shifted to third base. The move was regarded by baseball observers to be a move on Doroucher's part to insert more hitting power into the weak Brooklyn line up.

Campenella played for the Kansas City Royals before coming up to the Dodgr farm club Montreal last season. He was given a tryout with the Dodgers earlier in the season and was sent down to Saint Paul for more seasoning. His prowess with the bat and his outstanding work behind the plate led Rickey and Doroucher to recall him to the Dodgers.

He is 21 years old and is married and the father of a small son.

Ramsey's Hollypark Picks

With the Western (formerly the Derby) and the American Handicap now passed into history. This Saturday feature will be the Starlet Stakes for two-year-olds at six furlongs with an added value of $25,000. My pick for the race is Audacious Man first. Chaliandy second. And Top Turrett third.

EVERY DAY—EVERY YEAR

Louis Qualifies In Golf Tourney

CLEVELAND — Joe Louis pounded out a six over par 78 to qualify for the sixth annual City Golf Association's golf tournament here last Saturday.

Another champion, welterweight kingpin Ray (Sugar) Robinson, was way off his usually good game and shot a disappointing 109.

The tournament will continue all this week.

Bruins Schedule Fighting Illini

Apparently not satisfied with the licking they took in the 1947 Rose Bowl, the University of California At Los Angeles announced this week that a home and home, two year grid pact, has been signed with the University of Illinois.

The series will open on Friday night, October 13, 1950, when the Fighting Illini meets the Bruins in the Los Angeles Coliseum. The date for the 1951 game has not been decided yet.

The only other time the Bruins met the Illini was on January 1, 1947, when the Illini rolled over the Bruins 45-14 in the Rose Bowl.

Los Angeles — About 45,000 different operations are required in the manufacture of a modern, highspeed airplane engine.

Kiddies Review Ends Charity Drive in Embassy Presentation

The annual financial drive of the Style Art Charity and Sewing club, for the benefit of the Children's Orthopedic hospital and the Tuberculosis Sanitorium of the Outdoor Life and Health association, will end Saturday night with the presentation of the Willie Covan Juvenile Review. The presentation featuring the famous kiddies of stage and screen will be at the Embassy Auditorium, curtain time being at 8 p.m.

The kiddies to be presented are students of Willie Covan.

This will mark the third year of sponsorship of the Covan Kiddies by the Style Art club. One of the highlights of the evening will be an Indian dance and many featured dance routines.

Darryl Hickman, of movie fame, is one of Willie Covan's pupils and will be on hand for a specialty number.

Tickets are on sale by the members of the Style Art club and are on sale at the Willie Covan Dance Studio, 1316 E. 41st st., and Tots 'n' Teens Juvenile Shop, 2048½ W. Jefferson blvd.

Columnist and Pianist to Be Feted at Party

An elaborate dinner party is being planned for Dorothy Donegan and Nightclub Editor JT Gipson by C. A. Barber and Lester Walker, of the Harlem Cafe. Miss Donegan, currently appearing at the Actor's club, San Francisco, will return to the city of the Angels next week, and will be feted upon her return. The reason for the party? None at all, other than the fact that the Messrs. Barber and Walker are friends of Miss Donegan and Mr. Gipson. That's their story. Here's mine: Mr. Barber, who formerly owned and operated the club Cafe Society, gave Miss Donegan her first job when she arrived in Los Angeles. Miss Donegan literally made a mint for Mr. Barber during her stay at his club. Mr. Gipson gave Mr. Barber some sugary notices in his column and theatrical section of the California Eagle—and Mr. Barber and Mr. Walker now feel it's time to retaliate!

T-Bone Walker Solid Sender On Tour

After a successful four weeks engagement at the Last Word nitery in which he broke all existing records, Aaron (T-Bone) Walker lit out for Eastern pastures in late June, taking with him a small combo under the musical direction of sax star Jim Wynn.

Walker, who is truly the undisputed king of the blues, scored his biggest success on records several seasons back with "Mean Old World" on a Capitol record. It was waxed in 1942 and remains, six years later, one of the biggest-selling discs on the market.

In his newly formed Combo, the Bone features the terrific tenor-tooting of Freddie Simon, who formerly tooted his tenor with the Marl Young crew, Shifty Henry on bass (and also the author of some of Walker's most famed blueslyrics), Eddie Henry on trumpet and Snake Simson drums.

T-Bone Walker has been breaking records all across the Eastern seaboard with his nifty little package unit.

Safety Now or Sorrow Later!

To avoid injury to children over the Fourth of July holiday season, the Los Angeles police department recommends that parents take their children to the city parks and playgrounds, to the fireworks displays, and not to leave their children open to the unprotected use of fireworks.

In this way, the problem which caused 20 to be killed and 175 injured last year during the Fourth of July season, can be greatly diminished this year.

Southern Calif. PCA Merges With IPP

The Southern California Chapter of the Progressive Citizens of America, at a meeting of the Board of Directors held recently, voted unanimously to merge with the Independent Progressive Party of California.

Bert Witt, state chairman, who presided at the meeting, reported that 100% of the PCA chapters had officially moved to merge. PCA members who have contributed a minimum of $2 to the PCA, will not be obligated to pay any additional dues to the IPP.

The Council of the Arts, Sciences, and Professionals, which has become an independent organization, was given $2000 from the general PCA fund, and in addition a large number of office fixtures—chairs, desks, etc.

Crafts For Adults At Main St. School

Having started last week, and continuing every week thereafter from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. will be a two-hour craft class. These classes will be conducted on the Main Street School Playground at 53rd and Main Streets. Although the class is especially for adults, children may accompany their parents and play on the playground as there will be supervision until 8:30. The first craft will feature leather work. A small cost of material will be the only charges.

Scholars Will Probe Racial Prejudice

NASHVILLE, Tenn.—Outstanding scholars in several fields will describe the nature of racial prejudice and the conditions under which it develops during the first week of the fifth annual Institute of Race Relations of the American Missionary Association convening at Fisk university until July 16.

These discussions will provide a clinical analysis of the anthropological, sociological, psychological, and psychiatric aspects of race relations. Dr. Sol W. Ginsburg, New York, consulting psychiatrist, will return, as a representative from the group for the Advancement of Psychiatry (GAP), to assist in these discussions. He will be joined by Dr. Janet Rioch, psychiatrist of New York, who has been associated with the William Alanson White Psychiatric Foundation of Washington, D. C.

PROF. HERMAN The Astrologer

TO ASSIST YOU IN MAKING WISE DECISIONS

DON'T KID YOURSELF

You may get by with the things that violate certain rules in the game of life for a while, but sooner or later you will have to pay the price.

You may persuade yourself when trouble comes that it will soon pass away without leaving any scars. But the old saying still goes, "what a man sows that shall he also reap."

The law of sowing and reaping is always operative. And you may govern this by taking stock of your life and how you live it, improving your daily habits, and making an attempt to square some of your accounts.

R.M.F. Dear Prof. Herman: I am a constant reader of your column, would you help me with this problem. Please tell me about my future plans.

ANSWER. Your lucky stars indicate you have great plans for the future and are wondering if you will be a success. After looking into your case I find you are a very ambitious and industrious person and there is no reason why you will not be a success and reach your goal.

C.R. I am very lonely and unhappy . . . please tell me how to gain friends and keep them.

ANSWER. After careful analyzing your situation, I am of the opinion you need to socialize more. I suggest your joining a social circle and perhaps an interesting club and try to interest yourself in some out-door sports among other young people.

Z.O. What is the scientific definition for "rain"?

ANSWER. It is believed by scientists that rain is condensed moisture in the form of drops of water heavy enough to fall. It represents a continuation of the process that forms clouds. We commonly think of rain as drops of water that fall from clouds to the ground; but rain may evaporate before it reaches the ground if it passes through a layer of warm dry air.

M.W. I have been disappointed so much, I wonder if it will really happen this time, with the one I love?

ANSWER. My Psycho-Mental-ist Crystal reveals your desire to marry. . . . I also find this young man is indeed fond of you and means well. He has true intentions of marriage in the very near future . . . but has hesitated several times to ask you, don't give up . . . just try to be patient and prove to him that you can be a reliable and faithful companion.

Republicans and Democrats Sabotage Anti-Lynch Bill

NEW YORK — Describing the anti-lynching bill which was reported out by the Senate Judiciary Committee on June 14 as "gutted" and "emasculated," NAACP secretary Walter White last week condemned the failure of the committee to bring to the Senate floor a strong anti-lynching bill whidh could effectively eliminate lynching.

Mr. White denounced the bill as "little more than a pious denunciation of lynching which, based on the NAACP's 39-year experience with the question, will do virtually nothing to stop that crime."

According to the NAACP secretary, the provision in the anti-lynch bill which requires legal proof of conspiracy between a lynch mob and derelict state or federal officers before punishment can be meted means that the bill would be of little, if any, value.

The provision of punishment for those lynch mobs which cross a state line would be of little use, since in no more than half a dozen of the six thousand lynchings which have occurred since 1889, have lynchers crossed a state line to execute their victims.

"We wonder if Republican and Democratic Senators responsible for this sellout of principle believe that the American people, and particularly Negroes, who are the chief sufferers from mob violence, are going to be fooled by this patent fraud," Mr. White declared.

Final Plans for Celebrating End of Restrictive Covenants

The Committee on Arrangements for the mass meeting to be held to celebrate the end of restrictive covenants, met at the home of L. G. Robinson, 1135 East Adams blvd., recently and discussed final plans.

The meeting is being sponsored by the NAACP, the Home Protective Association, and other organizations who worked for the defeat of discrimination in housing. The HPA was especially active in the case of the Henry Laws family, who were ordered out of their home on East 92nd street, simply because they are Negroes.

This family went to jail rather than obey the un-American and unconstitutional court order. Other families in Los Angeles who had been ordered out of their homes because of the color of their skins, will join in celebrating the decision of the United States Supreme Court, which declared restrictive covenants to be unconstitutional.

Norwich Moves Division Here

Durward Howes, chairman of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce management headquarters committee, said he was informed recently by Melvin C. Eaton, president, that Norwich Pharmacal Co., Norwich, N. Y., has established its western divisional headquarters in Los Angeles.

The company, Howes was told, moved its management establishment from San Francisco. Setting up here with the Norwich firm is Eaton Laboratories, a subsidiary, which manufactures prescription drugs.

Tuskegee Institute, Ala.—The George Washington Carver Foundation, through its executive secretary, J. Henry Smith, is seeking information on the early life of Tuskegee Institute's famed agricultural chemist.

James E. West Club Organized

The recently-formed James E. West Club, a seervice organization dedicated to character-building for boys with the idea of promoting and providing leadership through scouting, has elected Attorney Bernard S. Jefferson as its first president.

The club was organized by Issac H. McClelland, director of field scout commissioner for inter-racial service and B. C. Cooke. Installation is set for late July. The officers to be installed are: Dr. Joseph H. Hayes, 1st vice president, James Akers, 2nd vice president, James Parker, 3rd vice president, Issac H. McClelland, recording secretary, John Kinney, corresponding secretary, Dr. Charles W. Hill treasurer. The Rev. Horace N. Mays, Chaplain, Frank Solis, parliamentarian, Le-Roy Hart, public relations and B. C. Cooke, advisor.

Dr. Doris Jones Wins High Post

ATLANTA, Georgia—Dr. Virginia Lacy Jones, director of the Atlanta University School of Library Service, has been elected to the office of Secretary-treasurer of the American Association of Library Schools.

This Assocaition, made up of the faculties of 34 accredited library schools in the United States, is organized for the purpose of promoting the study of library education and at the same time planning the education of librarians so that library service can make an ever increasing contribution to American life.

Female Models For Male Shoes

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—Men's shoe styles for fall will be on the "rough and ready" side and this valuable information would not have been available, if the Junior Chamber of Commerce of St. Louis had not hit upon an ingenious plan for attracting an audience to the seasonal showings of the St. Louis shoe manufacturers.

Shoes as you know, are the leading product of this thriving community, and there have always been plenty of them made, but not so many males to look them over until this year. The reason: Pretty girls were used to model men's shoes. Needless to say, the luncheon at the Mark Twain Hotel where the shoes were modelled so prettily was a sell-out.

The dainty models flattered the ski boots adapted for daytime wear, and the 'Mile-Hi' sole (thickest in the industry) while the enthusiasm rippled through the room. The coarser, brighter leathers and wider stitching that will mark the St. Louis male footwear for the fall looked good on the female models, and you'll be seeing them on the right feet this fall.

Doctors Honored For Achievements

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Dr. John W. Lawlah, Clinical Professor of Radiology at the Howard University College of Medicine, was awarded the Degree of Fellowship by the American College of Radiology at its annual convocation in Chicago last month.

Dr. Lawlah is the third Negro physician to be elected to full fellowship in the 25-year history of the American College of Radiology.

Dr. Merze Tate, Professor of History at Howard University, will receive the the honorary degree of Doctor of Literature from Michigan Western College of Education at commencement exercises this week.

Dr. Tate, who made the highest scholastic record ever attained by a student at Michigan Western, will be awarded the honorary degree in recognition of her scholastic attainments, scholarly publications and degrees and honors received since graduating from the college.

She is author of "The Disarmament Illusion: The Movement for a Limitation of Armaments to 1907" published by MacMillan in 1942, and "The United States and Armaments," published by the Harvard University Press in 1948. Both books were published under the auspices of the Bureau of International Research of Harvard University and Radcliffe College.

She has been a teacher since 1927, and her teaching experiences include serving at Barber-Scotia Junior College, Bennett College, Morgan State College and Howard University.

This Machine Age! What'll Be Next?

Postmaster Michael D. Fanning last week officially installed the first new automatic stampless MAILOMAT at an inauguration ceremony at the Hollywood Post Office, when he dispatched the first letter sent through the new machine to Postmaster General Jesse Donaldson in Washington. Others participating in the ceremony were Barbara Bates, Warner Bros. Studio Star, and Officials of Pitney-Bowes Inc., who manufacture the machine.

Kappa Silhouettes

Kappa Silhouette Meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Buela Wyndon, 1952 E. 105th st. recently with Buelah Wyndon, Blanche Merrill, Barbara Mounte, as hostesses. Each member is urged to be present for a very interesting meeting is planned. Those not participating in the Delta Jabberwock to be held on Saturday night, June 26 at 8 p.m. in the auditorium of Polytechnic High school are expected to be present to support the cast and enjoy this worth while program.

IN YOUR HAT

Next time you hear someone boasting about the size of the old age pensions being paid here in California, just take off your hat and look at this note. (We hope you'll paste this in your hat.) Denver, Colorado which has paid the highest old age pensions for some time recently boosted its level to $83 monthly. Previously the level had been $68, and the present high is the result of a $15 boost. Brothers, there's work to be done!

Local Students Receive Degrees

Three local students received Associate of Arts degrees at the open air commencement ceremonies of East Los Angeles Junior College last month.

The graduates are Willard W. Barksdale of 666 E. 43rd Place, James Chu of 740 E. 10th street, and Dorothy Lee Maten of 719 E. 20th street.

These students are part of the fifth graduation class of E. L. A. J. C., which consists of 125, the largest class yet to graduate.

Wait A Minute! We Have One Too

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo.—John E. Gipson, a first honor graduate of Dunbar high school, Little Rock, Ark., class of '40, and a graduate of Lincoln University (Mo.), 1947, and now a graduate student in mathematics at the University of Wisconsin won high honors recently when he was voted a membership in the Wisconsin Beta chapter of the Pi Mu Epsilon National Mathematics fraternty.

Mr. Gipson has the distinction of being the only Negro to be inducted into the fraternity at the university. He is also a member of the University Games Committee, a member of Beta Kappa Chi Honor Scientific Society of the University and a member of Kappa Psi fraternity.

$3,000,000 Needed For Flood Victims

Conservation estimates handed down by American National Red Cross disaster experts last week placed at $3,000,000 the amount of money the organization will expend in bringing relief to sufferers and carrying on rehabilitation projects in the area affected by the Northwest floods.

Los Angeles chapter officials were so informed in a "communique" direct from Portland—Red Cross headquarters for flood relief work.

"Red Cross to date has spent more than a half-million dollars in carrying on its relief work in this locale," the wire stated, 'and our key tasks are still ahead of us and will not be completed for many months."

Democrats Vote to Merge

TUSKEGEE INSTITUTE, Ala.—Rev. Carleton W. Lee, acting chaplain of Tuskegee Institute, has returned to the campus from the recent meeting of the General Council of Congregational-Christian Churches, which was held at Oberlin College, Oberlin, Ohio.

Rev. Lee, who was a very active worker at the conference reports two eventful occurrences which high-lighted the sessions. The first of these significant occurrences Rev. Lee stated, "was the elevation of the first woman, Miss Helen Kenyon, a native of Brooklyn, New York, as Moderator of the General Council of Congregational-Christian Churches. The second was an overwhelming majority vote of the more than 1100 delegates representing more than a million and a half members, favoring the Basis of Union with the Evangelical and Reformed Church."

Rev. Lee also stated that the Basis of Union had already been approved at the last meeting of the General Synod of the Evangelical and Reformed Church. The Oberlin action, therefore makes it possible for representatives of the two communions to proceed toward the consummation of union.

Baha'i B'rith News

Faith And Freedom is the subject of the lecture which will be given by Florence Mayberry at 11 o'clock on Sunday morning, July 11, at the Los Angeles headquarters of Baha'i World Faith, 331 South New Hampshire avenue.

The Baha'i Faith develops world-mindedness. Read these well-known Baha'i quotations: . . . "Let your vision be world-embracing, rather than confined to your own selves." . . . "That one indeed is a man who, today, dedicateth himself to the service of the entire human race."

THE TIME TO ACT IS IN NOVEMBER, THE PLACE IS IN THE ELECTION BOOTH.

Wallace White Collar Workers Committee Organized Here

Organization of White Collar Workers for Wallace Committee was announced last week by Doris Salsburg, temporary chairman of the Committee.

"We have examined the records and programs of the aspirants to the presidential nomination of all political parties. Only Henry A. Wallace has clearly advanced a program to meet the needs of all the people and particularly the needs of White Collar workers," Doris Salsbury, temporary chairman, said.

"The newly formed White Collar Committee for Wallace is open to all white collar workers who feel as we do and want to help carry this message to the thousands of white collar workers in Los Angeles. Those interested, please call Dorothy Suarrels, ADams 1-2654."

Gambling Deb

The story of a penniless society debutante who can't stay away from gambling games is said to provide an hilarious plot for one of the season's gayest comedy romances, "Hazard" which opened last week at the Paramount Hollywood and Downtown Theaters.

CORE Society Sponsors Race Problems Study

With participating members from all parts of the country, the Interracial Workshop, co-sponsored by the Fellowship of Reconciliation and the Congress of Racial Equality, opened at Chapman college last Thursday. The group will spend the month of July studying, organizing, and participating in projects aimed at combatting discrimination in the Los Angeles area. Close cooperation with such local groups as the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, the Urban League, the Los Angeles Committee of Racial Equality, and others, will be an important part of workshop activity.

Discrimination in employployment and housing will be the main areas of investigation and action by the group. Participation in the local CORE group's current project to combat discrimination at Bimini Baths is also planned.

George Houser, race relations secretary of the Fellowship of Racial Equality, has come from New York to act as director of the workshop. Participants are Robert Auerbach, Catherine Cambessedes, Celia Elmore, Jack Fooden, Newton Garver, George Holmgren, Nanette Hurt, Grace Ito, Mary Jane McKeown, Robert Peters, Fred Schug and Paula Zweier. Expected to arrive before the end of the program are Dennis Banks, Charlotte Adams, Florence Jarrett, Eugenia Lawson and Gloria Swanson.

Heart Disorder in Dogs

CHICAGO—Although the cause of human arteriosclerosis, or hardening of the arteries, regardless of race or color, remains a mystery, medical research men reported this week on an experiment in which arteriosclerosis was produced in dogs. The experiment, conducted by Dr. Alfred tSeiner and his associates at the Goldwater Memorial hospital in New York, produced this heart disorder in dogs through the feeding of cholesterol, a fatty substance, and thiouracil, a drug used to depress the activity of the thyroid gland.

Popular Socialite Awarded Bulk of Husband's Property

By JT Gipson

Mrs. Carmelita Lomax Jr. walked off with almost everything her husband, Lucius Lomax Jr., had in his name at the conclusion of a five day divorce trial in Department 48, Judge Harold Coats presiding, in which the errant spouse admitted ownership of a couple of youngsters born to Almena Davis, Editor of the Los Angeles Tribune.

A half hearted effort was made by the defendant to link Mrs. Lomax Jr. with several Mexican friends but no impression was made and in making the decision, Jurist Coats ignored the implications all together. Without a moment's hesitation after the final arguments by Arthur J. Edmunds for Lomax Jr., Landon Morris for Lucius Lomax Sr., Bernard Jefferson for Mrs. B. Black, Walter Lear Gordon Jr., and Leonard Richardson for Mrs. Lomax Jr., Judge Coats handed down his decision. It was his judgment that Mrs. Lomax Jr. first receive her divorce on the grounds of adultery, admitted by the defendant, secondly that she have the famous Cresbar property, an elaborate cocktail lounge located at 29th street and S. Western avenue, the home in which her mother is now living on 29th St. and Raymond avenue, the car and the furniture plus $1,000 in attorneys fees.

The Fawn property on the southwest corner of 29th and S. Western remains with the title holder, Mrs. Minnie Lomax Sr., and the cocktail lounge in the Dunbar hotel, 4225 S. Central ave., is to remain in the name of

Salcido Killer Exonerated; No Evidence, Judge Decides

Ruth Foster Found Guilty i Love Murder of 'Sweetheart

Ruth Foster 28 year old waitress, was found gui of manslaughter in department 46 Judge Walter S. Ga presiding, non jury, in the slaying on May 19th 1948 her admitted "husband," Louise Ford, 43 year old woma wife of Lawerence Ford known as "Flying Ford" of t dance team of Ford, Harris and Jones who since left t act.

Edwin C. Myers, district attorney, made a plea for the defendant, saying that he didn't feel there was premeditation in the killing and the defendant was living virtually as a slave in the Ford household at 4445½ S. Avalon, giving the deceased all of her money and supporting the woman and six children.

Under questioning by her attorney, Walter L. Gordon, Jr., Miss Foster said that one night Mrs. Ford came into the P.D.Q. Cafe where she was working and invited her to go home with her. They had several drinks and thereafter they went to bed a had a sexual intercourse same as with a man. Miss Fos said that she had never had r tions before with a lesbian. S after that, continued Miss F ter, she moved into the ho with Mrs. Ford and when husband came home she sl with them both. She testi that Mr. Ford knew of the r tions and said it was all ri and at times he would have affair with Miss Foster.

For five years this went until one night, the deceased w

THE SIDEWALK

By C. A. C.

WALLACE A THREAT TO THE ELEPHANT AND THE DONKEY

This week the Sidewalk leads to Philadelphia, where the National Democratic convention went into session July 12.

The fireworks that will dramatize the session started far ahead of the actual convention. Delegations from all sections of the nation have been holding discussions touching on the matter of the Truman Civil Rights Program, the issue which has divided Northern and Southern Democrats.

So intense is the heat that is being poured on Mr. Truman's suggested Civil Rights program, that it causes one to ask this question: did the President realize what a balloon he was bursting when he appointed this Civil Rights Commission and accepted its report?

I would like to feel really optimistic about President Truman's intentions in the promulgation of a national Civil Rights program; because the establishment of such an order or procedure in my country would mean to me and to my people, as well as to other American minorities, an end to the daily fight we are called upon to make to enjoy some semblance of freedom and our civil liberties.

But I am bound by the facts of the past, as they connect with the future. President Truman sat quietly by for nearly two years while many laws were enacted (anti-labor in character), while a vicious Un-American Activities Committee was created and the killing of all social legislation that could have established a basis for his Civil Rights program.

Now that the horse is out, it seems too late to fasten the gate. It leaves our President in a bad fix. He can't turn back. And so?

The Opening Scene, Philadelphia, July 8, at a pre-convention session. "Southern Democrats helt their fire today as a Negro leader called them bigots and demanded that President Truman's Civil Rights Program be written into the 1948 Democratic platform."

At this meeting other voices were heard also. U. S. Senator Clyde R. Hoey, of North Carolina, said, "I am confident we can reach an agreement on Civil Rights that will be satisfactory to President Truman and probably satisfactory to the South. We do not, however, expect to satisfy the extreme elements of either end."

To the Democratic Drafting Committee, Walter White, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, had this to say: "The Democratic Party has been too much dominated by those who have attained and held power through disfranchisement, lynching, and racial discrimination. The day of reckoning has come when the Democratic Party must decide whether or not it is going to permit bigots to decide its philosophy."

Heard also was the Voice of the CIO, urging that the Truman program be adopted, including laws to ban poll taxes, lynching, and racial discrimination in hiring.

James Kroll, director of the CIO Political Action Committee, suggested, a return to the Roosevelt program.

Do these voices represent a cross-section of the people?

We have heard them before. They sound good. They always have.

The Republicans have spoken in convention. Now we are hearing from the Democrats. We are prone to believe that neither of these political leopards will change their spots.

In one and the same breath both Democrats and Republicans, grown fat and "sassy" in their long reign of undisturbed control, say that the Third or Wallace Party is not a threat to their position. However, from the present outlook every means and money are being used to block the establishment of the Third Party in the various states and to smear it as a tool of the Communist Party. So — from the present outlook they fear something in the Third Party, or they wouldn't try so hard to condemn it.

Long and tortuous has been the fight against lynching and all forms of discrimination by the NAACP and other militant organizations in the United States. The only relief from these atrocities in government and everyday life has been back-door promises as easily and quickly broken as made.

The only presidential candidate in the history of this nation who, in front, offers a platform of non-discrimination and enforcement of the Constitution for all Americans alike, is Henry Wallace.

Wallace has come even as Jesus came to rescue the people and to save the world from ruin or utter destruction.

Will the people receive him?

Policeman Exonerated In Killing

By Jay Morgan

Shooting down a Mexican youth, who is suspected of a felony, by a policeman is not manslaughter according to the decision handed down by Superior Court Judge C. C. McDonald earlier this week. Judge McDonald sat without a jury to hear the case of policeman William J. Keyes, charged with killing 17-year-old Augustin Salcido in the early morning of March 10 last.

The trial opened last Thursday

Marion Anderson III Following Operation

NEW YORK — Marian Anderson, famous Negro contralto, was reported "doing nicely" at Jewish Hospital, Brooklyn, after undergoing a major operation recently, it was disclosed. Miss Anderson, who has a home in Danbury, Conn., was admitted to the hospital about a week ago.

Mrs. Rebecca Styles Taylor, a founder of the National Council of Negro Women, is candidate for Secretary of State of Illinois on the Henry Wallace Progressive Party ticket. Co-chairman of Chicago Women for Wallace, Mrs. Taylor is a columnist for the Chicago Defender and a leader of the National Federation of Colored Women.

VICTORY WITH DIGNITY is the theme of the above photograph showing attorney H. L. Richardson, Mrs. Carmelita Lomax and attorney Walter Lear Gordon Jr. following the awarding to Mrs. Lomax of an interlocutory decree in the divorce action she brought against her husband Lucius Lomax Jr. Mrs. Lomax sucessfully weathered an attempt to smear her following the disclosure that her husband is the father of two babies born to Almena Davis, editor of the newspaper owned by young Lomax. In a case that surpasses all recent sensational divorce proceedings, both attorneys Gordon and Richardson kept the sordid details in the background while they worked with efficiency to protect the rights of their clients. 'For His Patriotic Service' Defends Ferdinand Smith

The Ferdinand C. Smith National Defense Committee, which was set up last February to fight the attempted deportation of Ferdinand C. Smith, National Secretary of the National Maritime Union, announces the publication of a pamphlet entitled "For His Patriotic Service."

The pamphlet shows that Smith entered the country legally in 1918, that he sailed American merchant ships for many years, that he became a father and a grandfather in the country of his adoption and that the heinous crime for which he was picked up by the Department of Immigra

Henderson-CIO Asked to Block Klan Delegates

Len Goldsmith, Executive Secretary of the Committee for Democratic Rights, has requested Leon Henderson, Chairman of the Americans for Democratic Action, and Jack Kroll, chairman of the CIO Political Action Committee to appear before the Credentials Committee of the Democratic National Convention to oppose the seating in the Convention of all delegates elected by poll tax votes and members and supporters of the Ku Klux Klan.

In the event that the Credentials Committee refuses to heed this protest, the Committee for Democratic Rights called upon Henderson and Kroll to carry the credentials fight to the floor on the grounds that the "Democratic Party cannot rightfully claim support of any decent thinking American as long as it permits racists, advocates of white supremacy and inciters of lynching to participate in its deliberations."

Kidnap Charges Proven a Hoax By Attorney

Rev. Russell Platform Guest Of New Party

Rev. Clayton D. Russell, pastor of the People's Independent Church of Christ, this city, is a live wire at the National Democratic convention at present in session in Philadelphia.

Rev. Russell's voice was first heard at a pre-convention caucus when he moved for a vote of confidence in state and national committee head, James Roosevelt.

A message reached The California EAGLE Tuesday, stating that Rev. Russell was drafting a resolution to be presented to President Truman, calling for an executive order to outlaw Jim-crow in the army. Also a news release from Rev. Russell gave the information that he would remain over in Philadelphia to be a platform guest at the Third Party convention—a special guest of Henry Wallace.

Lasley Elected International CIO Official

CHICAGO, Ill.—Russell R. Lasley was recently elected International vice-president of the United Packinghouse Workers of America, CIO.

Lasley formerly was a field representative of the union assigned to the Rath Packing Company, Waterloo, Iowa. He helped organize that plant into the CIO during 1942 and was its first financial secretary. He also was assistant chief steward for the local union.

At the conclusion of the ten week strike against the major meat packing companies last month, Lasley voluntarily resigned his position on the UPWA staff to re-enter the plant in order to help rebuild his local union from the inside.

In his capacity as vice-president, Lasley will be in charge of the union's grievance department, which handles disputes over contract interpretations and working conditions as well as ar

Mayor Promises Vital Housing Announcement

Speaking at the final meeting of the Mayor's Emergency Housing committee, last week, Mayor Bowron said he would shortly announce the personnel of a new community redevelopment agency that will be authorized to go ahead with the clearing of blighted areas and the building of whole new sections of the city.

The Mayor paid tribute to Louis M. Dreves, chairman of the Emergency Housing committee, and to the individual members who served during its lifetime. He said the committee, which was organized in February, 1946, had made a great contribution by serving as a clearing house for the dissemination of factual data on the Los Angeles housing problem and in helping break bottlenecks in material and labor shortages. The various committee investigations and reports, he added, did much to highlight the problems and set the goals for housing in the city.

The Mayor also emphasized that the city is going to increase its activity in veterans problems. "We must recognize the responsibility of the city to the veteran, not only in housing, but in many other matters," he said.

bitrations before a neutral referee.

Lasley was elected at the union's annual convention which also defeated the re-election bid by the incumbent Philip Weightman who previously was vice-president in charge of grievances.

Only 34 years old, Lasley's new position places him in one of the top spots of the labor movement. The union represents some 200,000 packinghouse workers throughout the United States and Canada. Approximately one-third of the membership is Negro.

tion on February 16 of this year and for which he was imprisoned on Ellis Island is the crime of every progressive in this country who is fighting, uncompromisingly, against the reactionaries in our midst. The pamphlet also gives a detailed account of Smith's continuous and fruitless attempts to secure his citizenship papers as well as the fact that he had registered for the draft and was ready to serve his country whenever called upon.

Honorable Oscar L. Chapman, Assistant Secretary of the Interior, paid homage to Smith's splendid work in the following words:

"I am glad to be numbered among the men and women of this country who think the work Ferdinand Smith has done is a lasting contribution to democracy. His is an enlightened leadership that will point his people, and, for that matter, all the rest of us, to the political and economic freedom to which our country is dedicated. The inspiration of his leadership has, in no small measure, contributed to the gallant achievement of the National Maritime Union — achievements which include some of the most glorious exploits of the war."

Hundreds of letters have been received by the Defense Committee from prominent progressives, both Negro and white, from rank and file seamen whom he had served faithfully for years, and from workers in almost every field. It is this aroused public indignation at the contemplated deportation of a man whose only crime is his devotion to the workers of America that is helping the Defense Committee to fight his deportation.

FOR HIS PATRIOTIC SERVICE is being distributed throughout the country in order that people will learn all the facts in the trumped-up charges of the Department of Immigration as well as to make it possible to defray the costs of the legal battle which is being made. The pamphlet, copy of which is enclosed, sells for 10 cents and can be ordered through the committee's offices at 346 West 17th Street, New York 11, N. Y.

THE TIME TO ACT IS IN NOVEMBER, THE PLACE IS IN THE ELECTION BOOTH.

CALIFORNIA CANDIDATES

Augustus F. Hawkins (left) and James T. Allen are two candidates for California State Assembly with full backing of the Wallace New Party. Hawkins, incumbent Democrat, will run on both Democratic and Independent Progressive (Wallace) Party tickets in the 62nd A.D., Los Angeles. Hawkins was first elected to the State Legislature in 1935 and has since been re-elected to seven successive terms. James Allen (right) is the IPP's candidate in Los Angeles' 67th A.D. and has received endorsement of the Los Angeles CIO.

Vacationed Youth Can Work Thru Membership Plan

The Colored Workers Association are asking the youth of Los Angeles from 12-19 years to join the organization. Since summer vacation started the employment office of the Colored Workers Association has been flooded with teenagers seeking employment.

This office is designed to help the young people advance in their respective fields of employment. A receptionist is needed to register applicants in homes. This program will be actively promoted until thousands of members are working during vacation and the interim between evening school.

Members will be taught to manufacture useful items and toys for market, while girls will be taught to operate power machines and make garments for market. There are other outstanding features listed in this plan. Drama, sports, and recreation are also included. Membership is twenty-five cents to join and dues are ten cents per month. For information call LA. 4364, AD. 1-7629, or CE. 2-1751 from 8-9 p. m.

morning in a courtroom that was packed with Mexican and Negro youth. During the presentation of the case against Keyes, testimony was given by William F. Arnold, a Yellow Cab driver, that indicated nine shots were fired in rapid succession. Arnold, a clean-cut young man, impressed so favorably with his testimony he was not cross-examined.

A succession of technical witnesses were presented by District Attorney Simpson, who conducted the prosecution without enthusiasm, but with almost boring thoroughness. On one occasion defense attorneys objected when Simpson, by his line of questioning seemed to be impeaching his own witness.

During the cross-examination of Guillermo Gallegos Simpson permitted defense attorneys to follow a line of questioning so unfair the court commented when Simpson finally objected, "I was wondering when somebody was going to object."

Gallegos, a 22-year-old youth who signed the complaint against Keyes testified that he heard several shots when he emerged from a cafe near the scene of the shooting. He further testified that he saw young Salcido staggering "like a man who had been shot many times," and that he saw Keyes shoot the youth in the back, after which he fell into the street. Both the court and the district attorney permitted defense attorneys to take liberties with Gallegos on cross-examination.

The defense was based almost entirely upon the claim that young Salcido had attempted to sell a "hot" watch to Keyes. Judge McDonald took a sometimes spirited interest in the trial and frequently showed his impatience with Amado Cadena, non-English speaking Mexican witness who required the services of an interpreter. It was in the restaurant and cafe owned by Cadena at 606 Temple Street, next door to the scene of the killing that the events leading up to Salcido's death began. The dead youth had been in Cadena's place trying, according to testimony, to sell some watches. Cadena refused to buy them and later he asked a policeman, presumably officer Keyes to "get him out of the place."

Sometime in the early morning of March 10, young Salcido stepped into the street from Cadena's cafe after telling Gallegos he would be right back. He was shot and killed by bullets from Keyes' gun in a matter of minutes after he left the place.

In exonerating Keyes, Judge McDonald decided that the case of the prosecution was based on "hearsay" testimony, and that there was "absolutely no evidence" against him. Public indignation has been aroused by the basis of the judge's decision, and it is reported some attempt will be made to force the removal of Keyes from the police force.

Dr. Merze Tate To Serve With United Nations

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Dr. Merez Tate, Professor of History at Harvard University is one of three Americans named by the State Department to represent the United States on the United Nations Educational Social and Cultural Organization, it has been announced by Howard University officials.

The committee, composed of three representatives from all of the great powers, and one representative from other member nations, will met at Lake Success until August 20th to formulate a program of education concerning the United Nations, which will be used throughout the world.

Dr. Tate's selection was based upon outstanding work in the field of International Relations, both as a scholar and as an author.

She gained valuable experience for this project while studying at the Geneva School of International Studies, Berlin University, and Oxford University, and in doing research work for her two books "The Disarmament Illusion: The Movement for a Limitation of Armaments to 1907," published by MacMillan in 1942, and "The United States and Armaments," published by the Harvard University Press in 1948. Both books were published under the auspices of the Bureau of International Reserach of Harvard University and Radcliffe College.

of the defendants at 5th and Spring streets during banking hours, and later with the persuasion of a .38 caliber revolver, he compelled the victim to withdraw all his savings from the bank.

The defendant's confederate then joined the pair and the defendants forced the victim into a large sedan, in which they drove to the outlying section of the city, where they forcibly removed the victim's money from his pocket and thrust him out of the car.

The victim took the license number of the car and reported the matter to the police, and the defendants were arrested.

During the trial the victim's pass book was produced by the prosecution, and the bank teller testified that the victim made a deposit about 11:00 a.m., and very shortly thereafter, withdrew all his funds from the bank.

Examination of the witnesses by attorney Broady was very brief.

He asked only three questions of the supposed victim, the answers to which disclosed that the victim reported the matter the day AFTER its occurrence, following a discussion with his wife.

After a considerable pause, defense counsel Broady asked the victim if the charge was not a fabrication of the victim's own making to escape his wife's wrath after losing the money gambling. The victim shouted a vehement denial, but showed evidence of having been hit by Broady's accusation.

Seven witnesses were present and testified in behalf of the defendants, stating that the defendants and the victim had engaged in a dice game with some ten other men on the day the crime is alleged to have taken place. Each witness testified that the victim lost his money in the game.

James Baskett Died Last Friday But His Memory Will Linger On!

Jimmie Baskett is dead. But the name of Jimmie Baskett will forever live in the hearts of all theatre goers. The late Jimmie Baskett died Friday evening at 5:30 P.M. at his home, 3442 S. Arlington. His death marked the climax of a career filled with all the glory befitting a top actor of his race and the motion picture industry.

He wone a coveted Oscar for his portrayal of the role, "Uncle Remus," in "Song of the South," and was the second member of his race to be so honored. The first had been Hattie McDaniel in "Gone With The Wind." The late Jimmie Baskett, beloved by all who knew him, introduced the prize-winning song, "Zip-A-Dee-Doo-Dah" in the Walt Disney actor-and-cartoon fantasy.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at 2 p. m. from the chapel of the W. D. Fisher Mortuary, his body was cremated and his wife took the ashes back to his birthplace in Indianapolis where she placed them beside the grave of his father.

Born in Indianapolis, Indiana, Feb. 16, 1904, Mr. Baskett had a most colorful career in show business. He first won fame on the Amos 'N' Andy show for his portrayal of the "lawyer," Gabby Gibson, whose saying of "lovely-lovely," became a household word. Prior to his death, the late Jimmie Baskett had signed a two-year contract as a featured character actor on the Amos 'n' Andy Show.

He came to Los Angeles April 14, 1943, and worked at the Lincoln theatre with Pigmeat Markham as a character actor. It was during his engagement at the Lincoln that his acting caught the eye of the Hollywood talent scouts, who immediately signed the beloved actor to a lucrative contract.

Married in 1936 to Margaret Bournondille, an attractive and very popular stage personality, the late Jimmie Baskett was a devoted family man and is survived by his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Brown, his wife, Margaret, and a God-child, Mrs. Robert Mosely.

Jimmie Baskett's career is over, but his memory will forever linger on!

THE LATE BELOVED Jimmie Baskett died at his home last Friday evening, but the great actor's memory will forever linger on in the hearts of all theatre-goers. Shown above is Mr. Baskett being awarded the highest honor in the motion picture industry, a coveted "Oscar", for his brilliant portrayal of "Uncle Remus" in the Walt Disney picture, "Song of the South." Shown with the late Jimmie Baskett is actor Jean Hersholt and actress Ingrid Bergman.

Elex Lawrence Coming Home

HQ 20th AIR FORCE, Guam—Sailing on the USAT General Morton next week will be Staff Sergeant Elex Lawrence, of the 474th Signal Company, returning for reassignment and a leave of absence to visit his wife and children in East Los Angeles. A member of a unit of the Far East Air Forces, he has been stationed on Guam in command headquarters since his arrival from the Philippines in March, 1947.

Holder of the Good Conduct Medal and all the World War II ribbons, where he was on active duty with a signal communications company, he became NCO in charge of a trouble shooting signal crew.

Back in 1942, while at Baton Rouge, Louisiana, he received an invitation from the President; and was sent to Camp Crowder in Missouri, the signal corps mammoth installation in which practically all phases of communications were taught. From there S-Sgt. Lawrence went to Europe, landing first in England, then through France and Germany until V-E Day.

He has worked in civilian life for the Solvay Process Co., in Baton Rouge, Louisiana, and for the Siver Seive Co., in Oxnard, Calif.

His wife, Mattie, and four children, James, Gloria, Elex Jr., and Helene, are awaiting his arrival at 2037 East 110th, East Los Angeles, California. A brother, Broadus, and his mother-in-law, Mrs. Ida Howard, also live at the same address.

Mrs. Munford First To Organize Community Chest Campaign

Mrs. Claudia Q. Munford, 4808 Wall St., has brought new honors to the Eastside through her record in early organization for the Fall Community Chest campaign, according to Mrs. Josephine Brown, chairman for Adams-Central and South Parks districts.

Approximately 200 volunteers will be under the general direction of Mrs. Munford, Colonel of Division 82, when fund raising for the 159 health, welfare, youth, and veterans agencies of the Chest begins.

Completing her organization on schedule, Mrs. Munford was the first Colonel to secure her needed Majors, who are Mrs. Lyda Webster, 190½ E. 48th St.; Mrs. Wilhelmina Monroe, 4421 Crocker St.; Mrs. Lulu Belle Landerdale, 702½ E. 46th St.; Mrs. Pauline Payne McNeal, 1000 E. 46th St.; Mrs. E. Elmyra Rretta, 427 E. 49th St.; Mrs. Frances E. Hoxie, 177 E. 45th St.; Mrs. Bessie Mays, 732 E. 50th St.; and Mrs. Elizabeth Gray, 4407 Mettler St.

Mrs. Munford stated that her interest in Community Chest stems from an observation of the fine work accomplished "especially by the PTA work in providing lunches for undernourished youngsters and the character and body building programs of youth agencies."

In addition to 12 years of service in the chest, Mrs. Munford is a past president of the Jefferson High PTA, member of the Metropolitan Board of NAACP, and worsk with the YWCA, Urban League, Red Cross, and the Neighborhood Community Church.

There are 329.820 Indians in this country. How many Bureau of Indian Affairs employees would you say are administering to these Americans? One for every 50.000? One for every 25,000? One for every 3.000? . . . the fact is that there is one government employee in the Bureau of Indian Affairs for every THIRTY Indians in the country! —Buffalo (Wyo.)

Sgt. Bruce Williams Home For Brief Stay

HQ 20th AIR FORCE, Guam—Staff Sergeant Bruce E. Williams Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce E. Williams Sr., 799 Manzanita avenue, Pasadena, California, is returning to the United States for reassignment after completing his overseas tour of duty.

He is a graduate of the Washington Senior High School and attended Pasadena Junior College for a time. Later he entered the business world by working as a power brake operator for the Faber Stamp Corp.

Those Sirens Mean Pull Over and Stop

The hazards of firefighting begin each time a fireman wheels his heavy apparatus out into traffic - filled streets. Motorists who disregard his siren or who refuse to yield the right of way spell constant danger.

The thoughtful motorist who, upon hearing a siren, pulls over to the side of the street and stops, will never be responsible for accidents or firefighting delays.

Antioch News

PHOENIX, Ariz.—Asst. Supt. White took charge of the Sunday school last Sunday at the Antioch Baptist Churvh, while Supt. Walters sat back and listened.

Rev. R. N. Holt preached at the 11 a.m. service on the subject, "You Shall Reap What You Sow." At the close of the service, four former members were re-admitted to the church. The Senior Mission is planning a musical prigram, under the leadership of Pres. I. Roberson. The B.T.V. is taking on new spirit under the leadership of Pres. Joshtine Matson. Rev. Jackson brought the message at the evening service. Subject: One Pearl of Great Price.

Moon Trips Popular; Excursions Extended

Because of the trmendous popular demand, extra performances of the "Trip to the Moon" program have been aranged at Griffith Park Observatory, the City Recreation and Park Department announced this week.

To take care of overflow crowds at regular evening Planetarium shows at 8:30 o'clock every night except Monday and Tuesday, an additional "moon trip" is being put on at 9:45 p.m. whenever the first program cannot accommodate all who want to see it, Dr. Dinsmore Alter, Griffith Observatory director, said.

The spectacular simulated journey to the moon gives visitors the effect of rushing toward that lunar satellite in a rocket ship providing an opportunity to explore the great silvery orb and see at relatively close hand its strange surface of mountains, craters and dry 'seas.'

Sheep-Lined Jackets Might Get A Break

SAN FRANCISCO — A public hearing will be held July 28 in Washington, D. C., to consider proposals to increase the minimum wage determinations under the Walsh-Healey Public Contracts Act for the leather and sheep-lined jackets industry and the oltdoor jackets and wool trousers branches of the uniform and clothing industry.

This Is Good News If You Understand It!

SAN FRANCISCO—Designation of California as a state in which state age, employment or working certificates or permits shall have the same force and effect as Federal certificates of age under the Fair Labor Standards Act (Federal wage and hour law) has just been renewed by the U. S. Department of Labor.

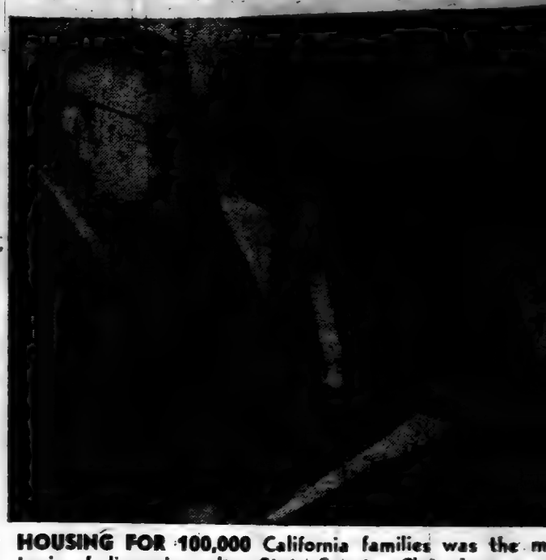
5,519 Measles Cases So Far

Measles is continuing to be epidemic in Los Angeles, with 5,419 cases so far this year, representing nearly 25 times the 216 reported in 1947 for the same period, according to Dr. George M. Uhl, city health officer.

"There is no cause for alarm, because with proper medical care the measles victim can come through this illness with little or no after-effects," Dr. Uhl said.

The most important precaution, he stressed, is consultation with a physician when the child shows the first signs of illness, such as rise of temperature or symptoms of a cold.



"Medical care at this time will prevent secondary infection, which causes the damage generally attributed to measles," he declared.

Very young or debilitated children should be taken to their family doctor for protective inoculation if they have been exposed to a known measles case, Dr. Uhl said, adding that immune serum for measles has a lasting effect of only a few weeks.

While measles is most common in children between 5 and 14 years of age, about 90 per cent of the population acquires the disease before the age of 20, he said.

Portland: Rehabilitation Work Continues

PORTLAND, ORE. — James R. Dancy, director of disaster preparedness an drelief for Los Angeles chapter—on special assignment in Portland, disclosed, this week in a dispatch to Red Cross officials there, that the Red Cross will be on the job here until late September.

"To date, Red Cross has expended $1,000,000 in meeting the emergency needs for clothing, food and shelter," Dancy said. "With Columbia flood waters receding, Red Cross is currently beginning its rehabilitation program to meet the long-range needs of evacuees."

This phase of the disaster relief schedule includes the rebuilding, repairing or furnishing of homes, the provision of clothing and food, and all medical aid where necessary, Dancy explained.

Detailed information regarding the various needs required by families affected is being gathered by trained Red Cross disaster workers, visiting 6633 families registered for such assistance.

In the Portland area alone, more than 1400 persons—former residents of Vanport—continue to be sheltered at nearby Swan Island in the Willamette River, Dancy stated further. Of this number, an average of 1100 men, women and children are receiving three meals a day at the Red Cross cafeteria, operated at an estimated cost of $11,000 per week.

Brutality Rally Hears Gallagher

Leo Gallagher, one of the attorneys interested in the Augustin Salcido case, and attorney for Guillermor Gallegos, defendant in a case before Superior Court Judge William R. McKay, was the principal speaker at the Police Brutality Rally at the Embassy Auditorium last Friday night. Gallagher emphasized the importance of community mobilization to prevent growing police brutality and to insure against further wanton killing of minority youth by intolerant policemen.

Gallegos, who signed the complaint against policeman Keyes, who was exonerated this week after a trial for manslaughter which grew out of the early morning killing of 17 year old Augustin Salcido, was also a speaker at the rally, and he gave a vivid insight into events leading up to the killing. A cross-section of the Eastside community attended the rally.

JOINS STAFF—John L. Hill, president-manager of Angelus Funeral Home, this week announced the appointment of Barrington S. Tate to the staff. A licensed embalmer, Mr. Tate was formerly associated with Tate Mortuary of San Diego. He is a graduate of the California College of Mortuary Science. Mr. Tate brings to this community his bride of a few weeks, the former Anita Hippard. In his new duties at Angelus Funeral Home, Mr. Tate will have full opportunity to demonstrate the skill and ability already acquired in his chosen field, Mr. Hill said.

Noted Danseuse Plans Novel Dance Revue for Television

With several bookings offerings already in her hands, Betty Martina, noted Spanish-Morrocoan dancer and choreographer, announced she was forming a dancing group comprised of men and women of an interracial nature, to meet a new and popular demand for novel and spectacular productions.

Miss Martina, interviewed in her rooms at the New Morris Hotel, operated a school of dancing in Boston, Mass. for several years. In addition to having created scores of top-notch dances and costumes, the talented young dancer has won quite a reputation for the number of routines she has originated for other dancing stellarlites.

The dancing groups, all of whom will be trained and routined under the direction of Miss Martina, will be known as The Betty Martina International Dancers. Plans call for the dancers to be given accurate basic training which will enable them to act out any type of primitive, native, modern or folklore festival and plays.

Miss Martina said she will make members of her talented troupes available to radio, screen and television in addition to the theatre and concert stage.

Register Now Leader Says

Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass, national chairman of the Women For Wallace announced this week that it is necessary for all voters who wish to enroll in the Independent Progressive Party to register now. Persons voting for the first time, or persons who have been enrolled in another party and who wish to become affiliated with the new party must register or reregister before September.

Mrs. Virginia Alexander, a deputy registrar of voters, will be stationed outside the California Eagle office each day from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. for the convenience of Southside residents who wish to register while out shopping or when returning from work.

In issuing the call for citizens to register now, Mrs. Bass said, "The Independent Progressive Party unites Americans for peace, security and economic prosperity; it is the party of labor, the minorities, the senior citizens, the veterans, the small businessmen and the farmers."

Band Concert In South Park August 22nd

Councilman Kenneth Hahn who is Chairman of the Public Health and Welfare Committee of the City Council, recently requested the Music Coordinator of the City of Los Angeles to give a band concert at South Park.

This request has been granted and on August 22nd from 2 to 4 p.m. a 50-piece symphonic band will present a concert for the citizens in the south side of Los Angeles. This is one of the outstanding bands in the City of Los Angeles and Councilman Hahn urges every citizen to attend and enjoy the park and two hours of beautiful music.

Councilman Hahn was told that we do not have more concerts in the south part of Los Angeles because on previous occasions very few people attended the concerts.

Slapped on Cheek? Don't Turn Other One; Slug the Guy

NEW YORK, N. Y.—"Teach your boy to box if you want him to be more sure of himself in his contact with other youngsters."

That's the advice given by E. F. James, of the New York City Police Athletic League.

Fathers are usually willing to have their sons learn the art of self defense, says James in the July Journal of Living. It's the mothers who object in a mistaken attempt to keep their youngsters from fighting.

Actually, boys who know how to box are less apt to get into fights, declares James. A good boxing instructor instills in his pupils the idea that he is being taught to defend himself, not to bully others. And a youngster who has confidence in his own ability to ward off trouble is less likely to get into it.

Boxing has other advantages, too, according to the Journal of Living article. It teaches boys to move arms and legs gracefully and alertly, and develops coordination. It may even help to improve his school grades, because a boy who is not worried about being "picked on" by school bullies can do better in his studies.

Whether a boy should be permitted to take part in competition boxing is up to the parent. But the sport itself does all it is meant to do when it makes youngsters feel competent to call upon their skill when needed.

(That's what the man said!)

Eastside Settlement Camp Program Successfully Wins Support of Business Group

The Second Annual Tea and Open House at Eastside Settlement recently was well attended by our friends. For the first time many of our friends went thru our plant and were impressed with the exhibit of some articles made by our children in the various clubs and classes. The Ceramics included pieces made by pre-school children as well as some pieces made by girls and boys in junior high school. Mrs. Bessie White was our ceramics teacher.

The handicraft were articles and sewing were made by the different groups under the leadership of group worker, Mrs. Lucy H. Jones. The leather articles and Silver braclet were made in the craft classes taught by Mr. Williams (Chief Kintau). Because we didn't plan a formal program we did not display the work of our two music teachers: Mrs. Neosho Tatum and Mrs. Constance H. Tyler. They are to be presented later.

Mrs. Carrie Fisher, general chairman for the tea with the cooperation of the members of the committee, did a beautiful job. They made our big conference room into a beautiful, well appointed living room. The beautiful silver services were elegant, the refreshments were not only beautiful but most delicious. It was one of the most beautiful teas I have attended.

In the receiving line was our president, Mrs. Malinda Mae Garland; one of the founders of the Agency, Mrs. Elizabeth St. Charles Edwards; Mrs. Exie Lee Hampton, executive director; Mrs. Lucy Jones, group worker, and Mrs. Myrtle Adams, housekeeper.

Hostesses presenting our guests were: Mrs. Mattie Stafford, Mrs. Betty Johnson and Mrs. Ethel Holt.

The following persons tendered beautiful music for the tea: Miss Ann Holt, daughter of one of our board members, Mrs. Partee Pitts, a life member of the Settlement and Mrs. Constance H. Tyler, a member of the staff at the Settlement.

The following poured tea: Mrs. Mildred Moore, Mrs. Claudia Jernigan, Mrs. Myrtle Broach, Mrs. Hattie Tevis, Mrs. Ella Bunch, Mrs. Helen Smith and Mrs. Ida Mae Robertson.

General hostesses were Mrs. Elmyra Spencer and Mrs. Myrtle Brown. The courtesy committee had charge of showing guest thru the plant: Mrs. James Davis was in charge of this group.

Mrs. Keys and Mrs. Julia Lee were in charge of degistrations: Mrs. Lee is chairma nof our Emergency club. The proceeds of the tea are to be applied on debt of the plant. Pencil souvenirs were given out by Mrs. Mimmie Fariera, a member of Settlement Board.

Many thanks to all who brought their beautiful plants and flowers which added to the setting.

Presentation—The Sallie W. Stewart club presented a beautiful drinking fountain to our playground which adds much to comfort and sanitation of our children. Mrs. Claudia Jernigan is president of the club and Mrs. Lucy Austin was chairman of the purchasing committee. Our children, staff, board and members appreciate the gift.

SEVENTEEN YOUTH GO TO SUMMER CAMP

Last Tuesday morning, June 29, fifteen of our Youth from Eastside were made very happy, (as anyone who happened to be around could see by the cherry smiles), because it was the morning that a Big Blue bus carried them to Camp Mountain Cags, the Salvation Army Camp in the Malibu Mountains. Seven parents witnessed the take off.

The staff and board of Eastside wish to thank the following clubs and firms who contributed so unselfishly to our camp fund, thereby helping to make it possible for our boys and girls to attend summer camp: Conner Johnson & Co. Inc. Fred Douglas Political Study club, West Indian American club, The New Day Masconic Emergency club, The Friendly Twelve Charity club, Ladies Social Sewing club, and the Au Fait club.

The boys and grils attending Camp Crags are: Robert Wilson, Robert Garrett, Gus Smith, Margine Bates, Alfred Livingston, Harold Printers, Sandra Smith, James Black, Robert Coleman, Clifton Jones, George Bates, Shirley Ann Hood, James Bradford, Rochelle Butler and Leroy Conway.

Those attending all nations camp are: Eugene Crawford and Donald McAlister.

Good News, Mrs. Brown! Jimmie Is Coming Home

Private First Class Jimmy L. Brown, son of Mrs. Jessie Brown of 1147 East 48th Place, Los Angeles, Calif., has recently left the 36 Med. Coll. Co., the 24th Infantry, now stationed at Camp Gifu, Japan, for return to the United States for discharge from the Army. The 24th Infantry is a part of the 25th Infantry (Tropic Lightning) Division, commanded by Brigadier General Everett E. Brown.

Pfc. Brown entered the Army in July, 1946, and received his basic training at Fort Knox, Ky. He departed for overseas duty in November, 1946.

Before entering the service Pfc. Brown attended East High School.

There'll be Two J. Roberts Now

SAN BERNARDINO—J. Robert Smith Jr., made his debut here last week simultaneous with the unanimous election of his father, J. Robert Smith Sr. to become the Exalted Ruler of Arrowhead Lodge IBPOE of W., J. Robert Sr. is the editor and publisher of a local newspaper, and the mother of the bouncing eight pound junior edition is the only Negro teacher in the San Bernardino school system.

Smith Sr., who is a member of the City Recreation Commission, and who is an active member of Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity, plans to build the strength of Arrowhead Lodge until it becomes outstanding for communities of similar size. His plans for J. Robert Jr. can be surmised, considering the number of years he has been devoted to the journalistic field.

Rare Metal Donated To County By WAA

A quantity of very rare tantalum foil, used in surgery, was obtained recently by the County at no cost from the War Assets Administration, according to information received from Supervisor Leonard J. Roach.

The stock of sixteen hundred sheets of the metal, valued at over $18,000 will be used for surgical cases in County institutions. Because of its cost its use is generally limited to neural, brain, and plastic operations.

Roach says this gift to the County is all the more valuable because there is a very short supply of the rare metal.

Give A Student A Job For Summer Vacation

Employers, do you have summer work for a college student? Many young men and women are requesting ANY KIND OF WORK this summer to help them pay expenses when the fall school term begins in September.

Call the California State Employment Service to place your requests for work for these students. The telephone number is RIchmond 6511.

Traffic Engineering Conference Opens

Designed to study problems encountered in planning and controlling traffic movement on our streets and highways, the first annual California Traffic Engineering Conference will be held from July 14 to 16 at the Automobile Club of Southern California, Figueroa Street at Adams Blvd. in Los Angeles.

The three-day conclave, which is expected to be one of the most important traffic studies ever held in this State, is being presented under the joint auspices of Transportation and Traffic Engineering of the University of California, the nationwide Institute of Traffic Engineers and the Bureau of Highway Traffic of Yale University.

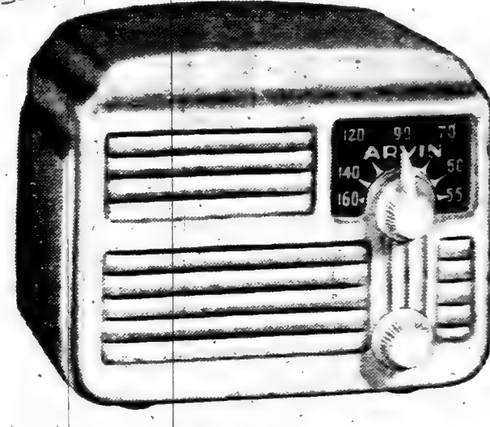
County Museum Now Has Its Own Pre

Labels and programs used at the County Museum will henceforth be printed at the Museum on a printing press just purchased from war surplus stocks.

Supervisor Leonard Roach says that the press, complete with type and appurtenances, cost the County only $513. Its value is in excess of $2,000.



Having obtained such a bargain, Roach says there is quite a saving in printing incurred in the presentation of the various exhibits.

How to make a telephone grow

1. If your telephone grew in size as the system serving it grows, it might look like this someday. Since 1940 alone, telephones have increased 75% on the Coast. And the growth continues. Today your telephone is a bigger, more valuable servant than ever. Here's how it got that way.

2. Cables you'll probably never see had to be put in. New buildings, the telephones themselves, complex switching frames...an almost unbelievable amount of equipment had to be provided before the system could grow. We must spend millions of dollars to keep it expanding and improving ...to meet the needs of the growing West.

3. Who pays for new equipment? Half a million dollars a day needed to expand and improve comes from investors who put their savings into the telephone business. To continue growing and improving, we must sell our services at fair and adequate prices that provide profits for investors that are fair and adequate.

4. When you make a local telephone call the cost averages less than a nickle. For those few pennies you hire a mighty servant...a bigger servant than ever before. There will soon be twice as many telephones on the Coast as there were ten years ago. They continue to go in rapidly. And each one added makes your telephone that much more valuable.

THE CALIFORNIA EAGLE

The Salcido Case

The average American observer from the standpoint of the newspaper or other point of view, can't help but realize that we are treading on dangerous ground.

We say we are the only Democratic nation in the world. Now all classes of Americans make this claim. Even Negro leaders, at the blunt end of our proclaimed Democratic way of life, say we live in the best country in the world.

Grant that we do. But is it not a fact that we have grown drunk with our power and greatness? Is our power really vested in the people who make up the nation?

These questions pose an explanation of what we mean when we say we live under a capitalistic system. Now we are aware that even a mention of the capitalist system touches off a sort of indignation from big business and big politicians.

Certain positions seem to insure certain rights to some people to speak out in the open, when they twist the truth to make it say that all is well with the people, when it is not. It isn't security, but the hope of protection from those who can ruin you by the wave of a finger, that makes you lie about real conditions.

Victims of police bruitality, such as the much-publicized Salcido case, in which a police officer after a great deal of evidence was produced to prove that he shot to death a defenseless Mexican youth, was finally brought to trial—are beginning to question our claim to the best country in the world, the only government run on a democratic basis.

Negroes who must pass a loyalty test in order to work, eat, and sleep in other than swill-pails and gutters, are asking some questions. They want to know who is telling the truth about the apparent unrest in our nation and our world.

They hear from the lips of Henry Wallace such words as these: "On the matter of undemocratic, viscious, costly, and utter criminal practices of segregation and discrimination, we shall not compromise."

Until our government takes a firm stand against such practices as religious and racial discrimination, special police treatment for Mexicans and Negroes for any and all types of crime, there will be a growing, seething unrest in the nation. And we opine not of the Moscow brand, but of the American make.

Two of a Kind

The Credentials Committee of the Democratic National Convention was requested to oppose the seating of all delegates who were elected by poll-tax votes or who were members and supporters of the Ku Klux Klan.

"The Democratic Party cannot rightfully claim support of any decent thinking American as long as it permits racists, advocates of white supremacy, and inciters of lynching to participate in its deliberations," said the Committee for Democratic Rights, which organization asked for the barring of the delegates mentioned.

We don't know whether or not this Committee for Democratic Rights sent a similar request to the Credentials Committee for the Republican Convention. But if it did not, it should have done so. The Republicans of the South—and there were delegates at the Republican Convention from every Southern State—cannot claim any glory in blotting out those evils of the deep South.

True, the Republican Party is in the minority in the South. But nowhere is there any record where its members exerted themselves to any appreciable extent to stop the lynch evil, to abolish the poll tax, to bring about better racial understanding.

The Democratic Party and the Republican Party are two cronies of the same kind, in the South as well as in other parts of the country. If this Committee for Democratic Rights expects any Credentials Committee to question poll-tax delegates, it will have to wait until the Independent Progressive Party holds its founding convention in Philadelphia, beginning July 23.

The IPP, with Henry Wallace and Glen Taylor, is the only political party that has ever defied the bigotry and hatred of the "white supremacists" of the South. The only political party to which the Negro people, North or South, can look for help in their long fight for real freedom.

Stop Dewey!

Here is a little bit about the record of the people who will run the government if Thomas E. Dewey is elected president of the United States.

Here are the highlights of the suppressed Philadelphia story, exposing the "liberal" hoax.

1. One of the three top Dewey strategists who engineered the nomination was Edwin F. Jaeckle, the man who incorporated the German-American Bund in this country and later appeared as a guest speaker at a Nazi rally near Buffalo.

2. The man Dewey named to the all-important job of raising campaign funds is James S. Kemper, prominent American Firster who sponsored the anti-labor and anti-Semitic radio broadcasts of Upton Close, until protests forced him off the air.

3. Appointed by Dewey as vice-chairman of the Republican National Comm was Werner F. Schroeder, isolationist mouthpiece for the Chicago Tribune who had been tossed off the Committee in 1942 by Wendell Willkie on the ground that he was "a symbol of retrogression."

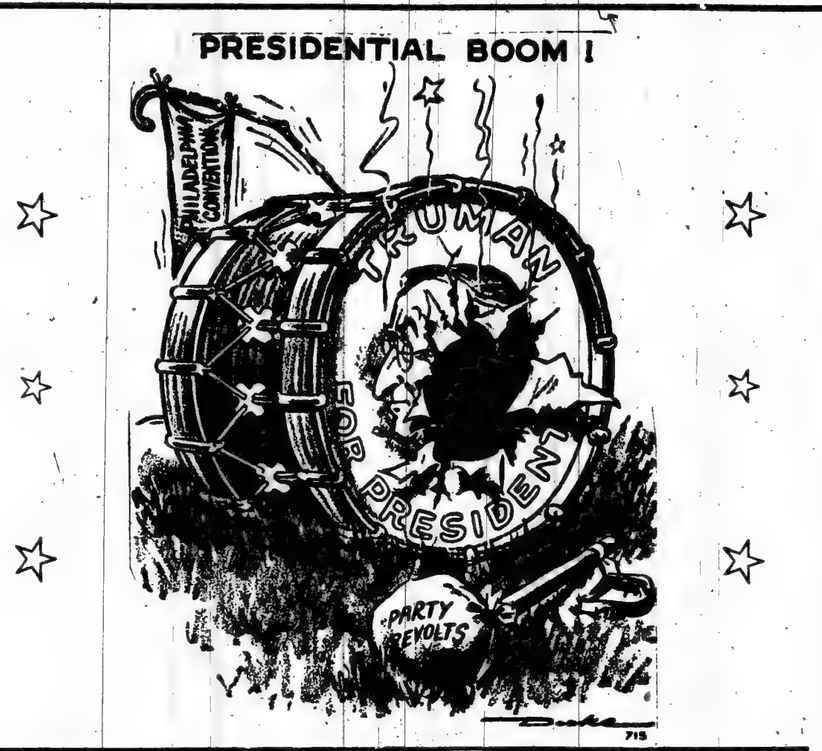
4. The man who started the Dewey bandwagon rolling by splitting the powerful Pennsylvania delegation was Joseph H. Grundy, the millionaire industrialist who heads the reactionary Penna Manufacturers Assn. Grundy is known as the nation's foremost exponent of high tariffs and low taxes (for the wealthy), and is the front half of the Grundy-Pew machine which dominates Penna politics.

5. Appointed GOP national chairman is Grundy's protege, Rep. Hugh D. Scott Jr., who was one of the Congressmen on Gerald L. K. Smith's "must" list in 1946 and who has a consistent record of voting for the special interest boys against the general welfare.

In Fact.

The Crime of the Trusts

In the 1900's, the crime of the trusts was well known to the entire country. Those were the days when the Rockefellers and Morgans were smashing up thousands of small businesses to form the giant trusts of today.



But, a good publicity job was done. The trusts were covered up in the press. Today, the story of American monopoly is the biggest story of this generation. Yet, it is kept from the public. Few people know that the steel trust, the oil trust, the auto and building trust control most of the industrial life of the nation. Together with the banks, they dictate the output, the price, and the flow of goods. The giant trusts, like General Electric, hoard inventions which might interfere with the profits of the big industrialists. The banks and mortgage firms, together with the lumber, cement, and metal trusts, effectively sabotage any big housing program. They prefer the shortage which keeps rents and prices up. They wrecked the plan for Government housing (the cost of our armaments would build millions of new homes within a single year).

The trusts killed price control soon after the war was ended. They saw a chance to make enormous profits out of the post-war shortages. They wanted to loot the savings of the people which had gone into war bonds and bank accounts. The result was that since 1945, the food price index rose from 138 to 211 today; clothing rose from 144 to 197; rent from 108 to 116, and other daily costs from 123 to 147. The trusts are gouging the entire nation; their profits are breaking records.

The need for an anti-monopoly party is enormous. Not in the old "trust-busting" sense of the 1900's which tried in vain to prevent the concentration of capital, but in the sense of a people's government acting to expose them, curb their price fixing, tax their profits heavily, and preparing the way for the people to take them over for the use of the entire nation.

The trusts are controlled by about 1,000 financiers. Surely, the rest of America's 140,000,000 cannot afford to let their lives be dictated by the monopolist clique.—From The Worker.

The state of Texas leads all other states in the Union in the production of cotton. It also holds first place in output of grain sorghum, onions, pecans and produces large quantities of many other agricultural products.

THINGS I SEE

By Marian Inglewood

Those two words, tolerance and intolerance, have a world of significance to each of us. We are so prone to think of everyone as being tolerant if he agrees in principle with what we believe is right! But if he doesn't agree—there's no end to the epithets we heap upon him. Intolerant! Bigoted! Narrow-minded! Communist! Fascist! etc.

This brings me to a quotation from a "Newsletter" I received recently from a friend of mine in New York who is going all out to show that all of us are more alike than we are different, if we just take a little time and make a little effort to get below the surface.

Here is the question: "When the Negro understands how slowly some white people learn; when the Jew understands how difficult it is for a Christian to put into practice his beliefs; when white people learn how it feels to ride in Jim Crow cars or to be forced into certain residential sections; when those whose families have been here for many generations understand what it means to be denied citizenship; when staunch supporters of the New England town meeting understand how the sharecroppers who can't afford to vote, feel; when homesteaders and homemakers feel the loneliness of refugees—in short, when you, whoever you are, can look at another, whoever he is, and say, 'In my heart, I'm you,' then the last frontier will have been pushed back."

"And with all thy getting, get understanding," the Good Book says.

You see that quotation places the burden for the success of tolerant ideals upon us, who pride ourselves upon being broadminded and liberal and tolerant. We are all that, of course. But are we broadminded enough to let the other fellow be narrow-minded and bigoted and not condemn him for it?

People who are bigoted through ignorance, we can excuse. They know not what they do. And so we feel sorry for them, and if we can we enlighten them. If they are bigoted only through ignorance, they will seek the truth, however, and if they don't believe what we tell them—and no one has to do that—they'll hunt things up for themselves, and so arrive at a conclusion which will be infinitely better than if we try to pound it into their heads.

But how about those people like the Rankins, and the Thomases, and the Jack Tenneys—relentlessly stubborn, bigoted, utterly refusing to see even a gleam of light for themselves and shutting out every ray that might penetrate into the soul of some other human being?

They belong to the same class of Pharisees whom Jesus condemned mercilessly as being hypocrites, upon whom He declared the final sentence shall be pronounced: Depart from me, ye cursed, into everlasting fire, prepared for the devil and his angels.

Jesus never compromised with that class. Whether He understood them or not, is another question. How could one so wholly filled with the love for others that He was willing to sacrifice his life in a most cruel death, to rid them of a superstition that had fastened itself upon them and was deadening their souls — how could such a one understand another completely filled with love only for himself and hate for all others?

If Jesus understood those Pharisees and the class of mankind which they represent—those who condemned Him to death and with Him all of humanity which we think of as the Common Man — His understanding was not voided in any soft-spoken, kid-gloved compromise with their evil.

Jesus really was "tough" with those hypocrites of His day. He minced no words in exposing their hypocrisy to light. What He understood and saw clearly was the hate and the selfishness that warped their souls, and that made them devils incarnate.

If Jesus were here today He would condemn as utterly and mercilessly as He condemned the Pharisees of His day, the same sort of hypocrites living now who would crucify mankind upon a cross of gold to satisfy their own lust for gain, their love of self and their hate for others.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

The members of Fremont Council of Parents and Teachers wish to thank you and your staff for the splendid co-operation and fine publicity which you have afforded us through out the past year.

Good publicity is a big assistance in furthering our purpose and ideals for the welfare of the children of this community.

We are looking forward, with pleasure, to the work which lies before us in this great field knowing that we shall receive your co-operation and support in our activities.

Very Sincerely,
Marian G. Van Doren
Secretary, Fremont

Teachers

Dear Mrs. Bass:

We take great pleasure in announcing that the California Eagle, being in our opinion, one of America's leading newspapers, has been congratulated on page 55 of the Negro Travel Guide for its splendid work in fighting racial intolerance through the freedom of the press.

Wishing you the best of luck and continued success, I remain

Respectfully yours,
JOHN F. COOK, JR.,
Publisher.

The California Eagle,
Society Editor:

Thank you for your very nice treatment of the announcement of my engagement. My parents and I are very happy about it.

As usual, yours is our favorite newspaper and will remain so.

Very sincerely,
MARGUERITE PETTY.

Dear Mrs. Bass:

Please accept my sincere thanks for the splendid publicity given our music pupils in the columns of your excellent newspaper, both before and after our summer demonstration.

The pupils and their parents heartily join me in this sentiment, and wish you and your paper a long and successful future.

Sincerely yours,
Dovie Steward.

Franklin D. Roosevelt, while President, traveled more than any other President, having made 399 trips by train for a total distance of nearly 355,000 miles.

A Test of Friendship

By what stretch of the imagination could the Negro people and other minorities consider Henry Wallace and the Independent Progressive Party their enemies, or the enemies of the government?

The best test of who are and who are not your friends, is the company they keep.

It is reported that while the Wallace Party is making preparations for the Founding Convention in Philadelphia, simultaneously the Ku Klux Klan has timed its Klonvokation, or convention, for July 23.

It is believed that the Klan's intention in this instance is to wage an all-out fight against the only political party which is really fighting racial and religious discrimination, segregation in the army and navy, and restrictions on property aimed against the Negroes, Jews, Mexicans, and Orientals.

Our true and tried political friends in the two major parties have encouraged the Klan's fight against the new party in a whispering campaign or by silence, which is equivalent to an O.K.

Weigh this evidence, and decide for yourselves who are your friends and who are your enemies.

No Need for Comment

The following article taken from The Literary Gazette, Moscow, needs no comment, except one of shame that such things can exist in the United States.

The Literary Gazette published "An Open Letter to the American People" by Howard Fast, author, who has been sentenced to prison for contempt to Congress. The magazine said that Fast had promised to write an article for it on comtemporary American literature, while in jail, entitled, "In Prison He Succeeds in Writing."

The magazine goes on to explain that the United States Supreme Court has recently refused to review the conviction of Fast and his co-defendants. They asked a re-hearing, were refused, but are free on bond. The Supreme Court is now in summer recess, the magazine states.

Fast said, in his open letter, that he and the ten others convicted are being punished because they are anti-Fascists and because for many years "they attempted to heal the ills, feed the hungry and help the crippled fighters for Republican Spain."

W. J. Wheaton Says

Let's Cheer The Weary Traveller, Let's Cheer The Weary Traveller; Along the Lonesome Road." Huum and a series of hums was information that the song had ended, and we could make our prescence known.

"Now don't you hurry up your supper 'cause I got a lot of things to ask that's got me mystyfied. The youngsters have been reading to me 'en the folks I get meals for four evenings a week, and they talking about what you said at his club meeting, has got me so flabergasted I'm like a chicken with its neck rung off; just a fluttern around. Did you like the Apple Pie?"

"Fine," we replied; "Give me another slice!"

We knew by the way Mary Ann hastened to clean up that she was anxious to get something off her mind, as contrary to her custom she piled up the dishes and pulled the chair up to the table, and said: "I just want to know what's all this row about they don't want to put Mr. Truman to run for President but they wants to put up that big General, what's his name?"

Eisenhower," we said.

"Yes, that's the name. The folks I cook for was talking, and the gentleman was saying that you said at the Club that if the General was put by the party that you would'nt vote for him, 'en he was saying that when you got through, they said you had pretty good case, or something like that. Now what was it? I been wondering all the time, 'en I couldn't get any sense out 'er what the youngsters are trying to splain to me 'en I meen on pins 'en needles for you to come 'en tell me what's all bout.

"Mary Ann," we said, "it's a rather complicated situation, and to our folks like you and me, it transcends partisan politics, what ever the label. There are some things that the people who comprise, the so-called, minority groups, should deem of more importance than mere party loyalty and too, we should look on the practical side and not be carried away by emotion, or unpractical enthusiasm.

I have said repeatedly that I have no faith in that plant of the (Republican) platform. Think that we explained to you what a political platform and the plank in that platform meant. Remember?"

"Yes, I do remember," she said.

"Well in the platform of the Republican party they make promises that are made with the tongue in the cheek. They promise to abolish the Poll-Tax to see that the Fair Employment Bill is made a law, and that the crime of lynching and mob violence, as perpetrated in this country against people of color, maily, is made a Federal offense and would be punished by a federal law. All of those things they wrote in their platform. The crux of the matter si, they have for the past two years had an overwhelming majority in both houses of Congress. The President presented a report of a committee on Civil Rights and asked for its enactment, and made a law. The Republicans failed to consider the request though they had a big majority in the House of Representatives and in the Senate and a sympathetic President who would, undoubtedly sign the measure. No! We take the Republican promise with the proverbial, grain of salt.

"As for General Eisenhower, while personally, he may be considerate of minority peoples, we consider the people who are back of him. They are mostly from that section of the county who believe in the segreation of citizens, and condone the crime of lynching and mob violence in general. Whatever the personal attitude of the General might be, he would be dominated by that element. Again we say that we have an admiration for President Truman. We admire him for the enemies he has made. Threats of the South to bolt the Party of JeJfferson have not daunted him: He has stood by his guns.

"Qpponents have sought to stigmatize the "New Deal" it was the New Deal that brought this United States from the slough of Despond into the sunlight of prosperity, and the emancipation of Labor. The New Deal abolished the soup kitchens and the bread lines. What was that you said the other night, Mary Ann? Oh Yes, the earth cares nothing for our grief, and the earth which is our mother, cares nothing for our death. That's the way with politics. It's a sordid game. President Truman has, or should have the support of labor and members of minority groups. The President vetoed the tax-reduction bill three times, because on the face of it, it was the benefit of big business and the rich only. He fought for continuing price controls; to fight inflation; advocated federal housing, and also advocated civil right legislation. His foreign policy has been firm.

LABOR ON THE MARCH

By JOHN M. LEE

I wonder if there's a left and a right wing in the Salcido case; I wonder if politics could have saved Augustin Salcido. You've probably heard about Augustin Salcido, the 17-year-old Mexican youth who was killed by a hard-shooting policeman named Keyes on the night of March 10 last. Well, anyhow, Augustin Salcido is dead, and it's ten to one that he is dead because he was a Mexican. Now what I'm wondering is, would he be alive today if he belonged to the left wing? Or the right wing? Or if he didn't belong to the left wing? Or the right wign? The point is, can we get together? Not to avenge the cold-blooded murder of Augustin Salcido, but to make his slaughter a living memorial—a solemn determination that never again will a trigger-happy cop kill a Mexican kid and get away with it.

Make no mistake about it, labor will have to make known the true public sentiment about this unnecessary killing and carry out the people's wishes in the matter. The court had a chance to do it, and didn't. The court knew it was dealing with a case involving a poor Mexican kid stone-cold dead in the graveyard, and a living cop who liked to take Mexican kids out in a lot and knock them around; a cop who saw in the authority of his badge and gun a mandate to brutally mow down a 17-year-old boy because (the cop said) he tried to sell him a "hot" watch. A hot watch and a cold, lifeless body! Take your pick. I believe the mute testimony of the murdered youth.

What do you believe? And what are you going to do about it? Play politics? Maybe you want to sit this one out. It isn't a pretty case. There's no glory in it. You can't do a thing to make Augustin Salcido rise up out of the gutter where he fell lifeless in the early morning of March 10; even officer Keyes won't get a commendation for this business.

The court said the evidence against Keyes was "hearsay." Did you ever see a man who was shot down in cold blood lying on his stomach waiting for the wagon to cart him away? Nothing hearsay about it, was there? You knew right away that somebody shot him in the back and shut off the beat of his heart; the pulsing of his warm blood, the ties that made him a hated Mexican—or a Negro. Augustin Salcido could have been a 17-year-old Negro kid; that comes next. A Mexican; a Negro. It won't go any higher because when you get above the level of the Mexican and the Negro—there's organization.

That's what this piece is about — organization! Labor is organized; AFL, CIO, the Independents and the Brotherhoods must have had a purpose when they struggled and bled and died to organize. Can they deny that the stated memorial to Augustin Salcido is part of that purpose? Can they fail to lend the strength of their organization to a campaign to prevent officer Keyes from considering himself the appointed executioner of Mexican youths in the future?

Keyes does not belong on the Los Angeles police force. That's the assignment. Get him off! Return him to civilian status, so he can take his gun and go into the woods and shoot down frightened animals; Mexicans aren't frightened animals. They're subdued and bewildered but they're not frightened. Itchy-fingers like Keyes' will force them to prove it some day. Labor can perform a community service by circulating petitions for his recall. There'll be plenty of signatures; you can start off with mine right now.

Keyes is a menace to the policemen who do their duty with courage and understanding. Remember Augustin Salcido. Don't forget Keyes!

Americans Easy Victims Prof. Reports

WELLESLEY, Mass.—The cold war with Russia has made the American people easy victims of demogogues, according to Prof. Ralph Barton Perry of Harvard university, in a speech delivered at the Summer Institute for Social Progress at Wellesley college.

The United States, said Prof. Perry, has two broad alternative strategies, "committing ourselves to a holy war," or resorting to peaceful measures that will "require an epoch, not a year or even a decade.

Since the cost of war is so great, it should be accepted only as a last desperate resort, after every peaceful alternative has been exhausted.

POTPOURRI

The meeting of the Democratic Committee, where the fireworks were expected to explode, was exceptionally harmonious due to a gentlemen's agreement entered into at the last meeting, that no officers would be elected at the meeting Tuesday, but instead at an "adjourned" meeting to be held two weeks later, July 27. The reason for this agreement was that many of the Big Shots of the Committee were attending the convention in Philadelphia.

One militant member attempted to introduce a resolution from the floor that the anti-Truman Democrats should be read out of the Committee, but the resolution was declared 'out of order" by Fred Kelley, who presided, and the meeting adjourned in outward peace at least, although there seemed to be fireworks smouldering.

The County Central Committees of the three political parties —Progressive Independent, Democrat, and Republican—met according to law last Tuesday evening to organize for the coming campaign and the coming year.

The IPP elected the following officers:

This week Kenneth Hahn, Member of the City Council of the 8th District, introduced a resolution to the City Council that the Harbor Freeway should go along the Pacific Electric right-of-way and that the City Engineer, Lloyd Aldrich, cooperate with the State Highway Engineer to see that a complete scientific resurvey of where the best route should be followed.

If the present plan for the freeway would go through, it would uproot thousands of homes and make thousands of people change their places of abode. Some engineers estimate that it will cost $5,000,000 a mile to build the Harbor Freeway, according to the present plan, moving the homes elsewhere and finding new property, to construct this gigantic man-made project.

Councilman Hahn hopes that he can save the homes of thousands of people and make available to the much-needed housing crisis the existing homes and prevent the unnecessary movement of homes and add to the hardships of the citizens.

DALLAS, Texas — Charging that Mexicans in Texas faced social, economic and educational discrimination, the Mexican Government struck a devastating blow at the Texas cotton crop by revoking last October, the Mexican Alien-labor agreement under which Mexicans were permitted to enter Texas to work as transient laborers in Texas cotton crops.

The Mexican Government revoked the agreement because it was found that in some parts of the State Mexican labor was paid less than other workers; in 38 school districts in Texas Mexican students were segregated from other students until they were of junior high school age; and restaurants, theatres, business houses and other public places barred Mexicans, in many communities.

The Mexican revocation order cut Texas off from a labor supply of potentially 40,000 to 50,000 cotton pickers.

In an effort to retrieve this vast supply of labor which is essential to the harvesting of the Texas cotton crop, Texas officials, from Gov. Beauford Jester on down to the smallest local groups, are working night and day to eradicate all discriminatory practices against Mexican nationals.

Many Negro anti-discrimination organizations are watching the wielding of the Mexican economic weapon against racial discrimination and its effects with interest.

Chiang Losing Ground

NANKING.

As Chiang Kai-shek's "democratic" National Assembly becomes increasingly like a series of unrefereed boxing matches, conditions in the country are growing tenser. The universities are closed, with both teachers and students on strike. Hundreds of thousands of workers are organizing guerrilla detachments to await the liberation armies.

Delegates have been demanding the execution of General Cheng Chen, army chief of staff, for his failure to win the civil war—but Cheng's army is now poorly equipped, without even enough rifles to go round. The millions of dollars' worth of American equipment has mostly been lost, destroyed, or captured by the liberation forces.

Nobody seems to want the job of being president of the United States during the next four years, except Truman and the Republicans. The people want Wallace.

Heartsick and ashamed is the way Cecil Brown described his feelings after listening to the way George Vaughn, of Mississippi, was shouted down at the Democratic National Convention when he attempted to present the minority report of the credentials committee.

"How can we expect the nations of the world to believe us when we tell them we are the greatest democracy in the world, when we cannot practice democracy among our own American citizens, simply because the color of his skin is dark?" he asked.

to a party and then came home and started a fight with the defendant. They hadn't been getting along very well for three years because the Ford woman was jealous. This night she came home saying she had found a new girl a Bernice Hall, who could give her more money and so she (Miss Foster) would have to get out.

On the night of the killing the defendant came home from work about 11 p.m. and Mrs. Ford started an argument. They went to bed and the deceased hit the defendant in the eye. She said she got her pocket knife and then she didn't remember what happened.

The slain woman had about 12 incisions on her body with her right shoulder almost severed.

In the sum-up arguments, Mr. Myers said he felt the deceased was a woman of low character and while the law shouldn't be taken in one's hand he felt that justice would be done if a verdict of manslaughter was given by the court.

Mr. Gordon also made a plea for leniency because the older woman had taken a young girl (she was 23 at the time of the meeting) and "pimped" on her for years and then wanted to put her out when she found another girl who could give her more money.

Judge Gates in giving his decision said he had not heard a case as sordid as the Ford case and much of the responsibility of the degredation of Miss Foster was on the shoulders of the deceased, although some sort of punishment should be meted to the defendant. He also paid high tribute to the district attorney, Myers, and the defense counsel, Mr. Gordon. He then found the defendant guilty of manslaughter and when Mr. Gordon waived time for sentence, the court sentenced Miss Foster to the women's prison for the term prescribed by law. The sentence carries a sentence of one to 10 years.

Miss Foster has a mother, Jenny Mitchell, living at 1916 Hutchins ave., Houston, Texas.

Dr. Sanford Goldner, Council president, and Henry Sazer, executive secretary, joined last week to point out that the report of the granting of a new oil concession to American Independent oil interests indicates the need for increased alertness. They extended the Council's thanks and appreciation to the International Longshore and Warehousemen's Union for respecting their picket line, thus materially aiding in winning the objectives, and they expressed gratitude to all who assisted in the two-day campaign.

Urban League Job Quest Succeeding

NEW YORK—The National Urban League, through its six-months-old Pilot Placement Project, is steadily gainging ground in its effort to obtain key technical and professional jobs for Negroes in private industry. Since the beginning of the Project in January of this year, twenty skilled Negro workers were employed by seventeen top American industrial and commercial enterprises, according to the National Urban League's Department of Industrial Relations.

Eleven of the firms were, for the first time, using Negroes in white collar positions, according to LeRoy Jeffries, Assistant Industrial Relations Director, in charge of the Project.

With only a partial report from 56 Urban League branches around the country, the greatest number of positions were secured in the Greater New York area where placements were made with the American Tobacco Company; with Anna Rosenberg, public relations counselor; Franklin Simon's; R. H. Macy and Company; Savarin Coffee Company; Saks (34th Street); Schaefer's Beer Company; Unicorn Press; Godfrey Black Textile Brokers; Safeway Stores; and Mishkin Drug Company.

New Singer Given Ovation

WASHINGTON, D. C.—One of the wildest ovations ever given a singer was accorded Theodore Charles Stone, when he appeared in a song recital in the recital hall of the National Academy of Music, Sunday afternoon, July 11, sponsored by the District of Columbia Music Association.

Mr. Stone, the rapidly rising baritone whose art has been long established in the concert halls, and over the radios of Finland, Norway, Sweedn, and throughout the United States and Canada gave a program which was of the highest order and performance. Selections ranging from the early Beethoven, Purcell, Mendelssohn, and lieder by Schubert and Brahms, he concluded the first half of the recital with a telling delineation of the dramatic aria "Credo" from Verdi's "Otello."

Accompanied by the gifted young American pianist John Hoskins, Mr. Stone sang contemporary songs by Sir Roger Quilter, John Ireland's "Sea Fever," Margaret Bond's "Winter Moon," two Finnish songs which he secured during his stay in Helsinki where he was studying several seasons ago.

Letter to the Editor

Tarboro, N. C., July 8, 1948.

Dear Editor of THE CALIFORNIA EAGLE:

For the first time I got one of your papers, and I would like to get more. I would not have the money now for a year, but I can buy one, so I am sending you 10c in stamps so you can send me one more of your papers.

Hope you all out in California are doing O.K. Keep the good work going.

W. J. JOHNSON.

Progressive Party,
Reno, Nevada.

Dear Mrs. Bass:

Just aline to thank you for your splendid cooperation at the convention. (Founding convention for Nevada IPP.) Without you we never would have emerged so strongly united.

Were you able to make contacts after you left the convention hall? I came down to the Club after seeing Elinor Kahn off on the train, but you had already left. I was disappointed in not seeing you. I hope to be able to attend the National Convention, however, and will see you there.

It was a privilege to meet you, and to hear you speak. I hope to know you a great dal more in the future.

Sincerely yours,
La Vonne Busch, secretary,
Progressive Party.

Dem. Convention Has Few Bright Spots-Adopts Platform-Nominates Candidates for Pres. and V. P.

However drab and disappointing the convention of the Democratic Party now being held in Philadelphia, may be to those who had hoped for some miracle to happen that would place that party in the front again, there are still several bright spots to which Democrats can point without shame, and even with pride.

The first is that of the keynote speech of Sen. Alben W. Barkley. Says the New York Times: "Senator Barkley, knowing and remembering Presidents Wilson and Roosevelt, having to defend before a spiritless gathering the administration of President Truman, could do nothing better than fall back upon the record."

The Times then goes on to enumerate some of the many benefits of the New Deal under President Roosevelt. "It did attack a great depression with vigor; it did enact remedial laws which in their essential endure; it did attempt to preserve the human and natural resources of the nation."

Helen Gahagan Douglas, however, member of the Congress from the 14th Congressional District of California, minced no words in her bitter denunciation of the 80th Congress, with its large Republican majority.

"The Republicans," she declared, "shivered in the fear that the philosophy of Franklin Delano Roosevelt still lives in the hearts of the American people."

But today, she maintains, the "New Deal" of the 30's is not enough. We need to go farther today.

"The New Deal met the problems and the needs of the 30s. As we approach the 50s it is in no way adequate," she said.

"We must go further, much further to new goals of human happiness and well-being. In order to maintain and protect our political bill of rights, we must now secure an economic bill of rights.

"If we are going to defeat communism, or any other form of totalitarianism, and help lead the way toward a free and democratic society of nations, democracy must offer not only political freedom but economic security—jobs, homes, and the right to raise families without fear."

The platform which the delegates to the convention finally acted upon yesterday, is the result of 11 hours of squabbling. The drafters tried to placate the North and the South, the liberals and the reactionaries — an impossible feat.

They came up with a compromise which took a middle-of-the-road position in regards to the civil rights program. The platform advocates the lifting of the arms embargo for Palestine, and the outright repeal of the Taft-Hartley law.

It is a foregone conclusion that Harry S. Truman will be nominated for president. No one else seems to want the job. Sen. Barkley is the choice for the vice-presidency, although he is only second choice. Judge William O. Douglas turned it down, just as he turned down the bid for president.

The convention will end this week, probably Thursday or Friday. The convention for the new party, the Independent Progressive Party, will begin July 23. They, of course, will nominate Henry Wallace for president and Glen Taylor for vice-president.

And then we shall see what we shall see, come next November.

Annual Breakfast Held By Wives Of Retired Officers

The second annual breakfast o fthe Army and Navy Retired Men's Wives Club will be served in the garden of their regular meeting place, 1000 E. 45th st., on Sunday, July 18. The club met recently in the garden to plan the affair, which Hostess Margarette Powers declares will be a grand affair.

The honored guest at the recent meeting was Mrs. Leslie King, Sr., wife of Lt. Leslie King, who joined th eclub and pledged her loyal support. Mrs. Hannah Chadman, wife of Capt. Samuel Chadman, also a visitor, promised to join the club in the near future.

Mrs. Pearl Heard, president of the club, presided at the meeting. The hostesses for the occasion, Ann Hamlin, Mabel Johnson and Clemmie Marshall, served a delicious repast.

Watts Health Exams Slated

According to Dr. George M. Uhl, City Health officer, more than 1,000 persons visited the Watts district health office last month.

Most of the visits were for blood tests, which determine whether the individual has syphilis, a disease which can cause great crippling if not discovered and cured early, Dr. Uhl said.

Those found to have syphilis are referred to their private doctor for treatment, unless the patient is unable to make such arrangements," he declared.

According to Dr. Kolts, the Watts health center, at 1513 East 103rd Street, will give blood tests during the following hours:

Monday—1:00 to 3:30 p.m.
Wednesday — 10:30 to 11:30 a.m. 1:00 to 6:00 p.m.
Thursday—8:30 to 10:30 a.m.

Bishop College Club Members Set For Big Day

Enthusiasm and a fine spirit of cooperation were the keynotes of the Bishop College Club meeting Sunday, July 11, at the home of the club president.

A fine report was given on the coming dinner-dance to be held at Park Manor, 607 S. Western, July 22, with a grand program of stars of screen, stage and radio, combined with the rhythmic music of George Brown, his orchestra and the lilting lyrics of Dolores Parker, formerly with Duke Ellington's orchestra.

Reservations are still available for a few choice tables, held for clubs, out-of-town and party groups, contact Vivian Lamond, CE. 2-4087 for information and tickets.

Special guests attending the club meeting were Mesdames Blanch Strickland and Jeraldine Jacoway, and Rev. John L. Branham, regional vice-president of the college alumni, pastor of St. Paul Baptist Church, scene of the "Bishop College Day," July 25, at 3 p.m. Both affairs are open to the public.

Disability Insurance Benefits Set Record

State disability insurance benefits paid in the Los Angeles area to workers temporarily unemployed due to non-occupational illness or injury since the inception of the state program on December 1, 1946, reached the $10,000,000 mark this week, it was announced by William R. Dougherty, manager of the Los Angeles district office of the California Department of Employment.

During this period approximately 70,000 claims were received by the district office from greater Los Angeles and the area including Alhambra, Burbank, Covina, Culver City, Glendale, Lancaster, Los Angeles, Monrovia, North Hollywood, Pasadena, Pomona, San Fernando, Santa Monica, Van Nuys, and Whittier.

Presenting George Van Saake

By PHYLLIS SCOTT

People go to him to give of their companionship. And they take of his wisdom. Greater than I is the friendship which draws them together. These are the artists, writers, great and small. They nestle about him to partake of his pleasures in the quiet of his two-room studio.

George Van Saake is a network of complexities, which sometimes causes him to withdraw into seclusion. A virtual slave to art, he says, "I paint because an irresistable force, an inner compulsion drives me to it; I seem to have no choice in the matter at all. I work, read, eat, sleep, and dream art. Most of all, I live it."

His art developed out of the dramatic turmoil of abnormal conditions in Europe: war, poverty, confusion, hunger—but always, he looked upward and beyond. This sensitivity to the fundamental yet difficult problems of life aecounts for his chosen field of child portraits. He loves children because they don't wear masks . . . they are totally unafraid, honest and just . . . and untrained to better themselves by elegant lies.

Van Saake is recognized as probably the foremost painter of children's portraits today. He has painted children of all nationalities and races the world over. It's almost like a United Nations League of Children's portraits.

Oftimes he goes to the most obscure places where he'll see a child and invite him to his studio to become his model. They all have one thing in common: they are natural in appearance and unartificial by shallowness of mind.

When he paints members of minority groups he does not, as many artists do, emphasize broadness of features; they are presented in their true light but with dignity. His portrait of "Pete," grandson of the late Sidney Dones, depicts a quiet melancholy already touched by society's discrimination.

But the intimate story, the real story is known by only Van Saake, a genius no less. This man who values time almost as much as he does painting, less it slip away from some important engagement. This man who achieved early fame i rope as a playwright, chi tor, concert musician and er of paintings. Sometimes py, more oftimes sad becau the suffering of little peo because the miserable st for existence steals three ters of his time, which he to paint.

WHAT'S DOING IN THE SOCIAL SET

By JESSIE MAE BROWN

THE LOCAL SOCIAL WHIRL is as bright and gay as a carousel! Believe me, ye scribe finds it twice as interesting and is glad to get back in character, reporting its happenings to you. Edna Over Gray, National AKA, arrived and was wined, dined, and nearly made her departure before Yours Truly got back to the old typewriter. Arrived in time to enjoy the lovely "Coffee' given by Zenobia Allen and Audrey Jones in her honor. If ever a fashion forecast, that affair was one indeed. The trend of what's to come this fall, was carried out in the attire of Bernice Barnumn. Ersula Murrell, Helen Smith to mention a few. They had a wonderful time greeting all my old friends and making new ones. By the way, as per usual, the summer group of visitors is as large as ever before. Madam Catarina Jarbaro, by the Eagle office last Monday, made intros to two charming guests from St. Louis, of whom you will find an account in this week's issue.

First and foremost on many a calendar is the national convention of Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity, that is slated for the month of August in dear L. A. Though the conclave will take but 3 or 4 days of actual business, we say the month of August, for the delegates, have already started arriving on the local scene, as if they follow the pace set by other conventions, some will remain for the rest of the summer, some will never go back home, etc. On the serious side though, delegates for this 34th annual convention have started arriving. Among the notables who will be taking part in matters of interest, will be national figures, Dr. Ambrose Caliver of the U. S. Office of Education, who will deliver the principal address at the meeting at Hamilton; Dr. Alain Leroy Locke, only Negro Rhodes scholar, at present, full time professor at University of Wisconsin; Ex-congressman, Arthur W. Mitchell, Lucius Harper, of the Chi-Defender, as well as national president, Dr. R. O. Johnson of the U. S. Office of Education. Dr. C. W. Hill and the rest of the Sigmas are out to make this THE convention of all times.

Public Meets Alpha Kappa Alpha President At Fine Artist Recital; Many Social Affairs Given for Visiting Dignitary

By JESSIE MAE BROWN

In the throes of a trip that is taking her all over the country, Mrs. Edna Over Gray, first lady of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, and Supreme Basileus in office, is winding up a very enjoyable stay in the Southland of California. Matters of importance pertaining to the National projects, the coming Boule that will be one of the greatest held in the history of the sorority scheduled for Washington, D.C. during the holiday season were among high points brought to the various Chapters of the region. Mrs. Over Gray's talks also included the explanation of the new American committee that developed from the Alpha Kappa Alpha Council on Non-Partisan Affairs. The council that opens under its new heading on August 15, in Washington D.C. under the capable leadership of Mr. Elmer Henderson, will include the backing of Greek members, Delta Sigma Theta, Zeta Phi Beta, Alpha Phi Alpha and Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity.

The noble, Bostonian school teacher, who is noted for her fine addresses, will end her stay in Los Angeles on Friday of this week. She will then visit several days in San Francisco with the chapters of the Bay Region. Her travels will then take her to Omaha, Nebraska, visiting chapters there for 3 days; one week in Kansas City, then on to Michigan where she will attend the Advisory Committee meeting of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority. Mrs. Gray reports that 1948 finds the Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority larger than ever before. She is especially pleased with the local programs being carried on by the chapters over the country, and is certain that the newly organized American Council, emerging from the sorority's Non-Partisan Affairs Committee will be one of the finest yet and an asset to the political activities of the race.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

As house guest of Mrs. Zenobia Allen, National officer of the sorority, seated as National Epistoleus, Mrs. Gray's visit in Los Angeles has been filled with many elaborately planned social affairs. Mrs. Lucille Bennett, Basileus of the local graduate chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha entertained with a fashionable Brunch at the home of Mrs. Retha Beck, who assisted along with Mrs. Jessie McDaniel and Mrs. Onita Chretien, sister of the hostess visiting from San Antonio, Texas. The color scheme used was the pink and green of Alpha Kappa Alpha. Guests included the executive committee of the graduate chapter and representatives of the undergraduate chapters. A very tasty buffet luncheon was enjoyed while Miss Marie Flenoy played soft incidental music in the background. Among those present were: Carmelita White, Ersula Murrell, Essie Tucker, Neosho Tatum, Audrey Jones, Clothilde Woodard, Catherine Tolbert, Jessie McDaniel, Martha Fuller, and a host of others.

COTTON FIESTA

Bringing in a bit of the Spanish customs of the dear old Southland, the joint chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha chose the smart beach setting of Essie Tucker's Santa Monica home for a very unique Cotton Fiesta Saturday. The proper attire for the affair were colorful cotton dresses, and more than 200 sorors were much in evidence wearing smart cottons of every hue. The general chairman of the gathering was Mrs. Pat McCloud, who presented the honored Mrs. Overgray with a beautiful piece of ceramics in behalf of the soror-

Harold E. Youngs Visit Southland

Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Young of St. Louis, were recent visitors to the California EAGLE office, accompanied by the prominent singer, Madame Caterina Jarboro. Mr. Young, a prominent St. Louis photographer of fine portraits, is owner of the Young Studio.

The Youngs motored to Los Angeles, stopping at various places of interest, including Grand Canyon, Hoover Dam, Petrified Forest, Painted Desert, and other points of interest. The return trip home will be made via San Francisco, Yellowstone National Park, etc.

While in the city, they are stopping at the popular Riccardo Apartments, No. 405. They will remain in L. A. until the first part of August. While here they have been entertained by many old friends. The couple is favorably impressed with the Southlandand hope to make it their home.

Mrs. Young is the former Clara Howell of Chicago. For many years Mr. Young has been an outstanding figure in photographers circles and at one time was associated with the Woodard studio in Chicago. On returning home, the couple will attend the National Photographers Convention.

Ramona Fox Will Become Bride Of K. Hahn Tonight

Tonight (Thursday) at 8:30 p.m. at the Vermont Avenue Church of Christ, 7911 So. Vermont Avenue, Miss Ramona Fox will become the bride of Councilman Kenneth Hahn.

Miss Fox is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry R. Fox of 1107 West 78th Street and Councilman Hahn is the youngest son of Mrs. Hattie W. Hahn of 5931 So. Flower Street.

The maid of honor for the wedding will be the bride's sister, Mrs. Jean Stalcup. The bridesmaids will be Mrs. Wanda Herrmann and Miss Carolyn Weakley, both students at Pepperdine College.

Councilman Hahn will have as his best man his brother, Assemblyman Gordon Hahn of the 66th District. His ushers will be Mr. William Stivers, Professor at Pepperdine and his four other brothers, Henry Hahn, Louis Hahn, John Hahn and Allan Hahn. Councilman Hahn's other brother, George Hahn, will be the organist for the occasion. The soloist will be the bride's brother, Sterling Fox, who will sing "I Love Thee" and "Through the Years."

The couple will be married by Mr. Harry R. Fox, who is a minister of the Church of Christ and the father of the bride.

Miss Fox is a Senior at Pepperdine College and a member of the Zeta Kappa Sorority and Councilman Hahn is a graduate of John Muir Junior High School, Fremont High School and Pepperdine College.

Former Fay Thompson Makes Lovely Bride in Elaborate Wedding Here; Reception Tendered in New Jersey

Second Baptist church was recently the scene of one of the most beautiful weddings of the season, uniting Miss Faye Thompson and Carl William Haley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ganell Trainer of Mt. Clair, New Jersey.

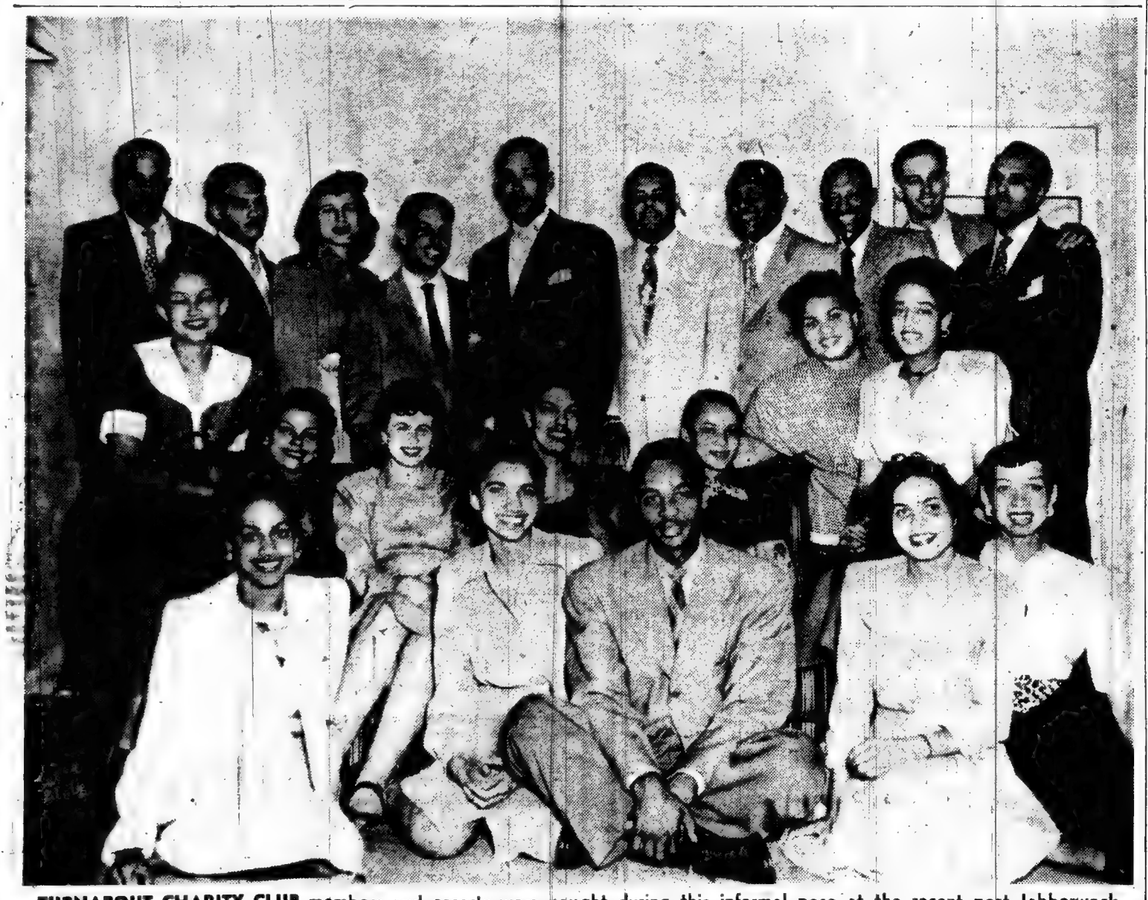
The altar of the church was decorated in a cathedral scheme by Helen Jane's Flower shop with pale yellow gladioli and larspur. With Mrs. Lavinia Nash Freeze at the organ and Mrs. Anna Griffith Morrow directing the choir very beautiful and sweet strains of "The Bridal March" were rendered. after which Miss Marie Flynoid sang "I Love But Thee."

The candle light ceremony was performed by Rev. J. Raymond Henderson. Given in marriage by her father, Wendell Thompson, the bride wore the traditional satin and voluminous lace. Her only jewelry was a triple strand of pearls with a diamond clasp, a gift of the groom. Beautifully dressed in a heavy satin gown with two trains, the skirt was of rose petals and the yoke of lace. She wore an illusion veil from a coronet of seed pearls draped in three lengths; shoulder, finger-tip, and floor lengths. The bride's gown was designed by Mrs. Alma Ribbs Alexander, noted designer and cousin of the bride.

Miss Dolores Bell, lifelong friend of the bridegroom was maid of honor, and Mrs. Jackie Carroll, matron of honor, wore yellow nylonnette dresses with puffed skirts and hats of net cushioned with aqua flowers.

The bridesmaids, Evelyn Ribbs, cousin of the bride, Wrenna Clark, Orchid Oliver, and Helen Hayman were gowned in pale green nylonette with green net hats trimmed with forget-me-nots. Jack Thompson, brother of the bride, acted as best man. The ushers, all relatives of the bride, included William Ribbs, Jr., Phoelix Ribbs, Milton Smith, and Sherrill Luke. Gale Laurent and Ray Mona Hamilton were the flower girls while little Kenneth Thompson, nephew of the bride, acted as ringbearer.

The bride carried a bouquet of cascading white gladioli, stephanotis with removable white orchids in the center. Old-fashioned colonial bouquets of yellow roses and daisies were carried by the maid and matron of honor, while the flower girls promenaded with small colonial bouquets. The wedding cake, which garnished the reception table, was decorated with a garland of yellow dahlias.



The directress of the wedding was Mrs. Loula Prout, assisted by Mrs. Mary Lee Johnson. A reception immediately followed the ceremony at the home of the bride's cousin in an unusually beautiful setting.

Guests were greeted by hostesses Adeline Barker, Corine Manning, Weldina Heflin, Haroldine Browning and Kathleen Mason. Hostesses receiving the beautiful gifts of all descriptions were Mmes. Velma Turner and Delores Beavers. Lois Williams and Howard Little rendered musical selections at the reception with Amanda Nelson at the piano.

The bride is a popular member of Los Angeles younger social set, a student of the University of Southern California and a pledgee to Alpha Kappa Alpha sorority. The groom is a student of Sexton Hall college of East Orange, New Jersey, manager of a large New Jersey record shop, and a member of Tweedsman Corps. The popular couple will make their home in Mont Clair, New Jersey.

On Sunday July 11, an elaborate reception was tendered the popular young couple by the groom's parents in Mont Clair, New Jersey. In the receiving line with the couple was Miss Delores Bell, who served as maid of honor at the local wedding.

Out of town guests at the wedding ceremony included Mr. Saunders Johnson of Marshall, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ribbs and family of San Jose, California.

TURNABOUT CHARITY CLUB members and escorts were caught during this informal pose at the recent post-Jabberwock party given at the home of club member Betsy Green. The serious work of the popular Charity club of the younger social set includes completing plans for a Cocktail party that promises to be the highlight of August 15. Invites will soon be in the mail. From left to right, back row, Amiel Jones, Clayborne (Sonny) Robinson, Betsy Green, Bert Kenner, Ike Blocker, Billy Faulkner, Joe Green, Theron Kirk, Bill Taylor, Frank Abney. Seated, Barbara Faulkner, Melonee Blocker, Ruth Kenner, Jerry Jones, Jane Hampton, Lucille Boswell, Bette Alston. Front row, Lula Green, Joyce Stewart, Herbert Boswell, Evelyn Abney and Annette Taylor.—Jesse Smith photo.

Officers of Gayette Social And Charity Club Installed At Impressive Ceremony

On the past Sunday afternoon, July 11, the guests of the Gayette Social and Charity Club witnessed one of their most impressive and inspiring installation of new officers at the lovely home of Mrs. Elsie Knox, on West 54th street.

The charming Mrs. Alitta Atkins, past president of the La Jovelle Club, presided over the installation, and chose as her theme: Love. Mrs. Atkins particularly stressed the important part love plays toward the foundation of a successful club, home, and community.

After the ceremony the guests and members spent an enjoyable afternoon of bridge and other games. A delectable buffet dinner of turkey and all the trimmings was served by the hostess who had previously surprised each member with a gardenia corsage.

Thus begins another year for the Gayettes, who are looking forward to seeing all their friends at their annual breakfast in the near future.

Gloria Mae Cacho Makes Lovely Bride In Adventist Ceremony

Gloria Mae Cacho, attractive daughter of John Randolph Cacho, of West 29th street, became the bride of Joseph Harris Jr., son of Mrs. Evelyn Harris Thomas, in the Wadsworth Seventh Day Adventist Church last Sunday afternoon.

The color scheme, white and green, was elaborately carried out in the decoration of the chancel and the altar which was surmounted by a huge floral arch of gladioli, wit htall fronds of wood-wardia and adiantum forming a beautiful background for the profuse arrangement of white blossoms.

The bridesmaids, in frocks of organza, were: Theresa Allen, in yellow; Catherine Allen, in lilac; Bernadine Jones in green; Evelyn Lear, in pink; and Esther Stephens in apricot. Their colonial bouquets were fashioned of Dorothy Perkins roses. Ersta Cacho served her sister as maid of honor, wearing orchid organza, and carrying the same chosen flowers. Little Miss Rutheline Luckey, flower girl, strewed flowers in the path of the bride who entered on the arm of her father.

The bride was very beautiful in white georgette over satin, with sweetheart necklace. Tiers of small ruffles formed the graceful flowing train. The finger-tip illusion veil was held in place by a beautiful tiarra of seed pearls. She carried a cascade of orchids.

The bridegroom was attended by James Gilder as best man. Clarence Butler, Clarence Harness, Robert Jeffrey, Ulysses Lear, and W. E. Conway officiated as ushers.

The bridal music for the occasion was sung by Doris Rivers, accompanied by Dorothy Young at the organ. The Elder, Ronald Hope Robertson, read the beautiful marriage lines of the Adventist Church.

A reception was held immediately after the ceremony at the Casa Rafael to some 200 guests.

Mrs. Cacho, mother of the bride, wore an attractive creation of aqua crepe with gold accessories. Mrs. Thomas, mother of the groom, was very stunning in turquoise crepe chiffon with accessories to match. Both mothers wore orchids.

Mesdames May Carter, Eloise Scott, Louversa Thibodeaux, Cassilean alford, and Anna Mae Conway assisted in receiving.

Mr. and Mrs. Harris are at home to friends.

Bill Hendricks New Prexy Of Sigma Chapter

With the accent on more and varied jobs, increased recognition of Negro women in civic and political affairs and a concentrated buyers' crusade against rising prices, the Los Angeles Housewives Alliance came into being this week with what is undoubtedly one of the most far-reaching programs ever undertaken by any group here in recent years.

Membership in the organization, according to Miss Juanita Moore, secretary, is free to any female resident of Los Angeles and there are no joining fees nor compulsory dues of any kind attached.

"Our program is brief but direct and is not political in any sense," explained Miss Moore. "Acting on the theory that in organization there is strength, we of the Housewives Alliance feel that our buying power can best be felt through a strong and unified voice. We intend to fight for more retail and municipal jobs and to create our own jobs, wherever possible, by concentrating our buying power in the direction of merchants who deal fairly with our people."

Foremost on the group's agenda is a campaign against the rising cost of living and "price gouging" on the part of unscrupulous business operators.

The alliance also aims to promote community betterment through combating juvenile delinquency, seeking improved street lighting, added police protection, better transportation facilities and a stressing of continued harmonious relationship among the various racial and religious groups comprising the city's population.

Ethel Boyd Creations Shown At Episcopal Guild Review

"Fashions on Parade" could be well the title of the performance given last Sunday by the St. Elizabeth Guild of St. Phillips Episcopal Church at the beautiful home of Mr. Travis Lott.

Ethel Boyd, designer, creator, tailor, modiste or any title you wish to give her, outstripped all records this year when she presented twelve definitely exclusive models. Every garment appearing seemed to step from the latest parisian fashion stage, the intricate workmanship the even tucking, the dainty ruffling, the blending of several colors and the combining of more than two materials as well as just the right pleat here and the correct gather there and the "so different" interests that made each garment take its own prize, is the type of creation that Ethel gave her public.

Interesting to know is that Ethel is able to get color tones not buyable in any market because she selects a color she desires and immediately sends the plain material to her father in Louisiana to match. He chooses the right types of scientific dyes and blends his mixtures until he gets, for his daughter, the very shade she desires. Don't you see the beginning of a style industry covering many miles by our own Ethel.

It is impossible to describe each garment, there isn't enough space or words in one's descriptive vocabulary to do so. The entire showing was based on "color" and color it was. There will be a repeat in the near future and you will have to be present to see and enjoy this newest arrival to L. A. forefront of style.

Working with each garment to get the proper hat that would complete the designer's interpretations were milliner creator's Bobbie Slocum, Beulah Johnson and Veera King. Each one presented three gorgeous creations, choice color combinations original styling, best materials all to make the Ethel designs more outstanding.

Models adding to the glamour and beauty were: Mildred Boyd Whitney, Gussie Morris, Gwendolyn Presley, Betty Boyd, Mary Yarber, Marilyn Ward, Jean Cummingc, Neatheola Villanueva, Eleanor Taylor and daughter, Joyce and Loryane Robertson.

Style descriptions were given by Faustina Johnson, calling attention to each new interest and what milady should best wear for her special type, enhancing her style and glamour gifts.

Kappa Mothers Hold Breakfast in Park; Present Scholarship

The Kappa Mothers Club of which Mrs. C. F. Dunning is president awarded a scholarship to David Crompton, promising young student of USC, on July 11.

Each year the club makes such a presentation to a worthy member of Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity.

The setting for the picturesque breakfast affair was the Griffith Park. The breakfast committee chairman was Mrs. C. Coleman, and scholarship chairman was Mrs. Octavia Green, mother of Sgt. Robert Green of the L. A. Police Department. The breakfast was attended by 250 members of Kappa Alpha Psi with wives and mothers.

Patio Tea

The Los Angeles Tuskegee club will hold its annual patio tea Sunday, July 18, at Woodlawn branch YWCA, 4260 Woodlawn.

deb who has been the apple of many a young gent's eye, will become the bride of Stanley Malone, on August 15, in a quiet church ceremony over in the Crown City. Her younger sister will be her sole attendant. Of course, the reception will follow. She is being feted with pre-nuptials. The next scheduled is a Lingerie Shower, and Carolyn Hennington will be hostess. . . . Jean Brown, is now Mrs. Theadore Harrison. Vows were spoken last Friday night at Independent Church. The couple then hied off to Oakland, California, for a honeymoon. The reception will take place Sunday, at the Anchor, home of Mrs. Emily Portwig, Jean's aunt. By the way, Marilyn Hudson was luncheon hostess last Wednesday in honor of the recent bride. Among those present, were, Puffy Hill, Barbara Herndon, Sis Russell, Norma Williams and a host of others.

Wallace DeCuir, put out the Welcome Mat on last Saturday night. Assisting her fiance, was Myrtle Kenzie. Just when this couple will say their "I Dos" is yet untold. Among the young married snjoying the affair, were, Norm and Lorrain Houston, Ivan and Phillipa Houston, Boots and Maurice Jones, to name a few. My girl Friday reports the affair was quite a thing. . . .

Nota and Barry Tate visited the Eddy Green's on last Saturday night. Two swell couples, if ever. . . .

HERE AND THERE

Graciousness personified was hostess, Lottie Walker, at Doll League meeting Sunday in her swank Chinese furnished apartment on S. Hobart Blvd. Delicious Chinese repast was served while members completed plans for their outdoor gathering at the home of Nadine Cole on Sunday afternoon, July 25. Wearing a gorgeous diamond on that third finger left hand was Doll Leaguer, Irene Wright, surprising members by telling of her forthcoming marriage to Clarence Sharpe in the very near future. . . .

Personable Lelia Mullins entertained Henrietta Whitby of San Francisco in her cozy apartment with luncheon. . . . Over last week end, Dan Ferniel met Jane Hampton at Cliff and Bessy's ranch home. Now he has that special look in his eyes. . . . Eagerly planning for "An Old Fashion Barbecue" are members of Iota Phi Lambda Sorority to be given on Saturday, July 31, with Mildred Thomas as general chairman. . . . The "Jackson Ranch" on 129th and Hooper Avenue is the place to go for fine horseback riding. The Crop's will probably visit the place soon. . . . By the way, new members in the Crop 'N' Tails includes Hazel Shumate and Emily Jones. The girls have planned an all day outing at Elsinore comes August 8. . . . Enrolled in summer school is Geneva Moore, Costello Curtis and Edna Crain. . . .

Making deadline. . . . Thanking Morris Hampton for the bouquets . . . and letting in know that the 4th estate is grand . . . to follow workers too. . .

Learn Basic Rules First

If you like to dance, then you'll like to cook—so says an up-to-date Home Economist—because there is so much likeness in the steps of learning each art. In dancing, you first learn the basic steps. When these patterns have become easy, feet moving without conscious thought, you are free to be creative and add all sorts of embellishments of your own, as the mood inspires. Cooking well begins by learning a few basic rules of nutrition and menu planning. Then you experiment, adding a bright sprig of your own creative imagination to every daily dish.

Ready to Serve

Your Red Cross in this community is in constant preparation to serve in time of disaster, as it did recently the flood victims in the Northwest.

Learn to really read recipes when you encounter them in a magazine or book. See what the different touch is, and plan how to incorporate it with one of your favorite basic mixes or menus. You'll get so you won't have to run to a recipe every time you'd like to waken taste buds to new tingling; you'll have that "feel" for cooking which our grandmothers had, that touch which is the mark of an artist.

Whole Bran Brown Bread

1½ cups sifted white flour
¼ cup sugar
3 tsp. double action baking powder
½ tsp. salt
1½ cup raisins
1 cup milk
1½ cups bran
3 tbsp. molasses
1 egg
¼ cup melted shortening

Sift together flour, salt, sugar and baking powder. Add raisins to flour mixture. Pour milk and molasses over bran. Add egg and shortening and beat together. Add flour mixture, stirring as little as possible to blend. Bake in greased loaf pan at moderate temperature (350° F) for one hour or until done.

Tomato Rarebit

1 can tomato soup
1 cup grated cheese
Crackers

Heat the soup to the boiling point, add the cheese and pour over toasted crackers, toasted bread, toasted or cereal biscuits.

Raisin' Cain

By CARL L. CAIN

I asked a stenographer the other day to give me a synonym for the word peace. She cogitated at some length, and it became apparent that she had none to offer. In like manner, I asked a few other people during the day and they were equally baffled. No one could think of a word that means the same as peace, in the sense that we use it so often today. And that proves another point. There is no substitute for peace itself. We are dragging through a period of time in which there's a lackness of war, but there is no real peace. The minds of men are confused and afraid—especially those men between the ages of 19—25.

However, I'd like to review one other cause of the lackness of both war and peace today. Perhaps it's the most potent barrier to peace—poverty. In many nations, people are existing merely for the sake of existence. The conditions under which they exist, not actually live, are grotesque and mournful in every sense of the terms. To these people the burden of poverty is heavy; but they find satisfaction in knowing that they are not alone. They search for humor and for such gaiety as can be found in their lives.

It's quite unnecessary to travel the Belgian Congo, I speak. They're everywhere and that includes America. India, or the South Seas to find the conditions of which They're in the north as well as in the south, in New York, Chicago, and Los Angeles. With a great number of the people in these cities, life is one endless struggle to keep the body and the soul together. The people have no time to think about nationalism, capitalism, or anything else other than to provide themselves with such necessities as to continue their unpleasant existence.

No, there is no synonym for peace under the present economic standards. You can't make everything all right by changing to Communism, Socialism, or by making any other radical economic change. It isn't the system at all, for these conditions exist under system. With such forms of poverty, however, the world will never see peace.

Neither do I contend that the people are at fault; however, the blame does lie somewhere between the people and the system. Many who tried with all their hearts are still in the bracket with those who did not try; some systems have worked successfully, others have failed completely. The systems and the people are similar in manner.

It is equally needless to blame war for the conditions that exist throughout the world today. For if there had been no two World Wars, our mere existence would be quite uncertain . . . again, there is no substitute for peace. You can't tell a hungry person to pull in his belt and not scream for food—that you're busy trying to make peace. It doesn't help at all, for what is peace other than the satisfaction of the people—the harmony and mutual friendship of men throughout the different lands. Have you ever seen two hungry people interested in becoming friends? Quite so, if one had food and the other did not. Otherwise, it's quite untrue.

Peace will come, however, when the common needs of the masses are satisfied; when it is possible to exist as brothers. For, you see, peace is only the frosting—not the cake itself.

STONES AND GLASS HOUSES

President Franklin Delano Roosevelt served the people well during the twelve years from 1933-45 and cut no corners to maintain a peaceful and decent foreign policy for America. He established organizations to aid the millions of unemployed, centered about NRA. Yet now there are members of this grand American symposium who continually cite faults and criticize the man who led us successfully through the period of destruction and nerve-racking torment titled THE SECOND WORLD WAR.

To the average person the thought that anyone could ever criticize the work of our great leader is completely revolting. But it is true, in all it's disputable absurdity. I realize that the Constitution guarantees us certain rights and among them is the freedom of the press. However, it isn't a question of rights or liberties but a matter of common decency and the application of respect where respect is due. Anyone is entitled to his own opinion about anything, but what is one man's opinion against a record which reveals the creation of the Atlantic Charter, the presence and guidance of President Roosevelt at Yalta, and overall leadership so vital in the defeat of the world's common enemy, fascism.

Owing to the election year and campaigns of slander and ridicule, as well as the true promotion of candidates, a great deal may be expected and accepted from writers and columnists. But too often they tend to satisfy personal grudges and grievences and spot the faults of the opposing party. However, there is an extreme to anything and certain of us have pressed against that extreme again and again. Actually most people feel a strong bond toward the Roosevelt family and will tolerate little or no more insults from insignificants who mix writing and politics into their efforts of self-glorification.

FOOTNOTE: The best time to decide which man you want for President is now—before the campaigns start.

85,000 Youths Arrested Here

Did you know that 85,000 boys and girls under 18 were arrested last year in California, and that approximately 40% of them were from Los Angeles County?

You can help lower that figure for 1948 by passing the word along that the California State Employment Service is looking for qualified social workers to fill important child welfare positions in Los Angeles welfare agencies.

The exact requirements are two years of graduate work including a Social Workers' Certificate and experience in child welfare work. Professional workers who meet these specifications are asked to contact the California State Employment Service commercial office at 969 West Seventh Street in Los Angeles, or telephone MIchigan 8451.

Wiley-SHC Merger; Home Remolded

AUSTIN, Texas—The proposed merger of the Wiley and Samuel Houston Colleges is arousing nation-wide anxiety as to just where the new college, born of the two, will be located. In Austin? The SHC alumni hope so, and hundreds of letters are pouring into the college each week, stating their wish that the college will remain in Austin.

Writes an alumnus: "It is inconceivable that a school that has made such gains as are evidenced at Samuel Houston during the last five years, largely through the interracial good will and cooperation of the citizens of Austin would be moved to a location where new friendships will have to be formed and new bases of understanding established."

Meanwhile the expansion program on the campus is continuing uninterrupted. Under the sponsorship of the Woman's Division of Christian Service, the Eliza Dee Home, dormitory for women, is being remodeled and a Home Economics department equipped. There will laso be a nursery school on the ground floor, and astudy hall for women.

New instructors will also be added to the faculty.

NEW ELECTRIC RANGES ARE CHEAP TO OPERATE

Lincoln Prexy Chairs UNESCO Seminar Group

Dr. Horace Mann Bond, President of Lincoln University, has been appointed Chairman of the Committee on Social Understanding of the UNESCO Seminar to be held in London, England, during July and August.

The Seminar will include delegates from educational institutions and teachers associations from the member nations of the United Nations. The Seminar will discuss and perfect plans for the cooperation of world-wide educational agencies in meeting the problems of the world through educational methods.

Dr. Bond, before becoming President of Lincoln University in 1945, had engaged in extensive educational researches and in administration and educational survey studies throughout the country. He has been a member of state educational surveys in Oklahoma, Mississippi, and Georgia. He is a member of the Committee on Post-War Higher Education of the Pennsylvania Joint Commission on Government. He is the author of several books and numerous articles dealing with educational and other social problems.

L. A. Schools Population High; Need More Houses

Something like 45,000 tots will enter the first grade schools of Los Angeles, when the city schools re-open in September, according to an estimate made to the Los Angeles City oBard of Education in a report by Dr. Frank O. Evans and Virgil Volla.

To meet this need 260 classrooms were completed in 47 elementary schools, and 16 elementary buildings are under construction with a total of 122 classrooms.

Nine junior high schools will be constructed in the near future which for the first time will give every part of the school district the benefit of junior high school education. A junior high school is "under consideration" for the Watts area, but is still to be planned and built.

Three junior highs will open this fall: Van Nuys, Westchester, and Sherman Way. The six to be constructed during the year are: Palms, Central Valley, Wilmington, Venice, Gage Avenue, and San Fernando.

The East Los Angeles Junior College is being groomed for the enrollment of more than 2000 students in September. At the Pierce School of Agriculture construction has been launched on a permanent classroom building and dormitories, and the current school year will see the beginning of construction of a new junior college to be erected on a 30-acre site at Wilmington.

At L.A. City College, the largest institution of its kind in the United States, additions and improvements are being made to care for an enrollment of more than 12,000 this fall.

UNSPOILED GENIUS is the proper term for tiny Roberta Louise Lewis, age 5, who is shown at the piano with her mother, Mrs. Mary Lewis, a teacher of voice and instrument who discovered her daughter's talent when she was eighteen months old and developed and cultivated it until now Roberta is being beseiged with offers. SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By REV. IKE EVANS, D.D.

Subject: Naomi, Woman of Faith. Lesson Text and Outline: Ruth 1-16-18; 2:20; 4:14-17. Motto Text: Ruth 1:16.

Introduction

Ruth could never have heroine of the Bible book bearing her name but for her devoted mother-in-law, Naomi—woman of faith in God and the good.

Comments

1. It is a great vexation and uneasiness to those that are resolved for God and religion to be tempted and solicited to altar their resolution. We are to reckon those against us, and really our enemies, that would hinder us in our way to the Heavenly Canaan. Our relations they may be, but they cannot be our friends, that would dissuade us from and discourage us in the service of God and the work of religion.

She is very particular in her resolution to cleave to her and never forsake her; and she speak the language of one resolved for God and Heaven. She is so in love, not with her mother's beauty, or riches, or gaiety all these were withered and gone, but with her wisdom, and virtue, and grace, which remained with her, even in her present poor and melancholy condition, that she resolves to cleave to her. First, she will travel with her: Whither thou goest I will go, though to a country I never saw and in a low and ill opinion of which I have been trained up; though far from my own country, yet with thee very road shall be pleasant. Second, she will dwell with her: " Where thou lodgest I will lodge, though it be in a cottage, though it be no better a lodging than Jacob had when he had the stones for his pillow. Where thou settest up thy staff I will set up mine, be it where it may. "Thirdly, she will insist interest with her: Death parts those whom nothing else will part. A dying hour is a parting hour, and should be so thought of by us and prepared for. It is resolved that nothing else should part them; not any distances from her own family and people, nor any hope of preferment among them, not any unkindness for Israel, nor the fear of poverty and disgrace among thee.

We must resolve to continue and persevere, and herein our adherence to Christ must be closer that that of Ruth to Naomi. She resolved that nothing but death should separate them; but we must resolve that death itself shall not separate us from our duty to Christ, and then we may be sure that death itself shall not separte us from our happiness in Christ. Those that are unresolved and go in religion ways without a steadfast mind, tempt the tempter, and stand like a door half open, which invites a thief; but resolution shuts and bolts the door, resists the devil, and forces him to flee.

2. The poor must pay for those that are kind and liberal to them, and thus requite them, when they are not cable of making them any other requital. She now remembered the former kindnesses FBoaz had shown to her husband and sons, and joins those to this he has not left off his kindness to the living and to the dead. If we generously show kindness even to those that seem to have forgotten our former favours, perhaps it may help to revive the remembrance even of those which seem buried. She acquainted Ruth with the relation their family was in to Boaz.

It should seem she had been so long in Moab that she had forgotten her kinderd in the land of Israel, till by this providence God brought it to her mind. At least she had not told Ruth of it, though it might have been some encouragement to a young proselyte. Unlike to humble Naomi are many, who, though fallen into decay themselves, are continually boasting of their great relations. Thus God brings things to our mind, sometimes on suden that prove, to have a wonderful tendency to our good.

3. Who was the preserver of the name of her family, and who they hoped, would be famous, because his father was so. Who would be hereafter duitiful and kind to her, so they hoped, because his mother was so. If he would but take after her, he would be a comfort to his aged grandmother, a restotet of her life, and, if there should be occasion, would have wherewithal to be the nourisher of her old age. It is a great comfort to those that are going into years to see any of those that descend from them growing up, that are likely, by the blessing of God, to be a stay and support to them, when the years come wherein they will need such, and of which they will say they have no pleasure in them. They say of Ruth that she loved naomi, and therefore was better to her than her seven sons.

See how God in his providence sometimes make up the want and loss of those relations from whom we expected most comfort in those from whom we expected least. The bonds of love prove stronger than those of nature, and there is a friend that sticks closer than a brother; so here there was a daughter-in-law better than an own child. This child is named by the neighbors. The god women would have it called Obed, a servant, either in remembrance of the meanness and poverty of the mother or in prospect of his being hereafter a servant, and serviceable, to his grandmother. It is no dishonor to those that are ever so well born to be servant to God, their friends, and their generation. The child is nursed by the grandmother, that is, dry-nursed, when the mother had weaned him from the breast. She laid it in her bosom, in token of her tender affection to it and care of it. Grandmothers are often the most fond. Ruth is hereby brought in among the ancestors of David and Christ, which was the greatest honor. The genealogy is here drawn from Pharez, through Boaz and Obed, to David, and so leads towards the Messiah, and therefore it is not an endless genealogy.

Comments on Motto Text

From Naomi's, character she concludes certainly that that great nation was a wise and an understanding people. She judges of them all by her good mother, who, wherever she went, was a credit to her country as all those should study to be who profess relation to the better country, that is, the Heavenly and therfore she will think herself happy if she may be reckoned one of them. She will join in religion with her. The True God shall be her God, and farewell to all the Gods of Moab, which are vainty and a lie. I will adore the God of Israel, the only living and true God, trust in him alone, serve him, and in every thing be ruled by him; this is to take the Lord for our God.

THE RADIO-ACTIVE CLUB of McCoy Memorial Baptist church will present Mrs. Elberta Albritton Williamson in a song recital on August 10 at 8:15 p.m., 802 East 46th St. This will be Mrs. Williamson's second major appearance. Rev. E. A. Anderson, pastor. Mrs. M. A. Lockhart, president.

Wesley Methodist Enters New Church Home Sunday

While these courses will be arranged for pastors all ordained ministers, and missionaries are invited to come and study in classes especially designed for them. Credits will be offered leading to degrees and certificates of merit.

Dr. Reed Tours East; Speaks in Churches

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Dr. C. W. Reed, of Los Angeles, was guest speaker at the Vermont Avenue Baptist church here last Sunday morning. He also preached at the Salem Baptist Church at the evening service.

Dr. and Mrs. Reed are touring the East on an extended vacation. They came to Washington after visiting Niagara Falls, Buffalo, New York, and Baltimore. They left here for Pittsburgh where Dr. Reed preached on Wednesday night. From there to Chicago where he will be guest speaker for the Men's Day Service at the Olivet Baptist Church of which the Rev. Dr. J. H. Jackson is pastor. They will leave for home on Sunday night.

Man's Destiny Baba'i Topic

"Mankind—Man's Destiny" is the subject of the lecture which will be given by Mr. Karl Schuck on Sunday morning, July 18, at 11:00 o'clock, at the Los Angeles headquarters of Baha'i World Faith, 331 South New Hampshire Avenue.

"Man should know his own self and understand those things which lead to loftiness or to abasement, to shame or to honor, to affluence or to poverty. After man has realized his own being and become mature, then (material) means are required. If wealth is acquired through a craft or profession, it is approvable and praiseworthy for men of wisdom, especially for those who arise to train the world and beautify the souls of the nations. These are the cup bearers of the Kawther of knowledge, and the guides to the ideal path. They direct the people of the whole world to the right path, and instruct them in that which is conducive to the elevation and progress of being." Abdul Baha.

The Calvary Methodist Church, Pasadena, will present "The Sally Martin Singers," of Chicago, in a benefit program, Sunday, July 18, at 3:30 p.m. in the Gold Room of the Pasadena Civic Auditorium. Rev. H. H. Collins, Jr. is pastor of Calvary Methodist Church.

MISS LILLIE BALLANSAW and her Golden Bell Singers will be presented in a musical by the Cosmopolitan Christian church, 33rd at Hooper avenue on July 18th at 4 p.m., Rev. Frederick Mitchell, pastor.

Independent Organ Guild To Hold Tea, Fashion Fete Sun.

The Organ Guild of the People's Independent Church will have its annual All States Tea and Fashion Extravaganza on Sunday, July 18, from 3-7 p.m. at the Masonic Temple, 1050 East 50th Street. An entertaining program is promised. Little Misses Judy Spain and Jamesetta Rogers will be among those who give renditions. The public is invited. Mmes. Maida Bonner, president; Fannie E. Benjamin, advisor; and Matilda Parker, reporter.

Welcomes 43rd Annual Grand Lodge Session

IN PULPIT—Rev. George E. Anderson, after visiting in Kansas City, St. Louis, Chicago, Buffalo, Niagara Falls, Celman, Canada, returned to the pulpit last Sunday. He attended the National Baptist Sunday School and BTU convention in Cleveland, Ohio, and the California State Baptist convention in Oakland, California.

The 43rd Annual Grand Lodge Session of the United Brothers of Friendship and Sisters of Mysterious Ten, Princess Council, Royal House and Juveniles, California, Oregon and Washington Jurisdiction convened June 27—July 1, 1948, at Lewis Metropolitan C.M.E. Church, 121 E. 29th st., Los Angeles, Calif., E. W. Fisher, Grand Master, Winnie B. Pope, Grand Princess, Annie E. Seldon, Grand Secretary.

Memorial Services, Sunday, June 27, 8 p.m. were valuable contributions to the Grand Session.

Remarks on the U.B.F. and S.M.T. by Grand Master Fisher highlighted the Monday morning session. He said the Order is something to cherish and support because it was organized in 1854, in the dark days of slavery, by Negroes to encourage unity and Brotherhood among them. In appreciation of its founders and because of its historical value every fraternal minded Negro should be loyal to the Order.

The public reception and program closed the Monday session. Brother Dennis McMatthews, P.G.M.

Councilman Don Allen bade the Order welcome on behalf of the city and spoke briefly on Juvenile Delinquency. The Councilman placed the blame for the waywardness of youth on overindulgent and neglectful parents. Grand Master Fisher responded.

Sister Myrtle Chatman, Grand Asst. gave words of welcome on behalf of the Order and Sister Winnie B. Pope, Grand Princess, responded.

Reports of officers and delegates, Tuesday and Wednesday sessions, revealed new interest and growth. Grand Princess Pope reported a new Temple in Everett, Wash. and a call from Takhoma for an officer to set up one. Bakersfield, Portland and San Diego asked for U. B. F. Lodge. Reports of the Grand Master, Grand Sec. and Grand Sec. of Relief showed general checking and relief funds amounting to four figures, all bills and claims paid. Delegates accounted for service to such organizations as the Red Cross, European Relief, Y.M. and Y.W.C.A., N.A.A.C.P. and Cancer Fund.

Grand Master Fisher's plea for genuine service to humanity, in and out of the Order, regardless of race or creed, resulted in the passing of the folowng resolutions: Low cost homes, reasonable rent, F.E.P.C., measures to eliminate Juvenile Delinquency, Child Care Centers and an Anti-Lynch Law.

Sister Myrtle Chatman, new Vice Princess, is the only change in the roll of Grand officers.

The Grand Past and Present Princess Council Session, Eelection and Banquet closed the 1948 Grand Session. The 1950 Grand Session will convene in San Diego.

The 1948 National Grand Session will meet in Indianapolis, Ind. Bro. Chatman, Sisters Chatman and Pope will represent the California, Oregon and Washington Jurisdiction.

Working Handicaps Thank Helpers

The Working Handicaps and Good Samaritans, of which Anita Brown is the founder, wishes to have special mention made of its honorary members for the help they have given to make their organization a success. They are: the late LeRoy S. Hart, Atty. Crispus Wright, Gertrude Gipson, and Harry Lavette.

The Working Handicaps and Good Samaritans is an organization of handicapped people who defy their handicaps and work at all types of art—sewing, painting, etc.—anything they are able to do. They have held teas and given programs, and are raising funds now to build a Home for themselves and for all those who are crippled or handicapped in any way, but who nevertheless, refuse to be idle.

The Rev. June Harvey is the president of the Working Handicaps and Good Samaritans.

Christian Science Lesson Theme 'Life'

"As the Father hath life in himself; so hath he given to the Son to have life in himself." This verse from John will be the Golden Text of the Sunday Lesson-Sermon on "Life" in all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston.

A Bible citation from Matthew's Gospel reports that in his Sermon on the Mount Jesus advised men not to lay up "treasures upon earth, where moth and rust doth corrupt, and where thieves break through and steal: But lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven, . . . For where your treasure is, there will your heart be also. . . . Ye cannot serve God and mammon. Therefore I say unto you, Take no thought for your life, what ye shall eat, or what ye shall drink; nor yet for your body, what ye shall put on. . . . But seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you."

On this subject Mary Baker Eddy writes in "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures:" "We apprehend Life in divine Science only as we live above corporeal sense and correct it. Our proportionate admission of the claims of good or of evil determines the harmony of our existence,—our health, our longevity, and our Christianity." "There is but one way—namely, God and His idea—which leads to spiritual being."

The recipe for beauty is to have less illusion and more soul, to retreat from the belief of pain or pleasure in the body into the unchanging calm and glorious freedom of spiritual harmony.—Mary Baker Eddy.

To cultivate the sense of the beautiful, is one of the most effectual ways of cultivating an appreciation of the divine goodness.—Bovee.

If Little Red Riding Hood had lived today
The modern girl would scorn her,
For she had only ONE wolf to meet,
Instead of one on every corner.

THE WEEKLY ROUND-UP OF THE NEWS

The sudden passing of Jimmy Baskett, one of the greatest Negro actors in the field today certainly came as quite a shock, to the many friends and acquaintances of Jim, . . . Those who remember the comedy work of Jimmy with Pigmeat Markham some time ago, on the stage of the Lincoln Theater, will remember the many, many laughs the two brought, his work always spoke for itself, even his final job, that of achieving on merits of his own, one of the Acadamy Awards, for his work in Uncle Remus. . . . Those of us who knew him, feel greatly the loss and symphathize with all members of the family. . . .

GERTRUDE GIPSON

Great knowing that Eddie Heywood will soon be able to use his hands again, after having to lay off for quite some time . . . Lena Horne's recording of "Do I Love You?" shooting to the top of the hit parade but fast, and why not? Can't think of anybody else who can toy with that ditty like the lovely Lena . . . Norma Miller long time producer of shows here in the city, now doing really big things with her ability of producing at Small Paradise, N. Yawk . . . I've been informed that I have been selected along with the late Leroy Hart and the popular Atty Crispus Wright, as an honoray member of the Good Samaritan's and Working Handicaps . . . such a worthwhile organization founded by Anita Brown . . . Understand the Honeydrippers had a birthday party the other eve'ng at the Downbeat where they are currently appearing . . . One of the most conceeted fella's I know is Larry Wiggins. (And for what I don't know.) The only view that guy is interested in, is the one in the mirror . . . An aside to those four ofay chicks who came over on our side of town t'other ev'ng (to go slumming) and were so uncomfortable while sitting in one of the cocktail lounge's on the Ave. that they were afraid to turn their heads . . . why in the (uh. huh) didn't you stay where you where? . . . The groovy band of Roy Milton opened with the bang yesterday, at the Million Dollar with the kind of music that jus' sorta "shoves you in the right kind of groove." Don't think I'll ever get enough of the singing of Cammile Howard and that torrid sax blowing of Bill Gaither . . . didn't pay much attention to the other part of the show so I'll have to go back again . . . Our Sis Lil back after a swelluva vacation and telling us a million times or more that she left her heart on a permanent loan in Detroit Mich, seems as though the young and wealthy Rev. C. L. Franklin there is her heart capturer . . . Ask her about her trip and she say's OH!!! Geeeeee I jus' love Detroit!! . . . Me with my COCA COLA and Letha Sears with her MIlk and mostly Scotch. . . Talking about heartaches and saying at least G.G. "It's better to have something to remember than nothing to regret!!"

THE WHIRL I LIVE IN

Bob Satterfield number (2) contender for the heavy weight championship and his lovely wife Iona, who is beautiful, brown and hey, hey! will soon make a trip to the city of angel's . . . The surprise marriage of the season was that of Ruth Towles and Lang Hawgett . . . Looks like the Just Jazz concert featuring Diz Gillespie at the Civic Aud in Pasadena July 19th will be a complete sell-out, this will be the first performance of Diaz and the band here in the city . . . Understand that the Beauty Shop of Sherwood will soon present their first hair style show at "Ciro's" (that's what I said) . . . Eddie Dudly, he's the guy who sometimes make you forget there ever was an Art Tatum, Teddy Wilson or anybody else. That fella really plays's a whole lot of piano . . . Someone should write a success story on Tennyson Giddings, who is really doing things in this man's town . . . He has now opened another pharmacy in south Los Angeles he and his partner Lawrence Randolph are really climbing that ladder fast . . . Popular man-about-town C. T. Webb and his lovely sister, Clotelde, entertained with an ultra, ultra dinner party Tuesday night in honor of some out-of town guest . . . Aside to Jay Loft Lynn: Please darling, missed out on your Press party Sat night hear it was quite the thing . . . Jus know that the Vets will move but fast with you being added to the staff . . . The social set is all a-twitter over Alberta Long's newest heart attck . . . a sportsman past 60 . . . Hear that the dynamic of Song, has returned to the city after a lengthy engagement in Las Vegas at the El Rancho . . . A good example of the song "Reet Petite and Gone" is Elaine Maggie Parham. She fit's it to tee!! . . . No better fer me but I just get so moved when Charles Brown of the Three Blazes sings "You Better Change Your Way of Lovin Before The Well Runs Dry" . . . Angelle Stratton smiling all over when she tells about the lovely Stone Martins hubby Doc Strat gave her for their wedding anniversary.

SOME ADDED JOTTINGS

That real sincere smile of Al Austin (who has a very fine restaurant on the corner of 43 and Central) is as genuine as a "baby's hug" . . . OVERHEARD in the Dunbar: "She doesn't know me to talk to, just talk about" . . . We like the way Bill Love the Barber gives those frantic eyebrow arch's (that's why we go there) . . . Aha; someone told us that a Gertfinn will do to you what a Zombie won't . . . Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hines cruising down the stem huddled closer than the chords in an Ellington arrangement . . . The Last Word can produly boast of having the finest show in town, nothing but an hour of downright solid entertainment . . . With the music by the Five Bits of Rythm, with the ultra personality and dancing of Emily Foster as your mistress of ceremonies (who always has an answer for every wisecracker) the lovely voice of Bobbie Caston, whose version of "Call me Darling" makes you always bring her back . . . and of course the lady of the blues, Marion Abernathy, who puts you right in the groove with those downright blues . . . SUDDEN THAWT: ON central avenue "A friend is a guy who has the same enemies that you have." . . . Upon returning to the coast starlet Lena Horne will bring her cute little daughter Gail back with her for the summer . . . Now in London, Kay Starr, Pearl Bailey and the famed Nicholas Bros. . .Oh deah, this pounding headache is "very dragging" Beaula!!! bring my aspirins pl-eee-se!!!

NITE SPOTS REVIEWS

The Last Word Cafe,
206 So. Central Ave.
ADams 3848.

Here we go raving again about the current show at Ed Factor and Sy Miller's Last Word Cafe. And raving is what we won't be doing anything else but until a better show comes along. With Marian Abernathy chirping those blues and ballads, and the way my pet singer (Bobbe Caston) sings in that easy going manner of hers, who could ask for anything more. No one does, but all that and the 5-Bits of Rhythm too, is what puts the Last Word at the top of our list for the last word in shows!

Featured on the bill, and held over by popular demand, is little Emily Foster, who concluded a smash engagement at the Million Dollar theatre with Nellie Lutcher (and the only star in the history of the theatre to play a return engagement at the same show in a period of three weeks!) Miss Foster, who is a tiny and very shapely little thing (no bigger than a soft whisper) dances about the stage as though she were advertising a vitamin pill! She has long been a favorite over at this desk and will continue to be a favorite until something better comes along! The Last Word management had better hang on to Little Emily or some Moom Pickcha scout will discover her and they'll be minus a star!

La Tanya, a torrid, teasing torso-twister hurls her hips all over the stage in artistic fashion. And those wonderful, marvelous, terrific, great, unparalleled and SWINGSATIONAL 5-Bits of rhythm continue to keep the crowd pleased at every performance. Teddy Rudolph, the hep, happy and handsome bass-playing leader of the quintette, has the top combo in town if you ask me—and even if you didden! An evening at the Last Word is an evening of fun!

PAUL RUBIN'S CRICKET CLUB, 1571 W. Washington, REpublic 8341.

Billy Daniels is the singing star at the Cricket. Buddy Banks leads the band. If that isn't enough to lure the guys and gals in then the management had better put a huge magnet in front of the spot! Here is a nightclub package made to order for lovers of downright solid entertainment. Banks and his crew dispense with some of the hottest swing heard around these parts since Cee Pee Johnson lead his swingy little band through torrid paces out at the Swing Club. Samuels, who hails from New York, has a voice made to order for this always-packed-to-capacity spot, and he nearly always has the gals in the audience reaching into their bags for swooning salts!

JACK'S BASKET ROOM, 3219 So. Central Ave.

It's the music of Sherman Williams' band plus the smooth M.C.ing of handsome Bill Day that's drawing the crowds to this after-sundown spot. Mr. Williams has a good band. Bill Day wraps his heart around a vocal, and the food here is good.

Who could ask for anything more?

—C.P.

The Bal Tabarin, 15513 S. Western Ave., Gardena. PLeasant 7074.

Current show at the Bal moves along at a lively clip. Star of this snappy little revue is a tall, tan, terrific and talented lass named Jean Arthur. Miss Arthur is better known as "The Gal With The Gorjuss Gams," but she doesn't necessarily need those beautiful legs to climb the ladder of success. She has an act that's crowded with class, and her M.C.ing is in a class way ahead of the field of femme misterresses of ceremonies. Arthur Duncan, a singer-dancer who shows plenty of talent in both his songs and dance, is ready for the Big Time and some talent "scout" oughta scout out to the Bal if only to catch this terrific little youngster. There is also an alleged comedian at this Gardena spot who answers to the nom de plume of "Hot Ashes." His ashes may be hot, but his work is sorta cool. If he would throw the risgay numbers out of his repertoire he would be easier to take.

The Mosetti Trio comprised of three very talented and attractive young ladies named Myrtle Fortune, Juanita Moore Berry and Lucille Battle, keep the customers applauding for more. They dance in a whirlwind fashion and, if I may use a time-worn phrase, are: "Dancesational!" Floyd Turnham, who tooted his sax in some of the top bands in the Kingdom of Swing, leads the zippy little band at this far-away spot, and with Oscar Bradley on drums, Bill Austin ticklin' the Ivories, Britt Woodman tooting the Trombone, Johnny Anderson toying with the trumpet, Floyd himself playing all that fine alto and an ofay cat known only as "Creepy" playing all the bass you want to hear, the band itself will make your evening at the Bal an enjoyable one.

Dizzy Gillespie at Civic Monday Evening, July 19

Gene Norman, local disc jockey who has successfully introduced the jazz concert medium to Southern California music fans, announced that the famous trumpet player, Dizzy Gillespie, is scheduled for his first local appearance in the Pasadena Civic Auditorium on July 19, Monday evening.

Appearing with his new big band, Gillespie is probably one of the foremost figures in the jazz world today. Famous for his "bebop principles," Dizzy is widely noted for his tremendous contribution to contemporary music. Lovers of music throughout the world were quick to recognize the ingenious technique and interpretations of Dizzy's and have adopted him with frenetic enthusiasm.

Gillespie, before organizing his own band, was associated with such musical greats as Lionel Hampton, Duke Ellington, Charlie Barnet, Benny Carter, Jimmy Dorsey and Artie Shaw. He has been featured on hundreds of recordings and finally had to form his own orchestra because of public demand. When New York's famous highway of jazz, 52nd Street, heard him several years ago, Gillespie was immediately acknowledged as one of the all-time great trumpet virtuosi.

The promoter of the recent smash Hollywood Bowl jazz affair, Gene Norman, is proud to present the sterling artistry of Dizzy Gillespie and his orchestra in their first California performance. Norman also announces that the talent lineup will include other stellar performers on July 19, in Pasadena.

Lucky Millinder's Show Is Postponed To July Fourteenth

NEW YORK CITY—The debut of the "Modern Minstrels" which was cheduled over NBC on July 7 at 8 p.m., has been postponed until the same time on July 14.

However, after careful consideration NBC has decided to delete the word Minstrels from the title of this show as they believe that using the Minstrel form will limit the material that can be used on the show. The cast of this all-Negro show will remain intact and the new title of the show will be announced at a later date.

'But come rain or shine this show will be heard over the NBC

FOLLOWING ONE SUCCESS after another is the famous Joe Liggins Honeydrippers, currently holding sway nitely at Ted Shapiro's famed Downbeat Cocktail lounge on Central Ave. in the heart of the jive sector. Joe has a top aggregation, and it's a sweet and torrid band that doesn't blast your ear drums. Peppy Prince is featured on drums, along with Little Willie Jackson, Frank Pasley and Joe himself toying with the ivories.

MELVIN "RAGS" GLENN, popular sportsman-barber, is readying plans to open a theatrical club. He's a friend of nearly every big time performer in show business, and his club should prove a solid click right from the start.

TEDDY RUDOLPH, who leads his 5-Bits of Rhythm nitely at the Last Word Cafe, is now going into his 18th week at the cozy Central Avenue bistro!

EMILY FOSTER, who M.C.'d the Nellie Lutcher show last week at the Million Dollar theatre, has been held over for a return engagement. Miss Foster entertains like any other entertainer—only better!

JACK McVEA returns to the New Orleans club in San Francisco for a limited engagement beginning next week.

Ella Fitzgerald To Appear As Featured "Guest" Over N.B.C.

NEW YORK CITY—Ella Fitzgerald, who has been famed as the pace-setter in the music world for many years, will help tee off the all-important all-Negro musical program over NBC on July 14. The First Lady of Swing was invited as the guest of the first all-Negro script show because of her vast popularity among the radio audiences of the country.

Robert K. Adams, NBC's national production director, who is personally supervising the new program, dropped in to see Ella at the Three Deuces, where she is currently breaking all attendance records, and immediately signed her to help tee off the NBC program.

In the meantime, Ella is getting ready for her appearance at the World's Fair of Music, part of New York's golden anniversary celebrations, on July 21. Ella will represent popular music at the music fair and will appear with the Ray Brown Trio backing her. She will appear with such other artists as Robert Merrill, Gladys Swarthout ,and Jack Kil of the Metropolitan Opera, ty, the star of "Make Mine Manhattan."

CONNIE JORDAN, popular singer of popular songs, is at the Sommerset House in Riverside as featured vocalist with the Edgar Hayes quintette. Edgar Hayes is the bandleader whose band ("Mills' Blue Rhythm Boys") made the song "Star Dust" famous—and vice versa!

THE MELODEE CLUB, Slauson Ave.

The only good thing I can say about the Melodee club, located on Slauson Ave. somewhere near Western, is that Jimmy Witherspoon, my favorite male blues chirp (when T-Bone Walker isn't around) is the featured star at this spot. The Melodee is a prejudiced spot, but then, so is the Waldorf-Astoria in N.Y. Geechie Smith, the trumpet star from T-Town (that's in Tulsa); and that's in Oklahoma) leads the band.

Gip Calls Peppy Prince Best Drummer of Swing

One of these days some enterprising person may decide to write the great American novel about swing music and its personalities. If that time ever comes, the name of Preston "Peppy" Prince will certainly be entitled to at least one big chapter. And if the character in the second row will put away his yo-yo for a minute and pull up a chair and siddown, I'll tell you a little about Preston "Peppy" Prince.

Mr. Prince, who is called "Peppy" because he has more energy than a vitamin pill, is the tall, good-looking drummer with Joe Liggins' Honeydrippers. Truly one of the greatest drummers in the entire Kingdom of Swing, Peppy Prince has made quite a reputation in the music world and is rated up among the first ten as one of America's favorite drummers. Some of you will probably tell me to hightail it to the nearest psychiatrist or go take a long walk on a short pier, but we got our reputation as a writer by writing what we think (it's our job), and what we think about Preston "Peppy" Prince is that Gene Krupa, Joe Jones and a few other of the so-called "top" skin-beaters of the nation shouldn't even be mentioned in the same breath with Mrs. Prince's little boy Peppy.

Whereas Krupa, Jones, etc. are good show drummers with a flair for showmanship, Peppy doesn't go in for drum gymnastics, but plays with a solid beat. I have heard but one other drummer I would rate up there with Peppy Prince, that's Jimmie Crawford who played with the late Jimmie Lunceford band and whom music arranger Sy Oliver called "the world's greatest."

With guys like Buddy Rich, Krupa, Jones etc. around and Sy Oliver, who certainly knows his music and musicians, rates Crawford the "greatest," am I to be considered a psychiatric nightmare or a mental blackout for rating Peppy Prince over the field?

Like music teacher Lloyd Reese, who still plays more trumpet today than any of these young be bop upstarts, Prince was around when competition was razor keen. You had to know music to get and stay in a good band. The scene has somewhat changed in that any kid today who picks up a horn and screeches to the high heavens, missing notes right and left, but jumping all over the bandstand doing what is generally accepted as entertainment, can and often does land the best of jobs.

Prince got his start with the Les Hite band, and the Les Hite band was the greatest band on the Pacific coast back in the early thirties. Peppy had the honor of being the first Negro musician to sing from Frank Sebastian's Cotton Club in Culver City over a nationwide hook-up. He featured the theme song of the Les Hite band, "It Must Have Been a Dream."

Hite's band boasted many great musicians and artists, namely: Ivie Anderson, who chirped for years with the Duke of Ellington's band, Lawrence Brown, top trombone star, Lionel Hampton (don't tell anyone you haven't heard of him or you'll be listed as a boob), Buck Clayton, winner of many trumpet polls, T-Bone Walker, Pianist Harvey Brooks (who was Mae West's personal accompanist, and writer of many of her song hits), Lloyd Reese, retired trumpet player who is rated as the best trumpet teacher in California, Marvin Johnson, Charlie Jones and many others who have carved a nice niche for themselves in the field of music. Peppy isn't on the heights yet, but he's climbing.

Sure, he has a good paying job with the famous Honeydrippers (one of the top bands in the small combo field), and he is just about as high as a drummer can go. But before the year 1948 rolls into oblivion, the name Peppy Prince will be a household word.

J. T. Gipson, Theatrical Editor

• JOE SHIPP

(EDITOR'S NOTE: During Mr. Gipson's vacation his column will be conducted by Joe Shipp, popular sportsman and progressive young businessman-about-town. Mr. Shipp is a protege of The Gip's, and during World War II was EAGLE correspondent in Hawaii.)

* * * * * * *

THE OTHER EVENING in one of the Sin Dens, J. T. Gipson, the regular purveyor of this trivia, asked me (asked? I begged him on bended knees!) to write the column during his vacation. I consented because he is my friend, but if I don't get the moola promised for writing this stuff I'll sue him for what he's worth. (I could sue him for ALL he's worth, and I'd still be underpaid!) Tennyrate, here's the scribblings compiled to make a column: PHYLLIS SCOTT, the Gip's social secretary, right arm and Gal Friday, is working her pretty lil' head off trying to round up top entertainment for the Phi Beta Sigma fraternity party in August!!! . . . HEAR TELL Nyais Berry and ERNEST "Sunshine Sammy" MORRISON ARE READYING plans to form a dancing act. IT'S ABOUT TIME a duo formed a big-time dancing act, and these lads are just the toe-tappers to do it!! . . . UNDERSTAND CAL JONES, hurt recently in that auto accident en route to the JOE LOUIS fight, is progressing faster than it takes an "extra" girl in HOLLYWOOD to say "Yes!" . . . A CERTAIN ooOOOH so famed "mentertainer" from NEW YORK is in town for a visit. Her big ambish is to impress Los Angeles society. (That'll be the day!) . . . There are other MCs in town, but none to compare with the incomparable BILL DAY. His style of tomfool'ry in front of a microphone makes JOE ADAMS sound like CLYDE McCOY in comparison to LOUIS ARMSTRONG! All he needs is a break! (Don't we all?)

* * * * * * *

BETCHA CLYDE WOODS (the Los Angeles Sentinel and Last Word club photographer) will think twice before challenging anyone to a fist fight again. Especially if that anyone happens to be JT Gipson! HERE'S WHAT HAPPENED: The Gyp was standing in front of the Dunbar Hotel the other morning talking with MATTHEW THOMPSON, LEVI BURNLEY (his "shadow"), LLOYD MORLOCK, BOBBY ADAMS AND MELVIN WILLIAMS. Woods walked up and threw a couple jokes at Gip. Gip wasn't in the mood to rib and told WOODS so. "Whaddya gonna do about it?" Clyde roared. Before he could get the roar outuve his mouth, the Gip (who weighs not more than 30 pounds soaking wet and with a complete set of the Encyclopedia Britannica under each arm) let go a K.O. punch right on the button, and Mr. Woods resembled the "after" of a "before and after" health ad! Lesson No. 1: "DON'T HECKLE PEOPLE WHO DON'T WANNA BE HECKLED!" . . . Sight around town (and a welcome one at that): BILL JONES, the tailor, who with his brother JOEL operates the JONES BROTHERS CLEANERS at Forty-One-Eleven S. Centrl. av. BILL is one of the nicest guys in this (OR ANY OTHER) town, and he's one of the burg's most eligible young bachelors. Sorta handsome, too, in a CLARK GABLE (technicolor, of course) sort of way!!! . . . SPEAKIN' of fine fellows, how 'bout a plug here for RUSSELL SMITH, who owns the SMITH'S Sports Shopp on Centrl. av. He makes sports shirts fit for a king!!!

ONE OF THE FEW SEPIA telephone operators in the City of Angeles is C. OREGON. AND I put the letter "C" there 'cause I don't know her first name: tho it DOES start with a "C" (C what I mean?) Anyway, if you're lucky enuff to ever catch her voice over the phone sometime, you'll hear something that sounds as beautiful as a mother's lullabye at twilight! She's also on the "TIME" (UL. 8900) clock!!!

THE AMERICAN VETERANS COMMITTEE (Wendell L. Willkie Chapter) presents WINNIE ORR directing "STAGS AT BAY," a male fashion extravaganza at the CONGO CLUB on the SUNDAY AFTERNOON of July 18, from 4 'til 7 p.m. Introducing THE SENSATIONS, a top musical aggregation featuring MARION WEBB . . . also . . . THE MALE "New Look." MUSIC . . . DANCING . . . LOTS OF FUN. Hey, Melroooooose! Cancel all appointments for that date, gotta catch this male fashion show at the CONGO!!! . . . TOMMYE MOORE, a former Pasadena society beauty, is now a New York model. She's due home on her annual summer vacation visit next wk. . . . STELLA WOLFE should be awarded a weekly salary check from the SANTA MONICA Chamber of Commerce. She's that city's best advertisement, and looks better in a bathing suit than BETTY GRABLE! . . . BABE WILSON, the little sportsman, went out to the zoo last week to see the animals. "Where are the monkeys?" he asked the keeper. "They're in the back making love," he was told. "Would they come out for some peanuts?" he asked. "Would you?" was the snapper. . . . NO WONDER THE DUNBAR HOTEL is known all over the country, and is rated as one of the best. Owner James Nelson goes all out to make his guests feel at home, and Lillian Ball (housekeeper there the past 13 years) is just what her last name implies. She's REALLY on the BALL!! Ella Jenkins is one of the friendly clerks and Olivet Williams personifies the peak in friendliness. The DUNBAR is second only to HOME!!! . . . That was NELLIE LUTCHER enjoying an early morning snack at the Zombie club with her favorite columnist, TJ Nosgig (read it backwards).

SPEAKIN' OF THAT WONDERFUL master of ceremonies, Bill Day, he squelched a heckler the other night with this corker: "Okay, brother, keep on heckling me, but tomorrow while I'm still sleeping, you'll be delivering ice!" . . . Barber RAY HILBURN is better known as the "Dye" King. He's a dye expert, and uses as his slogan: "Let Me Dye for You!" He's in the Vernon and Wall vicinity. . . . Aside to Abie Robinson, San Francisco: Your sensayuma is about as funny as a funeral march! . . . CLAUDE SHIPP'S WIFE (Eloise) returned from an extended visit with her mother in San Francisco last wk., and now everybody's happy!! . . . Elois (leave the "e" out of that, Mr. Printer) Perry works at the State Record Shop, and she's the cute reason so many guys go in there to buy records and forget what they go in for! She's got the same thing Lena Horne's got—only Lena's had it longer! . . . ATTN ALL VETERANS! A few weeks ago SOME NEWSPAPER GENIUS (Genius spelled backwards—jackass) in one of the DAILY blats misinterpreted a release out of WASHINGTON, D. C., on the Photographic Training for Veterans. This newspaper genius (genius spelled backwards — jackass) stated THAT THE GOV'T. had discontinued training for several vocations, including protography. That wasn't a misprint, that was a lie! What the release really meant is that the VETERANS can still take Photographic Training, but they must take an aptitude test. In the EVENT some of you fellows don't know what "aptitude test" means ('cause I don't, myself!) you can get all the info on the subject from the CALIFORNIA SCHOOL OF PHOTOGRAPHY, 3330 S. San Pedro, or by calling CHARLES A. WILLIAMS, ADams 1-8887. The California School of Photography is an approved photographic school for veterans! . . . NO truth to the rumor that LLOYD MORLOCK is running around with the reech dghtr of a famed Hollywood director. He's very much in love with an EASTSIDE doll who name is (ah, c'mon, three guesses???)

* * * * * * *

"YA' KNOW," MATT THOMPSON YA' KNOW'D the other evng over a cuppacawfee, "That Gip can write—does he make much money?" . . . "Naw," naw'd BUDDY GARCIA, of Attorney Walter Gordon's staff, "They pay him off with rocks and he throws 'em at people he don't like in the column!" . . . Speaking of the little stinker (I refer to Gipson as a little stinker because he really isn't very big), he can give all the credit to WALTER WINCHELL and JACK LIAT if he wants to, but credit for whatever success he may attain in the journalistic field really goes to NADINE COLES AND ELYSE (Teale) DESORMES. THEY encouraged the little S. when he was ready to throw in the sponge and getta job as a California sewer inspector, they said Nh-Nh and continued to encourage him. He plugged along with his two best buddies (NADINE AND TEALE) standing besides him plugging for the ol' home team, and finally he reached the top. And even tho he is working for rocks, he is still the brezziest of the sepia scribblers. And all because two women (his friends) had faith in him when he didn't have it in himself!

Roy Milton and Ork To Play Charity Dance July 25

So great has been the demand of his numerous fans that Roy Milton, "Mr. Blues Himself," and his Solid Senders have consented to appear in a farewell engagement at the Elks Ballroom, Sunday, July 25, before leaving on their extended dance and theater tour.

To the many Milton fans this appearance will afford an opportunity to see and dance to the tunes of the Milton crew who have made a sensational climb through such exclusive Specialty recordings as "True Blues," "Mr. Fine," "Them There Eyes," "Red Light," "Thrill Me," and the ever popular "R. M. Blues."

In answer to the many requests for a local chapter of the Roy Milton Fan Club, Mr. Milton announced today that the July 25th appearance at the Elks Ballroom will initiate "The Club," with Mr. Milton donating his proceeds to charity. All Milton fans are invited to join the growing list of members. "NO DUES—JUST BLUES."

Roy Milton Fan Clubs have mushroomed all over the country. These clubs are becoming a powerful and helpful aid to their respective communities by supporting charitable undertakings with the aid of the popular band leader.

Last year in a program sponsored and supported by Roy Milton, over 3000 children enjoyed a day's outing at Corregidor Park. On July 25th Roy will make it possible for many needy boys and girls to go to a summer camp vacation. The money is being turned over to the D.A.P.s (Deputy Auxiliary Police) in the Watts area.

Featured with the Milton crew in this farewell appearance is Miss Camille Howard, sensationally popular lady of piano and song. Miss Howard, rapidly becoming one of the nation's top female song stylists, is currently heading the platter parade with her Specialty recording of "You Don't Love Me."

Another member of the Milton crew whom the fans have taken to their heart is the young scintillating guitarist Johnny Rogers, newest member of the Milton aggregation.

Remember, the place to be Sunday, July 25th, is the Elks Ballroom on Central Ave. Not only to see and hear, but DANCE to the top tunes made famous by Mr. R. M. himself. Get the blues with Roy, the boogie beat from Camille, and jump with Johnny Rogers and the whole Milton crew.

Eunice Wilson Is Held Over at Congo Club With Burke's Orch.

By popular demand, the band of Ceelle Burke and the Club Congo show was held over at the cozy Central Avenue nightclub for an extended engagement. Starting Friday night, July 16, a new feature will be inaugurated.

The Congo Club management announces that a Talent Search will be held each Friday evening, the winner to be rewarded with a lucrative engagement at the club. For all of you who have talent, amateur or professional, contact J. T. Gipson, the EAGLE theatrical editor, or Mr. Byron Anderson at ADams 9770 or PArkway 1609.

Here is a break for all amateurs or professionals, in that a first place spot on any of the "talent" shows will reward the winner with a big time contract to appear at the club and a possible engagement with a star-studded show to appear at one of the leading theatres.

The Ceelle Burke band has been chalking up records galore during their stay at Bill and Leon Hefflin's Club Congo, and why shouldn't they chalk up records wherever they appear? The Ceelle Burke band, featuring as an added feature attraction lists such prominent musicians and entertainers as Austin McCoy, who has often been rated as one of the top pianists in the entire Kingdom of Swing; Kirk Bradford, great young sax star who formerly played with the late and great Jimmie Lunceford band and the sultry-song stylings of the pert and pretty Eunice Wilson.

For the first time in our entire Angel City theatrical career of covering the nite spots we feel that the management of the Congo club has at last struck pay dirt in holding over the band of Ceelle Burke and the sing-sational singing starlet, Miss Wilson, for if there is any band and singer I'd personally walk a mile to hear, it is the band of Ceelle Burke (with the piano stylings of Austin McCoy and the sax tooting of Kirk Bradford) and, of course, your favorite and mine, Miss Eunice Wilson.

A new policy at the Congo is that no admission and no cover will be charged during the band's hold-over engagement.

Carole Landis True Friend Of Negro; Suicide Was Shocking

HOLLYWOOD — Strange tales come from Hollywood. And one of the strangest is the suicide of beautiful, blonde actress Carole Landis.

Carole, a firm believer in human rights for minority groups, played a staunch role throughout the war entertaining right at the front lines and making a big hit with Negro soldiers on the battlefield.

A great admirer of Joe Louis, Carole acted in a high capacity at the Southern Conference for Human Welfare's dinner a year and a half ago, in honor of Joe to raise funds for more liberal actions in the south. At the dinner, held at the Waldorf Astoria's swank Starlight Roof, Carole auctioned off Joe's prized boxing gloves and joined Frank Sinatra in making a sincere and stirring speech on how she personally felt towards this discrimination business.

No one could account for role's shocking suicide. Ho wood gossip had it that she hopelessly in love with Rex H rison, happily married Brit star, who, strangely enou played the lead in "Foxes Harrow," best selling story au ored by Frank Yerby, a Neg It was Harrison who found body.

Though Carole had made announcement of her politic intentions, her friends belie she was in sympathy with t Wallace campaign as she tended many of his rallies

ESSIVE NEWSPAPER FOR PROGRESSIVE

Ike Williams Stops Beau Jack In 6

PHILADELPHIA, July 12 — Lightweight Champion of the world, Ike Williams, literally a one man firing squad, unleashed his big guns here tonight and battered Challenger Beau Jack into submission in the sixth round of a scheduled 15-round championship bout at Shibe Park. Each fighter came in at 134 pounds.

Personifying the fighting fury of a hammering Henry Armstrong, the Champ swarmed all over the game and aggressive Jack as the bell started the sixth round. Williams was awarded the verdict via a technical knockout when Referee Charley Daggert stepped in and halted the slaughter after 33 seconds.

Beau Jack, himself a former lightweight champion, was a battered and tired fighter, his face a bloody mass, but his heart as game as ever as he stood in a neutral corner helpless against the machine-gun attack of the sharp-punching champion.

Williams, a gentleman and sportsman, looked at Referee Daggert on several occasions as if he wanted the Ref to halt the bout, but the official looked at Jack and nodded for the Champion to go ahead. Ike then "went ahead" and blasted the game little challenger with everything in the books before referee Daggert stepped in and halted the massacre.

This marks the second time in Beau Jack's career that the little warrior from Augusta, Ga., had been stopped in 82 fights since hitting the big time nearly eight years ago. Tony Janiro, the fiery little scrapper out of Youngston, Ohio, was awarded a t.k.o. verdict over him in New York's Madison Square Garden Feb. 21, 1947.

Williams' second successful defense of his title marked his 16th straight victory. A disappointing crowd of 12,952 contributed to a gross gate of 83,787. Williams received a guarantee of $30,000 or 37½%. Jack left the arena with a badly bruised, battered body, cuts over the head and body and 22½% of the gross gate.

It's nice work if you can get it, and you can have it!

Lennie Morrow Makes Sensational Local Debut In Kayo Win Over Fitzpatrick

By Jay Gipson
EAGLE Sports Editor

Len Morrow, California's light heavyweight champion and a contender for Gus Lesnevich's world crown, came down from his home in Oakland just long enough to polish off one Fitzy Fitzpatrick. Morrow, making his first start in Southern California, lived up to his advance clippings as "a baby Joe Louis" in the Olympic ring Tuesday night as he pounded out a fifth-round kayo over the rough and rugged Fighting Irishman before 4500 very pleased customers. The bout was scheduled for 10 rounds, but after the third stanza it was apparent that brother Fitzpatrick wouldn't be able to make it to 10 even with Gordon Macker giving him a lift in his big red Cadillac!

It was one of the wildest and best fights ever staged in the Olympic ring, and that's saying a lot as there are hardly any dull fights staged at Deacon McCoy's swatatorium. (You may take a bow, Mr. Matchmaker!)

Morrow, a 21-year-old good-looking youngster who holds a win over Pert Lytell and a 1-round kayo over Archie Moore, and rated by NBA as the number three lightheavyweight, proved a bit too tough for Fitzy as he threw left jabs at will AND Fitzpatrick and battered the barrel-chested Irishman all over the Olympic ring. It wasn't a one-sided affair, and Len nearly wound up on the losing end of the argument in the first round when Fitzy bludgeoned Morrow around the ring with rights and lefts popping like pistons.

In the second stanza Morrow took some mighty hard wallops from Fitzy and went tumbling down for a nine count. Mr. Morrow was as close to a knockout as I imagine brother Morrow would want to be, and on several occasions during the second round referee Benny Whitman was tempted to halt the battle, but class and heart (that, kids, is what champions are made of) kept Len in there fighting.

In the third heat Morrow came back refreshed and fought like a tiger. Again Fitzy sank to the deck for a two-count after being nailed with a hard right cross. He jumped up fighting but soon went down for a four count, again after being hit on the side of the head.

In the fourth round Morrow dumped Fitzy again for a seven count with another right to the head, and this time Fitzy became so enraged he battered the canvas with his right hand. There are some who contend Brother Fitzpatrick should have saved his strength for the next stanza, but no, he stayed on one knee, pounded and continued to pound the canvas with his right mitt. As he got up, Morrow unleashed a barrage of solid punches and Fitzy went down for an eight tally. Len tried desperately to finish off the fighting Irishman, but Fitzy was too tough, and nearly dropped Morrow with hard rights and lefts.

In the fifth a series of rights and lefts put Fitzy down for the fifth and final time.

What a battle!

Fitzpatrick came in at 175. Morrow weighed 177.

ON THE TURF

By Geo. A. Ramsey

CALIENTE, Old Mexico—It was Adam W. who recently arrived from Mexico City and captured the feature attraction, billed as "the El Cerrito Handicap," last Sunday at Caliente. Given a perfect ride by the substitute jockey Joe Phelps, the eight-year-old son of Morsel-Betty Shinn layed close to the early pace set by Ida Doon and New Dough until they reached the stretch where Jockey Phelps gave the brown gelding his head and coasted to a two-length victory. Running the mile and sixtteenth in 1:45 flat to reward his backers, paying $6.20, $4.40 and $3.30 across the board.

In the secondary event Silver Leader made good as the even money favorite to best some of the best sprinters on the grounds. After trailing the field to the head of home lane took command at the eighth pole to score by a head over little Delph who had set the early pace. The time for the six furlongs was 1:12 1-5. The payoff on the winner was $4.20 straight.

The daily-double combination of Lakeside Hope, victor of the second race, and Lucky Dawson paid $165, while the nitecap, called the Quiniela, rewarded its backers of Green Flight and Pacifier who finished in that order $41. Longshot players were made happy when Lucky Lawson at $28.20, Red Sol at $59.60 and Green Flight at $28.60 visited the charmed circle.

This Sunday General Manager Walter C. Marty will honor the City of Pasadena with the featured event. It will be at six furlongs. His secondary attraction will honor Hollywood at one mile and one-sixteenth. These two races will bring the best sprinters and middle distance horses together and thrilling and exciting competition is expected.

Greyhound races are still going over as the biggest pite sport south of the border. Under the personal direction of popular General Manager William Collier the fans crowd this beautiful plant five nights a week Wednesday thru Sunday. The sport is fast and exciting. Thrills and chills greet you as the rabbit outspeeds the dogs. And then the big payoff in the Quiniela's brings joy to the lucky holders. The first big Negro event to be honored by the popular general manager will be Thursday, Aug. 12. Watch this paper for further announcements. The slogan now is, let's get the dog habit; it cures the blues and drives dull care away. I'll be seeing you. So long.

George.

Ted Rhodes Wins Elks' Open at Minneapolis

The tournament committee of the Cosmopolitan Golf club has announced that the Baldwin Hills course has been selected as site for the Cosmopolitan Open tourney to be held Tuesday, July 27. Winner and runner-up trophies will be awarded in flights A., B., C. and D. Entry fee will be $3.50 and should be in by Wednesday, July 21. U.S.G.A. rules will prevail and entry blanks may be secured from Jimmy DeVoe, 3430 So. La Brea or Roscoe Jones and Al McDaniels. Earliest entries received will gain favored starting times. The tournament is slated for eighteen holes.

Clarence E. Porter was the lone race golfer to qualify for the championship flight in the recent city tournament held at Griffith Park. Porter shot rounds of 76 and 73 to make the grade but lost in match play to defending champ Geo. Lance. Gomer Jones of Long Beach was the eventual winner.

Ted Rhodes, local pro, knocked down top money of $650 in winning the Midwest Elks Open tourney at Minneapolis last week. Ted shot successive rounds of 67, 69 and 72 for a 54 hole total of 208. Joe Coria of St. Paul was second with 211. Rhodes and Bill Spiller were featured in the July issue of Sport magazine.

Board Track Speedsters Going Strong

Board track auto racing gets its second test Friday night (July 16) at the L. A. Memorial Coliseum with another record throng expected to sit in on the occassion.

With 36,003 fans attending the premiere, promoter Bill White is confident that board track racing has uncovered thousand new fans.

The opening speed session was a thriller with flips, skids, crack-ups and spills studding a thrill-packed program.

Surprise winner of the 50-lap main event was Bob Carroll, throttle stomper from Fresno. However, Carroll had a hectic time winning as Bullet Jos Garson pushed him all the way.

Many midwestern pilots are enroute to Los Angeles, it was reveled today, as the news of the amazing success of steep-banked board bowl spread like wildfire.

COMING CHAMP?

Last Tuesday evening at the Olympic Auditorium a tall, good-looking 21-year-old lad who answers to the moniker of Leonard Morrow, battled his way to a fifth-round kayo over game and rugged Fitzy Fitzpatrick. This Morrow showed plenty of class and from where Bill Jones and I was sitting (so high in the balcony we had to use an oxygen tent) the kid looks like a coming champion. I only hope he isn't carried along too fast. If there ever was a fighter who fights with the fury of the Joe Louis of old, it's this Len Morrow from Oakland. You'll be hearing plenty about him, and because of his sensational showing Tuesday night at the 18th and Grand avenue arena, he's definitely booked back for a repeat performance.

SANTA CLAUS WILLIAMS

Philadelphia—Ike Williams, the lightweight champion of the world, announced here today he would give $1000 of his winnings (from the Beau Jack fight) to the U. S. Olympic fund. Williams collected a cool thirty grand for his little engagement with the fighting Beau from Augusta, Ga. He will return to the city from his home in Trenton, N. J., Friday, to present the $1000 to Judge Harry McDevitt, president of the Middle Atlantic Association of the AAU.

JUST DATA

(But What's the Matta With Data?)

Freddie Beshore, the "Blonde Bomber" from El Monte, Calif., outpointed Bobby Zander, of Los Angeles, in 10 rounds Tuesday night before 5000 fans up in Spokane, Wash., to win what promoters had billed as the Pacific Coast heavyweight boxing title.

Ernie Case, former UCLA backfield ace, who played his first season of pro football last year for Baltimore of the All-America Conference, will play for the San Francisco '49ers this year.

John Thomas, one of the fightingest little fighters to ever fight a fight, is doing good in the poultry b'sness with his partner, Willie (himself a pretty fair puncher) Sampson. The two popular fellows are located at 4019 S. Avalon blvd. If only someone would talk John into a ring comeback! He's still one of the greatest little ring generals in the game. But on the other hand, maybe it's best he stay in the poultry racket, he'll have all the eggs he wants (and for free, too!) to throw at Chalky Wright next time he tries to sing "Nature Boy"!

I get so damb tired of reading in the papers of the "wonderful, marvelous, most generous" things Mike Jacobs has done for the Negro fighter. Why doesn't someone remind the eastern sportswriters that the Negro fighters have also done a lot for Mike Jacobs! Made him rich, thass all! If I were asked to cast a vote (nobody has, but someday maybe they will) I'd put the Olympic Auditorium ahead of Madison Square Garden for giving Negro fighters a break. Wait, don't go, yet. Listen, and I'll tell you why. In New York, it's impossible to get bout in the Garden unless you're "in" with Uncle Mike and his "syndicate." No kind of setup like that here. If a boy is a good fighter, or even shows promise of being one, he gets a break regardless of whether his manager is Deacon Jones, Stew Slanovitch or just plain George Washington Jones. One of these days I'm going to take my typewriter out to the beach and write a story (that's a cinch to win an academy award) on what I think of the boxing situation in New York!!

LOS ANGELES DONS

The Los Angeles Dons are holding their third annual press and radio day at Ventura Junior college on Monday, July 19. Lunch with the coaching staff and squad will be served at the Dons' training table. After lunch Jimmy Phelan will put his 1948 squad through its pace sfor inspection and approval of the visiting sportscribes.

SHORT VACATION!

The other day I had a nice little vacation all planned. A trip to Elsinore to lounge in the sun, as the guest of Managing Editor John Lee, who wasn't going along but just wanted to finance the trip to get me out of the office, figuring a day away from Gipson is like a month in the country! Well, to make a long story longer, Joe Shipp took over by column for the week but no sooner had I packed my bag (which consists of two handkerchiefs, toothbrush and hair-slickum) th eoffice called back and said: "Gipson, not that we feel as though you haven't been doing enough work editing the theatrical section of the paper, but only because we love you, are we going to give you an additional job. You little devil, you!" And so the big devils did just that. Gave me this extra job as EAGLE Sports Editor! May all their teeth fall out but one. That should stay in for a toothache!

Gold Cup At Hollypark

This is Gold Cup week at Hollywood Park with the attention of turf followers all over the country centering on the $100,000 classic for three-year-olds and up which will be run Saturday at the colorful Inglewood track.

One of the richest races in America—there are nine hundred-granders on the national turf schedule this year — the Gold Cup is expected to attract a field of from eight to ten top campaigners with the high-weighted On Trust of Earl Stice and Sons favored to take the big pot and advance to sixth place ahead of the immortal Seabiscuit in all-time money-winning standings.

SHAPELY DOROTHY AIKEN, an entrant in the "Miss Bronze Pacific Coast" Beauty contest, sponsored by the Bronze Pacific Coast Productions, Sid Hazeur, Mgr., is relaxin' comfortably in the above pic. Is she pretty? Absolutely, positively, indisputably, definitely, unquestionably YES! Dorothy will be sponsored by the Civil Air Patrol Auxiliary of the U.S. Air Forces, Los Angeles Squadron Seven, 4170½ So. Central ave. In the contest, Miss Aiken will wear the title, "Miss Civil Air Patrol." Contest headquarters is at 5521 S. Central ave.

League-Leading P.O.'s Nipped by Clark's Chiefs

Ken Clark's Chiefs Defeat League-Leading Main P. O., 12-15.

Collecting 3 home runs and a double in one big 5th inning, the Chiefs toppled the Main Post Office nine from the undefeated lists in a thrilling softball Foshay Softball League game last Wednesday at Foshay playground. Pouncing on P. O. pitching for a total of 17 hits, the fighting Chiefs, sponsored by Ken Clark, Pontiac dealer, amassed 12 runs 6 innings of play.

Chief pitcher Wilber Saterfield held the opposition to 7 hits and 5 runs; thus the post office team which had not been defeated in three previous contests, went down for the first time.

With the score tied, 5-5, going into the last half of the 5th, Marcus Cline of the Chiefs blasted a home run over the left fielders' head. Jack Lowe, manager and spark plug of the team, immediately followed suit with a circuit clout of his own. Then, with the bases filled on 2 hits and a walk, Orlan Staten, catcher hit a double, driving in 3 more runs.

Just to keep the bases clean, Vernon Torraganon then stepped up and hit the third four-bagger of the inning, thus accounting for the seventh run of the inning.

Box Score:

Main P. O.	000	500
Chiefs	032	07x
Strike ous P. RO.		8

Gala Celebration Being Planned For Baseball Star

Even before the big news that Satchel Paige had at last made the bigtime, plans were being made for a big "Satchel Paige" day when the master of pitching baseball came here for his annual fall sojourn.

With Satchel being in the livery of the Cleveland Indians added impetus was given the idea sponsored by Wrigley field, Billy Fiestner, Marshall Armstrong, and the sports writers.

The general public will be invited to participate in paying tribute to one of the greatest pitchers baseball has ever known. He has never been so honored here and it is high time that we gave him the acclaim he deserves.

Many merchants have signified their willingness to contribute gifts and money for a nice gesture. Watch the local papers for details of this splendid opportunity for tribute to a game and competitive athlete, Satchel Paige.

Midget Car Race At Gilmore Stadium Tonight

Walt Faulkner, the little racing dynamo from down San Diego way, will be back in the thick of the speed fight Thursday night, July 15, when Gilmore Stadium's midget car season hits the 11th week of a season that has seen seven different winners in ten races.

Not only is Faulkner returning for the first time since he suffered injuries in a bad spill in the opening Gilmore program May 6, but he is swinging back into action with a brand new thunderbug.

The car is owned by Leonard Faas of San Diego, who owned the fast No.'s 10 and 16 cars that Faulkner drove last year in the same fast U.R.A. circuit.

Main event distance this Thursday night will be 60-laps, supported by the 15-lap semi-main event, four eight-lap qualifying heats and opening three-lap trophy dash at 8:30 o'clock. One-lap qualifying starts at 7 o'clock. All races will be inverted.

A field of 35 drivers is entered Thursday night including all the Gilmore favorites, Karl Young, Troy Ruttman, Billy Taylor, Red Simms, Sam Hanks, Bill Brereton, Bill Zaring, Danny Oakes, Dean Meltzer, Bob Cameron, Frank Brewer, Andy Linden, Norman Holtkamp, Roger Ward, Jim Ryan and many more along with Heath, Vukovich and Faulk-

PROF. HERMAN The Astrologer
TO ASSIST YOU IN MAKING WISE DECISIONS

THERE IS ALWAYS ONE.

Loss of confidence is a tragedy, in whatever connection It may be feared or manifested. It may be the fruit of either of failure in our various fields of endeavor or some incident that happened in your life, that made you lose all hope of finding happiness.

The abnormal uncertainties and distresses of the present time call to us more urgently than ever to hold fast to the fact of God's presence with us in the storms of life, and that our safety is bound up with His own.

T. E. Dear Prof. Herman: It has been quite sometime since I have written to you. I have finished reading the book, "With God All Things Are Possible," and have passed it on to a friend to read. Thank you again, for recommending it to me, it has brought me so much comfort.

J. H. What is the "gift of tongues" described as representing?

ANSWER: A faculty of abnormal and inarticulate vocal utterance which persons under religious excitement indulge in.

O. S. Do you think I will ever see my boy friend again?

ANSWER: Probing into the matter I find that it has been quite sometime since you have heard from him and you are wondering if he intends to return. Some good news is forthcoming, which will clear this up for you, just be patient a little longer.

V. S. Will I find happine soon?

ANSWER: My Psycho-Menta ist Crystal reveals the fact tha you are interested in gettin married . . . soon, and wonder this is possible. It seems tha you have several friends, one which is interested in marriag but hesitates in speaking to yo because of your other friends. would be glad to help you fu ther if you will write in for private reply.

G. E. S. Why does he treat m so mean?

ANSWER: A careful analys of your question indicates th fact that your husband has bee making it very uncomfortab for you of late, and you are puzzled as to the reason. Perhap you need a vacation from eac other for a while, thus givin him a chance to realize ho much you mean to him. I woul like to advise you further, if yo will write in for a private reply.

Half Billion Construction For L.A. County

With 14 localities topping the $1,000,000-mark in building in the first half of 1948 fell barely short of a half-billion dollars, a Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce survey showed today.

The mid-year total stood at $455,927,610 in valuation of 91,275 permits in the cities and unincorporated area of Los Angeles county, according to Harry G. Haake, chairman of the Chamber Construction Industries Committee.

Residential permits numbered 32,126, valued at $286,166,174.

All types of construction represented a 63 per cent gain over the $284,240,455 total for the first half of 1947, Haake said.

Building throughout the county in June soared to $77,259,567, a 6 per cent jump over May's volume of $72,341,075 and 60.8 per cent ahead of the $46,475,866 figure for the same month a year ago.

June permits totaled 15,304, including 5,599 for dwelling jobs, compared with 13,729 total and 4,443 residential in Many.

The 14 top areas last month, aside from the city of Los Angeles and the unincorporated area, were:

The Annual Tea of the Grand United Order of Odd Fellows and Household of Ruth will hold its annual tea Sunday, July 18, at the Sojourner Truth Home, 1119 E. Adams Blvd. A fine program for your entertainment.

Chest X-Rays For Southside

Norman Houston, Golden State Mutual Inc. Co. president, was elected chairman of the Southeast Community Health Council last week.

The Council, which serves as an independent citizens' committee and assists the southeast district health officers, met at the local health center at 4920 S. Avalon Boluevard. The first order of business to be undertaken by the Health Council will be a community-wide chest x-ray project aimed at discovering unknown cases of tuberculosis.

Mrs. Charles S. Blodgett, Jr., was chose chairman of the planning committee, which will begin a mass x-ray program in the area at an early date.

Figurets released recently by Dr. George M. Uhl, city health officer, indicate that one person of every twenty in the southeast area may have tuberculosis, a disease which can be cured easily when found in its early stages.

Hey! Skinny! C'mon In, The Water's Fine

Listen, Butch and Skinny and Marge and Minnie and all of you other guys and gals, if you don't learn to swim this summer it's just too bad because there certainly are plenty of opportunities for kids to sprout fins this vacation season.

The Los Angeles City Recreation and Park Department, which organized the learn-to-swim drive with the cooperation of the Red Cross and other agencies, reported that more than 11,000 swim lessons were given last week at its seventeen municipal pools, while other thousands of lessons were provided at fourteen other public pools entered in the campaign.

Old Time Barn Dance At Val Verde Park

The Department of recreation with the assistance of local citizens of Val Verde Park are presenting a series of old time Barn Dances.

The first of the series will be held on the night of July 17, 1948. There will be prizes for young, old, professional entertainment, and plenty of good old reels and squares.

Mr. Harper, who has so successfully called the sets in the past, will again call them on this occasion. Everyone is invited to join in the gaiety. Remember the night—July 17, 1948—It's FREE: See the Mountain Maids of Rhythm. Hear the kiddies Harmony Singers, Win a prize, SEE the new dance craze "COTTON-EYED JOE" being done by your reel setters. The men wear jeans and the gals wear cottons.

REV. C. H. REAVES, president of the Evangelist Council of the AME church and the gospel singers, will begin a revival on Sunday, July 18, at the AME Extension Mission, 11618 116th Place and Compton avenue. The public is invited to attend these services. Sunday school at 10 a.m., sermon at 11 a.m., young people's group at 3 p.m., and evening sermon at 8 p.m. Rev. A. Davis, pastor.

Gangrene Costs President's Leg

President Joseph J. Rhoads, of Bishop College, who has been in poor health for several years, was confined to his bed several weeks ago, due to an infected foot, caused by the trimming of a corn.

The slight abrasion was not considered serious until his personal physician noted discolorization, and suggested that he go immediately to a hospital where laboratory tests could be made regularly in order to determine the condition.

Mrs. Rhoads immediately made arrangements for him to enter Alice Eve Memorial Hospital, Hot Springs, Arkansas. Final tests there showed the presence of gangrene, and so rapid was the spread of the poison, that on Wednesday, July 7, at two-thirty p.m., an amputation was performed, taking the left foot and leg to the knee.

Scout Exec. Speaks At Mt. Carmel

Rev. B. Clarence Cooke, Field Scout Executive for the L. A. Area Council, Boy Scouts of America, was the guest speaker for the Men's Day Program at the Mt. Carmel Baptist Church, 3068 East First street, on Sunday morning, July 11.

Rev. Cooke was formerly director of Christian education at St. Paul Baptist Church, prior to his accepting the executive position with the Boy Scouts. Rev. Cooke advocated "men of patience" as what the world needs most today. Rev. Lawrence A. Felix is pastor of Mt. Carmel Baptist.

LAWRENCE H. LIGHTNER, right, Supreme Commander of the American Woodmen Insurance Company is shown presenting a gift of $500 to William F. McGlone, president of the Denver Urban League while W. Miller Barbour, executive secretary looks on. The American Woodmen Insurance Company is in its 42nd year and shows gross assets of $9,000,000 with more than $103,000,000 worth of insurance in force.

Private Floyd Gets Promoted

Private Ivory Floyd, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Floyd of 1040 W. Washington Blvd., Los Angeles, Calif., recently received his promotion to the rank of Private First Class in Company "M" and is rifleman. The 24th Infantry is a part of the 25th Infantry (Tropic Lightning) Division, commanded by Brigadier General Everett E. Brown.

Pvt. Floyd entered the army in August, 1947, and received his basic training at Fort Knox, Ky., and departed for overseas duty in January, 1948.

Before entering the service Pvt. Floyd attended Metropolitan High School.

Men, Women And All Children NOT Under Eighteen Are Needed

The United States Civil Service Commission is still accepting applications for the coming Post Office clerk, carrier examination which will be given to obtain applications for positions now available in the Los Angeles Post Office.

The examination is open to veterans regardless of age, and to any man or woman, age 18 to 50 who is a citizen, and a resident of the City of Los Angeles within the territory served by the local Post Office.

Applications for this examination must be received by the United States Civil Service Commission before July 26. Those interested should write to the United States Civil Service Commission, Federal Building, Los Angeles, or apply to their nearest Post Office for the proper forms.

Public Donates 2000 Earphones To General

Donation of two thousand earphones and amplifying equipment to provide music for patients at the General Hospital was reported this week by Supervisor Leonard J. Roach.

Collection of the money was made by L. Clark Aydelott, acting general chaplain of the hospital, and used to purchase war surplus equipment.

Roach says the generosity of the numerous citizens who contributed will afford many hours of pleasure to bedridden patients.

Vinston Sells Gordon Mansion For $40,000

The sale of the Thomas Gordon mansion, a picturesque 3-story frame building, situated at 2302 West 25th street, to the Filipino Federation of America, was reported to THE CALIFORNIA EAGLE by the W. C. Vinston Realty Co., Eastside brokerage firm.

The cost is reported to be in excess of $40,000. The mansion is to be known as the "General Macando" headquarters in honor of the organization's president who founded and led the guerilla forces of over a million men in the recent war.

Nat'l Guard To Camp Soon

Southern California's 40th Infantry Division is completing processing of about 2,600 recruits preparatory to movement, July 31, to Camp San Luis Obospo for two weeks of field training at the Division's first regular post-war encampment.

Three special trains will carry 3,110 National Guard troops from the Los Angeles Exposition Park Armory in the largest troop departure yet recorded. Greatest prior strength of units departing from Los Angeles was about 1,200 officers and men.

The Division, under the command of Maj. Gen. Daniel H. Hudelson, will leave Los Angeles and 32 other cities of Southern California the night of July 31-Aug. 1. Hudelson said most of the move will be made by rail—aboard 32 special trains.

Glenn T. Pettis In Gifu, Japan

Private First Class Glenn T. Pettis, son of Mrs. Mae Pettis of 1028 S. Crocker St., Los Angeles, Calif., is a member of the 15th Fire Fighting Co., now stationed at Gifu, Japan. The 15th Fire Fighter Co. is a part of 25th Infantry (Tropic Lightning) Division, commanded by Brigadier General Everett E. Brown.

Pfc. Pettis is a Ladder Man in 15th Fire Fighter Co., and as such, is playing a very important part in the Occupation Mission of the 24th Infantry.

Pfc. Pettis entered the Army in April 1946 and received his basic training at Fort McClellan, Ala. He departed for overseas duty on August 1946 and since arrival in Japan was assigned to the 15th Fire Fighting Co.

Before entering the service Pfc. Pettis attended Douglas Senior High School, and was later employed by the Baltimore Post Office as a Postal Clerk.

Try This Out on Your New Auto!

Alcohol and automobiles ordinarily don't mix. You have the word of the local police department for that.

But the two commodities are mixing beautifully out at Gilmore Stadium this week in practice runs—hotrod practice runs. And next Monday night's races (July 19) will probably be run exclusively on alcohol instead of the usual fuel, 100-octane aviation gasoline.

Alcohol, although twice as expensive as gasoline (he's telling me!), runs cooler and provides greater acceleration. Since most of the C.H.R.I. cars have been plagued with motor burnups in two previous outings, the new fuel may take the "hot" out of the hotrods.

The field of aspirants take their time trials at seven, and launch the feature card at 8:30 p.m. with a 3-lap trophy dash.

THE SIDEWALK

By C. A. B.

When this week's Sidewalk reaches you, it will have moved on to Philadelphia where you will hear from it next.

In order to make clear my political position and the reason for my conversations with many of my readers on present political issues, I deem it expedient to review briefly some past events in our political life from which we are but a few years removed.

Even his enemies of the past and present must admit, that Franklin Delano Roosevelt charted a course for the American people from which he never deviated.

Since the death of President Roosevelt in 1945, the American people, at least in this writer's opinion, have become a leaderless frustrated people. And it is almost needless to say that selfish interests have taken undue advantage of this state of affairs.

Broken political promises in the political life of the Republican and Democratic parties, and most serious of all our utter disregard for the good relationship built and sustained by this country among Roosevelt, Stalin, and Churchill during the administration of the late Franklin D. Roosevelt, is without question responsible for the status quo.

Sow the wind and we reap the whirlwind.

Here is what the Democrats offered as a 1944 platform.

"We assert mankind believes in the four freedoms. We believe the country which has the greatest measure of social justice is capable of the greatest achievement.

"We believe racial and religious minorities have the right to live, develop, and vote equally with all citizens, and share the rights which are guaranteed by our Constitution. Congress should exert its full constitutional powers to protect those rights."

And this is what the Democratic 1948 platform has to say:

"The Democratic party is responsible for the great civil rights gains made in recent years, and we further dedicate our party to the cause of continuing our efforts to eradicate all racial, religious, and economic discrimination."

Belief In Rights

In substance, again and again, both Democrats and Republicans have made fine statements about racial and religious minorities having the right to live, work, and to vote; as well as to have the full protection of the law. Such is the gist of both major parties' 1948 platform pledge.

A 1948 Republican plank in its platform says:

"Lynching or any other form of mob violence is a disgrace to any civilized state, and we favor the prompt enactment of legislation to end this infamy."

Minorities who have been and are still being denied all of these things, even while they are being said and written, wonder just how sincere these political parties are.

Despite this Negro leaders on both sides of the political fence are ready to sell the people a bill of goods as their choice for president. The Trumanites, of course, build their salesmanship talks almost wholly on the Truman red-hot issue of civil rights, which they say will benefit the Negro more than any other minority. I grant this.

The Republicans, with their arms around Dewey and Warren, it is believed are getting mad for the attack. One gentleman who before the convention told me he could not see Warren, because the good governor

Committee Reports On Haas Bias

The investigating committee appointed by the Board of Education following publication in the California Eagle of previously secretly-held information regarding racially discriminatory remarks and attitudes attributed to Nell Haas, principal of the 28th Street School, comprised of George Beavers, chairman of the Board of the Golden State Mutual Life Insurance Company; Charles Brown of the Jewish Civic Center, C. C. Carpenter, Dr. G. Cole, Mrs. Nora L. Pearson, Paul Shafer, district superintendent of elementary schools of the San Fernando Valley, reported to the Board released their report this week.

The committee found that Nell

LATL Refuse Negroes Jobs Action Planned

Frank Alexander, Communist party organizer of the 62nd Assembly District Section, and Mort Newman, Communist party organizer of the Midtown Section, announce that the Los Angeles Transit Lines are refusing to hire Negroes as conductors and motormen. This despite the fact that the LATL is currently engaged in extensive hiring.

Because of the struggle required to break down the discriminatory policy of the LATL in order to get Negroes hired in the first place, this threat to the tenure and future hiring of Negroes calls for immediate mobilization of community forces. According to Alexander and Newman, the Communist party, which has a long history of fighting against discriminatory hiring practices directed against Negroes and Mexicans, is investigating the matter, and they will map out a campaign of united MARK CLEMMONS, 13 year old speedster is the CALIFORNIA EAGLE representative in the Soap Box Derby, finals of which will be held at Akron, Ohio, later this summer. Right now, Mark is exuding confidence just before the elimination heat in which he is to race on July 29th (Friday) at Arroyo Seco Playground. California Eagle Managing Editor, John M. Lee, examined Mark's racer and pronounced it one of the finest he has seen. Mark who is a Woodcraft Ranger, built the racer himself. He has been driving real automobiles since he was ten, and he possesses an amazing knowledge of automotive engineering. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Clemmons of 1549 E. 57th Street, Mark is a student at the Hooper Avenue School and a communicant of Hamilton Methodist Church. He is an ace California Eagle salesman, and his favorite sports figures are heavyweight champ Joe Louis and baseball's Jackie Robinson.

Shooting Brings Tension In Basilone Race Incident

The story of the altercation in the Basilone Homes project, near Hansen Dam, was aired in Van Nuys municipal court yesterday. It involved the shooting of Mrs. Willie H. Nelson, who was rather seriously injured with a broken hip, hand and arm; and of Nathaniel Harding, an innocent bystander, who was shot in the chest. Both Mrs. Nelson and Harding were taken to the General Hospital for treatment.

Mr. Nelson, husband of the injured woman, came to the office of THE CALIFORNIA EAGLE, last Monday morning and told the details of the fracas.

The trouble started when Mr. and Mrs. McKinney, white, were taking their clothes off the line. Mrs. Virginia Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson, was sitting on the Nelson porch, watching. Mrs. McKinney asked, "What are you looking at?"

"I can look at what I please," answered Mrs. Jones. "I haven't said anything to you."

Mrs. Nelson then went out on the porch, and told Virginia to come into the house. Mr. and Mrs. McKinney left, but a few minutes later, McKinney, and two other white men, David M. Anderson and a man by the name of Tomlinson, came back, and called out, "Come on out. We want to fight."

McKinney carried a big stick, and Tomlinson a hatchet. Nelson went out to meet them, and the three began moving in on him.

"When I saw the three of them coming," said Mr. Nelson, "I

Local NAACP Branch Reports Over $1000 For July Meeting

The most successful public meeting ever conducted by the local branch of the NAACP, is the report of the July 1 session held at 2nd Baptist Church at which Walter White, executive secretary of the association was the principal speaker. Total receipts (including $339 in pledges) were $1,484.01.

Half of the proceeds, less $209.42, the cost of sponsoring the meeting, and $229.02, Mr. White's fare from the national conference at Kansas City, were sent to the national office in accordance wit hthe constitutional requirements.

Checks totalling fifty dollars were returned by the bank because of non-payment. H. A. Howard, president of the Broadway Federal Savings and Loan Association, and L. G. Robinson, an official of the Angelus Funeral home, both donated $100. St. Paul Baptist Church, in addition to presenting its famed Echoes of Eden Choir, contributed $25.

Other $25 contributors are: Rev. E. A. Anderson for McCoy Memorial Baptist Church; Rev. Clayton D. Russell, for the People's Independent Church of Christ, and the Rev. M. Frederick Mitchell for Cosmopolitan Christian Church. Will Rogers Jr. made a pledge of $100.

The funds remaining with the local branch will be used for local work, and to sponsor the annual membership drive which opens here September 7.

Police Brutally Assault Negro Without Provocation

One of the most harrowing stories of unprovoked police brutality that has occured within recent months was related late last week by Quincy Lee Ross of 1529 Aruba Courts in San Pedro, to his attorney, Curtis C. Taylor. Ross claims that on July 5, last, while he was driving down Sixth Street in San Pedro, he saw his cousin whom he had not seen in a long time, sitting in a parked car by the curb, the driver was then being issued a ticket by an officer of the San Pedro Motorcycle detail.

He parked his car and went over to the side where his cousin was sitting and began to talk to

Mother of Rochester Dies Following Lingering Illness

Final rites will be recited over the remains of Mrs. Ella Mae Anderson, 66, mother of the famed stage, screen and radio comedian, Eddie Anderson, beloved as the gravel voiced character Rochester of the Jack Benny radio cast. The deceased, although a pioneer Californian, was a native of Topeka, Kas.

Mrs. Anderson died early Sunday morning at the home of a friend, Mrs. Sally Adams, 1307 East 107th street, where she was being nursed back to health, that failed. She had been a long sufferer of recurring paralytic strokes covering a period of more than four years. During that period, she had suffered and survived four strokes.

Her comedian son, Rochester, was fulfilling a New York personal appearance engagement

IPP Meets in Philadelphia Friday; Platform Main Issue; Delegates From All U. S. and Islands Attend

Thousands of eager members of the new Independent Progressive Party are looking forward to their founding convention to be held in Philadelphia, beginning Friday, July 23. They will come from every part of the U. S. and dependencies and will meeet in the ver ysame convention hall which housed the two conventions of the two old parties—the Republican and the Democratic.

But there will be confidence and enthusiasm, and a frank, free, honest appraisal of events shown in this cnovention. Nothing like the pulling of cords in smoke-filled rooms that one heard about in the other two conventions.

The New Party Platform to be adopted at the convention will be the chief topic of discussion. The civil liberties of all American citizens, exactly what sort of preamble should there be to express in a few words the sum and substance of the faith of the New Party, a suggested investigation of the Firestone Rubber Co.'s activities in Liberia, the Virgin Islands, and scores of other subjects must be mauled over.

For this New Party is determined to take the platforms of the other two parties, tear them apart plank by plank, and then erect a platform of its own, to be viewed by all the voters in the United tSates, as one that rises high above anything the Democrats or the Republicans were able to build.

The nomination of the candidates for president and vice president will be a mere formality. The IPP, embodying the hopes of all the common people of the land, has already decided upon the people's candidates—Henry A. Wallace for president; Glen Taylor for vice president.

The California delegation will

Gallegos Freed of Frame-up

After two days of deliberating, a jury in Judge William R. Judge McKay immediately released the defendant.

Gallegos was arrested on April

Columnist's Sister Killed In Strange Auto Accident

N. P. B.) Death, clothed in mystery struck down during the early hours of last Friday, popular and attractive 32-year-old Mrs. Myrtle Washington of 2900 So. Raymond Avenue, Mrs. Washington, the sister of Lillian Cumber, former news magazine editor and columnist, was killed when the automobile in which she was riding struck a pole near the intersection of West Adams Boulevard and Carmona Drive.

Cleatus Lovings, bartender of 179 East Vernon Ave., South Pasadena, driver of the car, suffered a possible fractured skull, a broken nose and addilice investigating the accident, report the crash occurred about 3:55 a.m. Mrs. Washington was rushed to General Hospital where she succumbed upon arrival.

Circumstances leading up to the fatal crash, appear to have traffic investigation officers baffled. There are no actual witnesses to the crash. The automobile, being driven in a westerly direction on Adams Boulevard, apparently made a quick swerve towards the east curb and bowled over a telephone light pole and a smaller light pole.

The car struck the pole approximately 16 feet from the corner. No reason was seen for that type of turn. Police believe the driver of the car to have been drinking. Mrs. Washington, estranged from her husband, Kerry Washington, was reportedly found in a pregnant condition when she arrived at the hospital.

Several months ago, the deceased woman had separated from her husband and was reported contemplating a divorce. The husband on several occasions had sought a reconciliation

Clerk Serves Assessor For Over 38 Years

County Assessor John R. Quinn appreciates the loyalty and service of the employees who work under his direction. Tuesday, as a mark of appreciation by both Assessor Quinn and Los Angeles County, an informal ceremony at which buttons signifying 25, 20, and ten years of service were awarded, were held in the Assessor's office.

During the ceremony, it was discovered that the oldest employee of the office from the point of service is Mrs. Clara B. Stovall of 1264 North Commonwealth Avenue. Mrs. Stovall has been employed in the Assessor's office as a clerk since June 1910. Assessor Quinn was so pleased with the record made by Mrs. Stovall, he had his secretary call the California EAGLE office so we could tell the community about this record of continuous service and devotion to duty. We're happy to do so.

Angry Husband Beats Rival Attempts Arson

Police are searching for Carroll Brown, 31 of 2019½ West Temple Street to question him about the attempt to make a pyre out of his father-in-law's home at 417 N. Mountainview Avenue last week. The father-in-law, Deputy Sheriff L. J. Avery probably saved his own, and the lives of ten other persons when he s d a garden hose early last Thursday morning and extinguished two home-made gasoline bombs that were sizzling toward an explosion on a slow fuse.

Brown, who has successfully eluded police for a week, is

U. S. Consul Slurs Jews And Negroes

NEW YORK—Secretary of State George C. Marshall has received a letter from the NAACP demanding a prompt and thorough investigation of charges made against U. S. Consul John Bernard Faust of Beirut, Lebanon, in the July 14 edition of the New York Post.

Faust, according to the report carried in the POST, stated, "There is no law about the nigger in the South, and here there are no laws against killing Jews."

The NAACP letter pointed out that Mr. Faust should be dismissed from the Consular Service if the report is found to be true.

Justice For Salcido Protest Demands Grand Jury Action

Justice for Salcido was the theme of the mass protest meeting held at Embassy Auditorium last Monday night at the call of the Civil Rights Congress of Los Angeles. A list of community leaders representing a cross-section of all categroies of the Los Angeles population, including such representatives as Sidney Moore, Guy Endore, Leo Gallagher, Phillip Connelly, Frank Lopez, Alva Bessy and Dan Marshall called for the removal of Patrolman William Keyes from the police force of Los Angeles, and at the conclusion of the meeting, the audience unanimously adopted a resolution read by Rudy Salcido, brother o fthe slain youth, calling for an end to the growing violation of the rights of minorities, and for a grand Jury investigation of the Keyes case in all its ramifications.

Highlight of the meeting was the stirring address made by Connelly, Secretary of the L. A. CIO Council. He charged that there is a current drive on by vested interests to scare the people of Los Angeles into submission. He called the action of Judge MacDonald, "a brazen acquittal," and he called upon the Grand Jury and the Police Commissioner to act. "Mayor Bowron," Connelly said, "has sunk to depths far beyond the pale if he stands by and permits Keys to return to duty."

Tribute was paid to the courage of Judge Stanley Moffat in issuing the complaint against Keyes despite the volumes of red-baiting to which he was subjected, and the unprecendented censoring attempted by members of the City Council.

Guillermo Gallegos, complaining witness against Keyes, re-

NATIONAL CO-CHAIRMAN of the Women for Wallace, Charlotta A. Bass, hurried from her office Monday afternoon and left on the Scout for Philadelphia to be on hand as one of the officials of the founding convention of the new party which opens at Convention Hall Friday. Mrs. Bass will share the guest of honor position at a reception to be tendered for her, Mrs. Wallace, wife of the new party's presidential candidate, and other prominent women at the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel Friday. Tonight (Thursday) Mrs. Bass will speak over the NBC network between four and six. Shown with Mrs. Bass (right) is Phyllis Scott, California EAGLE feature writer and Mrs. Bass' secretary, who is accompanying her to the convention.

Iowa Attorney Keynoter At New Party Convention

Charles P. Howard of Des Moines, Iowa, Negro attorney, newspaper publisher and prominent Iowan Republican leader for the past 25 years, will be proposed as the keynote speaker at the New Party Convention which meets in Philadelphia July 23-25.

C. B. Baldwin, campaign manager of the National Wallace for President Committee, made the announcement this week. He said Howard would be proposed by the convention arrangements committee headed by Josiah Gitt, publisher of the York, Pa., Gazette and Daily.

Howard was a Republican until he resigned from his Republican county central committee early this year to support Wallace. He was an alternate delegate to the Republican national convention in 1932 and was three times chairman o fthe Negro division of the Republican party in Iowa.

Howard, 53, is a graduate of Drake University, where he was a four-letter athlete, and was a first lieutenant in World War I, serving overseas with the 366th infantry. He has been practicing law in Des Moines since 1920 and publishes two weekly papers.

He is a member of the American Legion, Elks and the Shriners, and is a former president of the Des Moines chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. He is a trustee of the Des Moines African - Methodist Episcopal Church.

He is married and has three sons, all veterans of World War II.

Atty. Henderson Frees Man at County Farm

OAKLAND — Atty. John C. Henderson recently released a prisoner who had been sentenced to six months on the county farm on charges to which he had innocently pleaded "guilty" without knowing what those charges actually were.

The person in question was R. D. Coleman, 1125 16th st., Oakland. Coleman had had an argument with a man named "Percy," on June 26, and later that day was arrested and booked at the City Police station on the felony charge of "illegal possession of firearms."

Coached by some of the jail stooges, Coleman pleaded "guilty" and was sentenced to six months on the county farm. Mrs. Coleman, however, called up Atty. Henderson, told him the story, who immediately set into motion legal proceedings to have Mr. Coleman released on a writ. And today R. D. Coleman is free.

Amigos de Wallace Committee Denounces Keyes Case Decision

(Following is the statement of the Amigos de Wallace committee denouncing Judge MacDonald's decision in the Keyes case.)

Judge C. C. MacDonald's dismissal of William Keyes' case is an insult to the entire Mexican-American people.

Dismissal of the Keyes case on a purely technical point denies facts established by the coroner's jury and thus a brazen miscarriage of justice.

At the coroner's jury, Keyes established that he fired the shots that killed Augustin Salcido at point blank range. This is not hearsay evidence.

The Mexican-American people of Los Angeles cannot admit equal justice before the law when in one case an agent of the police has a killing whitewashed, while a witness to the incident is hounded by the police and then held for trial twice on what we consider trumped-up charges.

On his record of repeated shootings and hounding of our people, we insist on the dismissal of Officer Keyes from the Los Angeles Police Department.

Amigos De Wallace further insists that the circumstances of the Keyes and Guillermo Gallegos cases require a thorough Grand Jury investigation of these cases and Police Department practices in Los Angeles.

Slow Down Brother! Live And Let Live!

SACRAMENTO — "Speed is a killer, slow down and live longer," was the advice today from the Highway Patro' to every motorist in California. "Drivers should realize that speed is a contributing factor in two out of every five fatal traffic accidents and that 1400 persons were victims of accidents involving excessive speed in 1947 alone."

Non-Jews Give Bulk of Blood For Palestine

A marked rise in blood contributions for the sick and wounded of Israel has been noted since resumption of fighting in Palestine two weeks ago, it was announced this week by Samuel B. Franklin, donors' recruiting co-chairman at "Blood for Israel" headquarters, 604 So. Normandie Avenue.

Pointing out that approximately thirty per cent of the donors are non-Jewish, Franklin paid tribute to the humanitarian and democratic instincts which have prompted these voluntary blood contributions.

"The messages which the donors send with their blood are eloquent testimony to the wonderful spirit which brings these fine and generous people to our blood station," he said.

Among the messages listed were:

"A little Irish blood to help your fight for freedom."

"Just because we're all human beings."

"Glad of the opportunity to help Israel bring democracy to Palestine."

The "Blood for Israel" station, which is endorsed by the Los Angeles Jewish Community Council, is open every day, except Saturday, from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Donors may either call DUnkirk 8-3461 for an appointment or come in without previous arrangements as a full staff of doctors and registered nurses are in attendance at all times.

Bet You Knew This A Long Time Ago!

Property tax levies in Los Angeles county for the year which ended June 30, 1948, were at their all-time high of $219,645,809, compared with the $134,481,031 levied for the year ending June 30, 1942, California Taxpayers' association reported today. Data include levies for the county, cities, schools, and special districts.

U.S. Intervention in Greece Protested by Picket Line

A special appeal to the Negro people and trade unionists to participate in the picket line that will be thrown around the Federal Building this Saturday at noon was made by Warren MacDonald, temporary chairman of the American Council for a Democratic Greece.

The Council is mobilizing the picket line to protest American intervention in Greece. Calling for the fullest possible attendance at the stroke of twelve this Saturday, MacDonald said: "In Greece, we have the living example of what big business in the United States would like to do to the American people. The legitimate Greek unions have been outlawed, and the death penalty has been imposed on strikers. All organizations of the people have been outlawed. Over 1500 Greek patriots have been executed, and over 50,000 have been imprisoned or exiled to barren islands.

"The American government endorses these actions by its financial and military support to the fascist Greek government, and American military and economic advisers in Greece assist in suppressing the resistance of the Greek workers. After one year of the Marshall Plan, whose avowed purpose is to feed the hungry, food prices in Greece have gone up over 400 per cent, and thousands are dead or dying of starvation.

"Henry Wallace has denounced American intervention in Greece as paving the way to a third world war. Participation in this demonstration is not only an expression of our sympathy with the Greek people, but also part of our own fight for democracy at home and for world peace."

Congressman On Boys' Home Anniversary

(N.P.B.) Congressman Adam Clayton Powell will be the principal speaker at the 9th anniversary of the founding of the Boys' Home, operated under the auspices of the Peoples Independent Church of Christ here. The announcement was made coincident with the report released that Representative Powell will arrive in Los Angeles on July 25 to be the principal speaker at the $10 per plate dinner to be given at the Ambassador Hotel for the benefit of the building fund of the new inter-racial Hospital—Westview.

Congressman Powell is pastor of the Abbysinian Baptist Church in Harlem, reputedly the largest protestant congregation in the world. The Rev. Clayton Russell, pastor of the Peoples Independent Church will preside at the program for the boys' Home, and he will present many of the communities business and civic leaders who will share the program with Congressman Powell.

400 Miles Of Highway For Those New Cars

Some 400 miles of divided highway modernization and planning is now under way in Southern California.

An estimated $28,000,000 was spent in this area during the past fiscal year (July 1, 1947 to June 30, 1948) for construction and rights-of-way developments.

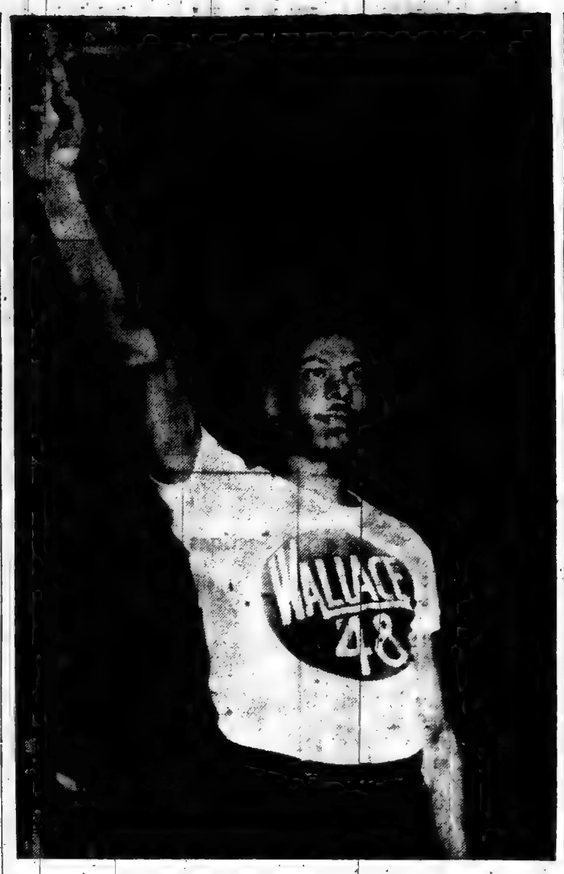
Most Southland freeway projects are progressing ahead of schedule despite unexpected obstacles.

River Water Use Poses Problem

The number of people living in Southern California cities that now use Colorado River water has increased by more than one million since 1941, when the Colorado River aqueduct began making water deliveries here.

Julian Hinds, general manager and chief engineer of the Metropolitan Water District, so informed the Colorado River Association yesterday in emphasizing the rapidly growing water needs of the area.

"In the fact of such rapidly expanding needs, settlement of Colorado River water rights is Southern California's most basic problem," Hinds warned. "There is no othersourcefr om which we can get the water we need for new homes, new industries and new population."



Free Movies Friday In Exposition Park

Six interesting motion pictures dealing with the life, activities and music of Poland will be the next presentation in the summer series of documentary film programs at the Los Angeles County Museum in Exposition Park.

According to an announcement by James H. Breasted Jr., Director of the Museum, the pictures will be shown at 8 p. m. Friday, July 23.

The titles of the pictures are "Poland," "Minuet in G," "Mary Visits Poland," "Moonlight Sonata," "Poland Forever," and "Pollannaise."

The series is being presented by the Education Division of the Museum in collaboration with the County Board of Supervisors. No admission is charged.

The Amazing Boxing Prowess Of Hard-Hitting Norvell Lee

WASHINGTON, D.C.—A Howard University Freshman student, who never participated in official boxing matches before matriculating at the university last year, has battled his way to a berth on the U.S. Olympic Boxing Team to represent the United States at the Olympic Games in England this summer.

The hard-hitting collegiate pugilist who has been blazing a magnificent trail across the boxing horizon during the past year, is 23-year-old Norvell Lee, army veteran and a native of Covington, Virginia.

Lee, who is majoring in electrical engineering at Howard, began his boxing career in CIAA circles last year, and won each of his fights, except the CIAA Championship, which he lost to Louis "Bruiser" Duncan, of Union University, on a split decision.

When asked why he decided to try out for the Olympic team, Lee replied, "I saw where some fellows were trying out for the Olympic team, so I just decided I would like to try out for same, and did so."

Nurse Trainees Urged to Study At Meharry

NASHVILLE, Tennessee—Nursing opportunities with the chance to practice at famed Hubbard hospital here are being offered to trainees from all parts of the United States. Emphasizing the need for graduate nurses, and pointing out the opportunities for the choice of type of work available in the profession, Alma E. Gault, R.N., director of nursing education at Meharry Medical College School of Nursing, invites high school graduates, college graduates and students to enroll for the term which begins on September 20.

High school graduates are eligible for the diploma program, and trainees with two or more years of college work are eligible for the degree program. Trainees in the degree program can qualify for government and military service, public health and institutional service. Further information can be obtained by writing Miss Gault at Meharry Medical College School of Nursing, Nashville 8, Tennessee.

New Rating for Local Teachers

A new "rating-in" rule has just been approved by the Los Angeles City Board of Education. In explaining the new rule, Mr. William B. Brown, acting director of the Personnel Division of the Los Angeles Schools, said: "Whereas a beginning teacher with no previous teaching experience, and possessing only a degree, plus a regular, valid, California teaching credential, may be employed at a salary starting at $2830 a year, teachers who have had three or more years of approved teaching experience may start at a substantially higher salary."

Further information concerning salaries, or the "rating-in" policy, may be obtained from Mr. J. R. Hatfield, supervisor of Certificated Recruitment, L. A. City School District, Room 150, 451 No. Hill St., Los Angeles 12, or by calling Madison 8911, Station 496.

STEEL, STONE and...

A life insurance company, like a building, is as strong as the materials used to erect it. To be a lasting monument to the progress of a people it must serve the needs of the communities in which it operates.

Golden State Mutual Life Insurance Company is solidly built. Like its new Home Office, its structure is the result of the finest business planning. In its 23 years of operation it has withstood every financial test, including depression and global war.

Today, Golden State Mutual's strength is recognized wherever insurance is discussed. Golden State Mutual is a giant in its field.

Yet, it takes more than stone and steel to make a building. It takes more than people and office machinery to make a business. Behind them both there must be a plan.

Golden State Mutual's plan, conceived by its founders 23 years ago, has been to bring its policyholders the most modern insurance service money can buy. It is built on the solid foundation of policyholder confidence.

It is geared to meet any changes necessary in planning family security in a modern-day world.

Its greatest service is to meet the individual insurance needs of those whom it is privileged to serve

Golden State Mutual Life Is A Forward-Looking Business Which Recognizes Its Obligation To Keep In Step With Progress.

Illustrating the growth and progress of Golden State Mutual Life on the eve of its 23rd anniversary is the current construction of its new three-quarter million dollar home office building in Los Angeles (pictured above), a monument to the loyalty and cooperation of the many communities in which the company operates.

Mystery Shots Fired At Night

University division police early Sunday morning sought the identity of the would-be assailant of William (Bill) Blye, occupant of an apartment at 4034½ Adair street.

Blye reported to police he narrowly escaped death in the early hours of the morning when an unknown gunman fired two shots through a bedroom window as he prepared for bed.

After retiring, Blye said he found two additional bullet holes in his room upon awakening. Police found one of the steel jacketed pellets evidently from a small callibre gun of foreign make.

Blye, it was reported, failed to reveal to police any known enemies who would seek his life. Police, however, are seeking the identity of persons owning a weapon which would fire such a bullet as was found at the scene.

Commissioners Refus To Try 2nd Officer In Mosley Slaying

DETROIT—It appears that the Detroit branch of the NAACP, the Michigan Civil Rights Committee, religious and civic organizations throughout the city have fought a losing battle in their efforts to have Patrolman John Boland taking before the trial board for his part in the fatal shooting and alleged beating of 15-year-old Leon Mosley, former Miller High School student last June 4.

Boland who was in the scout car with ex-officer Louis Malasie, and chased the youth in the stolen automobile which lead to his slaying was restored to the police department after a recent coroner's inquest, which found Malasie guilty of shooting the youth. He was suspended from the department. Later a manslaughter warrent was issued for the officer and he was released on $2,000,000 bond and is to have a court trial.

Police Commissioner Harry S. Toy refused Tuesday to take Boland before the police trial board on the grounds that he has been exonerated by the prosecutor's office.

The Commissioner said he would have officer Boland examined by the police medical board to determine if he is emotionally unstable.

Officer Boland testified at the inquest that he did not strike Mosley, but many of the witnesses declared that he did hit the youth before he was shot fatally by his partner.

CARE Extended To Japanese

At the request of General of the Army Douglas MacArthur, Supreme Commander of Allied Forces in the Pacific, CARE announces the extension of its nonprofit gift parcel service to Japan. Negotiations are under way for a further extension to serve the Philippines, Korea, and Okinawa. The announcement was made simultaneously from Tokyo by Brigadier General Crawford F. Sams, Chief of SCAPS, Public Health and Welfare Section, and by Edward J. Flynn, Director of the Los Angeles Center for CARE.

ATTORNEY CURTIS TAYLOR is shown congratulating his client Mrs. Doyle Forrest, following the dismissal of the murder charge lodged against her as the result of the fatal shooting of her husband, Attorney Taylor has successfully defended his clients in many recent homicide cases and his success is attributed to the painstaking care he exercises in preparing his cases.

Chavez Demands Investigation And Action in Keyes Acquital

(Following is the statement issued by the Chavez for assembly committee regarding the acquittal of Policeman Keyes last week.)

Monday, July 12, 1948, will be remembered by the people of Los Angeles as a day which established immunity from punishment for Police Officers who are guilty of shooting and killing, without cause, Mexican-American citizens.

"Superior Judge C. C. McDonald dismissed the case against Policeman William Keyes, charged with manslaughter, in the killing of 17-year-old Augustine Salcido, youth.

"The dismissal by Judge McDonald was based on technicalities which he claims as 'hear-say evidence' regarding the actual shooting and whether bullets from Keyes' gun were the ones that killed Salcido. It seems peculiar that an admission before a coroner's jury, by Officer Keyes, that he fired five bullets into Salcido, could, by any stretch of the imagination, be construed by even the average person as 'hear-say.'

"The decision handed down in the Keyes' case by Judge McDonald, leaves the atmosphere in the 'Hall of Justice' with a foul odor. This should be immediately cleansed by a Grand Jury investigation of the murder of Augustine Salcido and its subsequent events including the decision of Judge McDonald.

"In the meantime, Officer Keyes should be removed from the Police force so that he will have no further opportunity of shooting youths for no apparent reason, under the guise of carrying out the law."

Seems Like They're All In Japan Now

Private James H. Joyner, son of Mrs. Beatrice Williams of 1357 E. 18th St., Los Angeles, California, has recently been assigned to Company M, 24th Infantry, at Camp Gifu, Japan, a part of the 25th Infantry (Tropic Lightning) Division, commanded by Brigadier General Everett E. Brown.

Pvt. Joyner entered the Army in December 1947, received his basic training at Fort Knox, Ky., and departed for overseas duty in May 1948.

Before entering the service Pvt. Joyner attended Moore High School.

Hollywood Bowl Symphony Has Varied Programs

Second week of Symphonies under the Stars in Hollywood Bowl's 27th season brought a wide variety of musical fare with Mischa Elman, renowned violinist, as soloist July 20, Eugene Ormandy conducting.

The week's selections include Markova and Dolin in "great moments from ballet," Thursday night, July 22 with Robert Zeller conducting; Ormandy conducting a symphony program Friday, July 23 featuring the fifth (New World) symphony, "Daphnis and Chloe," second suite of Maurice Ravel and Dance of the Seven Veils from Richard Strauss' opera "Salome."

Saturday night, July 24, will be MGM night with notables from the studio on hand to offer their artistic gifts. Mario Lanza, young tenor who made a brilliant Hollywood Bowl debut last summer, will share soloist honors with lovely Kathryn Grayson, screen luminary and coloratura soprano.

Lionel Barrymore, veteran of stage and screen, shows his versatility by appearing as narrator for his own composition "Hallowe'en" suite which calls for three vocal soloists, and a chorus. Roger Wagner will conduct the chorus.

Miklos Rozsa, composer, winner of Oscars for superior screen scores, will conduct the program which also has as a featured artist Andre Previn, gifted young pianist who will play Rachmaninov's Rhapsody, variations on a theme by Paganini.

In the 8-week season which opened July 13, one of the important highlights of the first western performance of Gustave Mahler's 8th, the Symphony of the Thousand, July 29. It calls for seven soloists, two large choruses, boys choir, brass choir, organ, bells and enlarged orchestra. Ormandy will conduct.

CARE Packages Being Flown Into Berlin

Edward J. Flynn, Director of the Los Angeles Center for CARE, 217 West 9th Street, announces that CARE food packages are being flown into blockaded Berlin.

The first load of 500 parcels, containing 11,000 pounds of food for residents of the German capital, left Frankfort this morning, he said. Forty flights per month, each carrying 500 CARE parcels, will make it possible to keep CARE's three Berlin warehouses stocked normally so that deliveries can proceed without interruption to residents of Berlin whose friends and relatives here order CARE packages for them.

'Tis said a beautiful dimple may be acquired by sleeping on a collar button. What price beauty!

Polio Increase Shows Already

During the first 12 days of July, 1948, a total of 112 cases of poliomyelitis was reported from Los Angeles City and County as compared with 97 cases the preceding month. This is above the expected seasonal rise and it is evident that the trend is still upward.

To meet the problem of increased incidence which has produced an emergency situation at the Los Angeles County General Hospital, the Poliomyelitis Coordinating Council which has been organized for the past two years, has been reactivated with representation from the State Department of Public Health, Los Angeles City Health Department, Los Angeles County Health Department, Long Beach City Health Department, Pasadena City Health Department, Los Angeles County Hospital, Los Angeles private hospitals, National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, American Red Cross, and the Los Angeles County Medical Society. The purpose of the council is to coordinate the efforts of the various agencies and to keep the public properly informed.

OMAHA—World consumption of meat amounts to about 48 billion pounds each year. One-third of this supply is slaughtered and packed in United States establishments.

Art Exhibitions At L. A. County Museum

Midsummer will not be an inactive period this year in the art department of the Los Angeles County Museum in Exposition Park for three interesting and outstanding exhibitions, filling seven galleries, will be presented simultaneously for the enjoyment of the public, according to an announcement by James H. Breasted Jr., Museum Director.

The exhibitions, opening with a public preview Friday, August 6 at 8 p. m. and continuing through September 7, will present the works of Max Beckmann, famous German "expressionist" artist; Morris Graves, outstanding contemporary Pacific Northwest painter, and the well-known collection of the Miller Company of Meriden, Conn., which depicts a new and closer relationship between modern art and architecture.

There will be 237 works in all presented, 127 in the Beckmann show, 63 paintings by Graves and 47 in the Miller collection.

Woman Freed of Murder Following Attorney's Plea

Mrs. Doyle Forrest, 12018 Parmalee Avenue, who has been held in the County Jail since June 16 on a charge of murder, walked out of the Courtroom last Thursday afternoon a free woman. The charge of murder against her was dismissed by Superior Judge Thomas L. Ambrose after a motion had been argued for her freedom by her Attorney Curtis C. Taylor.

The murder charge grew out of an altercation with her deceased husband, Stanley Forrest, on the night of June 16th at which time Mrs. Forrest claims that when she entered the home and found him in a drunken stupor with a lighted cigar in his hand, she awakened him and he arose threatening her life.

She grabbed a gun which he was attempting to get his hands on and in the ensuing struggle she fired the gun which took her husband's life. At the preliminary hearing the testimony of the officers of the Sheriff's Detail and other witnesses who were called to the stand tended to show a case of self-defense, but when Lucious Sheppard, a fellow employee of the deceased man, took the stand and swore that he had seen Mrs. Forrest with a shot gun and she swore that she would kill her husband if it was the last thing she ev did.

Attorney Taylor's motion f her dismissal was denied Judge Albee of the Compton Ju tice's Court where the prelim nary hearing was held. She w then remanded to the County Ja to await her plea on the murd charge.

At the time of the plea la Thursday, Attorney Taylor aske the Court for permission to argu the case under Section 995 of th Penal Code which provides tha the Superior Court may order th release of a defendant where suc defendant has been committe without sufficient cause.

After listening to a resume the evidence introduced at th preliminary hearing which wa read from the transcript Attorney Taylor argued to the Judg that the transcript was devoid probable cause as shown by th law. Deputy District Attorne Kenneth Thomas conceded th soundness of the argumen whereupon Judge Ambrose the dismissed the murder charge and Mrs. Forrest was freed an returned to her home.

Byrnes Sex Outrages Recalled

By JT Gipson

Frederick J. Byrnes, 38, was found not guilty last week at his retrial on a sex charge for which he served 16 years in San Quentin following his conviction at the original trial in 1932.

The verdict was returned after 48 hours of deliberation, and the case was heard in Superior Judge Charles W. Fricke's court.

Byrnes, who still has 2½ years in prison to serve for his conviction on an assault charge in connection with the 1932 case, was accused of attacking and immorally abusing pretty Patricia Park, 23, pianist, at his first trial. Byrnes was convicted and sentenced to a 19 to 20-year term.

After serving 16 years of the term at San Quentin, he was granted a new trial by the State Supreme Court on his plea that the original trial was not a public trial because the courtroom was barred to spectators.

According to testimony given by Jack Clay, popular Central avenue figure, who also figured in the case, though under somewhat different circumstances, Byrnes visited the club Alabam one evening back in 1932 wearing an Army Officer's uniform. He introduced himself to the strikingly beautiful blonde girl, who had been a frequent visitor to the club where she often spent several evenings a week, according to Clay.

The "soldier," who was later arrested for impersonating an Officer of the United States Army, asked the beautiful blonde woman if he could escort her home. She remarked that she already had an escort, but when the young pianist inquired as to her escort's whereabouts it was discovered he had been given the "heave-ho" by the club bouncers and was "nowhere around."

There are some who believe Byrnes' action was premeditated, in that he had noticed the young white woman dancing with Negroes a few times during the evening, and that he decided if she wanted Negroes he would see that she got her fill of them.

When Miss Parks, according to Clay's story which was told exclusively to an EAGLE reporter, noticed her escort's disappearance she accepted Byrnes' invitation to drive her home. The two left the club Alabam, now known as the club Congo, and went out into the streets, where they met Clay, who was unknown to either of them.

"Hey, fellow," Clay reported Byrnes as saying to him, "You wanna og with me?" He replied in the negative and started to walk away. Byrnes then called three other fellows and put the same question to them. "Where are we going?" one of the fellows asked. "Oh," replied Byrnes, "just out and have some fun." The three fellows accepted the invitation, and got into the car with Byrnes and the girl and drove off. Byrnes drove to a secluded spot and is alleged to have stated "So you like n--r's? Well, you're going to get your fill of them tonight!" He then, according to Clay's story, forced the young white girl to submit to sordid and immoral acts with each of the fellows after which he drove back to Central avenue with Miss Parks lying down on the floor in the front seat of the car.

Driving around Central avenue, he again met Clay and asked if he knew where he (Byrnes) could get some whiskey. Clay knew, and ot in the gabck seat (as directed by Byrnes) and they drove off. Byrnes proceeded to drive out towards the airport where he stopped the car and at pistol point forced Miss Parks to have improper relations with Clay. This was, according to Clay, about three o'clock in the morning. The trio stayed at the secluded spot near the airport until nearly seven a.m.

Byrnes then took the girl home at 117 N. Bimini and shoved her in the door naked; her mother intervened and Byrnes struck her mother, breaking some of her ribs and knocked her younger sister down. He was later held under $25,000 bail and indicted by the Grand Jury. Clay was kept in jail 90 days. The jury found him not guilty on July 26, 1932, in Judge Thomas B. White's court.

Death Disrobes Man Passing As Woman

By ISAAC JONES

DETROIT — The strange love affair between two men whom police said have been living together as husband and wife, since last February, came to light last Sunday night after one member of the couple died from gunshot wounds inflicted during a row between the two lovers.

The dead man and alleged wife, is Jessie Newbins, 59, 623 Gratiot avenue. Held by police for investigation of murder is Joe Robinson, 25, of the same address.

Police said the two men became involved in an argument which lead to a fight. Newbins struck Robinson with his revolver and tried to give the gun to Amanda Brooks, of the same address, who told the deceased to drop the gun on the floor. Newbins obeyed her orders and when his gun hit the floor it discharged and he suffered gunshot wounds of cheek.

Police said Newbins who was better known as "Queenie," had posed as a woman for years, and did such a good job until no one would suspect otherwise.

From indications, police said it appears that Newbins was killed by his own gun as Robinson had said, but he would be held until they had completed their investigation of the case.

Joe Louis' Brother Issued Warrant for Non-Support

DETROIT — While Joe Louis, heavyweight champion of the world has retired from the ring, it appears that his brother, Lonnie Barrow, 37, is doing his fighting in the "domestic-ring."

Judge Christopher E. Stein, of the Recorder's Court signed a warrent Monday charging Barrow with nonsupport.

The complaint was signed by Mrs. Jean Barrow, 1433 Leland street.

The Barrows have two children, five and seven years of age.

Mrs. Catherine Rutledge, of the Probation Department disclosed that Mrs. Barrow has received approximately $100 a month in County welfare funds.

A normal human body requires about 3,000 calories of food values each day.

HAWTHORNE, California — Northrop Aircraft, Inc., awarded pay increases to all hourly paid and salaried employes last week. Approximately 5200 employees are affected.

Wages of all hourly-paid employes were increased 10 cents an hour, while salaried employes were granted a blanket $20 a month raise, General Manager C. N. Monson announced. Raises for hourly-paid employes are effective July 19, while salaried personnel pay hikes begin tomorrow.

AVC Barn Dance Saturday Night

The Wilshire and Santa Monica Chapters of the American Veterans Committee will hold their second Annual Barn Dance this Saturday, July 24, at Sunset Ranch Stables, 6033 W. Slauson Avenue.

The fun starts at 8:30 p.m. and includes hayrides, square dancing, community singing, games, a wienie roast and refreshments.

Part of the proceeds will go to maintain the AVC Veterans' Service Office at Sawtelle which aids veterans in their medical, financial, educational and general rehabilitation programs.

The public, and especially veterans, are cordially invited. For further information call BR. 04635 or RE. 11846.

Pauli Murray Opens Office in N.Y.

Miss Pauli Murray, counselor at law, announces the opening of her offices for general practice of law at 225 Broadway, New York City.

Miss Murray will be remembered as a former Los Angeles newspaper woman. She was the first Negro woman to graduate from a California law school, and passed the California State Bar with one of the highest marks recorded. She was appointed assistant in the office of Attorney General Robert W. Kenny, and went to New York after resigning that position.

Our Car Burns More Gas Than Anybody's

SACRAMENTO, July 19 — William G. Bonelli, chairman of the State Board of Equalization, announces that net revenues of $10,042,217, after refunds for non-highway use, were realized from gasoline distributions made in May. This represents a gain of 56.9 percent over the net revenues of the corresponding month of 1947, Bonelli said, resulting from an increase in the taxable gallonage and the change in rate of tax from 3 to 4½ cents per gallon which became effective July 1, 1947.

Can't Get Avacadoes? Blame The Weather

Choicest summertime fruits and vegetables are late in reaching housewives' market baskets this season because June's cool weather retarded maturity of most crops, Chairman Roy M. Hagen of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce Agriculture Committee reported last week.

Sweet corn and cantaloupe moved in abundance from Southland farms last month, but grapes, avocadoes and tomatoes were relatively slow, Hagen said.

Carolina Democrats Ordered To Admit Negroes To Party

CHARLESTON, S.C.—In a voice that quavered with anger, liberal, anti-white primary Federal Judge J. Waties Waring ordered South Carolina Democrats (some of whom had to return early from the Democratic convention in order to appear in court) to admit Negro voters to the Democratic party last week.

Eighty-seven defendants were cited in the action, and over one fourth of them were in the tiny courtroom, packed with a preponderance of Negro spectators when Judge Waring said: "It is a shame and a disgrace for a case of this kind to come to court. We do not need a judge to tell us if we are Americans." The Judge spoke with clipped sternness when he said jail would await any party leader who defied the writ.

The epoch-making and far-reaching decision was handed down in a suit filed by David Brown on behalf of himself and other Negroes similarly situated. Brown set forth that the name of Negroes were removed from Democratic party lists after they registered in accordance with a recent U.S. Supreme Court decision that had given them equal rights in the Democratic party. The charges were based on a denial of the right to register, and the necessity to swear a qualifying oath which the complaint set forth was; "unreasonable . . . and had no bearing whatsoever on the qualifications of the elector." The oath was included in the qualifications by the Democratic convention, and it requires that potential voters, white or Negro must promise to subscribe to the Jim Crow laws.

Alan Johnstone, Bourbon white-supremist who is seeking election to the seat held by Senator Burnet Maybank, rose at the opening of the session and sought to make a speech.

"This is not a political rally," Judge Waring snapped angrily. When Johnstone tried again to speak, the judge said, "You are not going to be heard in this courtroom.

As matters stand now, the judge has issued a preliminary injunction against all Democratic leaders in South Carolina, and unless the party registration books are opened to Negroes, leaders responsible for non-compliance will be jailed.

IBM Operators Needed Badly

Local finance companies and automobile dealers are among the recent happy recipients of new tabulating equipment, but they're not happy over the fact that the demand for experienced key punch operators exceeds the current supply available at the California State Employment Service. Perhaps you can help solve the problem.

If you have had from six months to two years' experience on IBM or Remington-Rand machines (either alphabetical or numerical), contact the commercial office of the California State Employment Service. There may be an excellent key punch position open for you. The telephone number is MIchigan 8451.

Teletype Innovation Used Here

The first metropolitan department in the nation to be equipped with teletype equipped fire stations, the Los Angeles Fire Department announced this week that the newly installed system was placed in operation last Thursday.

Conceived and designed especially for local Fire Department use, the equipment is intended to serve two vital functions, according to John H. Alderson, Chief Engineer. Installed on circuits separate from existing telephone lines, teletype will serve as an additional means of communication in the event of a major disaster. Secondly, it will make possible the immediate notification to all fire fighting units of conditions affecting response to alarms or fire fighting procedures. Information regarding closed streets, parades, fumigations, house movings, etc., will be sent quickly and directly by fire dispatchers to affected fire companies.

Currently, only those fire stations in the metropolitan area will be teletype equipped. Because of great distances involved, outlying stations will be equipped with radio controlled teletype, another innovation developed by Fire Department technicians. Work on this phase of the program is progressing rapidly and it is anticipated that, barring unforeseen difficulties, every station in the city will be served by the end of the year.

Royalty To Share Helms Baked Bread With U. S. Athletes

Following is a copy of the letter sent to the King and Queen of England Monday to accompany the special loaf of bread sent:

Their Most Gracious Majesties
King George VI and Queen Elizabeth
Buckingham Palace
London, England

May it please your Majesties:

It has become the custom, since the revival of the modern Olympic Games, for the reigning head of the nation that is host for the Games to partake of the same bread that the contestants eat at the training table.

We have the honor to be the official bakers for the United States Olympic Team by appointment of the United States Olympic Committee. Each day we send by air, from our bakeries here in California, a fresh supply of bread to the United States team.

With this letter we are sending a loaf of Helms Olympic Bread for Your Majesties. This symbolic loaf of bread is sent to you as an invitation for you to observe the friendly tradition of breaking bread with the foremost athletes of our country.

We have the honor to remain Your Majesties' most obedient servtnt.

PAUL H. HELMS,
President, Helms Bakeries.

Reception Honors Prominent Couple

The beautiful home of Mrs. Marcia Bauman of Van Ness avenue, was the setting for one of the most elaborate affairs of the June season—the wedding reception of Mrs. Luvinia Nash and James Garland Freeze who were married May 7. The rooms were profused with large baskets and bouquets of the season's flowers which were carried out in the color scheme, pink and white.

In the receiving line were Mrs. Marcia Bauman, who was beautiful in an Artichoke green crepe gown; Connie Harper, cousin of Mrs. Nash Freeze, in conventional black; Mrs. Luvinia Freeze, charming in a cartreuse gown with gold trimmings; Mr. Garland Freeze, Jacqueline Freeze, daughter of the groom, attired in green net over taffeta trimmed in sequins. Miss Myrtle Hurst, an old friend of the bride of wichita, aKnsas, was gowned in tea rose crepe.

Members of the Nash Singers, all attended in beautiful afternoon gowns, served as hostesses and receptionists. Miss Hazel Henry was at the piano for afternoon. Solos were rendered throughout the afternoon by Mrs. Keele, Mrs. Anna Morrow, Jimmie Miller, and an impromptu piano number by the master entertainer, Waughn Flora, who also accompanied his mother in a little surprise song. The Nash Singers most effectively sang two surprise numbers for the couple, "O Promise Me" and one of Mrs. Freeze's favorite songs, "Dear Old Girl."

A grand array of gifts were placed in two rooms where the guests were shown by hostesses and then ushered to the punch bowls where cherry frappe, nuts, candies and cake were served. From four to seven p.m. the guests streamed in to wish a happy wedded life for Mr. and Mrs. Freeze.

Hooper Ave. PTA Installs Officers

The last meeting of the Hooper Avenue PTA was held during June in the school auditorium. This meeting was one of the most festive of the year. The officers of 1948-49 were installed and a life membership presented.

Mrs. Carrie Thompson, historian of Fremont Council for the past two years and second vice-president-elect, was the installing officer. As each officer was installed, they placed a small flag in a bouquet of flowers.

The officers in order of installation were: Mrs. Emmet C. Jones, president; Mrs. Clarence Andrews, first vice-president; Walter C. Daniels, second vice-president; Mrs. Ray Kirkland, secretary; Mrs. Grace Williams, financial secretary; Mrs. Alphonso Webb, treasurer; Mrs. Elwood Harris, historian; Mrs. Wilson Matlock, auditor; and Mrs. Carl B. Foreman, parliamentarian. Corsages of sweet peas made by Mrs. Foreman were give nto each of the officers.

Mrs. Virginia Kimbro, life membership chairman, presented Mrs. Carl B. Foreman, out-going president, a life membership and a past president pin. Mrs. Alyce Harris, secretary and clipping chairman, presented Mrs. Foreman with the publicity book which won the state seal.

Annual reports were given and a skit and dance by A-6 class presented. This was under the direction of Walter C. Daniels.

Mrs. Foreman thanked teachers and board members for their wonderful cooperation during the last two years and presented the gavel to Mrs. Jones. Clarence Axtell, principal, said a few words to the assembly and welcomed Mrs. Jones to school as new president. The meeting was adjourned for refreshments to meet again in September.

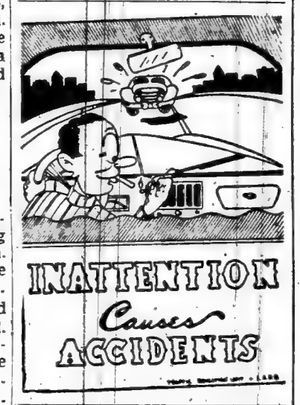
Dorie Miller Club Officers To Be Installed

The Dorie Miller Hero Club No. 1 met at the attractive home of Mrs. Gertrude Bryant in their annual election meeting with vice-president, Mrs. Pearl Lee, in the chair for the regular meeting, followed by the election presided over by M. P. Davis, president of the Alabama Club.



Officers for the next year to be installed at the club's annual tea and sixth anniversary celebration at the Sojourner Truth Home, 1119 E. Adams Blvd., August 8, are Mmes. Mary Lofton, president, Pearl Lee and Gertrude Bryant, 1st and 2nd vice-presidents respectively, Ella Goins, recording secretary, assisted by Billie Greenwood, Lillian Blanchett, corresponding, and Emma Sadler, financial secretaries, Nina Lott, treasurer and Chaplain Maude E. Thomas.

A program of talented artists will be presented at the installation celebration, which is open to the general public.

Handicaps Picnic At State Beach

Under the supervision of trained counsellors and lifeguards, twenty physically handicapped boys and girls, members of the Day Camp, sponsored by the Crippled Children's Society of Los Angeles County, picnicked at State Beach last Thursday.

The Day Camp is one of the many activities of the Crippled Children's Society of Los Angeles County, made possible by the annual sale of Easter Seals.

Plans 'Grading' Cafes Here To Protect Public's Health

Believing that all restaurants and cafes in Los Angeles should be inspected properly and have a certificate of a grade of cleanliness placed in a conspicuous place, Councilman Kenneth Hahn of the 8th District, who is also Chairman of the Public Health & Welfare Committee of the City Council, introduced a resolution in the City Council that every restaurant in this city should have certain grades, namely, A, B, C or F.

Councilman Hahn pointed out that this would be a great benefit to the public when they go into a restaurant, and that it will also be a motivating force for every restaurant owner to keep his place clean and in a healthful condition.

It was pointed out that many restaurants have a good appearance but their kitchens are not in a similar condition. The resolution stated that the Health Department would have the power to rate the restaurants in the manner of A, B, C or F, as follows:

"A" meaning the food, the kitchen and the personnel are in excellent condition, similar to one's home;

"B" meaning that perhaps one of the standards is not up to par with the others;

"C" meaning that the kitchen or some other part of the restaurant is not in excellent health condition and that a person would take a chance in eating there;

"F" meaning the restaurant failed to pass any type of inspection and the restaurant would be closed in a few days, thus warning the people they are taking their own risk in eating in that type of a restaurant.

This law would also apply to drive-ins, cocktail bars, all cafes, nightclubs or any other place where food and or beverages are dispensed or served.

Councilman Hahn pointed out that during his recent inspection of bars along Main Street many of the kitchens needed more inspection and better health standards.

Shriners Meet In St. Louis August 15-18

BUFFALO, N. Y.—The call to the annual convention of the Ancient Egyptian Arabic Order Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, the text of which was released here recently by Raymond E. Jackson, Imperial Potentate, declared that "Shriners today as never before, are called upon to render greater service to the peoples of the earth, due to the chaotic conditions extant all over the world."

Jackson, in making the call public, said, "no institution can claim for itself greatness that fails to understand the needs of the common people." He pointed out that members of his organization are bringing into proper focus an understanding of the needs in the fields of education, health, civil rights and economic security. Joseph L. Oliver of Los Angeles is Imperial Assistant Rabban of the Mystic Shrine.

The convention will be held in St. Louis, Mo., August 15 to 18.

Hamburger Can Be The Horse You Bet On, So Watch It!

Prospects for jumps in the price of meat foreshadowed new headaches for the city health department this week.

Dr. George M. Uhl, city health officer, said that price rises are generally accompanied by a "few shady operations," revolving principally around hamburger.

Within the last few weeks, the health department has found violations such as the addition of chemicals to hamburger to keep it looking fresh, and the selling of horsemeat disguised as beef hamburger, Dr. Uhl said.

"These practices enable disreputable operators, who are fortunately a small proportion of the industry, to save losses on normal hamburger spoilage or to keep profits up by selling cheap horse meat at better beef prices," he declared.

The health official served notice that his inspectors are on the lookout for such irregularities and that violators could expect fullest prosecution if laboratory tests show the "addition of foreign material to their meat."

Away From Farm

Far reaching in its implications for the homebuilding industry is the long-term trend of families away from rural areas into non-farm communities. In the last 60 years, the Housing and Home Finance Agency points out, the percentage of farm families has declined steadily from 38 percent to 17 percent and the trend is not believed to have run its course.

Pamona Fair Will Resume

POMONA — Farm machinery and farm implements will play an important part in the return of Los Angeles County Fair in Pomona this fall following its wartime lapse. Under the centennial theme, "100 Years of Progress" the displays will form a striking contrast to the simple and oft times crude devices of a century ago.

To accommodate the record number of entries expected a huge out-door pergola is being erected in the center of the exposition area where the entries can be shown and demonstrated to the best advantage. Other farm appliances and equipment will be shown in the big steel and concrete commercial building.

The fair will run 17 days, opening Sept. 17 and continuing through Oct. 3. The centennial theme will predominate throughout the 20 major divisions. It will be used in an elaborate decorative scheme over the 350-acre exposition park. A program of special events will be punctuated with reminders of Spanish-California days. Many organizations throughout the southland will participate.

Fewer Fatalities Mark New Record In Traffic Cases

During the first six months of 1948 there were 62 fewer persons killed in traffic accidents than during the corresponding period last year. This is a continuation of the downward trend which began in the latter half of 1946; a trend which produced a saving of 96 lives during the year 1947.

The trend was again emphasized during the month of June, 1948, when there were only 17 persons killed in traffic. Only two other months since June, 1946, have produced a lower total in fatalities.

This improvement in the traffic situation is a tribute to both citizens and law enforcement agencies, according to the traffic education unit of the Los Angeles police department. This record has been made in spite of a constantly increasing population, vehicle registration and greater gasoline consumption. It is more than a coincidence that the record month of June was preceded by a month which produced an all-time high for traffic enforcement directed at moving violations. This effort was characterized by a great increase in the number of arrests for drunk driving.

With the great increase in driving that can be anticipated in the summer months, continued enforcement efforts must be made to either maintain or improve our present record. The police department desires the continued cooperation of all citizens, in the never-ending effort that is required, to make Los Angeles the safest place in the world to drive . . . and to live.

Tax Coordination Proposal Made By State Board Exec.

Coordination of State and local sales taxes was recommended by Dixwell L. Pierce, Secretary of the California State Board of Equalization, in an address delivered at the 16th annual conference of the National Association of Tax Administrators, which was held recently in Toronto, Canada.

The California tax administrator discussed the advantages of a coordinated tax, after reviewing the rapid growth of locally imposed city sales taxes which vary in their provisions and overlap the State retail sales tax. Two proposals for coordination were considered by Pierce, that of a locally imposed and State-collected tax, and that of a combined tax in which the State would add to its own sales tax the equivalent of the prevailing city sales tax rate, allocating to local governments the proceeds of this addition.

Housing Shortage

World War II destroyed the equivalent of 20,000,000 to 30,000,000 dwellings. But this represents only about 15 to 20 percent of the total world housing shortage. From reports analyzed by the Housing and Home Finance Agency, it is estimated that in Europe and Africa, destruction of houses totaled about 13,000,000 dwelling units. In Asia the war damage accounted for a loss estimated all the way from 7,000,000 to 17,000,000 homes.

Photographers Holiday At Pamona Fair

Pictorial photography will occupy an important place in the fine arts division of the Los Angeles County Fair in Pomona, Sept. 17 through Oct. 3, and preparations are being made for one of the notable exhibits of the year on the west coast, according to President-Manager C. B. Afflerbaugh.

The fine arts division will be under the direction of Millard O. Sheets, the distinguished California artist. He will be assisted by Richard Petterson, who will be in direct charge of the photographic display. The exhibit is open to all advanced photographers. To maintain the high standard desired for the show, all entries are required to pass a jury of inspection before entering the actual competition. This jury is composed of Peter Stackpole, Harry H. Baskerville Jr., and Will Connell.

LA To Organize vs Military Segregation

The formation of an interim committee for the organization of a Los Angeles branch of the Leafue for Nonviolent Civil Disobedience Against Military Segregation was announced today by George M. Houser, national Executive Co-Secretary of the League.

The action was taken at a meeting held Monday night. Erna Harris, prominent Negro newspaper woman and social worker, was named chairman of the interim group.

At the request of A. Philip Randolph, national chairman of the League, Mr. Houser and Miss Harris are contacting civic and religious leaders in the community to enlist their support in the "Don't Join a Jim Crow Army" movement. A concentrated organizational campaign will culminate with a meeting scheduled for Monday, August 2nd.

The movement was started last March 30th when Randolph told the Senate Armed Services Committee that he would call upon youth, both Negro and white, to refuse cooperation with any jim crow conscription system.

The League is gathering support for this stand and giving legal advice to those who will refuse to register or who otherwise resist the draft for the jim crow army.

Anyone desiring information on the movement call ADams 3-3984, or write to the Interim Committee, 321½ East 56th Street, Los Angeles 11.

Expected Opposition

Opposition to the proposed reapportionment of the State Senate was voted by Oil Producers Agency Directors at their last meeting, following a poll of agency members which showed overwhelming disapproval of the proposal, L. A. Cranson, agency president, has announced.

We Move On to Philadelphia

The great army of people with their fingers on the pulse of time, will move in on Philadelphia this week.

It is said that the great City of Brotherly Love appropriated a large sum of money for the entertainment of the Republican and Democratic conventions, but not a dime for the Independent Progressive Party.

This quality of love will not dampen our fervor. We know why we are going to Philadelphia, and we know best of of all why a new party has come into being.

In every world crisis dauntless leaders have come, sometimes out of the darkness and other times out of the light. It matters not from whence they come. They are the answer to the call of destiny.

Men come and men go. Often their coming is the foreword for some great change or event. And their outgoing is symbolic of a break in the dykes of time, giving way to the onrushing of a new era.

To the optomistic or the hopeful for a new day in our time, there are those spiritually-minded souls who blaze their paths where highways do not run, who believe that Henry A. Wallace is the answer to that call for a new leadership.

"Henry Wallace whose record from the farm to the White House, sounds like fiction, but it's real.

"Henry Wallace is a candidate for the Presidency of the United States. As such his record and his views are fit subjects for scrutiny by the American people."—So states James Waterman Wise in his "Meet Henry Wallace," a volume which is an abridged history of the life and offices held by Mr. Wallace which, with the permission of the author, we will publish in serial form in these columns sometime in the future.

What concerns us at the present is Mr. Wallace's candidacy for President.

A bitter battle is raging between the Democratic and Republican parties as to which one is responsible for the high cost of living. Each charges the other.

Both of these parties are jointly responsible for the high cost of living. They are equally responsible for the attitude of bigotry and racial bias in this nation.

As far as they are and have been concerned, the Constitution is just some words on paper. Their promises to pass anti-poll tax and anti-lynch bills are a stench in the nostrils of fair-minded people of all racial elements.

And now an opportunity to hurl these promises back in their teeth is at hand.

The first real opportunity to resent these abuses of their citizenship rights has come to Negro citizens.

The Negro vote, incidentally, means victory for whatever party that gets it.

The presidential candidate with a record that will stand the scrutiny of all as to his stand on racial equality is Henry Wallace.

With gold he cannot buy your support. But his shining record of fairness and racial impartiality is a guarantee of his golden-hearted sincerity.

The Crack Pots In Session

The southern wing of the Democratic Party which bolted the main party because President Truman's Civil Rights Program, has demonstrated by its behavior that it is not willing to alow the Constitution to mean anything to Negroes.

The southern wing met in a session of its own—which surely was a meeting of crack-pots if there ever was one—and nominated J. Strom Thurmond, governor of South Carolina, for president of the United States, and Fielding L. Wright, governor of Mississippi, for vice-president.

Gerald L. K. Smith, noted red-baiter and racial hater, has joined these pseudo-Democrats in their campaign against the civil rights of minority groups. Could be that the Republicans, always up to all kinds of political tricks, might also lend a helping hand.

And while these biased crack-pots are butting their heads against a blank wall in their efforts to preserve the Southern white supremacy, in Europe the people are fearfully wondering what is to become of the Berlin blockade. Another war? Wouldn't it be wiser for the United States, instead of keeping troops in Berlin to aggravate war, to bring them home to preserve a semblance of democracy at home?

Let Us Get Down to Earth With Our Thinking

While speaking before a northern California gathering a few days ago, Dr. Monroe E. Deutsch, president of the World Affairs Council, said what we need is an informed public.

Often we feel like leveling a barrage of criticism against the people who should have greater knowledge of what goes on in their world as it applies to the future shaping of their destiny.

But we must be realistic. The great army of people, known as or called the "masses," are so busy trying to figure how to get the price of a steak or a pound of butter on their meager weekly wage ,that they have neither time nor strength to investigate why, in a world of productive power, a world with stupendous influence and leadership in technology, they should live in a state of starvation where plenty abounds.

If this Doctor on world affairs will get down to earth, unveil his language, and point out the real cause of an untenable condition of starvation and fear in our own land and country, we perhaps would be able to create a social order of peace and comfort to say the least.

We like to hear that our country, because of its prestige, can and should be the leader of other nations in the world. But we are sure that in order to gain and hold such a coveted position, we must first make our position of leadership workable at home.

The starving peoples of Europe are no doubt beginning to speculate on our plan to feed them while our own people are moving down the road to starvation.

The information the working people get here in the United States is that only those people in Europe who imbibe the political ideology of this country may imbibe our food.

It's beginning to look like only that portion of the industrial world and the little business man who refuse to take dictation from the Republican Party, are also on the road to a food shortage.

The situation boils down to this. While we figure how to escape starvation, we must take time out to become, according to Dr. Deutsch's advice, informed.

The remedy will come only when we discover the cause. Some say it is Communism. It looks like common greed. But whatever it is, let's set ourselves to the task of providing a level media or common ground that will re-establish the government, dedicated to the proposition of freedom and democracy for all. With freedom and democracy for all, there will be food and happiness for all.

New Party - New Hope for People

With a new confidence born in the conviction that the Independent Progressive Party voices the hope of the people of America, the delegates to the convention in Philadelphia boarded the trains and the airplanes, or started up their old jaloppies and descended upon that City of Brotherly Love this week.

"In the sea of Republican and Democratic machine politics," said Hugh Bryson, state chairman of the California IPP, "so obviously dominated by the profiteering monopolies of Wall Street and the poll-tax bourbons of the South, the new people's party stands as a beacon light."

"Only the new party and its selected candidates, Henry A. Wallace and Glenn Taylor, speak straightforward for the cause of peace. Only the new party unequivocally calls for repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act. Only the new party demands price control. Only the new party calls for defense of the rights of minority groups. Only the new party defends our American Constitution and its bill of rights against the "bi-partisan" Thomas-Rankin Committee.

"The Independent Progressive Party holds its doors open to the millions of voters who will now abandon the old parties and join the crusade to elect progressive candidates in November."

That is the invitation of the State Chairman of the Caliofrnia IPP. That is also the invitation of the West's oldest newspaper — The California EAGLE, which has done battle for the cause of the Negro and of all the common people for many a year.

But at no time has the need seemed so great for real workers, for voters in the cause of righteousness and justice as today. So, if you have not already registered, Register NOW. And vote in November for Henry Wallace for president of the United States, and Glen Taylor for vice-president.

THINGS I SEE

By Marian Inglewood

So—they're off! And by the time the readers of The California Eagle get their favorite newspaper in their hands, the news commentators over the radio will be telling, grudgingly no doubt, but nevertheless telling about the founding convention of the Independent Progressive Party in Philadelphia.

For whether the enemies and luke-warm friends of that Party admit it or not, there'll be more history-making events transpiring in Philadelphia this week-end than have taken place in America for many a day. Not since the founding of the new party in Lincoln's time, has there been such a widespread movement, beginning at the grass roots and extending upward and outward until it encompasses virtually all of the Common People, and all of the liberals and progressives who believe that all men are created equal and should have an equal voice in the government of the people and for the people.

It is a healthy movement. Even if that new party should not be able to elect a single candidate—although no bets of very great odds are being taken that it won't elect everyone, all down the line—but even if the IPPers couldn't elect one, they will be making a great contribution to the betterment of our government and to the final death blow of discrimination, segregation, and other evils of racial bias.

"A little rebellion is a good thing," wrote Thomas Jefferson, whom Democrats are proud to hail as the founder of their party, "and as necessary in the political world as storms in the physical."

"An oppressed people are authorized, whenever they can, to rise and break their fetters," said Henry Clay, the great Peacemaker.

"A revolution is as natural a growth as an oak," declared Wendell Phillips, the pulpit orator of the days before the Civil War.

Jefferson stated his opinion on rebellions after the American Revolution, when the little republic of the United States of America was struggling hard to gain a foothold among the nations of the world. You might have thought that he would condemn any disaffection against the new government. But he did not. He always welcomed discussion. "Error of opinion may be tolerated where reason is left free to combat it," he believed.

And so even if the rebels were wrong, if they took things into their own hands and caused trouble, Jefferson still maintained that was a good thing. A healthy sign among the active citizens of a nation.

How Jefferson, and Lincoln, and Clay, and Phillips, and all the other great thinkers of a bygone day would welcome this founding convention for the New Party of the 20th Century! Maybe they'd even say the rebellion of the Dixie Democrats is all right! They are at least making politics of today interesting, and ought to stir up a lot of discussion and definite thinking among American voters.

But those Dixie rebels are fighting progress. They are opposing the forward march of civilization, and cannot help but lose. Their contribution, if any, to the cause of government will be found in the counter revolution they arouse. In the fact that intelligent thinking people will be brought at last face to face with what reaction really means. And realizing what it means, will unite as never before in fighting it.

The Independent Progressive Party, on the other hand, is the party of the people, down to the very core of its existence. It expresses the hopes of thousands who have registered IPP, and of millions who have not yet done so. It is fighting reaction. It is fighting racial bias. It is fighting for peace. It stands for the Common Man all over the world. It stands for the four freedoms of the Common Man. For freedom of worship, for freedom of speech, for freedom from want and fear for everyone everywhere all over the world.

The Independent Progressive Party is the party of Jefferson, and Lincoln, and Franklin Delano Roosevelt. It is the party of Emerson, and Clay, and Wendell Willkie. It is the party of all the heroes of by-gone years, and of all the heroes of today. It is the party of all those who believe that God hath made of one blood all nations of men, and that they should dwell together on the earth in peace.

All hail the party of the people! All hail the party of the Common Man! In the spirit of Jefferson, and Lincoln, and Roosevelt, may you go forward, arousing in the people of America a keener awareness of the worth of real freedom, until all the peoples of all the world shall know that truth and the truth shall make them free.

BOOKS & AUTHORS

Are you aware that your neighborhood libraries are open this summer and that they are receiving many new books for recreation and for reference? Both Helen Hunt Jackson Branch, 2330 Naomi Avenue, and Vernon Branch, 4504 South Central Avenue, are open Monday through Friday from 1 P. M. to 9 P. M. and Saturday from 9 A. M. to 1 P. M.

At the Helen Hunt Jackson Branch the Children's Librarian, Mrs. Molson, is having a weekly Story Hour for all children, beginning promptly at 2 P. M. on every Tuesday. Boys and girls of all ages are urged to come.

The following are just a few of the new books recently received at the Helen Hunt Jackson Branch:

Taylor Caldwell, author of the well-known "Dynasty of Death" and many other novels has a new one entitled "Melissa." Here she turns to the psychological and writes a compelling story of a young girl dominated by her brilliant but frustrated father. When he dies she is in her twenties and is a pitiable recluse. Her father's publisher, deeply in love with her, persuades her to marry him, but his widowed sister who has been supplanted as mistress of his household seeks to wreck their happiness as Melissa slowly comes to an understanding of her husband. The conflict of wills keeps the reader in suspense throughout the story.

"A Guide to Confident Living" by Norman Vincent Peale, D.D., one of America's famous ministers, sets forth appealingly the confident attitude toward life and success. He offers a real solution to personal problems, by putting the old teachings of the Bible into modern psychiatric form and applying them to such troubles as the inferiority complex, the sense of guilt, defeatism, and worry which sap one's confidence. Dr. Peale gives many cases where the new technique of religious counselling has helped people to rid themselves of hyper-tension, marital conflicts, and other enemies of buoyant living. It is a practical book, simply written with the aim of helping the reader to more energy, a bolder outlook, and a real confidence that will help master prorlems.

"The Home Book of Money-Saving Formulas" by Paul Doring is written for use in the home, office or small business. The simple formulas cover a wide range of household needs and interests. Careful directions are given in regard to the equipment required, methods of measuring and weighing the ingredients, precautions to be taken, etc. Some of the more popular formulas given are for cosmetics, beverages, dyes and bleaches, drugs, garden sprays, soaps and polishes. A good glossary and index add to the usefulness of this book.

"The Foolish Gentlewoman" by Margery Sharp, author of "Cluny Brown" and other well-known novels, is a light, humorous story whimsically told. A nice English household is disrupted after widowed Isabel Brocken at fifty-five decides to give her entire fortune to Tilly Cuff as restitution for a wrong done thirty-five years previously. Tilly, complete with jade earrings and arm bangles, descends on the family and proceeds to stick her nose into everybody's business, but she refuses the fortune, to everyone's amazement. Her explanation is that she prefers companionship and security with Isabel.

"The Mill on Mad River" by Howard Clark is a fresh, appealing yarn, set in early 19th century Waterbury, Conn., where Anson Holt nourishes his hope of owning a brass mill. While pursuing his ambition he finds his little lost sister, acquires a wife and makes both friends and enemies. It has much of historical romance and adventure and gives a true picture of the early American scene.

Charlotte Armstrong, author of the popular "Unsuspected," has a new suspense story — "The Chocolate Cobweb." In this one two young people, Amanda and Thone, both of them in trouble, are thrown together as they wait in mounting horror for apparent doom in the form of an unknown person with a bent for homicide.

Pearl S. Buck, famous for her stories on China, especially "Good Earth," has a new one — "Peony," in which she portrays the acceptance and absorption of Jews by the Chinese. Peony is the lovely Chinese bondmaid who has been the childhood playmate of David who is a part-Chinese Jew. Although it is principally her story other prominent characters are Leah, the lovely Jewess whom David's mother wants him to marry and pretty Kuellan whose father and his own are business friends. The period is that of a century ago.

"A Seed in Spring" by Edward Thompson is the story of a cotton planter's son who is expected to marry wealth in order to build a greater cotton empire. However, the reappearance of Stella Rutherford, a dazzler from the other side of the tracks, shatters the old father's dreams and affects the lives, families and fortunes of four men. It is an exciting story told with vigor.

Washington Nearing Goal in Fund Drive

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Already more than 500 individuals and business corporations have contributed $14,992.73 toward Washington's share of the $1,400,000 sought nationally to aid 32 private accredited Negro colleges, it was announced this week by John L. Durling of the Justice Department, chairman. Effort is being made to double the local total by August 1.

W. J. Wheaton Says

GO DOWN MOSES! WAY DOWN IN EGYPTS' LAND, TELL OLD PHARO TO LET MY PEOPLE GO. There was the usual after humming, and we being somewhat hungry did not hesitate to make our presence known. Mary Ann was in a very happy mood, and while preparing our repast kept up the humming of the tune. Then came the usual time for our chat. The pursing of her lips warned us that something was on her mind, and we settled down to answer some questions that her attitude suggested were, to her, of vast importance.

When she propounded her first question we were surprised, and yet, we should not have been.

First, I want to thank you ever so much for telling my grandchild and me about the things them Deers was going to do when they had the meeting here," she said.

"You mean Elks," we corrected.

"Well, ain't that the same?" she said.

"Well yes, and no," we said.

Well them pictures on them banners looked like Deers to me. Well anyway we thank you, little Mary Ann, and me. We went to the place where they held the meeting, and first we thought that it was not very churchyfied, but when that woman sung, and that preacher, preached, I done forgot all 'bout not being in church' 'an if anybody else had said Halleyuya I'd said, Amen! Them women all dressed up in white 'en the men with them caps on, all fixed with sparkling things certainly did look scrumtious. We, Mary Ann, an me, didn't see you at first, did'nt spark you with cap on.

"Fez," we corrected.

"We thought maybe you did'nt want to be interrupted, 'en we thinks,½ shuks, you ani't that kind of a person, 'en when you seen us first, 'en come over, 'en when you made us known 'es your particular friends, 'en all them womens' 'en men was so friendly, 'en how they all was so glad to see you: It made us feel proud too. I tell my grandchild, thats the fruits of being honest, truthful 'en not feeling uppity. 'En they all was sorry you had been sick, 'en they did'nt know that they were not sorryer than me 'en Mary Ann. Guess they all wondered why we made you button up your overcoat 'en fussed over you when they was marching past.

"Them girls certainly did some figure cutting. They sure did march. Then when you took us for a bite to eat 'fore we went into hear them young men 'en the young women do that talking. Well they's certainly good, 'en they sure said some true words. That grandchild of mine sure was interested, 'en when you introduced us to that young boy who won, she told him how good a speaker he was. 'En she says, Grandmother, "I'm sure sorry that Rosetta 'en the bunch, her classmates, 'en her teacher, Miss Clarkson, hadn't been there to see 'en hear what colored boys 'en girls could do. Maybe if I tell 'em they'll think I'm bragging, " she said.

"Then that night when that meeting, what is the name?" "Civil Liberties" we said.

truth. What's that 'bout people back home get'in all riled up 'bout what the President said 'bout every people should be treated the same, 'en 'lowed the same treatment?"

We told her about the President having created a committee to make a survey of the treatment of the different groups comprising this nation and to ascertain the facts and bring a report to him. This committee, after a years work, got all facts and wrote a reoprt which the President studied and sent a message to the Congress of the nation recommending that laws be enacted remedying and making it mandatory that all citizens should have the same protection, under the law.

"This administration is Democratic. That is the executive branch of the Government is Democrat, while the Senate, and House of Representatives, or as we would stat it, both houses of the Congress are Republican. The Republicans, while claiming to be the champions of unbiased treatment, and favoring equal citizenship for all of its citizens, failed to even make an attempt to give heed to the suggestions of the President.

"At the convention, in which they niminated two men, for president and vice-president, they put, a "Milk and Water" plank in their platform, which was a replica of promises they have been making for years. On the contrary the Democrat convention placed in their platform a plank, not only ratifying the recommendations of the President, but put "Teeth" in the plank that would make it worth while. This so angered the men from the southern states that they withdrew from the convention, went to Birmingham Alabama, and nominated a man from Mississippi to run for the presidency of the United States.

"Of course, they don't expect to elect him, but they hope to defeat the incumbent President for his stand favoring equal laws for all the people. We believe we have stated, that we admire the President for the "Enemies that he has made," his heroic stand for a principle is a commendable one, and any minority group, in this cosmopolite nation, would be most ungrateful if they deserted him.

"As for the Negro group, the most to suffer from bias is every phase of life, and whose economic and politics, gains would be expunged and the struggle for equal citizenship made invalid for years, if not for ever. We are on the threshold of a new era, as far as the Negro group is concerned, and we would be thoughtless and indeed very foolish to show our ingratitude for a proffered help to lift the group from the intolerant condition which, now, confronts us. Many say, It's only a political gesture. It may be, but if politics can give our people a lift toward the goal of equal citizenship, the goal for which we are struggling, then let us forget the label of partisan politics and favor those who show an unbiased attitude and have a fighting chance to win. The incubus of the solid south is a festering sore, which the world has viewed with disdain. Its good riddance. Let's hope they never come back.

LABOR ON THE MARCH

By JOHN M. LEE

A purge of government employes is being conducted locally in the greatest secrecy. How many employes are involved, no one really knows. Published reports indicate there are five, but these five are merely the token sacrifices to the monstrous hysteria that seems to be growing daily. Basically, the charge is communism; actually the charge is membership in, or activity with organizations that have been labeled un-American and/or subversive by the attorney-general or the un-American Activities Committee. The procedure is a loyalty check authorized by President Truman in an executive order issued in March of 1947, carried out by the distribution of affidavits by departmental loyalty boards to employes. These affidavits must be filled out and returned. Then follows the purge.

On the surface, it appears that the chief witness against the accused is the accused himself. However, the investigators have quite a dossier on each of the accused, built from gossip, rumors, anonymous reports, spiteful testimony and testimony from former communists, who having degenerated twice, want to pull another soul down into purgatory with their own. A summons to a hearing is tantamount to dismissal, since it is not likely that the government would go to great trouble and expense to establish membership in certain organizations as being subversive, only to find the accused not guilty and thus give a clean bill of health to the previously cataloged organizations.

Psychologically the government hopes to scare hell out of its employes by naming most of the anti-fastist and progressive organizations as communist fronts. It is not anticipated that there will be many loyalty hearings. Fear, timidity and plain cowardice is counted on to do the real job. The point is to keep the multiple thousands of government employes out of progressive organizations and away from meetings such as the one held last Monday night at the Embassy Auditorium to protest Judge MacDonald's decision exonerating policeman Keyes of the killing of 17-year-old Augustin Salcido.

This department made several telephone calls to call attention to the meeting which was sponsored by the Civil Rights Congress. We were doing alright until we called a friend of ours of long standing — a government employe. She is one of the best-informed persons on out-of-season killing and beating of young Mexicans we know. She keeps a file of newspaper clippings on the top two or three head beaters, and we felt certain she would respond, but she didn't. Not that she wasn't sympathetic. She was, but she couldn't come to the meeting, as much as she would like to have been there to add her protest to the others against legal sanctioning of cold-blooded murder, because she was afraid she would lose her job if she were seen.

It was from her that we learned about the spotters who infest meetings such as this. They are a crummy lot who watch for government employes in attendance and report on them

POTPOURRI

NEW YORK — Describing the civil rights plank adopted on July 14 in the platform of the Democratic party as an example of "real Americanism," Walter White, secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, expressed the appreciation of the half-million NAACP members for this action.

The NAACP secretary expressed the belief that southern delegates who walked out of the Democrati cconvention in protest against its stand on civil rights do not represent majority opinion in the South. "We have more than 700 branches in the South through which we keep closely in touch with opinion there," White pointed out. "Except in a few isolated instances, the type of sectional selfishness and bad manners exhibited at Philadelphia are not approved by church, labor, student and veterans' groups in the South. In sheer self-defense, the South is going to find new political leadership to replace that which disgraced the South in fighting civil rights."

NEW YORK—$551.04 was contributed to the Ingram Defense Fund last week, bringing the total of money donated to the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People for the defense of the Georgia Ingram family to $39,933.72.

A petition for a rehearihg of the Ingram case is being submitted to the Supreme Court of Georgia b ythe NAACP. This action follows the decision of the Georgia Supreme Court in affirming, on July 13, the judgment of the trial court denying a motion for a new trial.

Mrs. Rosa Lee Ingram and her two teen-aged sons were convicted b ya Georgia jury for the self-defense slaying of a white sharecropper and were sentenced to die in the electric chair on February 27. The NAACP was able to obtain a commutation of the death sentence, but the trial judge then sentenced the Ingrams to life imprisonment. In the recent hearing before the Supreme Court of Georgia, this action was sustained.

The NAACP in collaboration with 20 other national Negro organizations, sponsored an ad which appeared in the July 13 edition of the Philadelphia Bulletin, entitled, "Let 'Em Walk."

I fthe southern delegates refused to agree to such basic tenets of American democracy as civil rights, the six-column advertisement advised the convention to remain undisturbed if these delegates walked out. "Their going would be a blessing, not a blow. Let 'em walk!"

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Branches of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People throughout the nation were urged this week by the national office to bend every effort between now and November to help elect a genuinely liberal Congress if they want "a broad civil rights program enacted into law (and) economic and political democracy in this country for all people."

To help guide voters in selecting such a Congress, Leslie Perry of the NAACP's Washington office has prepared 21 questions covering civil rights, housing health, education and other social welfare legislation, which the branches are asked to submit to all candidates for Congress.

A week-end discussion on United States foreign policy is being planned for August 28 and 29, to be held under the auspices o fthe Los Angeles division of the California Labor School.

There will be a keynote speech on Saturday, giving the highlights of the United States foreign policy, with two panel discussions on the foreign and domestic implications of the Marshall Plan. On Sunday there will be panel discussions on the Israel struggle, and the Soviet-American relations and the possibility of renewing cooperation between these two greatest powers.

During the past week 197 fires were caused by burning grass, rubbish, etc., according to a report of the Los Angeles Fire Department. Careless smoking caused 19; children playing with matches, 5; heaters and stoves, 11; electricity, 24; and other causes, 28. There was a total of 284 for the week, and of 8258 since January 1. There were 21 false alarms. In an emergency call "116."

The attainment of a Negro vote of 4,000,000 during the November elections was predicted by Henry Lee Moon, New York City, public relations director for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Author o fthe most recent study of Negro voting participation, "Balance of Power: The Negro Vote," Moon said that this potential electorate represented the "greatest political power the Negro has ever had." In addition to increased numbers and greater diffusion of political strength, the speaker said that the Negro has "re-emerged as a political factor in the South.

Negro voters will reach 3,000,000 in the North, and by November there will be at least 1,000,000 in the South, according to Moon; this was reported as four times the number of Negro voters in 1944.

In 1943 the per capita expenditure for higher education for whites was more than $2.50, and anly 56 cents for Negroes. During this year, according to Dr. Jenkins, $16,000,000 would have been required to equalize educational opportunities between Negro and white students.

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — Serious shortages in trained technical personnel face the nation within the next 10 years if present barriers to education are not removed, Dr. Aaron J. Brumbaugh, Washington, D. C., vice-president of the American Council Education, told the American Missionary Institute of Relations now in session at Fisk university.

Dr. Brumbaugh, who served as a member of the President's Commission on Higher Education, said that the three most serious barriers to education in the United States were finance, limitations of physical facilities, and "inequalities due to racial and religious discrimination." By 1960, the speaker told the Institute, there will be a shortage in the medical field alone of 53,000 doctors that cannot be met under present conditions.

An injunction to restrain the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisons from misappropriation of public funds to a private corporation, engaged in influencing legislation, was filed this week in the Los Angeles County Superior Court by the Citizens' Committee for Old Age Pensions.

The action alleged that county funds have been "illegally and unlawfully" appropriated by the supervisods to finance the activities of the County Supervirors' Association, a private corporation of which individual supervisors are members, and which opposes Initiative Proposition No. 4, the Aged and Blind Aid amendment.

NEWARK, N. J. — Jimcrow in New Jersey schools is being abolished so fast in compliance with the new state constitution that very shortly it will be a condition only of the past.

For instance, this week three school districts abolished segregation thereby bringing up the total number of districts to do so to 25, according to Dr. John H. Bosshart, state commissioner of education. Twenty districts have yet to change.

Penalties run high for non-complying districts. A taxpayers' suit can be brought about and the school district restrained from receiving state aid for its schools.

Brig. Gen. Benjamin O. Davis, the Army's only Negro general, was honored this week by receiving from President Truman a special testimonial after half a century of service. The testimonial was signed by President Truman, Army Secretary Kenneth Royall, and the chiefs of staff.

Louis B. Seltzer, editor of The Cleveland Press, declared the conventions of the Democratic and Republican parties were "sickening." He siad the delegates acted like "people running up and down the corridors of a booby-house," and wondered what the rest of the world would think of us "making democracy work."

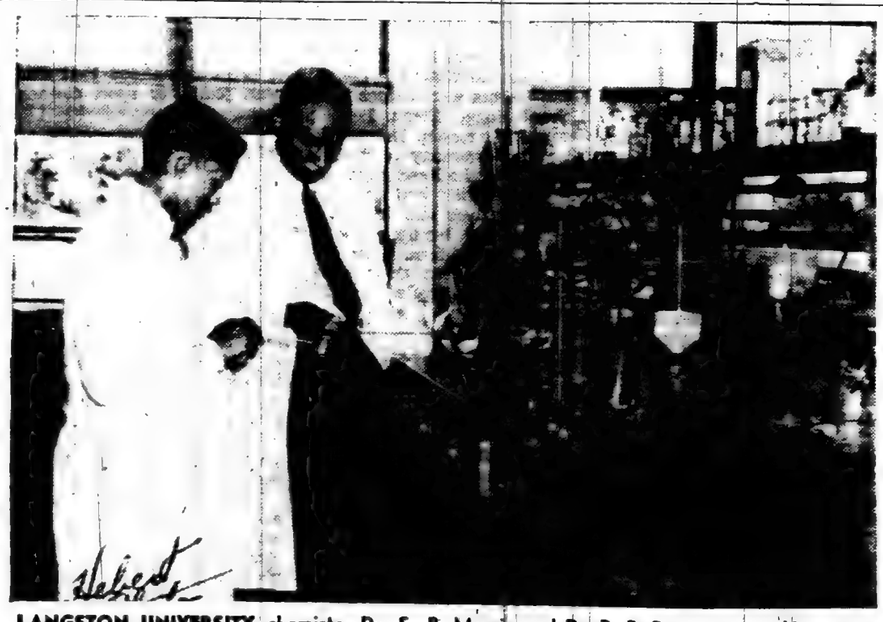
Monday at 5 p.m. is the deadline for 104 employes of the county to sign the loyalty test. Anyone who does not sign the first part will be discharged immediately. This part includes: to defend the Constitution, nonmembership in any organization advocating overthrow of the government, the listing of any aliases.

The fourth condition — listing membership in any of the 142 organizations Jack Tenney says are un-American — will be discharged if and when the courts rule in favor of the county.

A test case of the county's right to demand such information from its employes is now pending in the district court of appeals.

Herbert Brownell, Jr., campaign manager for Thomas E. Dewey, presidential nominee of the Republican party, said that the GOP will not try to enact its 1948 campaign into legislation at the special session of Congress to meet next week.



Think they will any other time?

Assemblyman Vernon Kilpatrick, of the 55th Assembly District, in a letter to Mayor Fletcher Bowron, the City Council, and the Board of Supervisors, suggested that local authorities find out what steps could be taken to supply more protection to veterans and others who need homes.

The council voted that the request be "received and filed." This means "do nothing"—what the council and everybody else seems to be doing right along.

A voting machine, fool-proof against error, is the answer to the frantic attempts of election boards to straighten out election returns on election day. The machine, as shown to the County Board of Supervisors by Ransom F. Shoup, Jr., son of the inventor, is an election booth on wheels that closes its own curtains when the voter steps in and turns a switch, and then lets him turn keys opposite the name of each candidate he wants to vote for.

California surely needs some sort of machine at election time, other than the political machines now operating.

LANGSTON UNIVERSITY chemists, Dr. S. P. Massie and Dr. R. P. Perry, are working on a research project dealing with the synthesis of some new analgesics. The Upjohn Company, drug manufacturers of Kalamazoo, Michigan, and the University share in subsidizing the project. Dr. Massis is a Ph.D. from Iowa State College, and Dr. Perry received his Ph.D. from the University of Iowa.

Carver Life Survey Made

TUSKEGEE INSTITUTE, Ala.—After having covered nearly 6,000 miles in parts of nine states, the Tuskegee Institute group which made the survey into the early life of the late Dr. George Washington Carver, has returned. This survey is being sponsored through the Department of Records and Research in order to make as complete as possible the Tuskegee records on the life and activities of Dr. Carver, covering particularly those years prior to his coming to Tuskegee.

This group included Mrs. Jessie Parkhurst Guzman, director of the Department of Records and Research and editor of the Negro Year Book; Mrs. B. B. Walcott, executive secretary of the Tuskegee Institute chapter of the American Red Cross and member of the Department of Public Relations, and J. Henry Smith, Executive secretary of the George Washington Carver Foundation. Mrs. Walcott has written several articles on the life of Dr. Carver.

A wise man will make haste to forgive, because he knows the full value of time and will not suffer it to pass away in unnecessary pain. —Rambler

Hunid Air Rots Floor Boards

Moist humid air trapped below the floor of basementless houses with inadequately ventilated crawl spaces, causes a surprising amount of moisture condensation on the framing and floor construction, according to the Housing and Home Finance Agency. This moisture, together with the high temperature found in the enclosed spaces and the constant supply of moisture available from the unprotected soil, results in decay leading to sill and joist failure and sagging floors.

Corrective measures recommended include the cutting of openings in the walls of the unexcavated or crawl spaces. A total of five to seven square feet of openings is generally needed for average sized dwellings. The openings should be well distributed with at least one near each corner, in different walls to allo wthe wind to be most effective in clearing out the damp humid air confined below the floor.

The Vanport Flood Destroyed Yet it Brought Brotherhood

THE MEMORY OF THE HORROR of fast-rushing water and homes being swept away are forgotten by this group of optimistic and hopeful youngsters as the photographer takes over to capture and preserve living proof that there was no such thing as racial difference in the devastated Vanport area. It is part of the remarkable record of the horism and fortitude of the people in Vanport that children such as those shown above led the way to racial amity.

● BROTHERHOOD

The test of our belief in the principles of democracy, the measure of our sincerity in our professed aims during the last war, was the manner in which we applied them in our relations with our brothers-in-arms.

(1)

Among the recipients of the Purple Heart award at the army general hospital where I was stationed was a Negro private who had lost both legs in action in North Africa. This soldier's contagious good spirits made him welcome throughout the hospital as he rode about in a wheelchair. A fellow patient drew a fine pencil sketch of this veteran which was hung in the office of the American Red Cross director. One day the commanding officer who had pinned the medal on the hero came into that office and saw the portrait. "Do you have to have n——'s pictures here?" he asked. It was removed.

(2)

It was shortly after the traitorous attacks on our colored citizens in Detroit and other war centers that we were discussing 'freedom from fear' in an orientation meeting at a fort in one of our harbor defense areas. A lieutenant in the group opined: "You know, there must be some reason for these riots. It's because the n——s just naturally irritate the whites. So many of them are earning more money than they ever did before, and they're throwing their weight around. They get too damned uppity. Put them in uniform and they think they're as good as you."

(3)

At the officer's mess one noon at an Eastern post two men were talking. Said the first: "N——s are the happiest mortals on earth. I've lived among them all my life. You Northerners don't understand them. They don't care about their status one way or another, they just wanna eat and a place to sleep and sing. All this talk about equality is a lot of agitation."

"But no one is saying that the Negroes insist upon social equality," replied the other, "what they want is political and economic equality."

"Ah!" ahed the former, "but one leads to the other."

Joe Louis is as much admired by non-Negroes as he is by those of his color. His people's pride in him is great: he is a great American. Louis' boxing exhibitions for American soldiers all over the globe were tremendous morale-builders. After one such exhibition at a camp in Massachusetts, as men were piling out of the gymnasium, a Negro corporal came up to an officer, and holding a cigarette in his hand asked for a light. The officer gave it to him, and as the corporal walked away, turned to his companion and spat: "If that goddam n——r had tried that in Alabama where I come from he'd be dead by now, even if he was Joe Louis."

At the special Services School in Lexington, Virginia, officers and enlisted men were trained to serve as orientation officers and assistants with our troops. One afternoon the instructor, having fniished a lecture on the meaning of democracy, opened the usual discussion period by asking for comments or questions.

A Negro lieutenant arose and in a firm voice said: "I am being trained to go back to my men and teach them what our democracy can mean to them and why they must fight for it. That is good. I want to do that. Now in this morning's paper I found the following resolution just passed by the state legislature of South Carolina:

"We indignantly and vehemently denounce the intentions ... of all organizations seeking the amalgamation of the white and Negro races by commingling of the races upon any basis of equality, as being destructive to the identity and characteristics and integrity of both races, and ... as being hostile to the existence and preservation of the American Union of States. We reaffirm our belief in and allegiance to established white supremacy as now prevailing in the South, and we solemnly pledge our lives and our sacred honor to maintaining it, whatever the cost, in war and in peace."

My question therefore is, How can I make my troops believe that our brand of democracy is worth fighting for?"

A shamed hush fell over the audience as he sat down. Then a captain arose and responded: "I happen to live in New York City. I want to say that there can be no excuse for such an act as this resolution. We can only assure our Negro comrade that South Carolina does not speak for the nation, and we must convince him that the issue now is to defeat Hitler, for if fascism wins, our colored citizens will lose even the chance they have in our imperfect society to improve their status."

Up jumped an officer in the back of the room, and waving an emotional finger he shouted: "I'm from Tennessee! We southerners have lived with—uh—with our colored folk all our lives and we know how to treat 'em. Why do you always try to tell us how to run our affairs? We don't butt into your problems up North. We need unity in this country now to win this war. So why bring these issues up?"

Six officers were playing poker in a recreation hut at a replacement depot in North Africa. The depot was serviced by Negro troops — two of whom were assigned to the hut to issue games and magazines to the officers. The two colored soldiers were in the hut as this game was being played.

In a rush of noise the door near which the poker table was placed was flung open and in stomped a tall major, his hand on his pistol holster, spluttering: "Damn those n——s! I always said they were no good. The damn drivers who were supposed to bring us back from town were 45 minutes late."

"That's what I always said," added a captain as the major sat down and bought some chips. "I asked to be released from training them back in the states. They're just naturally lazy, and knowing you think that about them they take advantage of you. I walked into my first class and I said, 'I'm white and you're colored. That makes no goddam difference to me as long as you do your work. But if you want to get tough you'll find I'm the toughest sonofabitch that ever came out of the state of Texas."

"Hell," declared another, "in my state we give medals for shooting 'em. I got me two of them in '37."

Said the Negro sergeant to his friend at a base near Oran where both were clerks in the officers' laundry: "The way these Southern officers treat us you'd think they were working for Hitler."

NAP TIME and at peace with the world. These children, driven from Vanport homes by the sudden flood, rested on cots in Peninsula school basement. There was no color segregation.

Labor School Conferences Next Month

The California Labor School has scheduled two weekend conferences, the first a three-day conference on philosophy, and the second a two-day cultural conference, both to be held at the Labor School headquarters, 240 Golden Gate Avenue, San Francisco.

Howard Selsam, author of "What Is Philosophy?" and "Socialism and Ethics," will address the first conference which will run from Friday to Sunday, August 6, 7, and 8. Mr. Selsam is director of the Jefferson School in New York.

to the Gestapo Chiefs (the system being what it is, we wonder who spies on the stool-pigeons to make sure they don't absorb any of the progressive information and take it to heart).

My friend said she would prefer to do what she could quietly and not risk her job since she had to eat, and one could not afford to protest too loudly when doing so would mean not eating. It occurred to us there might be other government employes who felt as she does, and we polled several of them. They're afraid, too, but they're seething and angry. They want to speak out and to act, but they don't dare. President Truman's loyalty check is working effectively, but if my miniature sampling of opinion is a criterion, there'll be a revolt some day. Government employes are growing tired of spies and informers sneaking behind them on and off the job.

The loyalty checkers can take credit for having kept numerous government employes away from the murder-protest meeting last Monday, but they can't stop the relentless pursuit of justice, and they can't control the thinking of government employes. They may purge until the shadows lengthen and recede a thousand times, yet there will always be employes of the government as there are employes in non-government fields, who hate fascism, and who will act to destroy it some day, though not a single word or sign will come from them in the meantime.

About the only thing this country got out of the dove of peace was the bill.

WHAT'S DOING IN THE SOCIAL SET

By JESSIE MAE BROWN

THERE IS SOMETHING ABOUT A GARDEN PARTY—especially in mid-summer. And the N.C.N.W. means to take full advantage of the warm weather, the flowers abloom and July's prettiest attire for their annual Garden Party. One year the national president, Mary McCloud Bethune was the honored guest. This year, ten charming women are being honored as outstanding in the community. Some have names of national importance and others are well known for their local club work.

Had a brief chat with the very friendly approachable local president, Artishia Jordan, the other day and learned that the tea, scheduled for 3 to 6 p.m. Sunday, at the John Somervilles will be one of the most outstanding events to be held on the program of the metropolitan branch of the council. Most of the ten women to be honored are either active members of the council or have in some way or another befriended the organization. Ferrol Bobo Connor, the little nurse who recently received her sheepskin heaped with honors heads the list. Glenna Hays, the little matron who has quietly worked in the Westview Women's Guild and the Medical Association found herself president of both well known organizations this year, marking her quite popular and definitely outstanding. Jessie Grayson, who has linked charitable and club work with her acting career, always stands in a class alone. "Deep Are The Roots" was her latest show. Hattie McDaniel takes her bow for the "Beulah Show," and her charitable work with the Braille institute, while screen star Lena Horn, who has taken active part in the progressive fight of the local and national scene also bows in as outstanding. There are five more of these women, but at press time their names were not given ye scribe. You may be certain they are doing something extra special in the dear ole southland. Sunday's garden party will climax the work of the council until meetings are resumed in Sept. . . .

"Friendship Home," the home for girls away from home of all races, is holding annual Open House on Sunday, July 25, at 812 E. 28th Street, 3 to 6 o'clock. Supplies are badly needed, so you charity clubs take heed, here is a good project, cash supplies for dishes and silver, table linens or small place mats, jams, jellies, vegetables etc. No gift is too small. Mrs. Neal D. Ireland is conference President and Mrs. Corah E. Jordan is superintendent of the home. . . .

POINTS OF INTEREST

Our Editor publisher has arrived in Philadelphia by now, and is more than likely taking a very active part in the "Wallace for President" campaign. Phyllis Scott, fellow scribe, also made the trip and is having quite an interestingg time (we bet) at this history making event. On Friday, at the Bellvue Stratford Hotel, among the honored ladies receiving will be Mrs. C. R. Bass, and the former Estelle Massey Riddle, also Mrs. Henry Wallace and several other nationally known figures.

Have oftimes wondered, like most people, just exactly what went on behind the scenes of the big moving pic industry. Found myself on the Warner Brothers lot last Wednesday, watching Joel McCrea go through his lines in the new flicker "South of St. Louis." Believe me, Wednesday proved quite an interesting afternoon, and the grand hostess was the personality matron, Mrs. Edith Kemp, and the honored guest was Mrs. Edna Over Gray. First we enjoyed the very tasty luncheon prepared by Mrs. Kemp at her smart 42nd Place home. Also guest listed were Dr. Vada Somerville, Mrs. Edith Jones, Mrs. Ethel Branham, Miss Ida Bowman, and Miss Jean Watkins. Following luncheon, we toured the studio and climaxed the afternoon by sipping tea at the home of

Inter-Racial Project Benefits Life-Health

A crowd of 600 or more were present to enjoy the gayly decorated street carnival given for the Outdoor Life & Health Association, Saturday July 17, by a group of volunteer workers under the leadership of Mrs. Bernice Nance as general chairman, Sue Pryme, entertainment chairman, War Perkins, master of ceremonies, and Thelma Wallace and Mary Caldwell, publicity chairmen.

Celebrities appearing throughout the evening were Charles Pryme, classic and swing pianist; Laura Bowman, dramatics; LeRoi Antoine, baritone; Sue Pryme, singing popular songs; Sootie Singleton, drummer formerly with Eddie oCnti; Carl George, trumpeter formerly with Stan Kenton's Band; Meredith Howard, teen-age popular vocalist; Dooley Wilson, actor who sang and gave several skits from his various pictures; Covan Dancers (eleven in number) under the direction of Mrs. Slorlene Bacon; Claudine and Helen Stasher, John Batchale, Don Bailey, Cecil Thompson, Don Batcho, Marilyn Watson. Shelia Knight, Berniece Crawfo.d (5 years old), Elaine Hoxie and Shelby Bacon. Also, Antoine Moontown; Nicoedmus Stewart, who is well known for his dancing ability, stole the show. Outstanding also were the Haitian dancers, Tony Montout, Louis Polliman Brown, Onis Conlyn and his partner, coached by M s Robinson. Virginia Smith also deserves honorable mentioning for her singing and piano playing as the encores were many. Miss Smith is presently appearing at a popular night club in Glendale.

The affair successfully made a profit of $300. The entire amount will go to the Outdoor Life & Health Association's Tubercular Hospital in Duarte, Calif. The chairamn, Mrs. Nance, wishes to express her appreciation and gratitude to each and every one for his cooperation.

AUGUST BRIDE—Miss Donna Strickland, lovely daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Strickland of 3669 Ruthelen will be married August 22, to Mr. Julion Gaylord York, popular son of retired army officer, Major Edward York, formerly of Washington D. C. This marriage will culminate with the joining of two well known families. The wedding will take place at the home of Dr. and Mrs. B. L. Boswell.

Anchor Is Scene of Elaborate Brown-Harrison Reception

A wedding reception of social importance was held in the beautiful gardens of the "Anchor," home of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Portwig on Sunday afternoon honoring Mr. and Mrs. Theodore C. Harrison, the bride is the former Miss Jean Brown, niece of the Potrwigs and daughter of Mr. Albert Brown. A floral background of white gardenias and Maiden Hair fern formed an elaborate setting that was complete with a cooling pond with trickling water. The bride was beautiful in a gown of delicate pink organdy. She carried a colonial bouquet and wore pink mittens. Her husband was attired in white coat with dark trousers.

Assisting as hostesses were: Miss Dolores Carroll, in yellow chiffon; Mrs. Marilyn Hudson, in peach satin; Miss Ailene Cook in white satin; Mrs. Puffie Hill, in blue lace; Mrs. Emily Jones, in white chiffon. Others assisting were Mmes. Clara Nelson, Elsie Fields, Josephine Brown, Mary Troy, Gertrude Cook and Emily Portwig. Little Barbara Brown, sister of the bride, graciously showed the guests up to view the many beautiful gifts.

VOWS SPOKEN

The marriage vows were taken in a smart informal ceremony at the Independent Church on July 9. Immediately they left to honeymoon in Oakland, California, the bridegroom's home town.

The bride is a popular member of the younger social set. At present she holds membership in the Phi-Delphian Club. She is a former student of L. A. City College.

The couple will make their home in Los Angeles.

Hariette Flowers And Visitors Share Honors at Party

Mr. and Mrs. George Keller of 4th Avenue entertained Saturday night with a dancing party in honor of their lovely sub deb nieces, Jean and Germaine Gardena and their nephews Andrew and Walter Young of New Orleans and also for their god-child, Hariette Flowers of this city, who celebrated her 18th birthday.

The party was held in the yard of the beautiful Keller home and refreshments were served from the barbecue pit. The party seemed to be the gathering spot for the high school and younger college groups. The members of the "Euterpians" music club were much in evidence as were the attendants of the Shores-Watson wedding. Sororities and frats were well represented in what turned out to be a grand affair.

The honored guests are visiting here along with their aunt and uncle Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Collins of New Orleans.

Pink, Blue Theme At Unique Shower

Mrs. Jessie Lee Catley and Mrs. Johnny White were co-hostesses at a "Stork" shower given in honor of Mrs. Eddye Neal at the home of the honoree's mother, 3671 2nd Avenue, Sunday, July 11.

The dining room and table were beautifully decorated with miniature storks, baby bootees and large baby show all made of pink and blue crepe paper. Also a baby's bassinett and bathinette with the same color scheme helped to carry out the motif. A delightful repast was served.

Les Petite Femmes Xmas in July Fete To Be Quite Unique

At their meeting held Sunday, July 11, at the home of their president Mrs. Goldie Moore, 1148 So. Serranco, Los Petite Femmes made final plans for their "Xmas In July" party to be held Sunday, July 25, at the home of Mrs. Barbara Waldington, 3g62 So. Gramcy Pl.

Very unique in their plans, the girls will carry out the Xmas spirit even with a Xmas tree and exchanging gifts. Each guest will receive a souvenir from the club.

All correspondence concerning the club should be sent to our mailing address 1148 So. Serrano, Los Angeles, Calif.

Vaughn-Rochelle Nuptials Solmnized In Bay Region

Miss Dorothy Vaughn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lamar Vaughn became the bride of Wilbert D. Rochelle, recently at a marriage ceremony performed by Reverend F. D. Haynes, Pastor of the Third Baptist church of San Francisco.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, Lamar Vaughn, and was preceded to the alter by five attendants, three flower girls and a ring bearer. The maid of honor was her sister, Miss Aubrey Vaughn, and the bridesmaids were Misses Janet Armstrong, Mable Robertson, Octavia Sanders and Evangeline Scott. Flower girls were Juanita Morris, Cynthia Ingram and Mary Starks. Wilbert D. Rochelle, Jr. was ringbearer.

The bride wore a white duchess satin gown with train, white duchesss lace bodice, long fitted sleeves and sweetheart neckline. Her veil was of white tulle haloed with orange blossoms. She carried a prayer book marked with flowers.

The mid of honor wore a pink taffeta off the shoulder gown, wide skirt with hoopes and hemline was caught up with bows, a wide pink horshair hat and she carried talismen roses. Bridesmaids wore identical off shoulder gowns of organdy, yellow, aquas, orchid and sea green.

The best man for the occasion was John Rodfud of Los Angeles. Ushers were James Brand, Richard Hogg, Homa Lee and Camuel Morgan. Immediately after the ceremony a reception was held at the Buschcrest home where the bride and groom received relatives and friends before an alter bank of white gladiolas and fern. The bride and groom spent their honeymoon in Los Angeles and New Mexico.

Surprise Party For Pioneer

Mr. William M. Jacques had the happiest surprise when his wife gave him a surprise party recently.

He is a pioneer resident of Los Angeles, a student of the late George W. Carver, and a graduate of Tuskeegee Institute.

His wife, Mrs. Johnny Jacques, entertained many of their friends in their home at 1004 East 22nd street, on July 17. The party was enjoyed by all

Square Dancing Quite the Thing

The Southeast Chapter of the American Veterans Committee will stage another free square dance on Thursday evening, July 22, at the Ebell club, Clarendon & Malabar streets, in Huntington Park.

Everybody had such a good time at the last dance, that it was decided to stage a repeat performance. Most of the people who attended before had never stepped out to a Virginia Reel or a Portland Fancy, but they quickly caught on and proceeded to have the time of their lives.

Thursday's affair promises to be even better than ever. The public is invited to attend, and it is recommended that dungarees, jeans, or sport clothes be worn.

Elaborate Reception Given Newlywed Julius Byers

Mr. and Mrs. Julius Byers, nee Ethel Berry, were tendered a very lovely wedding reception by Mrs. Susie Artes, in their home at 1246 E. Adams Blvd. The bride is widely known as a church worker, is popular in social activities and the beauticians field.

The groom, a progressive business man is one of the city's leading painters.

The home was beautifully decorated for the occasion. At the piano was the bride's cousin, Miss Emma Myles. Also playing the piano was Mrs. Blanch Woods of Wards Chapel. Miss Cecil Buchanon and Mrs. Ida Countee sang.

Out of town guests were Mrs. Ethel Reese and sister Mrs. Catherine Gaines of Bakersfield, Cal.

BIG GAME—Shown above are the popular club members, "The Les Femmes d' Aujourd Hui" (women of Today) being given instructions by the club's coach, Captain White, who has faithfully worked very hard training the girls for your entertainment in a softball game against the Post Office Terminal Annex Team "The Cagers." Surprise Marriage Told at Garden Fete

More than 100 friends and chairman of the St. Philips Episcopal Church gathered in the beautiful gardens of Mrs. Madge Andrews home, 4127 Zamora street and were quite surprised when they learned of the marriage of Miss Geraldine Stevens and Mr. Herbert LaBott.

The story was told by tiny announcements that were placed in the many balloons that were strung up in the gardens. Father Randolph Moore and Mrs. Byrdie Pinchback were among the first to get an announcement. Mrs. Pinchback actually made the announcement of the marriage. Miss Stephens is a soloist at the St. Philips Episcopal church.

String music for the affair was played by Mr. Richards.

Infinitudes Plan Summer Outings

The Daffodil Social club met recently at the home of Mrs. Corella Hunt. This session was followed July 13, with a meeting at the home of Mrs. Ella Mae Fisher. Miss Evelyn Booze, vice president, presided. The club members, quite pleased with the success of their breakfast, wish to thank their many friends for supporting it.

The club president, Mrs. Eva Tivis and her husband are enjoying a vacation in the East.

The Daffodil members extend sympathies to the family of their late club member, Mrs. Laura McCloud, who was buried July 15.

More Color for Autumn Trimmings Say Designers

Gold and plaid will be accented in the new autumn line of rufflings and eyelet trimmings according to word from West Warren, Mass., home of the William E. Wright & Sons Company, world's largest manufacturers of trimmings.

Milady will not only have color to her attractive trimmings but designers report that there will be a demand for English nets with Vence lace, ruffled and flat. Also, wider eyelets in fashionable 3½ inch widths are being readied for production in anticipation of a big demand.

Daffodil Club

The Infinitudes will hostess their 2nd annual Tea on Sunday, Aug. 15, at 301 N. Bonnie Brae. Val Verde To Be Scene of Art and Hobby Exhibition

The Women's Progressive Recreational Committee of the Val Verde Park area under the able guidance of Mrs. Alice T. Gafford, director of activities, and Mrs. Evelyn Brooks, assistant director, are planning to present to the art lovers of the greater Los Angeles city and county districts an Art and Hobby Exhibition and show of lofty proportions.

Among the items that will be on display will be rare first edition books and books 150 to 200 years old; these rare books are from the priceless collection of Mrs. Brooks.

An authentic Chung-Li Ch'aun God, one of the eight immortals in Chinese mythology, will be shown among the collection of Chinese art miniatures of Mrs. E. Perdue's collection.

The hobbies of the participants are many and varied: there will be displays of Japanese art from Mrs. J. Wilson's collection; crochet and knitting by Mrs. C. Wycoff, china displays, brass, leather, electronics, rare perfumes, ancient mugs and modern crafts.

One of the highlights of the exhibition will be the priceless collection of lace shawls and handkerchiefs depicting the Vatican of Rome; these items are of Czecho-Slovakian origin and are from 75 to 180 years old—they will comprise a part of Mrs. Gafford's display.

The exhibit will be held on Sunday, July 25, 1948, in the Recreational building at Val Verde Park. The public is invited to attend. There will be no admission charge.

Silver Spurs To Celebrate 3rd Anniversary

One of the newest and nicest bits of Fall fashion importance is the use of color in your wardrobe, the variances it denotes in your personal appearance, the marvelous lift it gives your "clothes morale."

Color to denote mood of feeling can well signal your disposition allowing for a better relationship between individuals. There's nothing difficult or professional about this bit of clothesology; it is just a reminder that "you look your loveliest when you feel your best" and the choice of color can make or break the smartness of your attire. The first and main boost to the fashion-wise is to know "your" color, and though you wear a variety of others, the smart dresser inserts in some form a bit of that all-importance choice, if for no other reason than to gain a measure of poise or fashion confidence.

Build your Fall and Winter wardrobe selections around this fact, remembering that each color has a variety of shades and tones to select from. Call your Shopper, CE. 2-0819 for information, shopping problems or to make your shopping selections.

HOME AGAIN

The lights were bright and the spirit very gay at the Worsham residence last Sunday evening when Jennard, the young lady of the house, honored four distinguished guests. Paulyn Garner, just back from a year's stay in the Orient as a Red Cross Worker, held her old friends spellbound with her vivid descriptions. Paulyn, more glamorous than ever before wore a shimmering black satin cocktail dress. From a year's stay at Julliard in N. Y. came popular Gloria Roberts and Elizabeth Garrott. Liz most charming in blue with rhinestone highlights and Gloria in a pink print number. Also sharing honors was Jennard's cousin, popular Florence Hemphill of Louisiana, who is house guest of Mrs. Florence Elsworth. Champagne cocktails flowed, while scores of the city's young married couples mingled and chatted over old times. Assisting as head host, was Mr. Arnold Stanchemore. Mrs. Jennie Worsham was a main hostess, spending most of the evening with Mrs. Pearl Roberts. Jessel King, Corine Kemp and Evelyn Abney also assisted. Some of those enjoying the affair were Jean and Theodore Harrison, newlywed; Lu and Herbie Boswell, Yvonne Cummings, just back from Julliard; Betty Wallace, Lula Green, Florence and Yvonne Cole, Jean Garrott, Bob Edwards, the Stanley Loupes and a host of others. . . .

Comes Sunday, July 25, and there will be much happening on the social scene. The younger collegiates will gather at the Mitchell Miles residence, where son Wally and his Kappa Scroller brothers will entertain with a splash party. The silver offering proceeds will go toward the club's annual Red and White. . . . Les Femmes Aujurd Hui, (Women of Today) will be playing baseball with the P. O. Girls at Lincoln Park. Following last Sunday's publicity parade, the Femmes held an after party, that served as Emma Manuel's birthday celebration. . . . The Doll Leaguers will take over Nadine Cole's beautiful residence for their charitable affair, while the Mothers Club will entertain with a fashion review at the Chris Wrights. . . . Carolyn Hennington will be honoring Gloria Bunch with a bridal shower and to top it all the lovely Paulyne Jones and Gerald Stovall will become Mr. and Mrs. at Independent Church.

Republican Women Slate Meeting

With their membership increasing, officers of the Republican Women of Today have scheduled their next meeting for Monday night, July 26, at 8 p.m., at the home of the president, Mrs. Ora Lee McClain, 212 West Fifty-Seventh street.

Formed to band women of Los Angeles together for a united fight for more recognition of women in the political life of the city, county, state and nation, the group was aided in its organization by representatives of the national and state Republican party.

Present at their last meeting, Mrs. Louise Watkins, national organizer of women's clubs of the Republican party, and Mrs. Dorothy M. Arnold, wife of the motion picture star, Edward Arnold, and state organizer of women's clubs of the Republican party, addressed the new club, and assisted in the mapping of their program.

Other officers are: Mrs. Ephelders Williamson, first vice-president; Mrs. Marie Wright, second vice-president; Mrs. Katherine Porter, recording secretary; Miss Melba Foppe, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Julia Jennings, financial secretary; Mrs. Yvonne Shelton, treasurer; Mrs. Evelyn Jolet, parliamentarian; Mrs. Elizabeth Ealey, auditor, and Mrs. Lacey Jenkins.

More Women Police Officers Wanted

The Los Angeles Police Department continues to go after women recruit officers. Young women who would like to become guardians of the law may file applications in Room Eleven of the City Hall anytime prior to closing hours on August 5, 1948.

If the ladies are between the ages of twenty-three and thirty, inclusive, and qualify otherwise, they may sign up for the written examination which will be conducted on August 14, 1948.

The women receive the same pay as do men officers, starting at $260.00 a month. Full pay is given even while the candidates are in recruit training. Automatic pay increases are forthcoming at the end of each year for three years, giving the women and men officers top pay of $315.00 a month.

For additional particulars, candidates can obtain information at any local police station or directly at Civil Service headquarters in the downtown City Hall.

Deltas to Hold 20th Confab In Saint Louis August 24-28

ST. LOUIS, July 21 (Special)— Delta Sigma Theta Sorority in its Grand Chapter session held in San Antonio, Texas last year chose St. Louis, Missouri as its next meeting place. Delegates from all over the nation will gather here August 24th through the 28th, in what is the Sorority's Twentieth National session.

Taking into consideration August heat the hostess chapters, Lambda Sigma and Alpha Omega, have chosen the beautiful air-cooled luxurious Henry W. Kiel Municipal Auditorium as the site of convention activities. This auditorium officially opened its doors in April, 1934. Built at a cost of $7,000,000, the Exposition Hall occupies the entire square block. On the lower floor the Convention Hall seats 11,500 and the Opera House 3500. Centrally located, the auditorium is easily accessible from all points in the city. This and its other appointments make it an ideal convention site.

Chartered at Howard University in January, 1913, Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, during its 35 years of existence, has been a most constructive force in American life. With undergraduate chapters on most college campuses and graduate chapters in cities all over the country, sorority activities include civic, cultural, and philanthropic objectives, as well as betterement in race relationships, broadening of job opportunities, close cooperation with other national organizations, working with and for legislation that tends to benefit all citizens.

The tune, "Meet Me In St. Louis, Deltas," has become the Delta pep song for August. Plans for one of the most enjoyable, impressive and constructive conventions in its history have been made by its national Grand Chapter officers, headed by President Dorothy Height of the National Y.W.C.A.

In 1940 the appropriation for public buildings administration was less than $15 millions. This agency's appropriation for fiscal 1948 totaled approximately $73.5 million. — Wyoming Taxpayers Assn.

KINLOCH'S ☆ KORNER

Dedicated to the memory of John Kinloch, who died in the struggle to destroy Fascism

Raisin' Cain

By CARL L. CAIN

In the preceding the question of poverty as a barrier to peace was discussed in the general sense. To get more specific, the nations of the world, the different ruling organizations, are composed always of two parts. These are the people and the system. The people are the business men, the workers, writers, all those who compose the element of a land, a colony, or country. The system is a magnification of the efforts and the minds of the people; the government, the system of economy, the labor conditions.

First of all, let us take the people. In nine cases out of ten, the old class system is, indirectly, still in effect. There are rich peopleand poor people, and the great element is composed of those who refuse to believe that they are anything but "middle-class." At the top of the ladder, we have lots of unhappy people, but people who have attained success, wealth, and position.

However, they wrangle and scheme and complain; they're unhappy about something they must do or suffer from a deep craving for something they know they can't have. It is in this group that we find our leaders—the government officials, the politicians, business men, and those who have otherwise made themselves filthy—filthy rich, as the term goes. They are the ones through which the multitudes and masses speak; about one loudspeaker, or as we call them, representatives, for every hundred or so thousand individuals. Through them the character and morals of the people are generally reflected, good or bad.

Then comes that middle class. They're the ones who "think they can be on top" someday. They're living for the sole purpose of advancement and top position. Few of them are happy; however, about the only happiness in the world is to be found in this group. Too, they're the ones who shout the loudest when something goes wrong with government or with that "system," of which I shall explain soon.

Well, the people at the bottom of the bracket "will never amount to anything." Please note the quotation marks. They're struggling, poor, miserable, even in most cases. They're always unhappy and the other two classes look down upon them, as surely as did any top official during the days of the great empires.

These are not remote things—conditions which include everyone except you. And think twice before you place yourself in that middle bracket; don't go with the crowd this time, but be honest with yourself. Do you look down upon that "lower class?"

The system is maintained, its policies established and executed by the classes of people. They're all slaves to the government and to the economic system. They all must work and see that the thing functions properly. You're a slave to it, and so am I. We all are. But you can free yourself from it, just anytime—when you're ready to starve to death. The type of set-up depends upon the people. For, you see, they support it and carry it on. The people are the system, no matter whether it's a dictatorship, a democracy, or an anarchy. No matter how indirectly so, the people are the system. If this were not true, any form of system, we'll say, and not government, that arose under the direction of any individual that met too harshly with the disapproval of the people would be quite readily overthrown, as with a dictatorship in the United States. Therefore, we conclude that, since the people are the system, anything a government does is not the fault of their leader, but of the people.

But this might meet sharp and accurate rebuttal when the ruler has placed himself at the head of the—SYSTEM—by force, and the people haven't the will, the power, and the courage to overthrow him. That is probably NOT what happened in Germany, for the people were quite impressed with what their leader had to offer.

It's easy to see that until the hearts and minds of the peoples of all nations are set firm in the conviction that WAR IS NOT THE WAY, we shall take to weapons whenever there is a dispute. The individual is the person to work on. When peace-mongering becomes as famous as war-mongering, we can kiss goodbye to old Military Conflict; we can rid ourselves of his bad manners, his hate, his filth, and starvation. We, in saying goodbye to war, can forget the nightmares that are Hiroshima and Nagasaki and Bikini Atoll. Blood will not flow so steadil yover the globe, symbolizing the battle grounds upon which thousands "DIED IN THE DEFENSE OF THEIR COUNTRY.

THE DONKEY JUST KICKED

He threw both hind legs into the air and kicked the southern dream of a solid south clear back into the south end of the Mississippi river. Now the President is going to spoil all that by calling another session of Congress on July 26. Right now the people are all steamed up, but it won't last two days; come the bickering and lobbying and squirming in that special session. About the nomination—who else? They would have nominated Henry Wallace had he still been in the Donkey Party. Politics aren't worth the platform they're built upon, that being greed, promises to be unkept, mud slinging, and the spoils system."

I feel a draft—a draft of hot air and I wonder who could be responsible? After all, four years in office is a long time to have to call a special session of a congress after the conventions. Many people dislike the use of public office—the highest public office particularly—for personal advantages or for party advantages. Too, the general opinion is that a special session of Congress at this time would be the result of no less. They wonder why "he" took a trip to the west instead of the south—where he could have seen how badly people needed the civil rights that the President had dreamed up. And the Republicans are for "civil rights" too. Every four years, Santa Claus comes in July—with the political conventions.

FOOTNOTE: They didn't believe in the democracy their party stood for — so they left and went home, where they didn't have to worry about it.

Youth Hear Robeson On Democracy

Paul Robeson will be one of the principal speakers when a new national youth organization is founded in Philadelphia's Convention Hall on July 25-26.

The new youth group, which will support the program and policies of the new party of Henry Wallace and Senator Glen H. Taylor, will open its sessions on the closing day of the natoinal founding convention of the Wallace new party.

Both Wallace and Taylor will also address the youth group, which will be composed of delegates from every section of the country and representing religious, farm, labor, student and Ntgro youth.

The call to the convention, issued by 225 youth leaders, states that the program of Wallace and Taylor offers Negro youth "full protection of civil liberties, freedom from Jim Crow in civilian life and the armed forces and full equality of opportunity in the economic and political life of America."

Leaders of Negro youth who signed the call as individuals include trade unionists, clergy, students and professionals. Among them are: Bert Alves, formerly with the Civil Rights Congress of Harlem; Richard A. Bancroft, Local 471, United Public Workers, Washington, D.C.; Randolph Blackwell, NAACP, Greensboro, N.C.; Dr. John E. Camper, candidate for Congress, Baltimore, Md.; Winston C. Edwards, chairman, United Negro and Allied Veterans of America, Washington, D.C.; John L. Glenn, NAACP, Houston, Tex.;

Ewart Guinier, International Sec.-treas., United Public Workers, New York; Abram Hill, American Negro Theatre, Brooklyn, N.Y.; Bernice Jackson, chairman, Bethesda Baptist Church Youth Fellowship, Brooklyn, New York; Edna L. Johnson, exec. board, Local 761, United Automobile Workers, Indianapolis, Ind.; Jack Lee, youth director, Progressive Party of Massachusetts, Boston, Mass.; Charles H. Lewis, pres., Boston NAACP Youth Council, Boston, Mass.; Don Smith, sub-district director, United Packinghouse Workers, New York, N.Y.; Walter Wallace, chairman, National Student Association, New York Metropolitan Region, New York, N.Y., and Dr. Edward K. Weaver, pres., Southern Negro Youth Congress, Montgomery, Alabama.

Youth Delegate Sent to I.P.P. Convention

Horace J. Alexander, Regional Vice Chairman of Students For Wallace, left last week-end for Philadelphia where he will be a delegate to the convention of the Independent Progressive Party as the representative of students and youth.

Alexander who is a student at Los Angeles City College, has been an active worker in the Students For Wallace committee for the past six months, and he has also been heard on the weekly radio program "Urban League Reports" over KRKD.

Youth is expected to play an important part in the founding convention of the new party, and Alexander, who was elected from the Southern California area, will be prominent in the convention.

YMCA Boy Campers Return Home Today

One hundred twenty boys return to the city today (Thursday) from YMCA Camp Big Pines after eight days in the great out-of-doors.

Eager parents will be waiting for their arrival at the "Y" building between 5 and 6 p.m., realizing that they have had one of the finest experiences any boy can have. They go back to the "Y" tomorrow to resume their activities in the "Summer Fun Club."

On July 29, another group of "Y" boys will head for a week of camping fun at Big Pines. Send your boy to "Y" camp. Call the "Y" today and get full information about the camp. This last group will leave July 29 and return August 3.

Shaw Univ. Notes

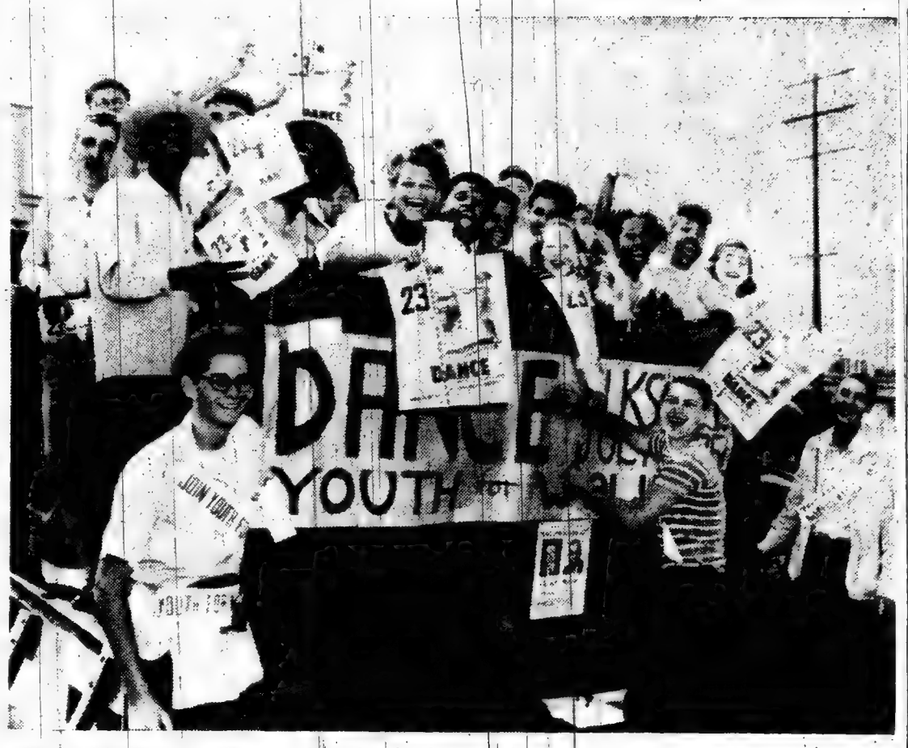
RALEIGH, N. C. — President Robert P. Daniel, addressing the first summer session assembly in Greenleaf auditorium of Shaw university, urged his hearers to set the proper pace for those who follow. "Your training should fit you to more readily make adjustments so that those who are behind may follow you willingly and with confidence," he said.

The summer session has an enrollment of 470. The five weeks' session, with classes daily Monday through Saturday, ended July 12.

Television at 28th Street 'Y'

A six day institute of television will be held at the 28th St. YMCA for the week of July 26th sponsored by the Harcraft Appliance stores. Leading Philco television technicians will be on hand giving a series of lectures. The sets will be located in the lobby for public view. According to Robert Wilson, a Negro Philco sales representative, such an affair affords Negroes an opportunity to familiarize themselves with the various phases of television.

Child House Lecture Series to Continue



Doctor Wendell Johnson, author of "People in Quandries," spoke on "Your Child By Any Other Name" in the first of three special Wednesday evening lectures last night at Child House, 2225 West Adams Boulevard.

Director of the University of Iowa Psychology and Speech Clinic, Doctor Johnson is in California to teach a guest summer course at the University of Southern California and to complete his forthcoming book on speech correction.

The special series concludes the season of classes for parents, physicians and teachers on child guidance and mental hygiene held under the sponsorship of Child House, a non-profit nursery school and guidance center.

Speakers for the two lectures scheduled for July 28 and August 4 are Doctor Bertrand S. Frohman, author of "Brief Psychotherapy," and Professor Max Silverstein, Supervisor of Field Work, Graduate Division, Social Welfare Department, University of California at Los Angeles.

Employment has dropped during the past month in furniture and fixture manufacturing.

YOUTH FOR WALLACE are all smiles as they display placards and streamers advertising their outstanding dance set for tomorrow night (Friday, July 23) at Elks Hall. Music will be Johnny Otis' superb orchestra and dancing specialty by Marie Bryant. Many artists of stage and screen will be present. The dance is jointly sponsored by 62, 63, 67 A.D. for Wallace. —Vera Jackson photo.

Eastside Settlement Activities

Steel Fence: The Staff, Board, members and children are most grateful to the Los Angeles Community Chest for the most recent improvement; enclosure of the playground with a 10-foot steel fence. The fence has added to the appearance of our playground and will do away with the ussal trespassing after club hours.

Opening of Playground — Already the children are planning a grand opening for the children of the neighborhood on Friday afternoon of this week.

New Volunteers — Miss Jean Hall of Chicago is attending Music Workshop in Santa Monica; is giving us two half days per week to our Summer Program. The teen-age group on Wednesday afternoon appreciate the contribution she is making to their Folk Dancing Group. Mr. Anderson and Boys' Choir which meets Saturday mornings are most grateful to her for becoming their pianist. Mrs. Georgia Tambro has started a tap dancing class which is open to our boys and girls of Junior High School level.

Crafts — Chief Kintau (Williams) has been giving three hours per day, Monday thru Friday, which has added much to the Settlement program as well as the St. Paul Baptist Vacation Church School program.

New Craft Class — Monday, July 19, Chief Kintau starts a Craft Class in Copper for Adults. If you are interested in doing a project in either shell or copper you will want to attend this class at 1 p.m. each Monday. This is your chance to make some Christmas presents now.

Misses Rosa Lee Kelley and Hortense Stevens were added to our Volunteer roster to help with trips. They went with the group last Wednesday to Val Verde, at which time about 80 youngsters enjoyed the day at Val Verde. Six of them went from the Settlement House. The next trip will be Wednesday, July 28, and we hope to have more children attend from Eastside Settlement.

Mrs. Marie Edwards will start our class in Ceramics Friday, July 23.

Sewing for Adults—Mrs. Mattie Stafford, a member of the Board at Eastside Settlement, started a class in Sewing for adults. It was most gratifying to see the number of women taking advantage of this class.

Music Class Closed—The music class being taught by Mrs. Neosho Tatum closed last Wednesday until school opens in September. Mrs. Tatum is taking a vacation, and giving her children a vacation until September.

Mrs. Vena, a worker in the Christian church on Western at 30th Street joined our Volunteer Staff, will help Mrs. Jones, our Group Worker with opening at playground, will serve two afternoons per week this summer.

Need for Volunteers to work in Fall Community Chest Campaign. Mrs. Malinda Mae Garland, chairman, is in need of many more volunteers. Won't you call Mrs. Garland at CE. 2-1571 and tell her to bring you a card to sign for the Fall Campaign. We need 50 more workers.

Out of every $1,000 of income for 1946 (the latest figures available) $314 was spent for government.

New Playground For Southside

Legal papers concerned with the condemnation and possession of the property required to complete the new playground proposed for the area on 88th Street between Avalon and San Pedro have been prepared.

Councilman Kenneth Hahn sent a copy of the papers to the CALIFORNIA EAGLE, and he announces that within a few months the red tape and legal operations will be complete, enabling the actual preparation which, upon completion will provide a spacious playground for the district.

Lincoln Designated As Training Center

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo.—According to an announcement by Dean Earl E. Dawson of the College of Arts and Sciences, iLncoln university (Mo.), the institution has been designated as a Teacher Training Agency for Vocational Teachers of Home Economics, Agriculture and Industrial Arts.

The program will be initiated with the 1948-49 fall term, the curricula patterns in these areas being virtually the same as they are at present, since the respective requirements have been met for the last several years.

Hobart Blvd. PTA Installs Officers; Plans Program

The Hobart Boulevard P.T.A. met recently at the home of Mrs. John Ochs, citizenship chairman. The new chairmen appointed were: Mrs. Joe Taylor, ways and means; Mrs. David Williams and Mrs. B. C. Howard, co-chairmen on parent education; Mrs. Milton Schmidt, child welfare; Mrs. Elmer H. Erfurth, youth activities; Mrs. Milton L. Mahler, membership; Mrs. N. C. Cribb, newsette; Mrs. Joseph H. First, publicity; Mrs. L. Weinberg, room mother; and Mrs. Milton Mahler, clippings.

Under the leadership of Mrs. Modupe Paris, program chairman, the Hobart P.T.A. is arranging to hold three night meetings during the summer so that working parents may attend, and plan a program for next year.

An installation luncheon was held at the Nikabob restaurant at which time the newly elected officers were installed by Mrs. E. F. Hue. In an impressive ceremony Mrs. Hue presented the new officers with gifts and instructed them in their duties. They are as follows: Mrs. Jules Medow, president; Mr. Louis A. Trempe, first vice-president; Mrs. Modupe Paris, second vice-president; Mrs. J. J. Jensen, recording secretary; Mrs. Leona Browning, treasurer; Mrs. Ricardo Foster, auditor; Mrs. Nathan Fruchter, historian.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By REV. IKE EVANS, D.D.

Subject: Bezalel, The Craftsman. Lesson Text and Outline: Exodus 31:1-11; 2. Chronicles 1:5. Motto Text: Ecclesiastes 9-10.

Introduction

The dignity of labor, the source of artistic ability, the secret of mechanical skill, and the of worthy workmanship are strikingly shown in the consecrated craftsman who, with capable associate and assistants, superintended the construction of the Tabernacle at Sinia.

Comments

1. When God has work to do he will never want instruments to do it with, for all hearts and heads too are under his eyes, and in his hand; and those may cheerfully go about any service for God, and go on in it, who have reason to think that, one way or another, he has called them to it; for whom he calls he will own and hear out. Skill in common arts and employments is the gift of God; from him are derived both the faculty and the improvement of the faculty. It is he that puts even this wisdom into the inward parts. God teaches the husbandman discretion, and the tradesman too; and he must have the praise of it. God dispenses his gifts variously, one gift to one, another to another, and 11 for the good of the whole body, both of mankind and of the church. Moses was fittest of all to govern Israel, But Bezaleel was fitter than he to build the tabernacle. The common benefit is very much supported by the variety of men's faculties and inclinations: the genius of some leads then to be serviceable one way, of others another way, and all these worketh that one and the self-same Spirit. This forbids pride, envy, contempt, and carnal emulation, and strengthens the bond of mutual love. Those whom God calls to any service he will either find, or make, fit for it. If God give the commission, he will in some measure give the qualifications, according as the service is. The work that was to be done here was to make the tabernacle and the utensils of it, which are here particularly reckoned up. And for this persons employed were enabled to work in gold, and silver, and brass. When Christ sent his apostles to rear the gospel-tabernacle, he poured out his Spirit upon them, to enable them to speak with tongues the wonderful works of God; not to work upon metal, but to work upon men; so much more excellent were the gifts, as the tabernacle to be pitched was a greater and more perfect tabernacle. 2. Solomon offered sacrifices on the brazen altar at Gibeon. The Altar was built by Bezalel about 1490 B.C. the great brazen altar of burnt offering was used through the wilderness and in Canaan at Shiloh and at Gibeon five miles from Jerusalem where it was ready for spectacular service at the height of the Hebrew monarchy. On coming to the throne after David his father, Solomon sought to worship God at the ancient altar. The impressive ceremony included the prayer for wisdom and the sacrifive of a thousand burnt offerings.

Comment on the Motto Text

There is not only something to be had, but something to be done, in this life, and the chief good we are to enquire after is the good we should do. This is the world of service; that to come is the world of recompence. This is the world of probation and preparation for eternity; we are here upon business, and upon our good behaviour. Opportunity is to direct and quicken duty. That is to be done which our hand finds to do, which occasion calls for; and an active hand will always find something to do that will turn to a good account. What must be done, of necessity, our hand will here find a price in it for the doing of. What good we have an opportunity of doing we must do while we have the opportunity, and do it with our might, with care, vigour, and resolution, what ever difficulties and discouragements we may meet with in it. Harvest-days are busy days; and we must make hay while the sun shines. Serving God and working out our salvation must be done with all that is within us, and all little enough.

Dr. Jackson Honored At 5th Anniversary

GARY, Ind. — The celebration of the fifth year pastorate of Dr. L. K. Jackson, minister of the St. Paul Baptist Church, was recently observed. Ministers and their congregations of every denomination throughout the city and adjacent areas, also civic and fraternal representatives paid their respects, during a series of nightly meetings.

A Who's Who popularity contest and Queen Rally were featured as the anniversary high light.

Mrs. Theodosia Jackson, representing the Prosperity Club and reporting $272.63, was crowned Queen of Queens, with Mrs. Mary Williams, representing the Daughters of Zion, and reporting $178.45; and Mrs. Vera Worsham, representing the Gospel Chorus, and reporting $158.44, winning second and third places, respectively. $50, $25 and $15 were prizes given the Queens in order named.

The Rev. Richard M. Owens, pastor of the Peoples Baptist Church, Boston, Mass., preached the anniversary sermon.

Climaxing this affair, a reception was tendered Dr. Jackson and wife, at which time gifts and cash were reported to the sum of $2.525; and when all reports are completed, this amount will easily be raised to $2.600.

Only free people can hold their purpose and their honor steady to a common end, and prefer the interest of mankind to any narrow interest of their own. —Woodrow Wilson

Final Rites for Mrs. Annie Roberts Lloyd Yesterday

Mrs. Annie Roberts Lloyd, 2110 West 31st street, passed peacefully to her rest last Friday evening at 7:15 o'clock, when she told her granddaughter, dorusily "I'm awfully tired. And when I go to sleep, don't let anyone waken me."

Mrs. Annie Roberts Lloyd

Those were her last words. She went to sleep. And no one tried to waken her.

Annie Roberts Lloyd, widow of the late Dwight Lyman Lloyd was born in Moberly, Missouri, on March 6, 1943.

When in her teens, she joined the Baptist Church and until her passing enjoyed her church life. During her early girlhood she sang with the famous pianist, Blind Boone.

At the age of 19, in Kansas City, Mo., she married Dwight Lyman Lloyd, of Pittsfield, Mass.

Four children were born in their Missouri home after which the family, over 45 years ago, moved to California where another son was born. In 1909, while residing in the West Jefferson district, the father passed leaving the mother with five children.

"Fommie" as she was affectionally called by her grand children and all close friends, is survived by; two daughter, Mrs. Bessie Hosmon and Mrs. Pauline Stokley; two sons, Mr. Ercel Lloyd, of Berkley, and Mr. Harold Lloyd of Los Aneles; twelve grand children, Lloyd, Andrew, Dwight, Richard and James Smith; Mrs. Bessie Hosmon Banks, Mrs. Wilberta Hosmon Worthy, Mrs. Christina Smith Pollard, Mrs. Lydia Smith Price, Mrs. Williamette Palmer, and Anne Lloyd and Jacques Stockley Jr.; thirteen great-grand children, thre great-great-grandchildren, three nieces, Mrs. Maud Myers and Rose Ellis of New York City, and Mrs. Rose Jones; one nephew, Mr. Clarence Ruby of Kansas City; two grand nieces, Miss Frankie Dixon and Mrs. Ethel Conte of New York City and a host of friends.

Mrs. Lloyd was a member of Trinity Baptist Church, the Deacon Board, the Missionary Society, The Pride of the West, circle 207 of the Foresters, a charter member founder and first president of the Westside Benevolet Society and the Widows Club, and the Lend-A-Hand Club, and an honorary member of the Five and Over Charity Club.

Funeral services were conducted by the Angelus Funeral Home at 2110 West 31st street, yesterday, (Wednesday) at 1 p.m. Rev. Jonathan L. Caston, pastor of Trinity Baptist Church, officiated.

Rev. A. S. Jackson Guest Speaker at Second Baptist Sun.

In keeping with the United Negro College Fund Rally, Second Baptist will have as guest speaker Sunday, July 25, at the 11 o'clock worship, Rev. A. S. Jackson II, Public Relations Councilman of Bishop College and resident of Dallas, Texas. Rev. Jackson is a son of Rev. A. S. Jackson, Sr., who at one time was the minister in the celebrated New Hope Baptist Church of Dallas. Therefore, he comes to us with a rich preaching heritage and we can look forward to a glorious Sunday morning worship hour. Won't you accept our invitation to worship with us at Second Baptist on Sunday?

The evening worship hour at 7:30 will feature "An Evening at the Organ" by Mrs. Luvenia Nash Freeze, who recently resigned the position of organist at Second. The public is invited to attend and hear this distinguished organist play the great organ she presided over for 28 years. There will be no admission charge. A free-will offering will be given as an expression of gratitude for the many years of commendable service rendered at Second Baptist by Mrs. Nash, as she is most popularly known to all of us.

Sweet Chariot Hour Silent Until Fall

The Sweet Chariot Hour, after six years of continuous weekly broadcasts, will be off the air during summer months. Originating from the Sunset Avenue Church in Pasadena, the program will return to the air Saturday evenings over KXLA.

It costs the federal government 10 times as much to educate Indians in Federal schools as in public schools.

BREAD FOR VICTORY might well be the caption of the above photograph showing Mayor Fletcher Bowron and Paul H. Helms, president of Helms Bakeries, officially inaugurating the first of a series of daily flights of freshly-baked Helms bread to the United States Olympic teams. The bread, suitably packed, will be flown from Los Angeles to LaGuardia Field from whence it will be sped to London. Monday's inaugural flight took off at 11 a.m. Subsequent flights will take off at midnight with the bread arriving in London in time to grace the tables of the athlete's at noon the next day. William May Garland and Governor Warren were among the notables who witnessed the initial take-off. A specially wrapped and decorated package of Helms bread was sent to the King and Queen of England so they might break bread with the athletes in a spirit of good will sportsmanship.

In Remembrance

In loving memory of my dear husband, Rev. Hayes Hayter, who passed away two years ago, July 20, 1946.

How well do I remember
The nice things you did and said.
My one consoling thought is
You've just gone on ahead.
Sadly missed by your loving wife, Lucinda Hayter.

We must accept the disciplines of democracy as well as its freedoms. Discipline from without flourishes when discipline from within grows weak.

Tractor Safety Depends on Easy Ride Seat

"No more back-breaking tractor rides!" says Phillip B. Senesac, shop foreman in the Agricultural Engineering Department of Purdue University. He is shown seated on a new type tractor seat which was installed nearly two years ago on a tractor used on the school's experimental farms.

LAFAYETTE, IND. — Relief from the "rough-riding" discomforts farmers suffer while driving a tractor over bumpy fields every day is essential not only to more efficient farming, but is also a major factor in reducing farm accidents, according to a recent statement by Donald M. Kinch, assistant professor of Agricultural Engineering at Purdue University.

Basing his opinion on a recent tractor operators comfort survey conducted by the Society of Automotive Engineers which revealed that the percentage of time tractor drivers sit on the seats of their machines ranged from a high of 99 per cent on one make of tractor to a low of 55 per cent on another model, Mr. Kinch declared:

"Standing on tractors while driving is extremely hazardous. Recent reports show that a majority of farm accidents involve falls from machinery, particularly tractors. While in some cases a farmer is forced to stand because of the need for better vision, generally this practice can be traced to the fact that the tractor is not equipped with a comfortable seat and the constant jolting and vibration are too much for his endurance.

"The average farmer sits on his tractor seat for longer periods than he does in the seat of his automobile. Certainly it is far more essential that he be comfortable while doing his field work than when he is merely driving for pleasure," Mr. Kinch stated.

Pointing out that considerable progress toward providing comfort for tractor drivers has been made, Mr. Kinch said that he was "greatly impressed with a new type tractor seat which was installed on a tractor used on the university's experimental farms, by a Michigan manufacturing firm nearly two years ago. This tractor seat consists of a variable rate coil spring, which makes adjustments unnecessary regardless of the weight of the driver, a double action hydraulic shock absorber to smooth the jolts, and a rubber-mounted stabilizer bar to reduce sideway. The popularity of this seat is indicated by the fact that it is now being used as standard equipment on four well-known makes of tractors.

Sunday Text 'Truth'

The Golden Text of the Sunday Lesson-Sermon on "Truth" in all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, is from Deuteronomy and reads, "Ascribe ye greatness unto our God. He is the Rock, his work is perfect: for all his ways are judgment: a God of truth and without iniquity, just and right is he."

According to John's Gospel, "A certain nobleman, . . . besought" Jesus "that he would come down, and heal his son: for he was at the point of death. . . . Jesus saith unto him, Go thy way; thy son liveth. And the man believed the word that Jesus had spoken unto him, and he went his way. And as he was now going down, his servants met him, and told him, saying, Thy son liveth. . . . Yesterday at the seventh hour the fever left him. So the father knew that it was at the same hour, in the which Jesus said unto him, Thy son liveth: and himself believed, and his whole house."

Mary Baker Eddy says in "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures:" "Truth is God's remedy for error of every kind, and Truth destroys only what is untrue. Hence the fact that, to-day, as yesterday, Christ casts out evils and heals the sick."

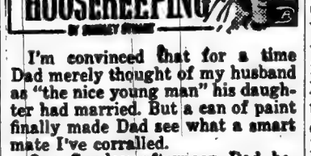
Mass Meeting on Civil Rights At Independent Sunday

The Fred Douglas Voters League and the Men's Council of the People's Independent Church of Christ are calling an EMERGENCY MASS MEETING Sunday, July 25, at 7:00 p.m., at the People's Independent Church of Christ, 1025 E. 18th street.



Dr. Clayton D. Russell, a delegate to the Democratic Convention, will give a complete report on the convention and the plank of the platform "civil rights."

Dr. Russell in a telephone conversation from Philadelphia stated, "The calling of a special session of the 80th Congress by President Truman on July 26, gives us an excellent opportunity to demand, before the elections in November, both the Republican and Democratic parties to enact into law during this special session a fair employment practice act, an anti-lynch bill, an anti-poll tax bill, a housing bill, and a control on the high cost of living."

Along with Dr. Russell at this mass meeting, other civic leaders will map out a program of action on a national scale.

Every one is urged to attend this meeting.

So this is HOUSEKEEPING

I'm convinced that for a time Dad merely thought of my husband as "the nice young man" his daughter had married. But a can of paint finally made Dad see what a smart mate I've corralled.

One Sunday afternoon Dad began his favorite lament about the house again needing painting and the fact that he wouldn't pay so-called "high prices" for paint.

"That's where you're making your big mistake," jumped in my spouse.

Then the pride of the Stuarts really dressed Dad down. He pointed out that cheap house paint, by not standing up well, costs far more money in the long run. He maintained that really good paint is inexpensive insurance.

Well, Dad sputtered a bit, then stoutly declared that since the war sufficient good paint couldn't be had.

"Not according to the world's largest manufacturer of paint," says my best beau. "And you'd be surprised at the improvements they've made to give a longer-lasting, better-appearing paint job than ever before."

A few days later I discovered Dad had been checking up on a few things.

"Speaking of improvements in certain paints," he began, "chalking is a good example." For my benefit he explained that chalking provides a self-cleaning feature in good paint. The chalk with clinging dirt and dust is gradually washed away during rainfalls. It seems that in the new Sherwin-Williams paint, chalking is rigidly controlled to prevent wearing down too quickly. This control provides an extra year of fresh appearance for a paint job.

Dad got excited too, about a new control of oil penetration. He explained that a method had been found to prevent vital oil from soaking into the wood. Through a new process, developed by Sherwin-Williams, much of the oil is held in the paint film to make a better-looking, more durable film with fewer brush marks and more uniform thickness.

Until we have our own home to paint, I consider SWP has done enough for me: I overheard Dad telling one of his friends, "That new son of mine—good head on his shoulders!"

New Party Convention Opens With Emphasis on Civil Rights

The strongest platform on civil rights for Negroes since the Reconstruction era is expected to be written by the New Party convention of 2500 delegates who convene in Philadelphia July 23-25 to nominate Henry Wallace for President and Senator Glen H. Taylor for Vice President.

The convention is also expected to demand of President Truman that he use his powers to end segregation in the armed forces by an executive order immediately.

Some 500 Negro delegates and most of the approximately 50 Negro candidates running for state and federal office on the New Party ticket will take part in formally organizing the New Party and writing the platform.

Larkin Marshall, Macon, Ga., publisher and first Negro candidate in Georgia to run for the U. S. Senate since post-civil war days, is scheduled to nominate Taylor for Vice President.

Both Wallace and Taylor will accept the nominations Saturday night before a crowd of 35,000 persons expected to pack Philadelphia's Shibe Park, city baseball grounds, for the only outdoor session of the major political conventions. Opening speaker at the Saturday session will be Magistrate Joseph Rainey, President of the Philadelphia NAACP.

The New Party platform is expected to call for complete outlawing of racial discrimination and segregation in America. It will demand an immediate end of discrimination in federal service and is expected to call for federal supervision of polling places in the South where Negro voting rights are ignored.

In addition, the platform is expected to call specifically for anti-poll tax and anti-lynch legislation, halting of federal aid to any agencies practicing discrimination, prohibition of discrimination in government contracts, a permanent FEPC, state legislation to outlaw discrimination, immigration restrictions based and segregation, and abolition of on mace.

Arrangements, credentials and other committees will also meet before the convention opens. Two Negro newspaper publishers — Roscoe Dunjee, of Oklahoma City, and Mrs. Charlotte A. Bass of Los Angeles, Calif., Editor and publisher of the CALIFORNIA EAGLE, are among the 10 committee officers.

The convention will be officially named Friday night and when it closes, after 20 hours of sessions it will have created the political organization binding together new parties and Wallace Committees now existing in most of the '48 states.

Powell Will Speak Here For West View

Congressman Adam Clayton Powell Jr., will positively appear as the guest speaker at the West View Hospital Building Fund Dinner to be held at the Ambassador Hotel next Tuesday evening, July 27. The committee through executive secretary Nita Blackwell, makes this announcement in order to assure the public that Represenative Powell will be here despite the special session of Congress called for the 26th by President Truman. A message to that effect was received this week from th congressman.

Mrs. Mary Gudelj, soprano, Carl Randall, tenor from the Los Angeles Conservatory of Music and Arts, and Curtis Stearns are among the artists who will appear on the dinner program. Proceeds from the dinner will go toward the completion of the first 50-bed unit of the non-sectrian, non-profit, inter-racial hospital.

Reservations may be secured at the West View Hospital offices, 5131 Main Street, CEntury 2-6717.

10 last, one month from the date 17 year old Augustin Salcido was mowed down by a fusillade of bullets from the gun of policeman William J. Keyes. During the trial of Keyes, Gallegos was with his wife. Mrs. Washington reported to authorities that her husband was annoying her. A court order injoined him from further molesting her or going on the property pending a determination by the court.

The husband replied to the wife's move by putting his case in the hands of a lawyer. Atty. H. Leonard Richardson, representing the husband, was reported on the verge of filing a divorce action on behalf of his client, when death overtook Mrs. Washington. Relatives of the deceased woman are reported to have quickly taken charge of the property jointly owned by the husband and Mrs. Washington and all of her personal effects.

Washington told newsmen that his wife's relatives had barred him from the home. It is expected that Atty. Richardson will seek a writ to set aside the court order restraining Washington from entering the home, and be given full authority to the jointly owned property and the disposition of his wife's remains pending a probate court hearing.

Funeral services will be held Saturday, 11 a.m. from the Chapel of Remembrance in the W. D. Fisher and Sons Mortuary, with the Rev. H. B. Haag officiating. Interment will follow in Rosedale cemetery. Members of the family surviving the deceased Mrs. Washington include her mother, Mrs. Lora L. Johnson; sisters, Lena Johnson, Mrs. Lillian Cumber, Mrs. Dorothy Clarke, and Mrs. Ellen Jones, and a brother, J. B. Johnson of Santa Monica, and Mrs. Annie J. Robinson, her godmother.

IF IT'S NEWS YOU'LL FIND IT HERE

The news of the sudden death of Myrtle Washington (sis of Lillian Cumber) certainly came as quite a shock to a great many of us. Myrtle was liked by everyone and cherished her friends dearly. Her ex-husband, I understand will return to the city for the funeral services Sat. morninm at 11:89 at Fisher Mortuary . . . Don't know when I've talked to a cooler person than Jack Kelson, he's saz player with the Milton crew . . . speaking of the Milton combo (and the yare terrific) since a lota folks don't know the names of the fellas in the band would be sorta nice if Roy would let you know by callin the fella's names as they take a solo . . . The thing I like about Dynamite Jackson's Paradise Lounge is his policy that whenever a lady enter the portals, she be treated like one . . . Gotta dash over to the Casbah and listen to the band of Benny Carter where he's packin' 'em in . . . Can't remember when I've met a nicer person to talk to than Phil Rhotan. He's the cous of the two Angel City cuties (Eunice and Jean) Gross. Phil and I have the same idea about life: "It's short, so enjoy it" . . . Some one who realy deserves a lotta credit for a very nice affair Sunday is Wini Orr. Wini worked untireingly along with Jay Loft Lynn, Duke Williams and Francoise Andre and other members of the American Vets (Wendell Wilkie Chapter) to put on this "Stags at Bay," featuring men in the latest fashion's. Really something different and nice! And then, the gracious Wini had a thank-you cocktail party over at the Fawn for members of the press and Models . . .Aha! pretty Jewel Logan said she looked at her boy friend and immediately she could read his thoughts, and why not? They were in her own handwriting . . .The Gene Norman "Just Jazz" concert featuring Diz Gill espie Mon. Nite was a "real gone nite" for all Be-Bop lovers, caus Diz was really puttin it out, and if you don't go in for the Be-Bop jive, the band vocalist Johnny Hartman wil sing you to sleep. He croons any tune sweeter than I've heard in many a moon . . . We've found out another reason why the Johnson Bath House is the talk of the town, take a glimpse of pretty big-eyed Josephine Mallet she's the receptionist . . . By the time of this print Adam C. Powell Jr. and his wife Hazel Scott should be i nthe fair city . . . While Hubby Adam Clayton Powell will speak at the Ambassador Hotel at a dinner for the benefit of Westview Hospital Tuesday night, Hazel will be preparing herself for her only concert performance at the Holly'wd Bowl . . . Back from a frantic vacation spent in the bay city, our Bro. Randolph Lomax and sis to-be Helen Juniel still ravin about the ooodles of fun . . . If I should lose my sight and never be able to see again, there's one thing I'd ALWAYS remember, the pretty dimpled smile of Alex Pendlan knocks me out'! . . . That was George Dawson the beautician you saw the other A.M. with all that champagne . . . Barbaar Little (they say) acted like anything but a lady in one of the nite spots the other A. M. (Me surprised? Are you kidden?).

When Ed Dudley played "The Sabre Dance" at the Congo Sunday afternoon, he had to came back for more and more . . . Duke Williams, former star of the Anna Veasta show and hubby of cute Anita Turner(lucky girl) is now working with an interracial group at one of the theaters . . . Handsome Lee Gaines of the Delta Rhythm Boy's smiling at acquaintances at the Crebar the other noon hr. . . . That was Cristobe Baker and Allen of the "Snooks and Allen" team you saw cruisen' around town in that frantic red convertable. Down for a few days from the Bay City . . . Detroit's pretty Helen Lankin has sportsman Julian Temple on a swoon tip, while the Angel city's shapely Dorothy Grea[illegible] causing N. York's Carl Adler heartache's . . . Take the name of Haston Woodlem, add tenor vocalist in back of mix well and store it in your memory cause you're going to be hearin a lot about this fella real soon. He opens with the new show out at Slapsy Maxie's, and will do one of Cecil (Count Carter's numbers, "Indian Waters" . . . Mabel Scott scoring terrificly with the Slim Gaillard Trio at San Francisco's Cotton Club, also the Four Ebony Sisters consisting of Petter Rabbit, Louise Collette and two other girls . . . Hear there was quite a bit of confusion between Dorothy Donegan and the management at the Actor's Club, where the Sepianeers are currently appearing . . . We're tryin to figure out who the fella was talkin about in the Downbeat the other A. M. when he said "She keep a grievance like a dog . . . as soon as one leaves she replaces it with another" . . . Bill Hefflin informs us that he and his brother Leon have decided to close the doors of the Angel city's largest Sepia nite club, "The Congo." The usual thing: No money coming in. Can't think of any better reason to close can you?

Vina's
3745 S. Western Ave.
Republic 9339

This cozy little spot, located on S. Western Ave., is known for its fine foods and continental atmosphere. The magnet drawing the crowds to VINA'S is Vina Reynolds owner of this classy club catering mostly to the theatrical profession and Maxie Thrower, one of the top singers around this neck of the woods. Maxie Thrower is the congenial manager.

Usually, this space is reserved for nite spot reviews, but we're reserving it this week solely for VINA'S, the home of fine foods. A meal at Vina's is truly an epicurean treat!

Someone remarked over my shoulder in a friendly game of Klob Yosh the other evening that "JT Gipson must be coining a mint, writing about all those nite spots!" The truth is, and you can take it for what it's worth ,that no nite spot owner can ever truthfully say we've accepted a dime for a mention in this column or in any of the EAGLE'S theatrical pages!

We're paid to review the spots. If a spot merits reviewing they'll get it here. If they don't, we won't pan them, we only omit the mention of the club. That's our policy, and as long as we're the conducter of these theatrical pages (and we will be until our contract runs out; which is years to come) THAT'S THE WAY IT WILL ALWAYS BE!

Mr. Thrower (as stated in the opening paragraph) is the manager of VINA'S, and in case some of you recently migrated here during World Hell No. 2, was (and still is) one of our top entertainers in California.

A singer who made quite a reputation in theatrical circles back in the early thirties, he has often been rated on a par with the late and great Sally Harper who, to me, was the greatest singing-entertainer who ever lived! Some of you probably never heard of Sally Harper.

But for that matter, some of you probably never heard of Red Beans and Rice!

Maxie, who first started out as a singer out at Frank Sesbastian's New Cotton Club in Culver City(now known as Zucca's) was inspired by the late Sally Harper, and anybody inspired by the late Sally Harper can't be anything but great!

The only fault we find with Maxie's singing is the fact that he's neglecting his voice and is now a retired singer-entertainer. He, today (take it from an overworked and underpaid nite club Editor) can out-sing any of these present day crop of so-called "top" new singing discoveries. But Maxie has retired from show business and is now devoting his time to the management of Vina's, and if Maxie puts just one third if his heart in managing Vina's as he did in his singing, you can bet all the tea in Harlem Vina's will zoom to the heights with Maxie Thrower at the helm!

ART TATUM, rated by many as the top pianist in the nation, arrived in town last week and will spend his summer vacation here. During his vacation here. During his vacation here he will "rest, not work," says Art. (Wanna bet?)

The popular band leader Roy Milton, always interested in combating juvenile deliquency, is donating his entire proceeds of the bands Julyth Farewell Appearance dance at the Elk's ballroom to the D.A.P.'s (Deputy Auxiliary Police) of the 77th Police District in Watts.

Mr. Milton, known throughout the nation as a musician and band leader, is well known also for his charitable work. Genuinely interested in combating juvenile delinquency, Roy was among the first to answer Al Jarvis' appeal for Father Flanagan's Boys Town.

The D.A.P.'s is a juvenile program of the Los Angeles Police Department under the district leadership of Sgt. Joe Jackson, Officer Marie Thomas, girls coordinator, and Officer Robert Polk, boys coordinator. This project sponsors such activities as football, baseball and basketball teams as well as other group organizations. The popular kid football team known as Snozollas is a program of the D.A.P.'s. These young boys and girls are learning the healthy and wholesome ways of life.

In an interview with Officer Marie Thomas it was stated that the generous gift of Mr. Roy Milton will be used specifically to send needy boys and girls to summer camps. "Mr. Milton is well known in this community, not only as a musician and band leader, but for his charitable works for juveniles," she said, "and such acts as his donating money to Father Flanagan's Boys Town and our organization, the D.A.P.'s, endears him to the public, both adults and children. The Deputy Auxiliary Police of the Watts district extend to Roy Milton their heartfelt thanks and wishes he and his musical organization continued good fortune in his coming eastern dance and theater tour."

Sunday, July 25th, is the day to see and hear this popular band leader at the Elks' Ballroom where he brings his fine musical aggregation for a farewell appearance to Southern California fans.

Jack Williams and Raymond Fields Added to Hi-Hatters

One of the more pleasanter surprises in Theatrical circles is the announcement that the dancesational Hi-Hatters (i.e. Eudell Johnson and Vernard Bradley) have added a duo of top steppers to their already famous act, namely: Raymond Fields, who formerly danced all across the nation in some of the country's leading nite spots with the famed 3-Step Sons and Jack Williams, often rated up among the top five steppers of the nation and a former musical comedy dance star.

The Hi-Hatters, currently appearing nitely at the Congo club as co-stars on a bill featuring song stylist Eunice Wilson, curvacious Paula Moore and the swingy rhythms of the Ceelee Burk band, are show-stoppers in the current Congo club review and are show-stoppers (for that matter!) wherever they dance.

With Williams and Fields being added to the already top dance act, the Hi-Hatters will undoubtedly go down in dance history as one of the top acts in show business.

The dancers are somewhat undecided as to what name to call the act. May we offer a suggestion? What's in a name? Nothing. As long as the Hi-Hatters continue to give out with the kind of torrid toe-tapping they're famous for, then that's all that really matters.

Success to the Hi-Hatters. They rate it, for if ever an act struggled hard and long to attain recognition it is the Hi-Hatters!

Three Flashes Off For Mexico City

The Three Flashesé, sensational new dance act featuring Harriett Ortega, Marge McGlory and Chas Crawford left Monday morning for Mexico City for a two weeks engagement at the Parado Hotel.

The Three Flashes is California's contribution to the Theatrical profession, and the two gals and a guy have an act somewhat on the order of Walter Winchell's favorites, Kay Thompson and the Four Williams Bros., which surely won't hurt their reputation any. Following their Mexico City engagement, the Three Flashes return to Hollywood for a screen test at one o fthe major studios with the possibility of a lucrative part in a forthcoming movie short in view.

The trio appeared as featured guests last Suhday at the Congo Club in the Winnie Orr directed Fashion show.

Gip Interviews King Cole in Columbus, O., and California

I first met Nat Cole, leader of the world famous King Cole trio, at 2 ayem in the morning standing bareheaded in front of the club Alabam, on Central Avenue. He was standing around gabbing with sidewalk conversationalists. It was raining like hell, and I was on my way inside to mooch a drink from a bartender pal of mine.

"Why don't you come in out of the rain?" I asked.

"Ain't got sense enough to," he said.

Well, thought I to myself, any man who ain't got sense enough to come in outuve the rain ain't never gonna amount to anything.

That was five years ago. Since that time piano-playing King Cole has sky-rocketed his trio to the top spot in the musical field's entertainment class. With good-looking Irving Ashby on guitar, handsome but bashful Johnny Miller on bass, and the King himself toying with the ivories, the boys earn four thousand smackers per week, which ain't bad even if it's only half that much!

My b'sness relationship with the King started one afternoon back in 1943, when his Royal Highness came by my office to offer me a job as press agent for the trio. They were then working for two hundred and fifty dollars a week, entertaining at a classy Los Angeles saloon called the 331 club.

Confidentially, I was working for much less slaving at the California Eagle. So I accepted the job, in addition to my other duties on the West's oldest weekly. We (meaning Nat and I) got along fine up to the week I forgot to put a picture of the trio in the paper.

That made Cole hot! He thought it was a %C..'y shame that such an important picture didn't get in the paper. The "important" picture was a shot taken at the swank Trocadero night club in Hollywood with Walter Winchell. The pose showed Winchell being serenaded by the trio. It was a publicity shot for the King) and the picture appeared in Downbeat and nearly every other trade magazine and paper (but mine!) in the country. Reason for its omission being that I had difficulty deciding between the Winchell-King pic or one of beauteous Betty Grable in a flesh-colored bathing suit to decorate my theatrical page.

Needless to state the Grable pic won out.

Needless to state, I was fired from further writing duties with the King Cole trio. I never held that against the boys as I went on to almost conquer greener pastures. I was on the verge of being employed as Lena Horne's press agent, but the deal fell through. Being on the verge of anything with Lena Horne is better'n a press agent's job with King Cole. The mere thought of working for and with Lena gives one pleasant thoughts and frenzied ideas. Someone in the Horne camp must have read my mind, as the job didn't materialize, and I remained a slave to the Eagle desk.

I next met King Cole a couple of years later backstage at the RKO Palace theatre in Columbus, Ohio. He had graduated to the four thousand per week class. I was in the same class, but different schools. This time I was theatrical editor for the Ohio State NEWS.

I went backstage to his dressing room for an interview. He greeted me with the statement: "So you're with the NEWS now! What the hell are you doing in COLUMBUS?" He answered his last question with the first statement, so I ignored him and spoke to his bass player, Johnny.

"Hi, Gip," he said. "Say, you're coming up in the world now. Your columns are better than Winchell's!"

A Jewish representative for Capitol Records (the firm that records the King's tunes) looked up from a music magazine he was reading and gave a little cough.

I said something in Yiddish which meant: "He's nuts! Winchell's still the King!!"

He smiled, went back to his reading, and I went on with my interview.

"Just what do you attribute to your success?" I asked the King.

"Hitting the right notes on the piano," he said.

"And what do you attribute to yours?" he teased.

"Copying Winchell's style," I said with every ounce of sincerity I could muster.

The Jewish representative for Capitol Records looked up from the magazine he was reading and smiled.

(I got out of that one all right. Who knows, I may wanna record for Capitol someday!)

The King didn't give out much information, only that he was making more money than he'd ever made in his life, and was enjoying hell out of it.

A sudden thought hit me as I was about to leave, he said: "Look Gip, how about joining me as a travelin' companion and press agent?"

I have a stock answer I use when offered other jobs that would take me away from my newspaper.

"Hell, No!" I said, "I'm having too much fun interviewing you screwballs and celebrities!"

Fawn Caterers Hosts Stylists

John "Jack" Robinson, operator of the popular Fawn Catering service, entertained sponsors and models at the "Stags on Parade" fashion show Sunday evening following the splendid presentation ably emceed by Winifred Orr, with one of the season's most elaborate after-parties in his catering restaurant, 2903 Weseern Ave.

Two hundred guests thronged the beautifully appointed Fawn dining room for a well stocked buffet banquet of multi choiced assortment of hors d' ouvers and cocktails. Everyone present voted the party put on at the expense of "Jack" Robinson, a most lavish and accomodative one.

The affair followed the male style show held under the sponsorship of the Wendell Willkie chapter of the American Veterans Committee.

DIZ DID GOOD!

The Dizzy Gillespie Concert Monday last at the Civic Auditorium in Pasadena was a complete sell-out! More than a thousand fans and friends of the famed Be-Bop trumpeter were turned away. Gene Norman and Marilyn Hammond rate an orchid for a sweligant production!

Arnett Cobb Has New Record Out

NEW YORK—With the Petrillo ban still in effect, Apollo Records slips platters off the top of its huge backlog of recordings cut before the ban and is releasing a collection of new disks by leading artists.

Arnett Cobb, tenor sax king in the last stages of convalescing from an operation several months ago, is being released on his highly publicized "Dutch Kitchen Bounce," in dedication to the Dutch Kitchen at Cornell University.

Nellie Lutcher Is At Melodee Nitery

Following a smash engagement at the Million Dollar Theater where she entertained thousands of her friends, Nellie Lutcher brings her exuberant vocal stylings into the Melodee Club at Van Ness and Slauson this week.

Nellie, whose recordings have consistently been big sellers, will feature her stylistically different piano as well as her distinctive singing at the Melodee Club for two weeks.

Tonight's opening marks the end of a week's vacation for the "real gone gal" during which she made several personal appearances on disc jockey shows.

EAGLE MUSIC CRITIC

MUSIC FAIR

The first World's Fair of Music, which began Monday and which occupies four floors of the Grand Central Palace, in New York, will run through Sunday, July 25th. It will be an unusual combination of musical exhibits from all parts of the world, with "live" performances of everything from symphonic music to be-bop. Antol Dorati, distinguished young Dallas Symconductor of the phony Orchestra, will be the over-all musical director. The program will include Thor Johnson, conductor of the Cincinnati Symphony; Alicia Markova and Anton Dalin, assisted by Ana Ricardi, will represent the ballet; Benny Godman will appear as a Clarinet soloist in a program of French symphonic music. Abram Chasins will also appear as guest pianist.

One concert is scheduled to feature three types of jazz: dixieland, Chicago, and be-bop. Ella Fitzgerald will give forth with gymnastics with Russ Case's orchestra. According to releases Miss Fitzgerald will be the only Negro appearing at the Fair. There will be, of course, an evening of opera; and folk music with singing and dancing. On the final night, Sunday, the floor will be cleared for general dancing to the music of Freddy Martin's orchestra.

George Weiner, president of the World Wide Music Exposition Incorporated, considers the affair as a definite need for the music industry as a whole. It will serve as a meeting place for the general public, the manufacturer, performer, composer, critic and educator.

EIGHTH NOTES

Muriel Smith, star of "Carmen Jones," sang the title role in Bizet's original "Carmen" with the Salmaggi Opera Company at Triboro Stadium (Randall's Island), last Friday and Saturday evenings, July 16th and 17th. . . . Juanita Hall, formerly a guiding light with the Hall Johnson Choir nad currently a hit with the long established Old Kniekerbocker Music Hall on Second Avenue, New York, will be featured on a new television show via WABD, beginning July 28. . . . Carol Brice, outstanding contralto, appeared as morning soloist last Tuesday in the Democratic National Convention.

Devonia Williams And Ork At Elks

WATTS, Calif.—Devonia Williams and her zippy little quartette, which features the Be-Bop drumming of Roy Porter, the bass-playing of Theodore Shirley, tenor-tooting Richard "Dick" Browne and Devonia herself playing some of the wildest, hottest piano stylings heard here in moons, were signed last week to a 90-day contract at Sammy Warren's and Norman Henry's Elks Lounge.

A very much under-rated band is Devonia Williams and her crew. Those four pieces sound like seven or eight, and every man in the band (and Miss Williams herself) knows his instrument from A to Z.

The Elks, now open only on week-ends will open every night during the month of August.

Hazel Scott Due Here This Week

Mrs. Hazel Scott Powell, wife of Congressman Adam Clayton Powell of the Abyssinia Baptist Church, New York City, will arrive in the city this week for her appearance in the Hollywood Bowl Saturday, July 31st, as Guest Soloist.

A renowned virtuoso of the keyboard, Miss Scott will bring to this season's Bowl audience her interpretation of the immortal "Warsaw Concerto." Well known for her "From Bach to Boogie" style of the Arts as well as for her characterizations on the screen, Miss Scott is expected to enthrall the public with her infinite charm.

Earl Hyde To Organize Ork

Earl Hyde, formerly with the bands of Tiny Bradshaw and Erskine Hawkins, now featured nitely in the show at the Last Word cafe, is making plans to organize his own band.

Hyde has been in show business for years and is known as a drummer who can play any beat from Jazz to Be-Bop! He has worked in some of the top bands in the Kingdom of swing, and prior to his joining the Last Word cast as show drummer, worked with the Esquire Award winning band of Vic Dickinson.

Hyde hails from Detroit, Mich., and started out there with Teddy Buckner's band at the three 6's club.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Mr. Gipson was supposed to take a short vacation beginning last week, but he got most of his bills paid and didn't have to leave town. His column will appear in these pages next week. The EAGLE'S Managing Editor, John M. Lee, wishes to thank Mr. Shipp for pinch-hitting for The Gip during his absence.)

LAST SUNDAY DURING THE EARLY hours of the morning J. T. Gipson called me (never mind what he called me; that's my business) and said: "% . .' —":xxx.., what are you trying to do—get my job?" Naturally I didn't want his job, because I already have one and I get a salary for doing mine. But like the big fat gentleman I am I asked what the hell was he talking about and didn't he know three o'clock in the morning was no time to be calling anyone on the telephone? He ignored my question like the little stinker he is and roared: "Ya' sent Mrs. Bass a dozen roses, an Orchid corsage and promised to vote for Wallace!—which is surely one way of getting my job as the ONLY thing I have ever given my boss (who appreciates compliments, flowers etc.—being a lady, natch!) is a headache whenever I'm in the office and she's trying to write an Editorial and I'm screaming at the top of my lungs telling John Lee the latest one about the travelin' salesman. Go ahead you little suck . . (err-r, I mean you little boot-likker) keep bowing and scraping to my boss and maybe someday you'll be writing this column and it'll serve you right because I can think of nothing worse to ever happen to you!" (BANG!!!—receiver clicking . .) . . . Now let's see, where was I? Oh, yes, I was about to gaze into my 8-ball and give you the latest dope from Los Angeles (whose name I won't reveal):

EULA EDWARDS, a well-stacked bundle of loveliness (as a certain columnist would describe her) was guest at the fights the other Tuesday of Terry Knight, manager of the coming Champ, Len Morrow . . . ONE OF THE BRIGHTEST young singing stars to come out of California in many years is a bright-eyed young Pasadena J. College lass named Charlotte Johnson. She's the nearest thing to Marian Anderson I've heard! Charlotte, who is popular in the Pasadena social set, is studying under the world-famous voice teacher, Dr. Linquist, who is preparing her for a two-year scholarship at the Conservatory of Music in New York, California (and all the world) will someday be proud of Charlotte Johnson, the daughter of Mrs. Frances Johnson, also of Pasadena.

LILLIAN WILLIAMS CELEBRATED her birthday Friday last with a groovy party at the Downbeat club. Vina Reynolds and Maxie Thrower were on hand to help with the merry-making . . . Haywood Jones, who formerly hoof'd iwth the team Ford, Harris and Jones, opens at the Cotton Club in Frisco, 7-21. Ivy Anderson, ex-Duke Ellington thrush, is on the same bill . . . Mae Boykin, RN (who works at the Avalon Medical Center is a good reason for you guys to stop in and have your teeth checked. She's lovely to look at . . . Did the Smilin' Irishman (the used car magnet) drop ten grand in one of the nite spots the other evening on a party spree? . . . Rube Gordon and "Butch" Diamond, of the A-J Liquor store staff, are two of the nicest and friendliest guys you'd ever hope to meet anywhere. Always smilin', always a kind word for everyone!! . . . C. H. Vincent (of the Sanitary Barber Shop; 4151 S. Central Ave.) is definitely the Gas King! When you get out of his chair you look like Robert Taylor about the head . . . Genevieve Brisco and Helen Arline (there's a luscious dumpling!) ring-siding at the Congo, and giving the joint some class! . . . Bill Griffin, Jr., is one of the town's top bartenders—in case some of you nite-spot owners are looking for a top bartender! . . . Joe Langford is the type of fellow you enjoy being around. He's really a sincere guy, and always willing to do a favor for a guy. If you can find anybody in town to ever say an unkind word about Joe I'll eat your hat!

THERESA TABOR (SHE INSPIRED THE 3-BLAZERS to write the song of the same name), is as pretty as Lena Horne wants to be, with a personality to match her loveliness!! . . . Claude and Ann Ferguson (a fine couple to know) are fixing up their cozy little home on Wall st. . . . Vina Reynolds is The Gip's best advertisement. She takes his col'm instead of cream with her breakfast coffee, and thinks he's the next best thing to a Winchell named Walter. No wonder the guy spends all his time and eats all his meals at Vina's (3745 S. Western, he's a glutton for praise! (Innocent Bystander: "He's a-glutton, PERIOD") . . . Angela Hart's "Introduction Club" is gaining in popularity . . . Leon Giles, who made such a gallant stand and a fine showing during the last election, really deserves your support in the next one. If only for the fact that he promised a bottle of Seagrams VO to all who support him. Should have offered 'em tthat in the first election instead of a bottle of WINE! . . .Best Louisiana food in California (real Cain River style) is served at Gilbert's Food Shoppe, on Wall St. . . . Virginia "Chris" Christy (no relation to singer June; but just as pretty) is the kind of dumpling who inspires men to write poetry, build rivers, climb the highest mountains etc.! . . . Have you Be-Boppers heard Bunny Briggs (with C. Barnet's ork) do "Rockin' in Rhythm?" Real crazy . . . Rabon Tarrant (with Jack McVea's band) is another top cat to know . . . Harriette Ortega (one of the wonderful THREE FLASHES), fugitive from a bathing beauty contest, is also a fugitive from the movies. Beautiful! . . . Leave it to him to think up something different. The Gip plans to write his col'm Sunday morning while cruising over Los Angeles in a plane piloted by Arthur Adams! Off'c'r Rankin, Detective John Alston, Detective Tom Nelson, (and another swell Newton St. Pleeceman whose name escapes me at the moment) will accompany Adams and Gip.

JIMMIE ROBINSQN CAME IN THE DOWNBEAT th other night with a beautiful blonde, but spent the entire evening just sittin' 'round watching Margo Pickett. Claims he'd give a farm in Tex's for an intro to the popular little Bar-Maid. (Who wouldn't??) . . . Marilyn Williams, a former chorus girl (and wotta looker!) has a wit as flippant as an Oscar Levant quip. One of those "playbores" phoned her at the hotel (where both stay) and invited her in. "I'm always here and my door is never locked," he said. When Marilyn didn't visit him he repeated to her, "My door is never locked." "Never?" she said . . "Never," he replied . . "How dull!" flipped Marilyn . . . Bill Day, the very wonderful Master of Ceremonies at Jack's Basket Room, squelched another heckler the other morning with this one: "He reminds me of my Dog—always sticking his nose into other people's business!" . . . Oklen Levy, the town's top maitre 'd (is that the way you spell it, Gip?) is another reason the Last Word stays crowded to capacity! Makes you feel at home. . . . Dortha and Kay Stricklin are in charge of the Kitchen at the above named nitery. Food there is delish!

ILLINOIS JACKET AND HIS swingy little combo is the next "name" attraction to be featured at the Last Word . . . Helen Mitchell and Jimmy North are sniffin Orange Blossoms . . . And in closing, I want to thank JT Gipson for letting me sound off in his col'm the past two issues. And I wanna thank you guys and gals for reading it. And don't think it hasn't been fun sitting at a typewriter hours on end trying to think of something to write about—because it hasn't!

INTERNATIONAL RHYTHM dancer is Al Harris, now appearing nitely at the Last Word cafe in the "Stars On Parade" show, featuring Bobble Gaston, the 5-Bits of Rhythm, Emily Foster, Marian Abernathy and other headliners. Mr. Harris has worked some pretty top hot spots on the theatre-night club circuit: The Paramount Theatre, N.Y., Howard, Washington, D. C., Slapsy Maxie's in Hollywood, Golden Gate, Frisco and formerly worked with such bands as Blanche Calloway, Tiny Bradshaw, and once appeared as guest star on the Milton Berle radio show.

AT LAST SOME PROGRESS IN MOVIES HAMP'S PERFORMANCE WINS PRAISE

CHICAGO — Negro advancement in movie received a tremendous improvement in Hollywood with the making of the Danny Kaye-Virginia Mayo picture "A Song Is Born," which brings Lionel Hampton to the fore as a featured artist.

The show was given a sneak preview in Chicago last week. Lionel and Gladys came to Chicago especially for the preview.

In this picture Negroes have been given for the first time straight parts without any effort made towards pleasing any special section of the country. Like the other artists, the Negro stars just act under the expert direction of Howard Hawkes, long a famous producer and leader on the Hollywood scene. Also sensational is the fact that the movie band is interracial and frequently under the direction of Lionel Hampton.

Others featured in this picture are Louis Armstrong, Golden Gate Quartet, Kid Ory, Benny Goodman, Charlie Barnett and Tommy Dorsey.

Benny Goodman, long famous for his introduction of the Negro-white musician combination, has played a valuable role in working with Howard Hawkes and Danny Kaye in keeping the picture on a high level of entertainment and giving Negro musicians full recognition for their contributions. Even those who felt that such an opportunity meant the usual "burlesque" type presentation, have been given the brush-off by the high levels of performance.

Lionel Hampton proves again that leadership can make a contribution in any situation.

In addition to his straight parts throughout the picture, Howard Hawkes gave the "Hamp" the honor of choosing his favorite song for the closing sceen. Of course, the vibes king immediately chose his immortal "Flying Home."

About 11 million motorists buy and install new fan belts in their automobiles every year.

Release From NBC On Proposed Negro Show Featuring Millinder

We are very sorry to have caused the confusion with our release on NBC's proposed "Modern Minstrel" show. Through some very unfortunate circumstances the "Modern Minstrel" show was cancelled. Some well intentioned pressure groups forced NBC to abandon the idea of the Minstrel show. These groups gave the reason that the show was anti-Negro.

The groups were well intentioned but highly misinformed. about the show as all scripts were censored by very important and influential Negroes. We believe that it is very unfortunate There was nothing anti-Negro for Negro show business this cancelled.

We are now auditionin all-Negro show for NB will be scheduled in the ture on a coast-to-coast placing the Minstrel sh will keep you informe progress. This release sent to you just to keep formed of the status of posed Negro show which fice is doing its utmost t to the air waves.

THE CUSTOMER'S ALWAYS WRITE

"Dear Jay," passionately writes Lou Bowden all the way from Hollywood, "I read your col'm in last week's paper. Why harp on Mike Jacobs? He's one of the greatest promoters the ring has ever known, and proof of his popularity among colored folks is the fact that any Negro fighter in the ring today would, if necessary, give his right arm for him. You overlook one important point in your jottings on Jacobs — he made Joe Louis, Ray Robinson and other colored boys rich. Why do you pan him? Please enlighten me on the subject. Could it be that you're prejudiced?"

Mr. Bowden asks for enlightenment, and his letter shows he certainly needs it. How can I be prejudiced when Walter Winchell is my Adopted Dad, and I love God? Both are Jews.

Tearing his epistle aaprt, we'll start at the first paragraph. So Uncle Mike loves colored fighters? Sure, as long as they continue to make Uncle Mike rich. Joe Louis, the heavyweight champion of the world (his alleged retirement notwithstanding) (and the man who "made" Jacobs) today is broke. Louis and other fighters who fight for Jacobs would, if necessary, give their right arm for him—if they want to continue fighting.

Jacobs is the overlord of boxing, who uses gangster tactics with no regard whatever to ethics. The only thing Mike Jacobs loves is money, the one thing he can't get enough of, and he has used every crooked underhanded method and trick in the black book to dominate the boxing game. A fighter can't fight today (in New York's big time circuit, that is) unless he fights for Uncle Mike Jacobs, and signs over part of his purse to the greedy, paunchy little bespeckled promoter who once brazenly charged one hundred smackers for a ringside seat to a waltzing contest.

Jacobs once told me he didn't manage Ray Robinson. I called Jacobs a liar to his face. During the training period for the Billy Conn fight Jacobs, at Louis' camp, confided to reporters that he "honestly, so-help-me-God" isn't the manager of Louis. I shot off my mouth again, bringing the total number of times I called Jacobs a liar, to two. He then proceeded to give us a biographical sketch on the background of Louis' new manager, Marshall Miles. Mr. Miles is the retired "speculator in enterprises" from Buffalo, New York. But Mr. Miles is merely a front man for the Jacobs syndicate (where Louis is concerned). But for that matter, so is John Roxborough! Jacobs himself being the sole controller of Louis' fistic future. And Jacobs will control any fighter's fistic future who has any kind of idea of staying in the big time boxing game in New York. There ought to be a law against guys like Mike Jacobs.

I would write my Senator, but he can't read!

JOE LOUIS FIGHTS AGAIN

Uncle Mike Jacobs is going ahead with plans to stage a Gus Lesnevich - Joe Louis championship fight in September. Is this the same Joe Louis who announced his retirement last month? Joe was on the level about retiring. But Mike Jacobs changed his mind. Joe knows that every bout from now on in which he engages in is doing him no good from a reputation standpoint. Joe still feels that he can do the race a lot of good — and he wants to do that good while he has the reputation he has, not when his rep has been dragged through the mud, as it will be should he carry on against the mediocre talent that's around today.

It'll be better for boxing, as a matter of fact, if Joe retires. Then there'll be a lot of activity among heavyweights. A lot of boys will feel the urge to take up boxing who won't do it now, because no one relishes having his block knocked off by Joe. It's from among these newcomers (like Len Morrow, etc.) that the next heavyweight champion will come, take my word for it.

The current crop will develop into trial horses and sparring partners, which is about as much as they are anyway.

Joe Louis should retire now as undefeated heavyweight champion of the world. Joe Louis' continued fighting isn't HIS business any longer. It's the business of the entire sporting world who wants the champ to hang up his gloves before it's too late.

It may be wonderful for a sportswriter to enjoy entree to the offices of big time fight and baseball managers. Entree denied to John Q. Public. It may be marvelous to laugh and joke over the "fast ones" the moguls pull. But it's letting down the people who pay their salaries—the fans who buy the papers for which the sportswriters write. I believe a newspaperman's first duty is to the man who pays his salary. That's why I keep harping over the fact that the sportswriters sit back in their cozy offices and write anything Mike Jacobs approves, instead of jotting down facts with a capital "F."

And one fact which should be recorded is the one about Louis' retirement.

Gentlemen of the Jury, we rest our case.

Maxie Docusen And Manuel Ortiz Will Fight At Olympic

Fresh from an 8-round knockout win over Memo Valero at Mexicali, World Bantam boss, Manuel Ortiz opened training Wednesday for his important clash with undefeated Maxie Docusen at the Olympic Aug. 10.

As a tune-up prior to Little Duke's clash with the Bantam king, the New Orleans scrapper journeys to Honolulu July 6 for a 10-round outdoor scrap with Bob Takeshita (that's the way it's spelled, Mr. Printer. Don't look at me!) that is expected to draw a net gate in the neighborhood of $35,000 which is a pretty nice neighborhood if you ask me —and even if you didn't.

Railway refrigerator cars were patented as early as 1867.

Costner Hurt in Fight

OAKLAND—George "Sugar" Costner of Cincinnati was knocked out last week in just 33 seconds of his scheduled 10-rounder with Earl Turner, Richmond, Calif. Costner had stopped Turner in the first minute of their bout here six months ago.

When Costner was dropped with a left hook to the jaw, the crowd booed. The Ohio fighter got up at the count of nine and Turner felled him again with two more lefts to the chin. Costner took the count.

After the fight, Costner complained to Dr. Joseph Dallal, boxing commission physician, that his vision had been affected by a punch on the temple. Costner was examined and it was revealed that he was suffering from a slight concussion and possible temporary paralysis of the optic nerve.

Tickets for Louis' Next Fight Is $85

Any doubt on Joe Louis' retirement? Then throw it out of your mind. The heavyweight champion of the world returns to the ring on the evening of Sept. 22 for a 10-round tussle with Gus Lesnevich, light - heavyweight champion, who is rated as a good prospect to dethrone the Brown Bomber.

Louis announced his retirement after knocking out Jersey Joe Walcott the second time they engaged in fistic encounter, but Louis has been announcing his retirement following every fight and then comes back with the statement that he'll fight "just one more time."

Ringside stubs, by the way, for the Lesnevich-Louis joust is $85!

How brazen can Mike Jacobs get?

Harold Dade Going Great Guns Again

Harold Dade, former bantamweight champion of the world, has been going great guns during the past few months. Last week he drew with Charley Riley in St. Louis and a few weeks before he beat him over the 10-round route in Chicago. And beating (or even drawing) with rugged Charlie Riley is definitely a man's job!

Promoter Hans Bernstein, of St. Louis, has offered Sandy Sadler (whoever he is) an August match with Dade.

Featuring the largest board speedway ever built for small car racing, an 8-week midget car race program will be presented in Pasadena's world famed Rose Bowl, beginning Wednesday evening, July 28.

Thompson Wants Winner of This 10-Round Fight

Turkey Thompson, who is sometimes mentioned in the same breath with Joe Louis, challenges the winner of the Freddie Beshore-Pat Valentino fight. Beshore, who last week scored an easy victory over Bobby Zander, meets Valentino (no relation to Rudy) July 26 in Spokane.

Lloyd LaBeach Off to London For Olympics

NEW YORK—Lloyd LaBeach, the bronze rocket of the cinderpath, left for London by plane this week with Ducky Drake, track coach at UCLA. LaBeach will represent Panama in the 100-meter and 200-meter dashes at the Olympics.

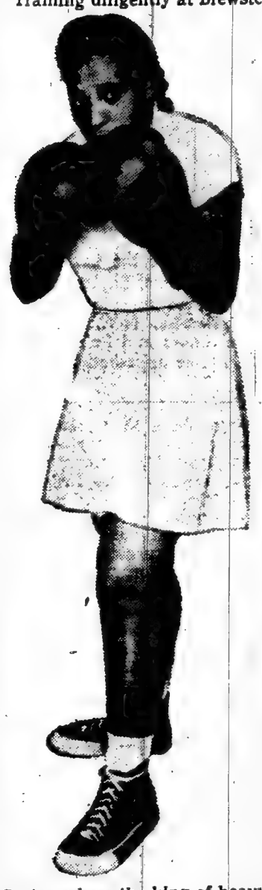
His chances? His quotes: "I think I have a fair chance of winning."

Los Angeles Dons Settle Down To Serious Training

VENTURA, Calif.—With such necessary preliminaries as photo day, physical examinations, and drawing of equipment behind them, the Los Angeles Dons buckled down to large doses of hard work in their summer training camp here today.

Now that the veterans and rookies have met each other and Head Coach Jimmy Phelan has had five days to size up the personnel with which he will make his debut in professional football, the Dons can settle down to the business of preparing for their opening exhibition contest against the Biltmore Colts in Portland, Ore., on August 8. Phelan plans the first all-out scrimmage session for the latter part of this week. The Don squad reported in top shape and has already gone through some contact work. Yesterday was Press and Radio Day, with the photographers having their field day, and the squad got most of the day of fto rest up for the start of real work today.

The Dons don't break camp here until the 25th of August, when the 35 remaining players and the coaching staff depart for Chicago and the conference opener against the Chicago Rockets on Friday night, August 27.



FIGHTERS FOR SALE

Wanna buy a good fight stable? Johnny Forbes is seriously thinking of holding a public auction on his. He got in a beef with his number one meal ticket, Carlos Chavez, and so jovial Johnny says (and we quote): "... to hell with it!"

Joe Louis Inspires Detroiter; Is First Negro Woman Fighter

Something new has been added in the field of sports. The first Negro professional woman prizefighter in the history of the ring is a well-developed, energetic brown-skin little lady named Gloria Jean Thompson. Miss Thompson, who fights under the name of "Little Joe Louis," started her career just two years ago in her home town, Detroit. It happened this way: A friend of Joe Louis', she visited the champ's ranch in Utica, Michigan, and playfully threw a punch at the Brown Bomber. Louis threw one back at her (Natch! She threw one first, didn't she?), and the king of swat was so impressed with the lightining-like jab of the well-proportioned little lady that he teasingly remarked, "Say, why don't you take up boxing? You've got a punch!" That inspired Gloria Jean. So, she took up boxing.

Training diligently at Brewster

Center, where the king of heavyweights started his career, Gloria Jean worked like a little Trojan with but one thoughtin mind: To be a boxer, and someday win a boxing crown!"

She has engaged in but two professional bouts ,having wne both by decisions and scored knockdowns in both contests. Managed by Gladstone Bell, and trained by Billy Mike, this 135-pound bundle of dynamite fights in Mexico City in September, and is one of 17 women professional fighters now fighting in Mexico City, Arizona and a few other states permitting women to engage in the manly (?) art of glove-slinging.

Gloria Jean takes her boxing and training seriously, and it may interest Earl Wilson to know that she (as does all women boxers) wears a heavy rubber bust protector whenever she steps inside the squared circle. For the benefit of the cute little kiddies in the audience, a bust protector is . . well, err-r, a protector of busts!

Gloria Jean (the Little Joe Louis of the female set) trains daily at 4:30 p.m. at Billy Mikes Gymnasium at Santa Barbara and Wall Streets.

She's Miss Perpetual Motion herself in the ring! Oh yes—she isn't married. And she's in love only with her work — and her work is boxing!

She's 22 years of age.

Chalky Wright Fights Again!

Chalky Wright, who apparently found what Ponce de Leon looked for, resumed training drills last week at Orner's Gymnasium for his umpteenth ring "comeback." No offense meant by the remark, it's just that whenever the former featherweight champion of the world decides to settle down to serious training and plans a comeback, he gets back into the swing of things, knocks out a few opponents, wins most of his bouts and quietly goes into seclusion. This is merely another of those periods where Chalky feels the urge for another "comeback," and the date set for his return to the ring is the 27th of July. He'll headline a card in Spokane, Wash.

It doesn't matter who his opponent is, just rest assured Chalky will be in there fighting and will in all probability come out on the winning end of the argument.

Okay, So We'll Look Him Over!

"Why don't someone mention that kid in Watts named "Capelton?" He really is a hard-hitting outfielder. I have watched him play ball several Sundays and is he Good! It is a shame for talent like that to be wasted. He has won a trophy two years straight including this year. In my estimation, he is another Satchel Page in the making. He plays every Sunday with the Watts Giants, 103rd and Central Ave., in Will Rogers Park.

Look him over at your earliest convenience!".

Yours for better sports,

BILL ALEXANDER,

ON THE TURF

By Geo. A. Ramsey

CALIENTE, Old Mexico—After being away from the races for more than a year, 8-year-old Inflammable, the good son of Hi-Jack-Sweepingly, came back to show his young rivals some fast footwork in the feature event last Sunday at Caliente. It was in the Pasadena handicap at six furlongs. Installed favorite at even money on his class and good works, Trainer Charlie Hall sent a surprisingly fit horse to the post. With Jockey E. Taylor in the saddle, Inflammable broke slowly but Taylor kept his mount out of trouble although on the rail. At the half-mile post he moved up to third position while Texan Sun was setting a fast pace. Turning into the home stretch it was still Texas Sun in front by one length. Jackey Taylor called on the Big Train and he moved up to take the lead and won by one length going away. Running the distance in 1:11 1-5 paying as the public's choice $3.40.

In the secondary, called "The Hollywood," Greyhead, also trained by Charlie Hall, scored an easy victory over some of the best distance horses on the grounds. He was the favorite and paid $8.00 straight. The daily double combination of Dark Raider, winner of the second race, and Off Stage, victor of the third, rewarded the lucky backers $69.40, while the quiniela paid $70.60 when Thixton was first and Safety Bolt ran second.

This Sunday, General Manager Walter C. Marty has arranged another fine program of 12 races. His features are "The Del Mar" at six furlongs and "The Solano Beach" handicap at one mile and 70 yards. Genial Manager William Collier of the greyhound races announced that one of the best greyhound stables will soon arrive from England, and the lovers of the hare and hound races are in for a big treat.

Lady Emissary is the Citation of the hounds. Her easy strides make her hard to beat. With the racing season opening at Del Mar Tuesday, July 27, the crowds will flock to the greatest night sport at Caliente, the greyhound races.

Hollywood Park rings down the 1948 season this Saturday with the running of the $50,000 Sunset handicap, and the way Shannon II won the Gold Cup, the Australian champion would appear to have this at his mercy, although the distance for this event will be one mile and five furlongs. This will be the longest race of the season. I'll be seeing you at Del Mar "where the surf meets the turf," Tuesday, July 27, for it's summer season of 41 days. So long, George.

SUNDAY EVENING, July 25, the L.A. Blues softball team will stage an after-game party at the Elks Lounge. Devonia Williams and her crew will play for the ball.

Ravens Enter Fight Game As Manager Of W. Winslow

NEW YORK—Maybe it's still the influence of Joe Louis on everybody that has hit the Ravens quartette and prompted them to take a fling in the fight game. Whatever the reason the singing foursome this week signed a cooperative management contract on Woody Winslow, hard punching terror of the welterweight ranks.

Winslow, one of the best looking prospects to hit the Gotham fight scene in years, has run up an impressive string of twenty-five straight victories over good opposition. In his last start he put the snooze on rising Tommy Mills at the Ft. Heimlton Arena.

The scrappy youngster comes from Mercedes, California, and is considered a "sleeper" by his West Coast boosters. He was recommended to James Rickey of the Ravens during the recent visit of the singers to Los Angeles and other Western points. Taking the advice of the friend, the Ravens Inc. (yep, they're a corporation) closed the deal for joint management of the young phenom.

Maybe the boys will help take the boredom out of training for walloping Winslow. At any rate that's better than having an opponent make you listen to the birdies sing, according to Woody.

Baseball Humor Tales Retold

Baseball's best umpire-player anecdotes are retold in the current issue of SALUTE magazine. Among the choice tales are these:

Once Herman Schaefer, the Detroit infilder and clown, came to bat wearing a false moustache. The crowd screamed with laughter.

"Ye're out of the game, Herman," Umpire Tim Hurst informed him.

"What for?" asked Schaefer.

"I don't know what fur," said Tim blandly. "But ye're out!"

The great Detroit outfielder, "Wahoo Sam" Crawford, wound up his career as an umpire in the Pacific Coast League. One day he called a strike on a hitter, who turned and snarled, "Why you old codger, you missed that one." Crawford scarcely lifted his voice as he said, "I wouldn't have—if I'd had a bat in my hand."

Hans Wagner tells this story of the screwball player he once knew.

"He wasn't a bad ball player," says Hans, "but he had a strange daffiness in his heart: he liked to steal pianos. From three different hotels he swiped two uprights and a baby grand. Finally we had to let him go.

"Five or six years after that we were playing an exhibition game with an industrial team in Ohio. The base umpire was a real robber. He robbed us on every call. I thought there was something familiar about him, and finally I went up to him and asker, 'Say, don't I know you from somewhere?'

"'Sure,' he said, 'you know me real good, Hans. Wanna buy a piano?'"

THE TRANSITOR, a new and phenomenal device that will serve as an amplifier or an oscillator, that is composed of two hair-thin wires touching a pinhead of a solid semi-conductive material soldered to a metal base and enclosed in a metal cylinder not much larger than a shoe-lace tip has been demonstrated by the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company according to E. S. Ricker, manager. Expected to open new avenues in the fields of electronics and electrical communication, the transmitter, still in the experimental stage is expected to replace the vacuum tubes now in use. Outstanding feature of the Transitor is that it does not have a warm-up delay.

Winchell Praises Ink Spots; News in So What Category

NEW YORK CITY—In his internationally syndicated column, Walter Winchell praised the latest Ink Spot Decca recording, "Just for Now" the other day. The writer classified the record as "The Big Time"—a tribute much sought-after by members of the theatrical profession.

In the meantime other honors have been handed the Ink Spots' latest disc. The Decca Company announced that it was pressing an unprecedented number of records to meet the avalanche of orders that are already flooding distributors' offices, although the record has been on the stands for only a few days.

Another Ink Spot record is making headlines in Paris. This record has been out only a few months and Paris dealers are already selling it to preferred customers under their counters at fabulous premiums. The record is titled "The Best-Things in Life Are Free!"

The Ink Spots, in the meantime, have agreed to fly a chartered plane to Montreal, Canada, to make a special one-night stand at the large auditorium in that city. Despite the fact that this date will crowd their schedule, the famed singers agreed to the date because their bookings will move them Southwest in the near future and this will be the only chance Canada will have to hear them for some time.

Collee Coach Pens Letter On Team Strength

AN OPEN LETTER
From Kenny Gleason, Head Football Coach, Fresno State College

Here is the picture of football in 1948 at Fresno State as I see it.

1948 will be the second season that the Bulldogs have used the "T" formation and as a result they will have better timing and coordination as was indicated in last spring's inter-squad game.

Last year I felt that the team spirit of the Bulldogs was good and I expect it to be even better this fall.

There is need for capable replacements for men like Bob Hoffman, a really good end, and Millard Mitchell, who played all-conference ball at tackle for us for two consecutive years. I believe we have adequate replacements. Some we have on the campus now: Len Stewart, a 21-year-old guard from Long Beach Junior College, who showed a lot of ability in the spring practice; Jim Schwabenland, a 225-pound tackle who played at USC as a freshman before entering the service, and who has enough experience to be of real help to the Bulldogs; Bill Alexander, another 200 pound tackle from Citrus JC who is 6 feet 3 inches tall and moves fast; Bob Brigham, a promising 19-year-old guard who played with the Freshman Bullpups last season, and Jim Natali, another freshman guard of last year from Sacramento who is ready for varsity competition.

We expect several more outstanding junior college athletes to register this fall to plug the remaining gaps making the Bulldogs stronger than last year in all departments.

I look for a better running game in 1948. I made some changes in the offense which will enable us to be more of a running team than last season. This will help our already strong passing attack. I see no reason why our passing shouldn't improve.

I am a great believer in making yards and TD's the easy way, via the air. However, a better than average running attack is needed to help the passing attack. Statistics show that more yards and TD's are made from passing — yet most coaches use at least two or three times as many running plays as passes. We plan to use as many passes as running plays — this plan should result in a high scoring team in 1948 and also make for a wide open game interesting to watch.

(Signed) Kenny Gleason.

Gustav Mahler's 8th Symphony at Hollywood Bowl

Gustav Mahler's 8th symphony the monumental symphony of a thousand voices will be given in Hollywood Bowl Thursday, July 29 for the first time west of Chicago.

This extraordinary symphonic masterpiece has been in preparation since last January when the first of three choral groups was organized by the Los Angeles Bureau of Music, J. Arthur Lewis, coordinator.

The Mahler symphony which will be conducted by Eugene Ormandy, music director of the Hollywood Bowl Orchestra, calls for two adult choruses, a boys' choir (totaling 1,000 singers for three choruses), a brass choir which will play from an elevated platform, organ, bells and enlarged orchestra.

Next Tuesday night, July 27, Jose Iturbi will be in the Bowl as guest conductor and piano soloist, sharing the program with his sister, Amparo. Iturbi will play Tchaikovsky concerto for piano and orchestra No. 1 in B-flat minor, conducting from the keyboard. His sister, Amparo, will play the Liszt Hungarian jantasy for piano and orchestra and the two artists will play Spanish dances by Infante for two pianos as arranged for orchestra and pianos by Iturbi.

PROF. HERMAN The Astrologer
TO ASSIST YOU IN MAKING WISE DECISIONS

LEO—July 23-August 22

If you were born under the sign of Leo, the Sun was in the sign of Leo, the Lion, your governing planet is the Sun, and this has made your ruling disposition ambitious.

Leo symbolizes the heart, and your character all through life has been to a great extent controlled by your emotions. In many ways your disposition is pleasant, agreeable, decidedly free from malice and deceit. Your aims are to accomplish great objects. While generosity and magnanimity largely predominate within you, if anyone injures you and you turn against them, then your whole nature is changed. This is one of your greatest faults.

One of your finest characters is your forcibility and you have a strong faculty for being able to make friends. If you were born under this sign and would like more information concerning your Horoscope, write Prof. Herman for your Horoscope at once.

E.M.O. Dear Prof. Herman: I have been reading your column in the paper for quite sometime and have seriously considered writing to you, but just put it off. Do you think we will move?

ANSWER. A careful analysis of your question indicates the fact that you planned to move sometime ago, but due to the fact that the people are so slow about finding another place, it has delayed your plans. However, it seems that they now have a location and it will only be a short time before you will be settled.

T.E.M. What is wrong with my husband?

ANSWER: Concentrating upon your problem it seems to me that your husband dislikes quarreling hence his leaving home until you are no longer angry. I suggest you have a good talk, with him and see if you can't reach a better understanding. I would be glad to help you further, if you will write in for a private reply.

R.L.H. Is it wise for me to continue with B.?

ANSWER. My Psycho-Mentalist Crystal reveals your case and I suggest your dropping this association because of further trouble and misunderstanding.

L.E.V. What does the future hold for me?

ANSWER. Your Lucky Stars and Guiding Planet indicate many interesting events. You will no doubt find more happiness in new surroundings, if you can possibly manage to make the change.

National Groups Ask Change in Naturalization

Ten national organizations have signified their intention to send representatives to Washington to testify on needed changes in the immigration and naturalization laws at hearings to be held during July by a subcommittee of the Senate Judiciary Committee, it was announced this week by the American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born, 23 West 26th Street, New York City.

Organizations who will testify include: Methodist Federation for Social Action, American Civil Liberties Union, National Lawyers Guild, CIO Maritime Committee, American Jewish Congress, National Wallace for President Committee, Civil Rights Congress, International Workers Order, International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union and American Committee for Protectio nof Foreign Born.

The hearings to be held by the subcommittee during July are intended to serve as the basis for a special report to the next Congress in January, 1949, on needed changes in the immigration and naturalization laws.

Most of the organizations testifying are planning to urge the elimination of all racial provisions in the immigration and naturalization laws which now bar the immigration or naturalization of certain people solely because of their race, it was stated by the American Committee.

● Gallegos

brought under escort of Sheriff's deputies to Judge C. C. McDonald's courtroom to testify, creating an aura that did not add to his creditability as a witness.

His acquittal substantiates his claim that the marijuana was planted on him, presumably by the arresting officers. Sentiment against the framing of Gallegos and the acquittal of Keyes has aroused a wave of indignation and protest, the crest of which was reached on Monday night at a meeting called by the Civil Rights Congress of Los Angeles. A full report of that meeting can be read in a story in this issue.

● Angry Husband

married to Avery's daughter Ruth, and they are the parents of four children. Mrs. Brown has been living with her father at the Mountainview address due to an estrangement from her husband. Last Wednesday night Brown accosted his wife and a male escort as they were proceeding on Temple toward Mountainview.

Allegedly, he.. severely throttled the male escort with a pistol, and when Avery summoned the police Brown fled. The police caught up with him on Alvarado near Temple. Brown ran across Temple, gun in hand, defying shouted orders to stop or be shot. He escaped into the shadows.

Early Thursday morning, according to reports, Brown was seen at the Avery home setting the crudely-made gasoline bombs under the house. He fled when a milkman came on the scene, it is reported, and has not been seen since. There have been reports that police found a gasoline can and a suicide note in Brown's apartment. Another suicide note was reportedly found in the home of a friend. Acquaintances of Brown's say he has been agitated since the estrangement from his wife, a circumstance he blames on his in-laws. Neighbors and business people in the community say Brown is a quiet, well-mannered chap who minds his own business. They are at a loss to understand his actions last week.

● Meeting to Act

ties on the legislation endorsed in their platforms, Assemblyman Augustus F. Hawkins has invited community leaders and all interested persons to meet at the Woodlawn Branch YWCA, 4260 Woodlawn this Friday evening, July 23 at 8 p.m.

The meeting will be open and non-partisan and it will be given over to discussing and drafting a program of action designed to obtain the benefits promised in all political platforms now. Such legislatino as Fair Employment Practices, a Housing Bill, Civil Rights, and control of the high cost of living will be discussed.

THE TIME TO ACT IS IN NOVEMBER, THE PLACE IS IN THE ELECTION BOOTH.

Wendell Smith, Chicago Herald-American and Pittsburgh (Pa.) Courier, and P. Bernard Young, Jr., National Negro Press Association and the Norfolk (Va.) Journal and Guide, are among the correspondents who have been allotted space.

● Whitewash

Haas, in her official statements has shown an unsympathetic attitude toward the American Federation of Teachers Local 430.

A spokesman for the committee reported: "Speaking of the fact that this report was in the school files for months, the committee can not understand a school administrator permitting statements (such as are included in the principal's report concerning school personnel) to be filed and to remain unchallenged.

"The committee further finds that Mrs. Haas, in labeling teachers Jewish, Russian Jewish, uses language that could be considered anti-Semitic and which is contrary to the established principles of American democracy."

The Board of Education issued a separate statement indicating non-confidence in the committee although they referred to its report. The Board's report completely white-washed the principal and Dr. Louise Seyler, supervisor.

The Board statement said in part: (she is not) . . . "anti-labor; she would have been derelict in her duty if she showed a sympathetic attitude toward the American Federation of Teachers Local 430." The Board congratulated Nell Haas on her record, and accused Harry Jung and Harold Orr of bad faith, and of making vicious attacks on the teacher.

The Board of Education report opened with an invitation to any member to submit evidence of discrimination, and closed with a vote of censure for those who brought such evidence. The Board also attacked the newspapers for printing reports on the charges, calling that procedure undemocratic; it was reported that the Board prefers secret hearings on secret charges.

A protest will be made to the Board of Education today (Thursday). Persons who have communicated with Harry Jung, president of Local 430, and who did not get an opportunity to testify at the hearing earlier this week have been invited to appear before the Board.

picked up some rocks. I threw a rock at McKinney, and he ran away. Then Tomlinson came with his hatchet drawn back, as if he was going to strike, and I threw a rock at him, too. Tomlinson and Anderson then ran down the sidewalk, and I followed to the edge of my yard.

"When I turned and looked back, I saw McKinney about to strike my wife with his stick. I ran after him, but just before got to him, I slipped and fell, and while I was down McKinney hit me on the side of the head, and knocked me out for a while."

In the meantime Anderson had gone to his apartment, in the same building and got a gun. He fired down the sairway at Mrs. Nelson, who was standing in the doorway, and hit her and Harding who is an employe of the project, and had been trying to make peace. Harding was shot in the chest.

By this time the police had arrived, and they carted Anderson to police headquarters and took Mrs. Nelson and Harding to the hospital.

Mrs. Nelson is vice president of the Basilone Recreation Association, and served as judge of the election board at the last election. She has the reputation of being a woman who tries and who succeeds in getting along well with her neighbors.

The Nelsons have never had any trouble before on the project, but are known instead of being home-makers who keep their yard clean and help to beautify the project.

Anderson was arraigned in Van Nuys court on the charge of shooting Mrs. Nelson and Harding.

It is said that the Housing Authority of Los Angeles is now attempting to oust both the McKinneys and the Nelsons from theim homes, and a petition is being circulated to prevent this in the case of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson, since they evidently are innocent of any misdemeanor.

of California had refused to appoint a Negro to any place or position of importance, now tells me that Governor Dewey of New York, and present Republican nominee for President, has done more for Negroes than any other man in the country!

Of course this is on the eve of an important campaign—a campaign to elect a man to handle a ship of state that at the present is in the middle of a gale that threatens our safe landing to a world of peace!

But in our anxiety to have others see and believe as we do, we forget that our fate hangs on our careful planning for the future. We also forget or lose sight of what position these gentlemen of presidential timber took on these issues: civil rights, anti poll tax, anti lynch laws, discrimination legislation, etc. when they had an opportunity to speak and act.

Under the Truman administration there have been times when the President could have called upon the army to protect the lives and property of citizens of Georgia, Mississippi, and South Carolina. He could given an executive order for a Federal Fair Employment Practice Commission.

On the same principle Governor Thomas E. Dewey could have called out the state guard of New York and protected the lives of the two GI Ferguson brothers, lynched on Long Island. And I wonder if the advocates of Mr. Dewey for president have examined the New York Fair Employment Practice Commission to find out with what fairness it is practicing.

I believe the people are awakening to the fact that campaign promises, to them, mean nothing. They know that even while these shining promises are in the making, they are being denied on almost full scale the rights of equal opportunity in employment, one of the basic promises of our Constitution.

The Constitution guarantees to all individuals equality in their right to life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness.

I can be mistaken, but I don't believe I am. It is my opinion that the people this time will not vote to put into office one whose record proves that he has never advocated making the Constitution the real instrument of justice and equality for all.

And to the people it is our duty to put at the head of our government a man free from greed, racial bigotry, and religious prejudice.

The hour to strike is at hand. Knock out the old regime and bring in the new—The man of the people, your hope and mine—Henry Wallace.

when news of his mother reached him. However, both he and his wife, Mamie Anderson, left by plane following the Sunday night show for the coast. Arriving here Monday evening via TWA plane, Rochester was whisked to the parental home at 2008 West 28th street under police escort.

Following a family conference regarding funeral arrangements, the soul sickened comedian again boarded a plane for New York where he went about his entertainment chores, although with an apparent heavy heart. Rochester is arriving back in Los Angeles Thursday, July 22nd, to attend the funeral.

The late Mrs. Anderson resided at the family home, 2008 West 28th street. Most of her immediate survivors lived at that address with her. Excepted was her eldest son, Cornie Anderson and Rochester. Others of her family surviving her are sons, Lloyd and David, and a daughter, Mrs. Velda Cleaver. The deceased had been widowed since 1930. The W. D. Fisher and Sons Mortuary prepared the body for burial with services following in the Neighborhood Community church, Rev. Mansfield Collins officiating.

Peonage Farmer Brutally Beats Negro Laborer

(Special to the California Eagle)
By H. S. Hughes

Austin, Texas—At the very moment Southern Democrats convening in Philadelphia last week were threatening to bolt their party in opposition to a civil rights program initiated by President Harry S. Truman, proclaiming to the world that the treatment of the Negro involved a question of "state rights," a Texas peonage farm boss was exercising his rights under "state rights" by brutally beating a 50-year-old Negro farm laborer because the Negro sought permission to take his sick child to a doctor.

The Negro, John Roe, was found waiting at the door of the State Board of Pardon and Paroles here when the door of the agency opened the morning after the beating. He was suffering pains in most of his body. He was sent to the Salvation Army and later to a hospital for treatment. Austin police filed a report with the State Department of Public Safety and that Agency completed an investigation which will probably send the Federal Bureau of Investigation into the case.

Roe, a paroled convict, was "farmed" to John Moore near Navasota, where some 45 or 50 Negroes, mostly on parole, work. When his son became seriously ill, he sought permission to borrow a truck to take his son to a physician, but was refused. Then he sought permission to catch a bus and take his son to a doctor. Again he was refused. Roe, however, was persistent in his efforts to get medical care for his son and his persistence drew the wrath of his peonage boss and he was knocked to his knees and whipped with a pistol. He escaped, ran many miles, and finally got into Austin, leaving his money, clothes, wife, and sick child behind in his flight.

Roe does not know what has happened to his family or if his son has had any medical treatment. Report of the beating was turned over to the Texas Rangers, who are studying the case to determine whether of the violation of civil liberties would warrant the entrance of the Federal Bureau into the case.

Texas is one of the southern states whose Democratic leaders have voiced vigorous opposition to President Truman's civil rights legislation.

Buggy Codes

Antiquated building codes are often a barrier to the reduction of home building costs, according to the Housing and Home Finance Agency. Their safeguards are no longer adequate and the benefits possible through the use of new building methods and materials cannot easily be realized under their standards. To keep up with the current pace of technological development in the building industry, some authorities have estimated that codes of the specification type need revision every three years. Obsolete building codes can tie homebuilding to costly, wasteful and obsolete construction practices.

Recently the Soviet government offered a prize for a monument design to the great Russian poet, Pushkin. None was satisfactory. Finally, on second call a design showing a great figure of Stalin readin ga small volume of Pushkin's poetry was submitted. It won.

have a special state desk in convention hall on Friday from 10 a.m. until the evening session. They are planning signs, solgans, badges, banners, and whatnot to tell the people of Philadelphia they are from California, and why they treked 3000 miles to the birthplace of American freedom.

Something of the enthusiasm and the determination evidenced by all the delegates to the convention of the New Party, is shown in the statement issued by Hugh Bryson, tSate Chairman of the IPP, on the eve of his departure for Philadelphia. Said Mr. Bryson:

"The meeting of the new party in Convention Hall at Philadelphia on July 23 to nominate Henry Wallace and Glen Taylor for the presidency and vice presidency will stand in sharp contrast to the conventions of the old parties held in the same hall during the past few weeks.

Only the new party and its selected candidates, Henry A. Wallace and Glen Taylor, speak straightforward for the cuase of peace, support Roosevelt's program of Big Three cooperation as the cornerstone of a successful United Nations. Only the new party unequivocally calls for repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act and other anti-labor legislation. Only the new party demands price control and real measures against inflation and fights for extended social security benefits to farmers, to all workers, to senior citizens and to children and youth. Only the new party opposes the draft. Only the new party calls for defense of the rights of minority groups by passage of federal laws against poll tax and lynching, and by the establishment of a Fair Employment Practices Act. Only the new party defends our American Constitution and its bill of rights against the attacks of the "bipartisan" Thomas Rankin Committee.

On each of these key issues a Republican controlled Congress and a Democratic controlled administration have united to thwart any effective action.

In this sea of Republican and Democratic machine politics, so obviously dominated by the profiteering monopolies of Wall Street and the poll tax bourbons of the South, the new people's party stands as a beacon light.

In this year the people will not forget. They will remember the riotous reaction of the last Congress, the impotence and unprincipled betrayals of the people by the administration.

In 1948 the people will show that they voted in 1932, 1936, 1940 and 1944 not for a man but for a progressive program. They will show that by their overwhelming vote for Henry Wallace and Glen Taylor. The Independent Progressive Party prepares for its national convention and the election campaign more firmly convinced than ever that November 2, 1948, will go down in history as the day when the new party triumphed and elected a president.

The Independent Progressive Party holds its doors open to the millions of voters who will now abandon the old parties and join the crusade to elect progressive candidates in November.

her. At this time the officer, who was issuing the ticket to the driver, Shelby Davis of 4624 Long Beach Blvd., Officer Andrew Clark came around the car to where he was and asked him "What are you doing standing up here, YOU BLACK S. O. B.?"

Ross replied that he was talking to his cousin. "She has just returned from Arkansas and I haven't seen her and I just stopped by to ask her how was the folks back home."

Immediately the officer struck him a vicious blow in the face knocking his glasses from his eyes and breaking them. He then struck him another blow in the stomach and said to him, "You have no damn business stopping here. I ame going to take both of you niggers to jail."

He thereupon took Ross and Davis to the San Pedro jail and after arriving he released Davis after he had signed a citation. Ross claims instead of releasing him, the officer struck him another hard blow in the stomach and knocked him to his knees. The officer then kicked him and placed him on the elevator to take him up to the booking office.

On the elevator, Ross claims the officer then began beating and pommelling him severely with his fists, kicking his shins so that the blood ran down his legs and striking him in the mouth with his fists and at one time took out his revolver and pointed it at his head and said, "I ought to blow your damn brains out." Ross further states that upon arriving on the floor where the booking office is located the officer took his head and shoved it against the steel door of the elevator almost rendering him unconscious. He then shoved him out onto the floor where he (Ross) attempted to explain matters to a sergeant on duty, but the same officer who had been beating him all along struck him in the mouth, forced him to sit down and then kicked him in the mouth saying to him, "I told you, damn you, to shut up."

At this time another officer came up and said, "Let me get in on this. I want to hit the black S.O.B. a few licks, too." Whereupon they both pommelled and beat him. He claims that he was ailing so severely that upon his release next day on bail he went to a physician, had his wounds treated and a full story of his injuries recorded. He was booked on a charge of interfering with an officer in the performance of his duty.

His trial has been set for August 8 in San Pedro. Attorney Taylor announces that regardless of the outcome of the trial, he is going to file charges of brutality against the officers with the Police Commission and will also file a heavy damage suit.

Supreme Court Decisions Are Mostly Liberal

The race relations decision of the United States Supreme Court at its last term were the most liberal of any term in recent Supreme Court history, Shad Polier, Vice-President of the American Jewish Congress, announced this week in making public a detailed analysis of such decisions prepared by the Commission on Law and Social Action of the American Jewish Congress.

Of the nine cases before the Court involving group relations, eight resulted in rulings extending constitutional guarantees, Mr. Polier explained. Only in the second Oklahoma Law School case, Fisher v. Hurst, in which the Court declined to rule that as a matter of law segregation was tantamount to discrimination, did the protection of civil rights for minorities receive a set back, he added.

The American Jewish Congress report also analyzed the individual voting records of the nine justices, classifying them on a basis of a favorable vote on a broad basis, a favorable vote on a narrow basis and an unfavorable vote. The best individual record, according to this analysis, was that of Mr. Justice Murphy, who had six broad favorable and three narrow favorable votes in the nine cases. The worst individual records were those of Justices Reed and Jackson, who each had one broad favorable, two narrow favorable and four unfavorable votes.

SKIN DISORDER

(NOTE: Educational. Save this article)

Dr. Frank McCoy says:

"ECZEMA: This disease is due to irritants in the fluids of the body which seek an outlet through the skin and mucous membranes. Eczema is characterized by extreme itching, making it a very discomforting and irritating disease. The skin is scaly and generally exudes a serum, making an additional danger of easy infection starting with eczema which was poisoned by scratching bacteria into the irritated skin, thus setting up a state of acute septicaemia.

"PSORIASIS is similar to eczema, but occurs mostly on the skin where there is hair growing. White mother-of-pearls scales form a red base, but there is no itching as in eczema. The causes of psoriasis are identically the same as in eczema, and the cure depends upon the same treatment. The hair will come out in patches if this disease is not arrested quickly. Local treatment will get wonderfully quick results, but the disease is never cured until the systemic causes are removed.

"ACNE, blackheads, pimples, scales, pustules, crusts and inflammatory redness, appearing mostly on the face and back. These disorders are especially liable to appear at the age of puberty, because of the systemic changes taking place at that time. The underlying cause is, however, an unwholesome state of blood, produced by dietetic errors. Constipation exists in nearly every case, and poor circulation of blood to the parts affected is often present. A contributing cause is often stoppage of the pores and sebaceous glands. The cure depends upon the elimination of those excess materials in the blood stream which have produced the disease."

Chas. A. Tyrell, M. D. says:

"The most rational and practical manner of dealing with this . . . breeding place of disease is to wash it out. With me, it has passed beyond the theoretic stage, for I have in my office fully 15,000 letters from grateful patients who have used this process, under my directions, with the most astounding results; scarcely a disease known to humanity but has been relieved, and in ninety-five per cent of the cases, cures effected, while tens o thousands of gratifying messages have reached me from time to time; nor is the testimony in its favor confined to the laity, for hundreds of physicians (including some of the most prominent authorities) testify to the wonderful beneficial results achieved by its use."

Residents of Los Angeles County are fortunate in having doctors available who practice the above technique. If suffering, visit any one of the following offices where competent doctors, specializing in colon technique, will thoroughly examine, diagnose and give trial treatment, all for only $3.00. These offices are havens for those who suffer, where the cause may be removed. No obligation whatsoever. Treatment at offices only. Consultation free without obligation. Philadelphia Citizens Aroused Over Arrest Of NAACP President

PHILADELPHIA — Magistrate Joseph Rainey, head of the local NAACP and a Progressive Party candidate for Congress, was jumped by three burly white policemen in the 39th and Lancaster station only a few days after both major party conventions had proclaimed in the City of Brotherly Love their devotion to Civil Rights. Rainey was roughed up, arrested, and locked in a cell for 20 minutes after he was booked on charges of "resisting arrest" and "disorderly conduct."

Among those who witnessed the assault were his wife, Mrs. Goldie Watson, his campaign manager, and his photographer. He was dismissed in the court of Magistrate Hobson Reynolds. Rainey, whose iodined hand spoke for the body bruises that also required the attention of a physician, declared:

"If they can treat me this way, God help some of those other Negroes who are beaten up by police like Youngblood." (Youngblood was the house sergeant who led the attack on Rainey.)

Rainey had gone to the police station to investigate the arrest of one of campaign sound truck drivers. Telling his own story the magistrate said he asked the sergeant about his driver and was told that his driver wasn't there.

"You arrested him?" asked Rainey.

"No. He's not here."

"He was here, wasn't he?"

THE SIDEWALK

By C. A. B.

This speech was written to be delivered on the Third Party Thursday afternoon radio program. It was not broadcast because the message and messenger were ten hours late due to the Kansas flood enroute.

To my fellow Californians I send greetings; and to the whole people may I say that my thoughts are with you on the one issue that I believe to be the goal of every thinking American, "freedom for all people."

Our tents are pitched, the curtain is about to be raised on the first act in the drama of "The Common Man." The actors are coming on stage. They are the people of all races and religions, gathered here in the City of Brotherly Love to found a new order.

Within the past few weeks two established political parties—the Republican and the Democratic—have held conventions in this city. Philadelphia gave large sums to entertain these bodies; however, nothing was allocated for the new Independent Progressive Party.

It was in this city that a new government, the United States was born . . . conceived in liberty and dedicated to the cause of freedom and justice for all. It is significant that the new party should be founded here in this shrine. And here and now we must rededicate and reaffirm our faith in the Constitution, and our determination to have it fulfil its promise of liberty and freedom for all the people.

At this meeting the founders of the new party will, without malice or prejudice, criticize the record and program of the two old parties.

As a human being I am concerned with human suffering wherever it exists in the world. I believe that American guns sent to China and used by Chinese to shoot other Chinese is a mission of war and not of mercy. And what is true of China is true of Greece, Turkey, and Iran.

WHAT I BELIEVE?

I believe that our government should withdraw all weapons of war from countries outside its borders—including the Philippines, Cuba, Puerto Rico, and all Latin American countries, where the American policy of racial and religious discrimination has gone in and disrupted the harmonious relations that once prevailed. And I believe that America's voice should be raised for the freedom of Palestine . . . for a free Africa and other colonial areas of political and economic serfdom.

I believe that a cold war should be stopped before a shooting war begins. I be-

Congress Special Session

The special congressional session called by President Truman opened early this week with opposing forces marshalling their strength for a last-ditch battle for the good-will of the electorate. Recognizing that the special session is "loaded," Republican leaders are proceeding with caution. Admitting that the advantage is on the President's side, they have laid their strategy around the Civil Rights issue, hoping to widen the breach between the President's supporters and the unregenerated rebel Dixiecrats who have sworn to fight "to the limit of their ability" to kill off all Civil Rights legislation.

President Truman, following through on his pose of discerning leadership in the hour of emergency, recommended an eleven point program to the special session, and while it is predicted that the session will last

Big Four Won't Meet White House Decides

There won't be any meeting of the Big Four soon, or any time in the near future. This has been established by an announcement from the White House by Secretary Charles G. Ross. Calling reports that President Truman would meet in Berlin with Britain's Prime Minister Atlee, French Premier Marie and Russia's Premier Stalin 'speculative,' Ross said the President has no intention of leaving the United States to confer with the heads of any governments.

Ross further stated that Mr. Truman's position on any meeting of this sort has not changed. Critics of the President have said he slammed the door when Russia opeend it for explorative talk, and it is persumed that Ross' comment means the door is still slammed tight.

Little People Organize Big Party

By C. A. Bass

PHILADELPHIA, Pa.—Henry A. Wallace and Glen H. Taylor have been named by the Progressive Party presidential and vice-presidential nominees.

Philadelphia, the starting point of this nation, welcomed delegates and friends for the founding convention of the Progressive party this week.

From California to the Gulf of Mexico came great caravans of people, black and white, young and old. As the doors of Convention Hall flung back Friday morning at ten there was a rushing of footsteps, soft chatter, and a rattling of pens and pencils while delegates kept registrants busy until 5 p.m.

Executive headquarters were at the Bellevue-Stratford hotel, where many important committee meetings and press conferences were held.

In welcoming the convention to Philadelphia, Anna M. W. Pennybacker, daughter of the late Governor Samuel Pennybacker, said in part, "You are playing a significant part in the great drama of human history, which will affect the course of our national life and shape world events. Thoughtful people in all countries are looking to you today.

You have come to found a new national party of the people to be controlled by themselves. Here, 172 years ago the Declaration of

Convicted Man Refuses Appeal Gets Life Term

Spectators and officials alike were electrified in Federal Judge Peirson M. Hall's courtroom early this week when 22-year-old Joseph Barsock rejected the advice of his lawyers in open court and accepted a mandatory life imprisonment sentence for the fatal shooting of Howard E. Jepson, a pharmacist mate, at the Long Beach navy base last April 2. It is usual in all murder cases, following conviction, for the attorneys of the convicted person to state and file notice of appeal or to move for a new trial.

Barsock instructed his attorneys, Joseph Stone and Caryl

Love Triangle Murder in Watts Confused by Wife's Confession

By J. T. Gipson

Lillie Belle Jordan, 33-year-old housewife, of 9905 S. Wilmington, and Richard Willis, 38, of 9903 S. Wilmington, were booked on first-degree murder charges this week following the shooting and death of Lillie Belle's husband, Arthur, in what police believed to be the aftermath of a husband-wife-lover triangle.

About 11 p.m. July 26, Mrs. Jordan walked into the Watts detective bureau and told detectives T. J. Nelson and J. W. Alston that she had just shot "a man." The detectives went to the address at 9905 Wilmington where they found the body of Mrs. Jordan's husband. He had been shot twice, in the jaw and in the back. He was dead when detectives arrived at the apartment. The detectives then called Lt. A. Johnson at the Watts substation and told him to detain the woman. The coroner was called and ordered the body removed to the county morgue.

While the detectives were searching the apartment for the weapon used in the killing, a next door neighbor, John Munson, a cousin of Willis', came

Glenn Anderson Will Head County Demos

Assemblyman Glenn Anderson of Hawthorne is the new chairman of the Democratic County Central Committee. He was elected in a three-corner battle Tuesday night with support from all elements of the party. It is believed that Anderson will pull the badly-split Democrats together.

Gilbert Lindsay, who polled 43 votes, lost the contest for the post of treasurer to Ned Redding, who received 77 votes.

First Beach Resort Hotel Opens at Santa Monica

The formal opening today of the Palmcrest Hotel, Southern California's first Colored Beach Resort Hotel, was announced by Warren C. Vinston, real estate broker and former compiler of the California Negro Directory. He stated that on July 13 a corporation known as the Palmcrest, Inc. was formed and negotiated a long term lease with Dr. and Mrs. Roy J. Ankenbrand, the hotel owners. The new hotel, located 3 blocks from the beach, at 4th St. and Pacific Ave. in Santa Monica, is a 3 story 40 room brick and concrete structure with large sunny guest rooms. It has 2 dormitories, a lounge, recreation room, dining room, locker and shower rooms for men and women, roof garden for sun bathing and a first-aid room for emergencies.

One of the outstanding features of the Resort by the sea is a 2 acre playground. It consists of 2 tennis courts, volley ball and badminton courts, croquet and horseshoe layouts, a table tennis section, calisthenic bar and swings for children.

Vinston said, "Dr. and Mrs.

EDUCATION BOARD DENOUN PROTEST; TO TEST LOYALTY

By Jay Morgan

The Board of Education has flatly refused to consider taking any action against Nell Haas, principal of the 28th Street School, for remarks she made that were derogatory to Jews and Negroes, and last Friday afternoon at its regular session, the Board indicated those persons who dared bring the matter to the Board's attention were un-American agents of a foreign enemy, who viciously enlarged a minor incident into a false issue that served no better purpose than to waste the Board's time.

In a session that was marked with the most relentless exhibition of red-baiting ever witnessed by this reporter, Board member Elliot poured his wrath upon the heads of Dr. Sanford Goldner, Jewish Congress representative, Harry Jung, head of the CIO Public Workers and Harold Or ident of the American tion of Teachers, Local he denounced them for ing the matter befor Board. 17 County Employees Fired For Refusing "Loyalty" Tes 73 Others on Waiting List

Seventeen employes of Los Angeles County were fired outright Monday evening at 5 o'clock for refusing to sign the so-called county loyalty checks.

There are 73 others who refused to say whether or not they had ever been members of one or more of the 142 organiaztions which Jack Tenney does not approve. Their dismissals are held in abeyance, until the courts of the county have ruled if the county has the right to pry thus into the private affairs of its employes.

The loyalty test consisted of four parts. The first three parts consisted of taking an oath to support the Constitution, of stating non-membership in any group advocating overthrow of the government by force or violence, nd the listing of any aliases used by the employe at any time. The fourth part consisted of listing past or present membership in any of the groups which Tenney considers "Red."

The 73 whose fate is still hanging, executed the first three parts readily. But when it came to listing organizations to which they now or ever have b they refused. The 17 ref entire test, declaring it constitutional.

THE TIME TO ACT IS IN NOVEMBER, THE PLACE IS IN THE ELECTION BOOTH.

Believe Me! We're Growing

BERKELEY, Calif.—(G)—The present rate of population and industrial expansion of California cannot be permanently supported by the available natural resources of the State.

This is the warning of Dr. James Parsons, lecturer in geography on the Berkeley campus of the University of California, who recently concluded a study of the subject.

Diminishing reserves of oil and gas, power shortages in years of near-normal rainfall and the high cost of limited quantities of available fresh water are storm warnings for the future, Dr. Parsons said.

The population of the state as a whole increased 74 per cent during the period from 1929 to 1947, he pointed out. During the same period, Dr. Parsons stated, factory jobs increased 66 per cent.

He revealed that the Los Angeles area has outstripped the San Francisco bay area as an industrial center for California. During the 1929-47 period, factory employment for the Bay area increased only 32 per cent, while population showed a 45 per cent gain as contrasted for the much higher gain for the state as a whole the gain being accounted for largely by industrialization of the Los Angeles area.

New Freeway Makes Change in V Line

The State of California has started construction work on the Hollywood Freeway in the Vermont Avenue area. This includes a grade separation at Vermont approximately midway between Beverly and Melrose where the freeway goes under Vermont Avenue.

It is estimated that this project will take about one year to complete.

Beginning Monday, August 2 a shuttle coach service will be inaugurated from First and Vermont to City College at Monroe and Vermont. The "V" line will operate into the off street terminal just south of First street on the east side of Vermont. There a coach will make connections and replace the service to City College. Within a few weeks Vermont Avenue will be closed to traffic at the grade separation. Notices will be posted in the coaches when this change is to be made.

Alpha Frat Building Campaign

Unchecked momentum was added to the gigantic Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity House Campaign, Friday night, July 23, at the Clark Hotel, when members of the Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity met with members of the press to discuss final plans for a local house for the national interracial fraternity.

Atotrney Clarence A. Jones, known as the "daddy of Alpha on the West Coast," informed the gathering of the background of the national organization, its origin, the spirit of the men who established Alpha Phi Alpha in the nation and on the west coast, and hurled a challenge to the present leaders of the fraternity to further the work done by the founders.

D. Rudolph Henderson, student at UCLA, challenged the leaders of today to use past achievements not as laurels but merely as a foundation on which to build future progress.

Mrs. Lois Carr, of the Wives Auxiliary, assured the gathering that the wives of Alpha men were behind the drive for a fraternity house, just as they have been ardent supporters of every other progressive move of the fraternity in the past.

Atty. Ivan J. Johnson III, prominent legal figure accepted all challenges and pledges of support and assured the gathering that Alpha Phi Alpha would continue to move forward in this and many other noteworthy ventures.

Herman K. Barnet, chairman of the House Campaign Committee, presided over the conference; Grant D. Venerable introduced all of the members of the fraternity and representatives of the press and Father Jesse D. Moses, St. Barnabas, Pasadena, invoked the benediction.

The plans for an Alpha house include housing for veteran and non-veteran students, promotion and fostering of educational activities, combating of juvenile delinquency, cooperation with all organizations and groups doing community good and promotion of better racial understanding.

More Oil Consumed

During hot weather, more oil is consumed, advises the Automobile Club of Southern California. For your car's protection, you should check oil level in the crankcase regularly.

Sidney Moore Continues Campaign For Bank Jobs

Job discrimination was under attack again this week with a big community fight already under way for the hiring of Negro clerks and tellers at the Bank of America, 25th and Central Ave.

A broadly representative committee of labor leaders, ministers and community and social leaders, headed by Sidney Moore, met Tuesday, July 27th, at the Y.M.C.A., 1006 E. 28th St., at 8 o'clock.

The group heard Moore's report on an inter-racial delegation that visited the bank management Tuesday morning. The delegation met with Mr. A. J. Goetz, Assistant Manager, and his chief clerk. Goetz said the feeling of the community about the bank's failure to hire Negroes despite the fact that 90% of its business comes from Negro customers "have already been conveyed to our head offices in Los Angeles and San Francisco."

Moore told Goetz he had received no answer to a letter he wrote to the San Francisco and Los Angeles management months ago. "Well, you'd better write again," was Goetz' comment. "I have nothing to say about the hiring of personnel here."

The officials promised to write a letter to Ralph Windsor, head personnel manager in Los Angeles urging him to meet with the delegation.

Other members of the delegation included Jose Chavez, candidate 51st A. D., Mrs. Carrie Carroll, representing CIO Women's Auxiliaries, Mrs. Clara Towns, Moore's campaign manager.

Moore said in a statement later that the fight will be kept up and increased just as long as the bank continues to discriminate.

Moore urged the community to send letters and delegations to Ralph Windsor, personnal manager, and A. J. Gock, Chairman of the Board of the Bank of America, at 660 S. Spring Street.

CIO Official Condems Red Hysteria

Bjorne Halling, Secretary-Treasurer of the California CIO Council, made the following statement last week when informed of the arrest of the 12 national leaders of the Communist Party:

"Hitler and Mussolini, too, got their start by arresting Communists. The workers of Germany and Italy made a mistake in not recognizing what was up. And they paid for it. The Communists were only the first victims. Then came the labor unions, other workers' parties and finally democracy itself.

"Today, the labor movement of the United States must not repeat the mistake of Germany and Italy. We must see to it that the Truman Administration is stopped in its attack on American democracy."

New Port Manager Takes Over Harbor

One of the most widely known rail and steamship executives in the country, T. G. Maddox, operating manager and district manager in San Francisco and Los Angeles from 1942 to 1948 for United States Lines, has been named traffric manager for the Port of Los Angeles.

The announcement was made this week by Arthur Eldridge, general manager, following action by the board of harbor commissioners.

Since 1902 when Maddox first entered the transportation industry at Marceline, Mo., his hometown, as station agent and telegraph operator for the Santa Fe, he has held executive positions for 42 years throughout the west. His home is at 10533 Clarkson Road.

"Los Angeles Harbor will undertake an aggressive traffic campaign to increase general cargo commerce through the Port of Los Angeles," Eldridge said in commenting on the appointment of Maddox, confirmed by the board of harbor commissioners at its regular weekly meeting at City Hall, San Pedro.

First Liberian Air Liner Is Dedicated

NEW YORK, N. Y.—(G)—In a ceremony headed by Edward R. Stettinius Jr., former Secretary of State and chairman of the Liberia Company, the Liberian International Airways Ltd., dedicated the first of its fleet of three DC-3 planes at La Guardia Field recently.

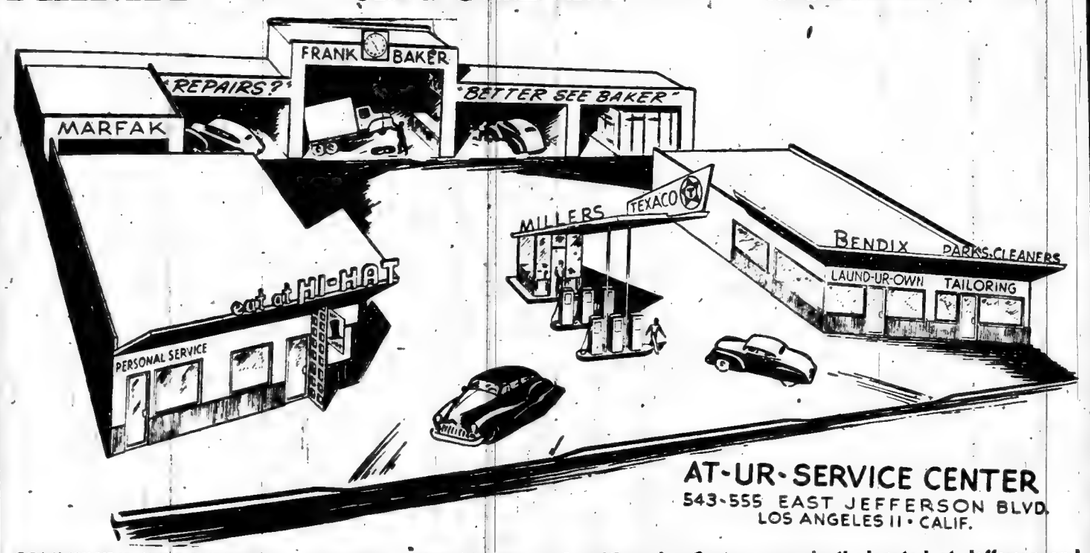
The company will operate on a 2,800-mile West African route from Dakar to Leopoldville.

Acme Among Leaders On National List

In a list of the fifty leading breweries of the United States, compiled by the Brewers Journal of Chicago, Acme Breweries continued to rank as one of "The Big Ten" in the national brewing field in 1947. Acme attained rating in this top bracket several years ago and is the only Western beer ever to have enjoyed this distinction.

"We are ver yproud to continue as one of 'The Big Ten,'" commented Karl F. Schuster, president of Acme, "especially in view of the fact that our present field of operations is confined to a section of the country containing only about 15% of the national population, whereas the other nine breweries in thsi group have a natural sales area comprising 85% of the population and a few of them have distribution throughout the entire United States."

Acme has been the largest selling Western beer every year since Repeal and is expanding the capacities of both its San Francisco and Los Angeles breweries to take care of anticipated increasing demands, Mr. Schuster states.



News Vendors Ask Election Before NLRB

William Axelrod, Secretary-Treasurer, and Leo Gallagher, attorney for the News Vendors Local 75 (CIO) challengede representatives of the Herald-Express, Examiner, and Daily News managements and the AFL Central Labor Council to agree to an immediate election to decide representation for the newsvendors at an informal National Labor Relations Board hearing on last Monday, presided over by Board Examiner Greer.

The present dispute was caused when the Herald, Examiner, and Daily News managements informed Local 75 that as of August 18, expiration date of present contracts, they will no longer recognize, bargain, or contract with Local 75. During three years of contractual relations the publishers recognized Local 75 as representing 90 per cent of the newsvendors in Los Angeles.

Attacks Without Cause Wife Says

Police have not located Carroll Brown, 31, who is wanted for questioning in an attempted assault and on suspicion of an attempt to commit arson. Brown ran amok last week-end and attacked a man who, with his wife and son, and Brown's estranged wife and three of their children, was returning from an automobile ride. According to the version of what happened given by Ruth Brown, her estranged husband attacked without provocation.

Because of the standing of Mrs. Brown's family in the community, and because of misinterpretations placed on the reports of the incident, Mrs. Brown pointed out in an interview this week that she was not alone in the company of the man who was attacked by her husband. The man's wife and son and, as was previously mentioned, three of her own children were present.

Civil Liberties Marshall Says

NEW YORK—The Civil Rights Congress this week issued a statement, part of which follows, in connection with the indictment of leaders of the Communist party of the United States. The statement singed by George Marshall, chairman of the board of directors and Len Goldsmith, national director, said that "the indictments issued by the lame duck grand jury against leaders of the Communist party represents a severe blow to civil liberties in America. The unprecedented step of suppressing the cause of indictment of a large number of men and women simultaneously, proves that the sole purpose of the grand jury is to suppress the Communist party of the United States. This political persecution is contrary and repugnant to American law and democratic tradition.

"The shoddy character of these persecutions is revealed by the suspicious timing of a series of "leaks" to newspapers by this grand jury. A close perusal of the record will indicate that whenever the administration was faced with a foreign policy crisis, this grand jury and the "leak" technique was used to create a witch hunt atmosphere. First, the "crisis" and lo and behold, horrendous "dope" stories appear in the newspapers that rival the dreams of an A. Phillips Oppenheim.

"It is more than a coincidence that these indictments are handed down on the same day that the State department accuses the UN of being a transmission belt for Soviet "spies" and on the eve of a special session of Congress which will probably again consider the Mundt-Nixon bill.

Aids Fund Drive

Following an appeal made by William Burke, director, chairman of the Los Angeles division of the National Negro College Fund Drive, the Los Angeles Committee for the National CIO endorsed the College fund drive.

John Dial Jr., chairman of the CIO Committee's Fair Employment Practices Committee, presented Mr. Burke. The Committee authorized its president, and its secretary and Mr. Dial to assist in raising funds. CIO Regional Director, Irwin L. DeShelter also endorsed the fund drive. All locals of the committee are expected to contribute, and speakers will be sent to meetings to make appeals.

Heart Disease Visible

CHICAGO, Ill.—Scientists can now "see" certain kinds of heart disorders in individuals, with the aid of radioactive substances injected into the blood. This new technique of studying heart diseases, known as radiocardiography, was described this week, in a report prepared by Dr. Myron Priminzmental and his associates at the Cedar of Lebanon Hospital, Los Angeles, and presented before the 21st scientific sesions of the American Heart Association.

In order to obtain graphic records of the flow of blood through the human heart, radioactive sodium is injected intravenously and traced with specially designed ink-writing Geiger-Mueller counters. By this method, Dr. Prinbmental pointed out, data is obtained which has increased scientific knowledge and undehstanding of circulatory disorders.

No Other U.S. County Can Equal This One

Los Angeles county alone shipped more fresh fruits and vegetables than 37 individual states last year, a survey of the agriculture committe of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce reveals.

Committee Chairman Roy M. Hagen said 10 Southern California counties, where one sixth of the nation's rail and boat shipments originated topped every state in the country, except California itself, in volume of shipments.

California originated nearly one third of the country's fruit and vegetable shipments.

Rev. Russell Urges Fight For All Civil Rights Now

Last Sunday night Dr. Clayton D. Russell, a delegate to the Democratic National Convention, made his report on the Convention and Civil Rights to an overflowing crowded auditorium of the People's Independent Church of Christ.

Dr. Russell urged the Negro people and all Americans who believe in fair play and justice, "to fight for Civil Rights now!" He further stated, "the battle must be fought not in Berlin, or in Palestine with guns; but in the White House, in Congress with the Ballot. We must see to it that every Negro is registered. The Congressmen and Senators must know through letters, telegrams and petitions—Negro people are for Low Cost Housing, Repeal of the Taft-Hartley Labor Bill, Fair Employment, Civil Rights, Control of High Cost of Living and the elimination of segregation and discrimination in Washington, D. C.

Dr. Russell urged the people present to join with him in a campaign to demand that Governor Earl Warren call a special session of the State Legislature for the enactment upon the following bills: 1. The State Fair Employment Act. 2. Abolishment of Separate Schools for Negroes and Mexicans in the State of California. 3. The enactment of a new Insurance Law-making it a felony for any Insurance Company to discriminate against a man because of race, color, creed or religion.

Broadway Federal President Asks Cooperation With Labor

H. A. Howard, president and general manager of The Broadway Federal Savings and Loan Association of Los Angeles, has just returned from attending the Seventh Stanford Business Conference held at Stanford University.

This Conference brought together executives, management, industrialists, and other labor leaders from far and near, and was sponsored by the Graduate School of Business. Similar conferences have been held a Pomona College but were curtailed during the war period.

Said Howard, Dean of Pacific Coast Real Estate and financial adviser, "Never before have I seen so many men of national distinction gather to discuss problems in the best interest of labor." The theme running throughout the conference was "What Must Capital and Management do to help the laboring class in the way of a higher standard of living, and how can the country, as a whole, get away from bad management in order to keep business on a sound basis?"

Thus, to eliminate government control, Capital and Management must contribute more to labor, and further, keep the industrial system of our country on a comptitive and economic basis.

"Fundamentally," said Howard, "management has come to the conclusion that the importance of Labor is predicated on the treatment received from Management an dunless we give greater attention to the working class, this country is headed for further unrest."

Among the speakers at this Conference were: U. S. Senator Ralph E. Flanders, Republican of Vermont; Don G. Mitchell, president of Sylvania Electrical Products Corp., New York; John A. McCone, president of Joshua Hendy Corp., Los Angeles; Tim Flynn, regional director, Congress of Industrial Organizations, San Francisco; James C. Downs, Jr., president, Real Estate Research Corp., Chicago; and many other outstanding personalities.

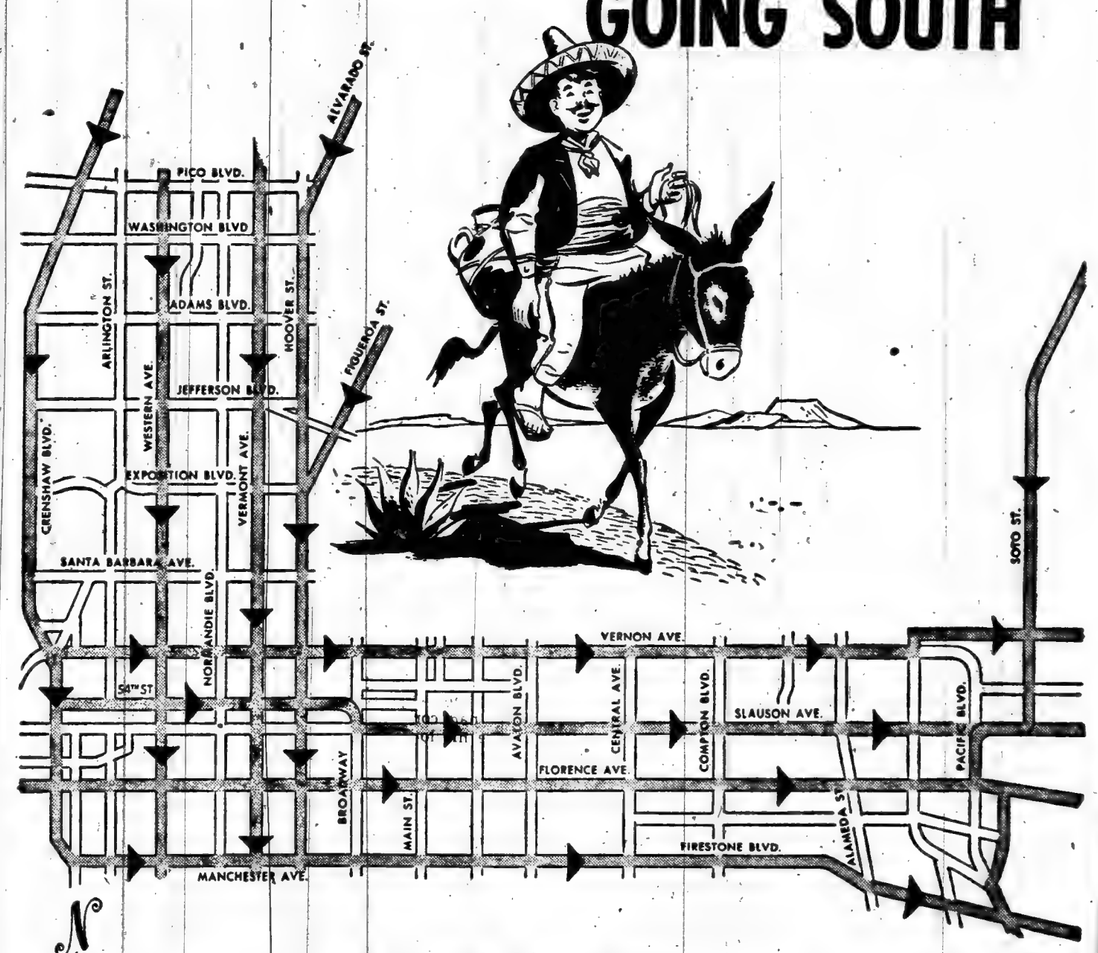
J. Hugh Jackson, Dean, Graduate School of Business, Stanford University, presided over the entire session.

Progressive Party Mobilizes Action For PUrice Control

PROGRESSIVE Party—Must Go A campaign to dramatize the need for price control and price rollback legislation was started this week by the Independent Progressive Party. In the 15th Congressional District six price lines were begun in the vicinity of Figueroa and Vernon Avenues, in the Vermont-Jefferson area, at Third and Catalina Streets, at Oakwood and Fairfax Avenues, at Bronson and Franklin and on Vine Street.

Placards emphasized the need for price legislation from the reconvened 80th Congress. Leaflets are being distributed explaining that the Progressive Party's campaign slogan, "Don't Buy Steaks, Chops and Roasts between July 26 and 31" is not directed at the neighborhood stores but at the inflationary prices of these items.

Petitions to incumbent Congressman Gordon L. McDonough were circulated for signatures in the area, and in two days, announces the IPP office of the 15th C.D., over 1500 signatures have already been obtained.



Name Coordinator For Vets Campaign

Judge John W. Preston, chairman of the Citizens Committee for Equal Representation, representing voters desiring to effect State Senate representation on a population basis, announced the selection of Al Weinberg as coordinator for the local Veterans Committee.

The Veterans Committee established headquarters in Room 205, Hayward Hotel.

Mr. Weinberg, according to Judge Preston, will serve full time on his new assignment.

There's a better way of GOING SOUTH

To South Los Angeles (That is)

Most folks riding Los Angeles Transit Lines get into the habit of going from home to work by one particular route.

But — and this is important — there are frequently faster, more comfortable ways to ride from where you live to where you work.

A good example applies to people who live in the north-west and north-east sections of Los Angeles. If you are one of them — and your destination is the south-side — study the map carefully.

Note the heavy lines which represent crosstown routes. Observe, too, that by traveling and transferring on these lines you by-pass heavily congested areas. While the distances may be a little longer, you actually get there faster and more comfortably.

Tomorrow — try one of these crosstown combinations. You'll agree that it's your best way to travel south.

lieve that the international strife which dominates the world scene today is the result of powerful monopolists who impose military rule on millions of freedom-loving people everywhere.

As an American of African descent I feel keenly the need of a political party that will use its power and influence in attacking domestic problems before going abroad. Instead of getting tough with Russia let the government policy be 'Get Tough With Dixie.' No nation or people can be pure in its purpose to free the other enslaved parts of the world while slavery exists at home.

I contend that the two major parties have failed to interpret and administer the Bill of Rights. In permitting two forms of government to exist under our Constitution, one in the North and another in the South, it refutes our claim to a government of the people, by the people, and for the people.

The dividing line in these two governmental setups was distinctly defined last week at the Democratic convention. The Northern wing, aided and abetted by the Republican party in its same hypocritical fashion, attempted to feign its friendship for the Negro and other oppressed minorities, while the white supremacy element demonstrated its determination to use its States Rights claim to deny Negroes their constitutional guarantee of civil liberties. This position taken by the Southern Bourbons was brought out in the open when George L. Vaughn, a devout Negro Democrat of St. Louis, Missouri, on the floor of the convention, urged the adoption of a minority report of the credential committee which called for the exclusion of the Mississippi delegation because it had pledged unalterable opposition to the Truman Civil Rights gestures. The resolution was booed by the Southern oligarchy and was met with the silence of a summer breeze by the so-called 'friends of freedom' present—and finally, it pased by a lukewarm decision by the presiding officer.

This incident is a barometer of the present political trend in both houses, Republicans and Democrat. As far as any promise of changes in the matter of guarantees in their constitutional rights to minorities the Republicans are as derelict as the Democrats; the diference being in technique.

At the Republican conclave which met a few weks ahead of the Democratic convention in this city everything from an anti-lynch bill to the abolition of segregation and discrimination in the Armed Forces was promised Negroes—but this is not the first time that Negroes have gone home from conventions with such promises ringing in their ears. Even now they are reminded of a shattered hope for a federal Fair Employment plank in the Republican platform made by the members of the 80th Congress, only to realize later that these promises are as easily broken as made.

We must understand that peace wil not come to the world's enslaved—either by poverty or war—while our nation continues to carry food to the hungry in one hand, and guns and ammunition in the other. Food to those nations who endorse our policy of aggression; and weapons of war to those who exploit the freedom of the Common Man and keep him weak. The people must know why a house divided cannot stand . . . that we cannot allow the 'Tories of the South' under the banner of White Supremacy to corrupt Southern as well as national politics. These and many other questions must be met and answered.

In building a new party of Americans, we must declare our devotion to fundamental American principles and believe unreservedly in the future of a nation which must be as strong in its adherence to principles as it is in material wealth.

The Independent Progressive Party must be a party of workers and farmers, Negro and white—businessmen and professionals of all walks of life. It is a party of all races, religious faiths, and national origins, dedicated to overcoming the problems of difference and not perpetuating them. It is a party for peace . . . justice . . . and freedom for all.

The 14 million Negro people believe that they echo the will of other Americans when they demand the abolishment of all practices and agencies, private and public, which curb freedom of speech, press, assembly, and worship, and ask for the abolishment of the House Un-American Activities Committee;

a) revocation of the Truman Loyalty Order.

b) fight against the Mundt-Nixon Bill and similar legislation designed to establish thought control and a police state.

c) respect for freedom of press, assembly, and petition.

d) repudiation of reactionary and militarist doctrines of two old parties.

e) repeal of the National Security Act and relegation of military to traditional positions in American society as servants of civil authorities and people.

f) end military-big business industrial mobilization program.

g) break domination of scientific and educational projects by armed forces, and remove barriers placed around freedom of discussion in art, science, andeducation behind a pretext of protecting national security.

h) achieve full equality for Negroes and all other minorities.

i) Presidential proclamation to end segregation and discrimination in all branches of armed services and Federal employment.

j) immediate enactment of anti-lynch and other legislation to protect Negro people in their persons and property and social rights,

k) enactment at once of anti-poll tax legislation and use of power of Federal government to enforce the right of all citizens to vote.

l) immediate enactment of a Federal FEPC.

m) Federal law against segregation and discrimination,

n) Federal funds to be denied to any state or local authority or Federal agency which tolerates segregation and discrimination.

o) special programs to raise standards of health, housing, and educational facilities for Negroes, Indians, and other minorities.

At the hearing Youngblood claimed he hadn't recognized Rainey, though it is known he appeared before him on another case only a few weeks before. He also charged Rainey had hit him and he was in danger "until the other officers came to my assistance."

Warner, not to make any of these moves, and the attorneys told the jury they were not satisfied with the verdict, but they could not take any further legal action because they had been instructed by their client not to do so. Old-timers around the Federal Court Building could not remember when a convicted person had refused to permit his lawyers to exhaust every legal means before accepting sentence as final. It is believed that Barsock has some unexpressed reason for his action.

The life sentence pronounced by Judge Hall is mandatory since the jury specified it in returning the verdict. Without the recommendation, it would have been possible for the judge to sentence Barsock to death.

They were placed in another car that did not rave air-conditioning, and which was without upholstery and otherwise uncomfortable. Later they discovered the car from which they were removed was going through and more, that it was still a part of the train on which they were riding. Their seats had been given to white pasengers.

Joseph Lewis, Los Angeles attorney representing all nine, filed a 'wilful misconduct' suit in Federal Court here Tuesday. The nine persons, several of whom are residents of Los Angeles are: Laura Powers, 1011 Olympic boulevard; Violet L. Adams, 2723 Raymond Ave.; Josephine Benjaminy, 1263 E. 40th Pl.; Joseph A. Williams, Betty H. Warren, Pearl Smith, Myrtle V. Wright, Nettie Cook and Mary Jackson.

The Southern Pacific will be served in their San Francisco offices. However, the Texas and Pacific offices in Los Angeles refuse to give the name of the person who might be served for that company. Mr. Lewis, Attorney for the suing pasengers, plans to seek the name of the responsible Texas and Pacific official from the Secretary of the State. Should he fail in this, he can, by law, serve the Secretary of State.

week that any employe who should fail to take the oath on the first three counts by 5 p.m. last Monday, should be given a notice of dismissal immediately by his department head.

If the County Court rules in favor of the County, then anyone who has failed to comply with the part of the test, listing the names of organizations to which he belongs, should be fired for insubordination. And there's a question in the minds of some heads of departments as to whether such employes should not be fired anyway, because of insubordination.

for six weeks at the outset, the reaction to the President's program was violent enough to make it necessary for the session to continue until early next year, and this with no guarantee that there will then be a reconciliation betwen the purposes of the legislative politicians and the wishes of the people.

The eleven point program submitted by the President concerns itself with such vital issues as the Taft-Ellender-Wagner Housing Bill, federal aid to education, an increase in the minimum wage to seventy-five cents (labor circles are asking that it be one dollar), expansion of social security rights and benefits, Civil Rights based on anti-lynching and anti-poll tax laws, and price control.

From both sides the charges are flying that there is little sincerity and too much politics. However, something that neither side has counted on is happening. An avalanche of letters and telegrams is pouring into the offices of both the Republican and Democratic leaders, and the people are alert to the opportunity they have to get some of the legislation vitally needed before they have to sit through weeks of campaign speeches to hear a lot of windy talk about it.

It is expected that the once-rejected Mundt-Nixon police-state bill will b resurrected for the usual witch-hunt and red-baiting soiree, this time with the definite purpose of attempting to weaken the growing strength of the Progressive party. Governor Dewey has announced that he will keep in touch with Republican legislators during the session, and because of this, it is expected there will be little accomplished unless the people act.

Wallace on The Picket Line

Henry A. Wallace became the first and only Presidential candidate to identify himself with labor's wage demands on the picket line, when he addressed cheering Chrysler strikers picketing the main Dodge and Chrisler plants in Detroit.

To answering shouts of "Good for you, Wallace," he expressed his full support of the demands of the 75,000 UAW-CIO strikers for adequate wage increases out of the exorbitant profits of the automobile companies.

"I am glad you are doing something to get the profits of the automobile industry which rightfully belong to you," Wallace told the pickets. "I have been wondering if you have the same spirit that you had back in 1939 and 1937.

"I see that you have come to the same conclusion that I did back in 1945. Cars do not have to go up in price to let management pay you more wages and still make more profits than it did in 1941."

home and when questioned as to his whereabouts, told detectives Nelson and Alston he had been out all evening. His statement was proven false when a witness, whose name is being withheld, told detectives he had seen activity in both apartments at a few minutes to 11, after which he heard two shots fired. Munson rooms with Willis.

Following the shooting, according to the witness, a man and woman were seen leaving the apartment in which the shooting occurred. A man was also seen leaving the Willis apartment.

Munson later confessed to detectives that Willis had been going with the married woman "for the past five months," and on the evening of the shooting the woman let Willis out of her car about a block from the apartment and drove to her home. Willis walked home. When Willis arrived home he heard an argument going on between Jordan and his wife.

The argument turned into a fight and Willis told his cousin that he was going over to see what the noise was all about. His cousin told Willis to keep out of it as "It's bad enough for you to be going with her without sticking your nose in their arguments."

Willis went into the back room where his cousin told detectives he keeps a gun, and went over to the next door apartment. A few minutes later the cousin heard two shots fired.

Willis then went to the home of another cousin at 10319½ Goreman where he had intended to spend the night. When questioned as to his activity, he told detectives Alston and Nelson he had been to church and later to a beer parlor. When asked how long had he been in the beer parlor he couldn't give a definite answer. He told detectives he had been at the home of his cousin for a few hours. A niece, however, informed the officers Willis had arrived there at approximately 12:15 and told relatives he wanted to spend the night there as there had been some trouble over at the apartment where he lived.

Willis denied shooting the man and also denied going with the woman. Detectives stated they found a note in his apartment from the woman which read "Meet me at the postoffice."

The gun hasn't been found, but two unexploded shells were found in Willis' apartment. The same type taken from the body of the dead man. The woman later repudiated her story and told detectives she didn't shoot her husband.

The coroner's inquest will be held later this week.

investigate the matter, which said, " . . . Mrs. Haas in labeling Jewish teachers, Russian Jewish teachers, (she) uses language that could be considered anti-Semitic, and which is contrary to the established principles of American democracy."

Elliot read from a lengthy prepared statement, and he sought to link each speaker with a plot to overthrow the United States Government by force and violence. He indignantly challenged the right of each of the speakers to appear before the Board, and he spoke with a positiveness that suggested he was the new American dictator or at least the sole surviving true American.

Negro and white citizens who sat in the audience and who had come to protest the remarks and attitude of Nell Haas were angered by Elliot's exclusive, high-handed Americanism, and after the Board adjourned, one member of the audience remarked, "If protesting against people like Haas and Elliot makes a person a communist, then I'm one. Another was heard to say, "After listening to that man, I'd join the communists just to be different. If that's Americanism, I'm a communist already."

In retaliation for the temerity of the leaders in the protest against Nell Haas' anti-Negro and anti-Semitic remarks, in bringing the matter to the Board, Elliot announced he planned to have the Board pass a regulation making it mandatory that every employee of the Board be subjected to a loyalty test. The Board members sat in subdued silence as Elliot ranted and read from material some of which he admitted came from the Tenney Committee files, and by their supineness, the Board indicated that the loyalty tests will be ordered soon.

In the audience holding a card seeking permission to address the august Board was Mrs. Winifred Pierson of 1016 E. 28th Street, one of the mothers who have children in the 28th Street School who plan to further protest against Nell Haas. Mrs. Pierson told a California Eagle reporter of an incident concerning her son Wesley who is now 8. At the age of three, Wesley fell out of a window, and as a result he has been extremely nervous and high-strung. He was under the care of a psychiatrist, a fact known by Nell Haas. Yet when Wesley was reported to her for having used a bad word to a boy who reportedly had used it to him first, Wesley, Mrs. Pierson said, was made, BY MRS. HAAS, to bend over a bench with his head down, and his buttocks elevated. He says Nell Haas struck him several times. "She claims she merely made a racket as though she were striking him. Wesley was so aggravated by the experience, he was upset for a week."

Community feeling against the Board's refusal to act on the charges against Nell Haas has stirred up indignation within and outside of the immediate community served by the 28th Street School, and a preliminary meeting will be held this week to plan for further protest to the Board, and to the highest authority, the people.

Pensioners File Charges Against Will

LOS ANGELES — Complaints that Arthur J. Will, Los Angeles County Superintendent of Charities, has used his office and title in violation of the Los Angeles County Charter and is liable to criminal charges, were lodged with District Attorney William E. Simpson and the Los Angeles County Civil Service Commission last week by the Citizens' Committee for Old Age Pensions.

In letters to Disrict Attorney Simpson and the Civil Service Commission, George H. McLain, chairman of the board of trustees of the Citizens' Committee, charged Will has used his office and title in an unlawful effort to influence voters against the Aged and Blind Aid iInitiative Amendment, Proposition No. 4 on the November 2 ballot.

Independence was written and adopted.

We can be proud that our people were the first to lead the world toward democracy. But the job is not complete. We must carry the work forward. That is why we are here.

The kickoff of the convention was held Friday afternoon at the Bellevue-Stratford, where a public press conference for Henry A. Wallace was held. To this conference came Westbrook Pegler, Norman Thomas, and Edgar Brown with no good intentions. Pegler was fortified with his poisonous pen which he used after a verbal combat with the honorable Wallace. This failed in its purpose when Henry Wallace retorted, "I never engage in any discussion with Westbrook Pegler."

The white-haired Norman Thomas came to engage in debate, some fetish illusionary subject, with the Progressive parties presidential nominee but the people's party candidate was engaged in more important matters than a discussion for confusion among the people.

Edgar Brown, the man with a million Negro membership organization, came as per usual, rattling to his own discomfort rather than the people's. His vest pocket organization didn't impress Henry Wallace to the extent of an answer to his question, "Would Mr. Wallace send troops into the South to stop lynching?" Had Mr. Brown read Mr. Wallace's statements concerning lynching, segregation, discrimination, and poll tax he would have realized how ridiculous was his question.

KEYNOTE ADDRESS

Friday evening the convention was officially opened at Convention Hall and Charles P. Howard, Des Moines, Iowa, newspaper publisher and crusader, keynoted the evening session, saying, "... The new trails await us. The frontier awaits us. The rebirth of this nation awaits our coming. And we are on the march."

Progressive Party Only Hope for Negroes

(From National Wallace-for-President Committee)

When Congress adjourned for the Democratic and Republican conventions two weeks ago, it hadn't passed one civil rights bill. No anti-lynch law, no anti-poll tax law, no Fair Employment Practices law.

Yes, Truman promised and the Republicans promised, but when it came time to put it on the line, they showed they had no more use for Negro rights than a duck has for a bicycle.

Truman asked Congress to pass civil rights laws. But when it came time to crack the whip to make the southern Congressmen toe the line—he wasn't there. Maybe it was because his two leaders in the House and the Senate are both Southerners—Senator Alben Barkley of Kentucky and Congressman Sam Rayburn of Texas.

Moreover, Truman promised last February to order his government agencies to stop discriminating against Negro job-holders. But a couple of weeks ago he let it be known that he wasn't going to insult the southerners by giving such an order. He thus killed his own civil rights program.

In the Senate, while the Democrats were busy helping the Republicans kill Negro rights, it took a Republican to bawl out his own party.

Senator William Langer of South Dakota told Senate Republicans: "This is the last chance we have to carry out our 1944 platform on civil rights."

And what was that 1944 platform? An anti-lynch law. An anti-poll tax law. A Fair Employment Practices law.

Yes, they bragged about what they were going to do when they got the upper hand in Congress. They got the upper hand in 1946. And they've been kiling off Negro rights legislation ever since.

These politicians look pretty small when you stand them up against a man who lost the Vice-Presidential nomination because at the 1944 Democratic convention he had the guts to tell the Southern Democrats to their teeth: "The poll-tax must go. . . . There must be no interior races. . . . Equality of opportunity regardless of race or sex must come."

That was Henry Wallace.

And that is the New Party. For the New Party is fighting Jimcrow with everything it has. And the New Party is going to wipe Jimcrow off the face of America forever. That New Party that was christened the Progressive Party at the founding convention, is the only party for real Americans.

For Mankind

Reprinted From the
MINNEAPOLIS MORNING TRIBUNE

When books of the Julius Rosenwald fund, created in 1917 for "the welfare of mankind," are closed June 30 a bequest unique in the annals of philanthropy will have been fulfilled.

Its founder, chairman of the board of Sears, Roebuck & Co., until his death in 1932, was a truly modest man who did not believe men of wealth should set up monuments to themselves in the form of perpetual endowments. He stipulated that the entire fund should be spent, including principal, within 25 years after his death.

As explained by Edwin R. Embree, for 20 years president of the fund, Rosenwald felt that "every generation should care for its own progress and that funds should be used while ideas and enthusiasm were fresh."

In 31 years the fund spent more than $22 million, mostly to "equalize opportunities for all Americans." The money helped build 5,357 rural schools for Negroes in the south, aided Negro colleges, improved health conditions in Negro communities, financed education in race relations and provided advanced training for 600 Negroes and 250 white southerners.

Some of the best known Negro leaders in the nation have been Rosenwald fellows, including Langston Hughes, Marian Anderson, Katherine Dunham, Percy Julian and Sterling Brown.

While Rosenwald did not aspire to be publicly remembered after his money had been spent, the ideals he helped perpetuate will live on. And despite his own self-effacement the name of a great Jew and a great American will long be remembered, not only by the Negroes, he made it his life mission to help but by all Americans of good will.

The World Council of Churches

The Protestant churches of the world are eagerly looking forward to the formation meeting of the World Council of Churches, to be held in Amsterdam, Holland, August 20 to September 5.

This will be the first time in history that the communicants of scores of different religious faiths wil meet to unite on their similiarities, instead of squabbling about their differences.

More than 1600 years ago, in the year 325, the Roman Emperor Constantine called the Council of Nicea. But there was only one church then. And this early church, under the dictatorial policy, of the Emperor became then the state church of Rome. And although it gained in wealth and favor, it lost much of its former simple faith—a tragic loss.

Members of the various Christian churches are wondering if they can recapture that former simplicity of faith and love, that zeal and earnestness and fire which sent the early Christians through desert and across seas, in constant peril of their lives, to preach the gospel of Jesus Christ.

They can, if they get some of the zeal of their Leader into their hearts. If they get His hatred and contempt for hypocrisy, for substerfuge, for the spiritual wickednes in high places today in church and in government.

If they can grasp a whip of cords, and tell those leaders in church and in politics, greedy for power and wealth, to take these things hence. If they dare to use the epithet "Thou hypocrite," to a wealthy member of their church who persists in practicing racial segregation among his employes, who grinds down the faces of the poor that he may become rich. If they dare to mingle with the Common People. If they dare to be called "Reds," as He would be if He were still among us, a Human Being.

If they can do this, and more. If they can fight for those things of the Common Man, as Jesus would fight. If they can lose wealth and power, and prestige. And jobs. And homes. If they can be haled before courts and traitors, by the very traitors of the country themselves. If they can go to jail. If they can submit to ignominy. To rebuffs. To silent contempt. To a cold war of nerves, of being ignored, of being ridiculed.

If they can still keep on fighting, knowing they are right, in spite of every obstacle, every depressing influence, every discouragement, then the World Council of Churches will regain its old vigor and fire, and like a giant it will stride forward in the creation of a New World, the World of the Common Man.

Listen Mr. Truman!

The President of the United States has the most responsible position of leadership in the world. He must at all times exercise that leadership soberly, judiciously and wisely. Of President Truman we can say he is, during these moments before the coming election contest, administering his office soberly, but some time must pass before we can agree that he is leading judiciously and wisely.

Engaged now in an endeavor to secure and guarantee Civil Rights for this nation's largest minority group, the President cannot deny that some of the force behind his efforts is force generated by the impelling desire to tenant the White House for another four years. Because that is so we would suggest to the President that he be wary less he injure those he professes to help.

He must go beyond the equivocation suggested in his Executive Order issued early this week if he is to convince his friends and his enemies that he is sincere in his desire to give full citizenship to Negro Americans. There is little solace to be had from a thorough reading of that order. The President has spoken, but his words have no more influence than silence. He stood squarely upright and dodged the issue.

It is well to say that as much as he has done is more than has been done before, but it is better to remember that unless President Truman speaks and acts with more positiveness the next time he speaks for Civil Rights, he will have no listeners except those who are fascinated by echoes and distant noises, and he will have set back the progress of one third of this nation's citizens.

THINGS I SEE

By Marian Inglewood

"American newspapers," says a veteran newspaper man, "are muffing the biggest story of our time—the story of today's struggle toward peace."

"By that I mean," he goes on, "that we aren't getting across to our readers the real story of today's world and we aren't providing them with the facts that will enable them intelligently to make the decisions on which depends the nature of tomorrow's world."

The fact that the circulation of many newspapers is climbing to unusual heights doesn't mean that their readers like the stuff that is handed out to them, maintains this newspaper man, who by the way is a telegraph editor and so handles the news sent in from all parts of the world. It means only the newspaper are using sales tricks like continued-story comics, prizes for solving puzzles, and other "super-duper promotion" methods. The readers get their comics and sports news and local gossip from the newspapers. But for world news they depend upon magazines, or the radio, or perhaps the parish priest.

The reason readers aren't interested in world events, according to this newspaper editor, is because the world news is presented in such an uninteresting manner — a long column with long paragraphs printed in rather fine type.

Perhaps that criticism is justified about some of our metropolitan dailies. Anyway newspapers have their eyes on the circulation figures, and if what they are doing doesn't at least decrease those figures, haven't they a right to think the stuff they print is what their readers want?

But not all newspapers would come under the category of deserving such criticism. The California Eagle, of course, for one. The Daily People's World. And scores of others. But of course such newspapers are not big metropolitan dailies. They are newspapers with a comparatively limited number of subscribers.

You can bank on such newspapers, however, to tell you the truth as well as they are able to dig it out of the mass of material that is sent in to them. And if you aren't a subscriber to such a paper, you ought to be one. Ecpecially of the EAGLE, which tells you in news story and editorial the things which make for good American citizenship and good world neighborliness.

In this article taking the newspapers of America to task, the author comes to the conclusion that "The survival of the United States depends on how well the American people, in the next few years, understand what's going on in the world.

"The American people won't understand what's going on in the world, and as a result won't make intelligent long-range decisions, unless newspapers make a special effort to overcome their natural tendency to ignore world events by making world news readable and interesting."

"I thing this is so," he says, "because the world which used to be something for off across the ocean, has moved right into our own home towns, and has become a local story. That bomb which may blow our kids to pieces is just as local as a truck that skids through a red light."

So all this should make newspaper people very conscientious. The entire world—or at least a large part of the entire world—depends so much upon us! But can we help it if people insist upon reading The Times, or The Examiner, instead of the EAGLE? Yes.

Much of this responsibility for good news—local or world wide—depends also upon the subscribers. So, if you like your favorite newspaper, if you like the news stories, if you like the editorial comments, and the way the gist of events is explained to you, pass it on to your neighbor. Then ask him to become a subscriber, and a constant reader, too.

Not all of the responsibility for a good newspaper depends upon those who work in its editorial offices. It depends also upon you, its readers, as silent partners in the firm.

LABOR ON THE MARCH

By JOHN M. LEE

Divided and Conquered

How the mighty have fallen! Organized labor won't be calling the turn come this November, and whether that's good or bad, that's the way it is. We talked with a candidate for national office a few days ago, and he said — in effect — it didn't matter to him one way or the other about an endorsement from organized labor groups. "They don't seem to carry much weight politically these days, and it's their own fualt," he observed. He said a good deal more, and it all added up to this: Organized labor is divided, split, broken up into little groups and factions, each contending for acceptance of its own interpretation of the American Way of life, with none of them accomplishing much more than the sorry achievement of having a body of followers to back them up in their name-calling campaigns.

It is my guess that all of the labor groups will endorse this candidate, and he will be elected because he favors repeal of the Taft-Hartley Law, but as he told me, there is not much likelihood that the Taft-Hartley Law will be repealed this year, next year or the year following. The Taft-Hartley Law is the symbol of labor's disintegration. Its passage was quietly, ever so quietly, supported by some organized labor leadership for the staunchly American, albeit thoroughly deceitful, purpose of giving the hot foot to the communists and their supporters. The net effect thus far has been to reduce organized labor to a pitifully ineffective and bewildered has-been politically.

What approximates a miscroscopic examination of the sickness that's destroying organized labor for us, is a look-see at what goes on in the Los Angeles Newspaper Guild. We have mentioned previously with some conviction that the LANG should make it an early and top order of business to get hustling on the long overdue project of placing Negro newspapermen on some of the metropolitan dailies. We recognize that it is a man-size order, and it will take a good man to do it. Bill Brodie might have done the job, but Bill was heckled and thwarted so badly by dictator-like leadership, he resigned in order to give the LANG an opportunity to elect an administrative officer who could work with the current house-mother.

By the time this is in print, LANG members in good standing will have received ballots for the election of a new administrative officer, and presuming to speak for the Negro members, I ask that whoever he is he will courageouly address himself to the assignment of getting minority group brothers employed by the dailies. Of the candidates seeking election as administrative officer, there are two who, to my knowledge, are eminently qualified for the job; Andy BARRIGAN and G. Kay Williams. Kay has been a friend of mine for some time as has Andy, and it would be difficult to make a choice except for the fact that Kay has done some of the spade work for the present set-up in the LANG, and I think he will understand me when I say that I think the present manner of running the LANG is not promoting strong unionism, but rather, it is witch-hunting and it is dividng the guld and destroying its effectiveness.

I shall vote for Barrigan for many reasons, but chief among them is the way in which the lady at its head is running the guild; Kay supported here when he should have censored and advised her against the course she was taking. I cannot feel that she will have the interest of all the members at heart all the time, and I am convinced she is more concerned with becoming established as an anti-communist than she is with leading the guild to greater heights. Because Kay has supported her, I cannot support him this time.

Just as surely as we remain divided we shall be conquered. It is my conviction that to elect Barrigan will be to take the first step in the direction of re-establishing the LANG as a truly representative body, concerned not so much with a man's political belief as with his professional well-being. After all there are some Republicans in the LANG, but you wouldn't think so. You sort of get the impression right now that the only function of the LANG is to hold the line for Truman against the third party adherents. That's not what the boys and girls are paying dues for; and it won't settle grievances to pull out of the CIO Council, or to ham-string efficient officials until they resign out of sheer disgust. What has the LANG accomplished under the present leadership? Is that enough?

BOOKS and AUTHORS

Squalor and overcrowding in New York's Harlem slums, depriving children of their natural sense of family unity, breed a lawless. wolfpack spirit which finds expression in boy gangs woh war on each other with lethal weapons and commit crimes ranging from theft to outright murder. Members of these gangs are "not problem children but children of a problem society," and frequently, as individuals, exhibit a loyalty and courage which disclose a high degree of human decency. Such are the conclusions of Bradford Chambers, whose forthcoming book on a problem which has long baffled sociologists and police is condensed in The Reader's Digest for August.

Chambers' book is the result of several years of first-hand investigation of the private and gang life of Negro and white boys in "Mousetown," as the poorest sections of Harlem are caled by the boys themselves. The author, accepted by many of the youthful gangsters as a trusted friend, went into their homes, saw how they lived, talked to their parents and teachers, and tried to organize club activities to replace the lawless violence of gang wars.

Typical of the homes visited was a vermin-infested, cold-water flat into which the author was taken by a bay who lived there. The small four-room apartment housed three families. Its single bathroom, without tub, was shared by the occupants of three other flats. Chambers' young escort explained that the landlord, a white man, "knows that us colored can't move of this neighborhood."

Denied the child's normal need of family life and security, boys join gangs as relief from the lonelines of slum existence and as protection from other gangs, Chambers concludes. Only by elminating the living conditions which breed the gang spirit, can the gangs be dissipated. "You can't curt gangs by 'breaking them up' nor by sending individual boys to the reformatory. It's no good trying to get rid of mosquitos by swatting them; you've got to drain the swamps in which they breed."

W. J. Wheaton Says

Jesus am a Rock In a Weary Land, Weary Land! Sang Mary Ann, and we imagined her ecstasy as that magnificent voice of hers rose and fell in her fervor of religious feeling. We could tell by the cadence that her very soul was rapt in her song. When we heard the hum—that usually denoted the end, we made our presence known, and was greeted with warmth that only a true friendship could express.

The solicitous questions of health and general appearance, and the wanting to know if we had followed her instructions as to diet, strictly, and various other personal questions she perked her head to one side and half closed one eye, as much as to say, "Are you telling me the truth?"

We mentioned how delighted we were to hear her sing, as she opured out her very soul in song when she was alone.

Well, honey, don't you know that when I heard you men 'en women that song that Sunday you all had that meeting in that hall, its been running in my mind ever since 'en when a certain sister in my church said you all was nothing but a bunch of sports, I told her I wished to Heaven that our church was full of 'em. I sat next to one of the women who wore one of them grey capes 'en them flat top hats. I heard her tell my grandchild that she belonged to something that had to do with schools or something like that.

We said that that was part of the women's order who raised funds for scholarships to send young students to college, and that they were partly responsible for the young boys and girls who competed for the $1,000 scholarship, which the young man from Berkeley won.

Well, all them boys and girls were so good that, for me, 'twould have been hard to say which one was the best. My grandchild said they was all good 'en wanted me to ask you if she couldn't try for one of them college scholarships some time.

We assured her that all Mary Ann had to do was to study hard and qualify herself for competition.

Oh, I know what it is I was going to ask you. What is this talk 'bout tearing down these houses that us folk are living in 'en fixing up a district for us to live like they have in most big towns like New York, where they say most of the colored people live together 'en almost have a town of there own?

We explained, as best we could, that it was all a plan for the redevelopment of a certain area which they term a slum district and is comprised of houses and other buildings that menace safety, from fire hazards, and are a detriment to health, and therefore should be condemned. The area, mostly occupied by, so called, minority groups is vitally important to the future growth of the city. It forms a ling between the bridges, that not only connects two nearby counties, but it is an artery that connects the North and East. The area is essential to the expanding business and industrial interest of the city.

As to the other aspects of the residential setup, we notice that there is an effort, quietly made, to induce one of those groups to segregate themselves, and form a colony at a place, in the south part of the city termed Hunters Point. Persons seeking homes, especially people of color, are induced to settle in that area.

Mary Ann, you would be surprised to know how many of our self-seeking leaders advocate segregation, and yet, they inveigh against discrimination in other fields. We are bitterly opposed to both, and believe, that if we will win a full American citizenship, we must enter fully in the fight to abolish both segregation, and discrimination, for both are closely related.

That preacher certainly did explain what true friendship was and meant. He said that friendship was one thing and flattery for the sake of popularity was another. He said, and it sure was right, 'cause I know, there's folk that like to be popular 'en thinks everybody admires them. They's the uppitty ones that are just pure foolish. When you acquainted my grandchild 'en me to them ladies as your friends I sure did feel proud when that sweet young girl said, you're sure lucky, because when you said friend it sure meant something. I sure will miss you when we leave for the farm. Got a letter from Josh and my Mary Ann. They's got everything in shape 'en we's leaving this week. I am going to give a little party for my grandchild 'en her classmates 'en I want you to come as our special guest. I sure can't get away from that word Friendship.

I've seen it in you more 'en I ever knowed. My whole life has been made richer and my faith in people broadened by friendships I have made. Friends like you have given me a new hope. I used to believe that there was such a thing as nothing, but I have learned that 'nothingness' is not 'en can't be. My Bible tells me that. That's the mystery of life. There's a Mystery in Creation 'en it might be that we'll find it out when our souls leave this body. I sure do want you to come to the farm for a week or so 'en you can get entirely well. We aint so far from the college 'en my grandchild can continue her studies. But she sure will miss her classmates. Maybe she'll make new friends. I have the idea that we all are going to prosper 'en make good. We know what we had to go on back home 'en we are going to take the bull by the horns 'en the plough by the handle 'en not let go 'till the battle's won. I used to feel like that preacher said Moses felt when he saw the burning bush 'en God told him to go to Pharaoh. I didn't feel equal to the task, but you, have given me courage to go on 'en I hope to give that same courage to my Mary Ann 'en Josh, 'en make them forget they ever lived back home 'en hold up their heads and shout. When I told the young folk I worked for about leaving, they were sorry but wished me well 'en said I must write. Friends to me they have been ever since I went there to work. Said to tell you not to forget them.

The Historic Keynote Speech Delivered By Charles Howard

EDITOR'S NOTE: Because of the historic truth and significance of the keynote address delivered by Charles P. Howard at the opening session of the Founding Convention of the Progressive Party held in Philadelphia last week, The California Eagle presents the major portion of it for the present and future information of its readers.

This is really only the second convention to meet in this election. The Republicans and the Democrats were merely two sections of the same convention.

Since the death of Franklin Delano Roosevelt we have seen our government become a closed corporation. We have seen the big money boys move in and take over. We have seen legislation by lobby and policy by profiteers. Time and time again they have rammed through laws not for the people of Denver and Scranton, but for the profits of Dupont and Standard Oil. We have seen a year that will be written down in history as a time of flood, and fear—and the 80th Congress. Here is the miserable record:

They have killed the OPA. For the first time, since the depression American families have come to know the full and bitter meaning of "Give us this day our daily bread."

They have passed bill after bill in the private interest. To name only one—the Bulwinkle Bill. It protects the railroads from the anti-trust laws, and jacks up the price of every commuter's ticket.

They have knifed our labor unions with the Taft-Hartley slave law. They have turned the clock back to the time of the open shop and the sweatshop, the court injunction and the company thug.

They have lifted the ceilings on rents and killed the plans for low-cost housing.

Whenever a bill came up for the benefit of the people—whether it was federal help for schools, or national health insurance, or the extension of social security—the congressional order of the day was kill, kill, kill.

They killed the anti-lynch bill. They killed the anti-poll tax bill. They killed the fair employment practices bill. They killed every proposal to wipe out Jim Crow from the United States Army.

This killing was the joint handiwork of Republicans and Democrats, a majority of both parties, plotting together in a Congressional Murder Incorporated.

And the final hypocrisy is that these very men met in this very hall andd rew up civil rights planks for their party platforms. Civil rights planks. How many times have they both courted us with the same shabby promise, and how many times have they both betrayed us? I remember thirty years of promise and thirty years of betrayal.

Mr. Truman has called a special session of Congress to consider emergency legislation. Suddenly, he can't wait. For two years he has been playing post office with the 80th Congress... and pin-the-tail-on-the-donkey with the people. He has been

Resolution Requests Action Now on Party Platform Planks

Editor's Note: Here is a copy of the resolution adopted last Friday night by the Conference of Negro Leaders on Vital Legislation in an unprecedented non-partisan move to bring alive the planks in the platforms of the three major political parties concerned with minority rights and welfare.

WHEREAS, A special session of Congress convening on July 26 will consider legislation vital to the welfare of the American people in a crisis of rising prices, acute housing conditions, and a denial of basic civil rights of minority people; and,

WHEREAS, The promise to alleviate these conditions has been made by both the Republican and Democratic parties in their national conventions and by the leaders of the Independent Progressive party, thereby committing the candidates of these parties to immediate and definite legislative action; and,

WHEREAS, Bills which would accomplish these objectives have been proposed in the recommendations of the President's Committee on Civil Rights, the Taft-Wagner-Ellender Housing bill, Price Control legislation, the Federal Aid to Education bill, and similar measures;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, That we, a cross section of the leadership of the Negro people of Los Angeles City, representing persons of all political parties, church groups, veteran, fraternal, labor and civic organizations, together with all other we can enlist in this campaign, call upon these parties to implement and make good at this time their convention promises; and,

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That we compile a record of performance by these parties of their campaign promises in the special session to be used by us as a guide to voting in the 1948 elections and that we widely disseminate this information to the public.

Copies of Resolution forwarded to State leaders of these parties in California and to all candidates in districts with substantial minority votes; and to various national organizations of minority groups.

Local Republicans Ready for Campaign, Carl Johnson Says

Carl J. Johnson, newly elected secretary of the 62nd assembly district Republican County Committee, and secretary of the 14th Congressional District Committee reports that the local Republicans have created an efficient organization to get the vote out for the Republican ticket headed by Governor Thomas E. Dewey in November.

Johnson states that in his opinion, "the election of Dewey as president will give the Negro and other minority groups a greater voice in policy-making than they have ever had before in the history of the country."

Other officers of the committee are Louis Cole, chairman, Mrs. Beatrice Johnson, vice chairman, Ivan Johnson, treasurer, and Mrs. Echo Stanton Robinson, chaplain.

SAMUEL B. COLEMAN, San Francisco mortician recently purchased a $15,000 life insurance policy from Golden State Mutual Life Insurance Company of Los Angeles to protect his estate for the benefit of his wife and daughter. John F. Curry, life insurance specialist and conservator of the firm in Frisco secured the account. The purchase of the policy by Mr. Coleman marks a new trend among Negro business and professional people—that of covering their financial obligations with personal life insurance. Samuel B. Coleman is the brother of John Coleman o Los Angeles physician. Coleman is shone above with conservator Curry examining the new policy.

POTPOURRI

A recently completed poll of the larger downtown department stores revealed an encouraging lack of customer opposition to the employment of Negro saleswomen. The poll, which sampled the opinion of over a thousand patrons of the stores, indicated that more than eighty percent of the shoppers were in no way opposed to the hiring of qualified Negro, Mexican-American, or Oriental salespeople.

SACRAMENTO—A petition to Secretary of State Frank Jordan by Edward Raiden, attorney for George H. McLain, chairman of the Board of Trustees of the Citizens' Committee for Old Age Pensions, requests that the name and title of Arthur J. Will, superintendent of Charities in Los Angeles County, be stricken from the argument against Proposition 4 on the sample ballot for the November election.

McLlain argues that the use of the name of Will and his title would lead the voters to believe that the county of Los Angeles was opposed to the old age pension as advocated by Proposition 4. This would be illegal, according to the election laws of California.

Fighting for American democracy as well as for that of Greece wired President Truman condemning the indictment of the top leadership of the Communist Party of the United States.

"Your fraudulent claim that the Communist Party believes in force and violence will deceive no honest person," says the telegrom. "Your frame-up is but a first step in the fascist plan to hamstring democracy in this country and drive us into war."

The telegram was signed by Leo Gallagher, chairman; and H. P. Ioannou, secretary.

Three films intended to insure better racial relations and hte creation of a better world, were shown recently at a meeting of the Los Angeles County Committee on Human Relations. The films were The Story of Dr. Carver, Share the Sand Pile, and The Brotherhood of Man.

These films were secured from the Audio-Visual Division of the County Schools.

The first Negro sales clerk to be hired in a downtown department store was recently employed by Grant's. He had formerly worked as an elevator operator at Milliron's.

Two members on the Committee on Racial Equality of Oriental ancestry were admitted to Bimini Baths recently. At this writing no Negroes had been allowed to swim, although the management professes a non-discriminatory policy.

Dr. Thomas Roy Peyton has ben added to the staff of the Queen of the Angels hospital. He is the first Negro on a private hospital staff in L. A. There should be more.

TWO DIVERSE ITEMS OF NOTE

At its annual convention recently, the American Nurses' Association voted to accept Negro nurses into membership in the national organization. This will affect over 3000 registered nurses.

BUT . . .

At its national convention, the American Medical Association voted to exclude Negro physicians from membership in the national group and to allow local associations to establish their own rules for the exclusion or inclusion of Negro physicians.

Henry Wallace was praised as a "leader in the cause of peace among people throughout the World," by A.M.E. church leaders during the 33rd quadrennial conference of the African Methodist Church, held in Kansas City recently.

They characterized Wallace as example of a Christian leader "who stands up for the rights of the Negro people and the Jewish people as well as Protestants and Catholics."

SEGREGATION LICKEL IN TEXAS SCHOOLS

DALLAS, Texas—In a recent ruling of United States District Court Judge Ben Rice, the segregation of Mexican-American children beyond the first grade in Texas schools has been outlawed.

It was held by the Court that first graders could receive separable instruction while learning the English language, but upon completion of that year they were not to be segregated.

NEW YORK—In an action letter directed to NAACP branches in thirteen states, Gloster B. Current, director of branches of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, reminded NAACP members this week that voters must register for next November's presidential election.

Only by conducting intensive registration campaigns in each locality can the voting strength of NAACP members and friends be fully mobilized, Mr. Curent stated. Every method must be used to get out the vote, NAACP branches were told, if a liberal president and progressive congressmen are to be elected. Only with such a Congress and administration can we hope for enactment of the NAACP legislative program, he said.

NEW YORK—White property owners in St. Albans, New York, have lost a two-year court fight to restrain Samuel Richardson, a Negro, from buying and occupying a home in their neighborhood. Only July 16, the New York Court of Appeals handed down a decision banning the enforcement of restrictive real estate covenants in this state.

Judge Waring's decision, handed down on July 16 in response to a petition presented by NAACP lawyers in behalf of David Brown and other qualified Negro electors, granted an injunction requiring the Democratic Paryt of South Carolina to enrol Negroes with full rights to participate in party affairs.

Roy Eldean, vice-president, United Public Workers of America, CIO in a letter to President Truman this week urged that Congress be asked to enact additional pay increases to meet the neds of Federal employees—$670 for classified and $550 for postal workers.

He also urged that District of Columbia school teachers, policemen, firemen and other employees who had been bypassed entirely by the last session of Congress be voted pay increases.

(Part II)

The prejudices against Negro soldiers which existed in the American army — typical manifestations of which were related in this column last week — led inevitably to such situations as the following:

In pursuance of my duties as orientation officer of the Seventh U. S. Army, I flew one day to Ulm, Germany, to speak to the men of an infantry regiment of the 36th Division on the topic "The Price We Must Pay For American Citizenship." The theme of the talk was that every one of us had as great a responsibility as a citizen to participate in the safeguarding of American democracy as we had while in uniform killing our country's enemies.

After the meeting I was driven back to the airstrip by the morale officer of the regiment who remarked, as we passed some Negro troops:

"Any night you can see six or more n——s walking with German girls. And the white boys, the Southenrers in my outfit, don't like it. There hasn't been any conflict, any open conflict, about it—yet."

"Is fraternizing more of a crime for Negroes than for whites?" I asked.

"No. But it's not what the Southerners are used to."

"My god! The men you are criticizing are American soldiers, though they have dark skins, and those women your Southerners are defending are Nazi enemies! What are you as morale officer doing to meet the situation?"

"Doing? Hell, I agree with them!"

That Southerners brought their prejudices into the army was by no means surprising. What was incredible, in the midst of a global war against racism, is that our army did almost nothing to combat these prejudices—even when they undermined our fighting morale. But, perhaps that too need not surprise us . . . (It may be noted at this point that the proposals for universal military training insist on a jim-crow army.)

Particularly disturbing was the effect of contamination with Southern reaction upon many previous non-prejudiced persons who told me:

"Before I came into the army I had no feeling about Negroes. But since hearing what these Southern boys say about how the colored guys really behave down south and seeing how free they are with the English, French and Italian women — by god, we're sure going to have to put them in their place when we get home!"

The increased attacks upon our colored citizens throughout the nation are undoubtedly due in part to the prejudices fostered in the army.

Anti-Negro attitudes are not of course a Southern monopoly. They are a national problem, and have always been so. However, the part played by Southerners in the breeding of this fascist virus must be given due weight. It is of significance, in this connection, to recall what Henry Adams said in his biography about his southern classmates at Harvard:

"Strictly, the Southerner had on mind; he had no temperament. He was not a scholar; he had no intellectual training; he could not analyse an idea, and he could not even conceive of admitting two . . . The old and typical Southern gentleman developed as cotton planter had nothing to teach or give, except warning. Even as example to be avoided, he was too glaring in defiance of reason . . . one could learn nothing (from him) but bad temper, bad manners, poker, and treason."

Which might help us to understand the men who for generations have held the reins of power in our national legislature and in the shaping, to an important degree, of our national mores. (Sometimes I wonder who really won the Civil War.)

In view of all that is at stake for America, dare we fail to proclaim boldly that he whose opinion of our darker brothers coincides with Hitler's will, by the force of his own crippled thinking, agree with Hitler on other basic questions? Can such creatures serve our cause with the devotion to democratic principles which ultimate victory demands? It is time to call a spade a fascist! There is no longer time for the niceties of debate!

American can no longer avoid an accounting of her stewardship. Too much hangs in the balance to allow our postponing a final solution to this problem: our honor, our security, our very existence as a great nation. The contest between democracy and reaction demands a clean-cut decision.

In the America we want there can be no such monster as a part-democrat - part-fascist. Are we incapable of perceiving that we can not deny Negro citizens their full privileges and rights, and be good Americans, or have a good country? Destiny will not grant us the luxury of indulging these prejudicse . . . for they are the perfect breeding ground of fascism, and must be eliminated as ruthlessly as malarial swamps.

It has been terrifyingly demonstrated — Look at Norway! Look at Spain! Look at France! Look wherever you will!—that the most dangerous enemies of a nation are not foreigners, but are those nurtured in her own bosom!

Quezon City New Capitol

MANILA—(G)—Under a bill sigend by President Elpidio Quirino the new capital of the Philippines will be Quezon City, ten miles northeast of Manila, the bill to take effect as soon as new buildings are erected, which is expected to take more than a year.

According to Mr. Quirino, the change is necessary because of the congestion now present in Manila, a city of about 2,000,000 people.

President Lincoln has been the only President of the United States for whom a special railroad car was ever built.

NEW YORK—America's annual residential heating bill is believed to be one billion dollars more than necessary because of the lack of adequate insulation.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Mrs. Bass:

Sincere thanks for running the picture and story of our sales force of Taylor Appliance Company distributor of the "Kirby." I feel that the company deserves this honor as they are the first sales company that I have worked for in over 20 years that have offered advancement to those qualified regardless of race, creed or color.

District Manager.

long on say-so and short on do-so. With one side of his mouth he vetoed the Taft-Hartley act, with the other he called for the injunctions that broke two railroad strikes and two mine strikes—and that both parties applauded.

They have never once relinquished the idea of human slavery. Slavery has always been a profitable business. What was once the slave quarter and the auction block has become the Jim Crow cocah and the starvation wage. This slavery of the Negro people is not a thing to be wiped out by campaign oratory or a passing promise. It is a sickness deep in the very bone of the country. Its fever sores are the ghettoes of Harlem and the Southside of Chicago, the thousand cities and towns across the land where a Negro cannot eat in a restaurant, sleep in a hotel, go to movie, be treated in a hospital—where even children's games are Jim Crow.

We have heard the civil rights promises of the old parties, but we have learned to read between the lines— and between the lines we read betrayal. What else can we expect from the men who year after year have ruled this country with a national policy of Jim Crow—backed by the nightstick and the hangman's rope.

Mr. Truman has called a special session of Congress. But it is not necessary to convene Congress to test the sincerity of the Democratic civil rights proposals of Mr. Truman's sincerity. It is very simple—as simple as this: "Mr. Truman, I ask you as Commander-in-Chief of the armed forces to sit down now and pick up your pen. Pick up your pen and write. Write the executive order which will abolish Jim Crow from the United States Army."

We have been blinded with promises for too many years. Our eyes are open now. We believe only what we see. We have sen Henry Wallace go into the South and insist on speaking—and speak—to non-segregated audiences. We have seen Glen Taylor, a United States Senator, defy Jim Crow in Alabama and go to jail—arrested by a police chief who later turned up as a delegate to the Democratic National Convention.

But most of all, we of the new party see ourselves. We see ourselves not picking up political crumbs, but helping to create political policies. The New Party says to the Negro people—"Come help us make this nation what you would have it."

The plain fact that I stand here before you tonight defines our party.

For the first time in my life, I am experiencing human dignity.

And this human dignity which I know for the first time, here and now, was not given me by the old parties—for their way is the denial of decency in the name of profit—Not only here, to me—but far beyond our borders, to millions of people—for our lomestic policy is only the reflection of our foreign policy. And our foreign policy is the brainchild of banking house diplomats, and banking house brass, of John Foster Dulles and James Forrestal, of Robert Murphy and General William Draper.

These are men who were the executives of investment houses and Wall Street law firms that put up the money for Hitler's steel trusts, that represented I. G. Farben, the Nazi chemical cartel, and the German bankers. The forces that shaped these men and their advisors are no secret. These are men who have lived and worked always in the thin air of the corporation board room, an atmosphere as far removed from the roots of American life as the stock ticker is from the pay envelope.

And that is why, at this moment, there are at least three places on this earth where American guns are killing innocent people. American guns are murdering the very men who fought beside us on the Burma Road and the mountains of China. The men who turned the tide against Rommel at Alamein—now they receive their reward in the form of bombs on Tel-Aviv. British bombs paid for with American money.

Because every time a bomb falls in Palestine or China, an American corporation rings up a profit on the cash register. Because our State Department's interest is not in protecting lives—but in protecting pipe-lines. That is why destruction is the order of the day. The corporation men of our State Department have never found a more profitable business than destruction.

Look at any spot on the map for proof. Look at Germany. Most of all, look at Germany.

Who are the men in power there today? It will name you a few. Robert Pferdemenges: What was he? A chief Nazi industrialist. What is he now? Head of the state of Wurttemberg-Baden. And another: Reinhold Maier. What was he? Member of the German Parliament of 1933 which voted Hitler into office. Maier—the man who said: "We feel ourselves at one with the views expressed by Hitler." What is he now: Government advisor in the British zone.

Who put them there? Men like General William Draper. What was he? A vice-president of the investment bankers—Dillon, Read and company. What is he now? Under Secretary of the Army—boss of General Clay in Berlin.

Our denazification courts have been working overtime whitewashing the Nazi munition makers of Krupp and I. G. Farben. Most of the judges who cleared these men were appointed by former assistant secretary of war Paterson. And who was Paterson? A member of the law firm that represented I. G. Farben—the chemical cartel that put up most of the money to finance Hitler.

We have left almost intact the German stel industry that has twice infected the World with war. We have allocated the lion's share of the Marshall Plan monies to rebuild the Nazi industry that made war against us.

We have been repaid for our efforts in Germany by generous compliments and deep gratitude. I will quote you this: "The Marshall Plan is an excellent start toward rebuilding Europe's economy. The Western world is moving entirely in the right direction, and for this I give the greatest credit to American politics." That salute was paid us by Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, former Reichsbank President and Nazi Finance Minister speaking from his prison cell where he escaped the Nuremburg gallows.

Our ships crosing the Atlantic carry supplies to the German industrialists—and our ships coming home carry the coffins of the G.I.'s they killed.

At the end of the war we had a reservoir of good will all over the world. Three years of Truman and Dulles have drained it dry. In Burma and in Africa, in the hills of Greece and the streets of Jerusalem, the name of the United States is spoken now in accusation and anger.

I have had some experience with war. I was four years old in 1898, but I remember my mother standing at the kitchen window, waiting for news of my father who was fighting in Cuba. I remember the days in France, where I fought as an officer, in the First World War. And I remember my three sons, going down one by one to the mailbox to get their draft notices. And day after day my wife and I sat in the kitchen and ate our supper at a table with three empty chairs. I had time to think then—and I realized then that war does not begin on any hour or any day. War does not begin by Congressional Declaration. War begins slowly, day by day. And those draft notices which came to our mailbox in Des Moines had journeyed a far distance. They were postmarked in Madrid and registered in Munich. There were a hundred times when we could have prevented the delivery of those draft notices.

And now, once again, the President's greetings are in the mail. And they bear postmarks of corruption in China and betrayal in Israel, and Murder in Greece. They bear the mark of every Nazi we have restored to power in Germany.

We are told that all of our "get-tough" policy is necessary. We are told that warships in the Mediterranean are necessary, that bomber bases in Africa are necessary. We are told that there is a dire threat to our security, and that we must arm to the teeth to protect ourselves from the Soviet Union. I say—we of the New Pary say—that another war will mean the end of civilization. I say—that we of the New Party say—that there is no difference between the United States and the Soviet Union too big to be settled at the conference table. And we say that the last best hope of earth is the belief that human beings can join together to prevent their destruction.

We are told that the Soviet Union refuses to cooperate in planning for peace. But what are the facts? In the late spring of this year, our Ambasador to Moscow, Walter Bedell Smith, delivered a note to the Russians saying that the door was always open for discussion of differences. One morning the paper told us the news that the Russians were willing to sit down and talk peace. It was the first sunlight in months of darkness. In Moscow, crowds hoisted American correspondents to their shoulders. They brought out American flags.

On the morning buses and commuter trains, we smiled and nodded and said, "That's good." Around the world, people gathered to wait for the news, and the streets were bright with hope. But by early evening, the word from Dillon, Read was: "No peace," and the obedient hand of Truman slammed the door.

And the darkness came down again.

That very night, Henry Wallace wrote to Joseph Stalin a letter proposing a program for peace. And once again, the Russians agreed that there could be peace, and offered to talk things over. And once again, the word from our State Department was: "No." And now in Berlin we reap the bitter fruits of that spring planting.

I repeat, what it at stake is the very survival of civilization—is the life of our sons. I repeat that our crisis can be solved only at the conference table, and never on the battle field.

7th Day Adventists End Camp Meeting: Do Not Oppose Draf

LYNWOOD, Calif.—Thousands of Seventh-day Adventists this week returned to their homes in Los Angeles, Ventura and Santa Barbara counties spiritually sobered by what they had heard at the church's annual camp meeting at Lynwood which closed Sunday.

During the 10-day session campers heard these salient points made by church officials:

The human race is doomed to destruction unless it turns to the "vital Christianity" set forth in the Bible.

The belief that Christ will soon return to this earth is strengthened by many signs, such as the trend towards unity of Protestant churches.

Seventh-day Adventists maintain their non-combatant position regarding the war but do not oppose military draft. Draft age youths are urged to become medical corpsmen as did 12,000 denominational youths in World War II.

Germany should be our example of what can happen to personal liberties "almost overnight."

An expanding missions program will cost the denominat $5 million in China alone dur the next two years.

Americans are digging th own graves by paying too li attention to the laws of health

Although the denomination contributed $5 million in ca food and clothing for overse relief since the close of the w much more must be done for destitute peoples of Europe Asia.

Seventh-day Adventists oppo the current world calendar form proposal because of "blank day" feature which rupts the weekly cycle.

The wet-dry fight in Califor will center on the church sponsored No. 12 proposition on November ballot which wo amend the state constitution give liquor control to municip governing bodies.

'Human Rights' Theme of Delta Natl. Confab

NEW YORK—The 20th Annual Convention of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority will meet in St. Louis from Aug. 24 to 28, Miss Dorothy I. Height, national president, has announced in behalf of the National Board. The 1947 sessions were held in San Antonio last December but the sorors decided htey would prefer a summer meeting. The St. Louis affair will be their second convention in eight months.

Lambda Sigma, whose president is Mrs. Grace Wilson, and Alpha Omega, presided over by Mrs. Glynee Eustace, are the graduate and the undergraduate chapters, respectively, which are hostesses to the convention. Mrs. Theresa B. Moore of Langston, Okla., is director of the Central Region in which the convention is being held. Preparations for the event are being handled by a joint local planning committee whose co-chairmen are Mrs. Anna Brooks of Lambda, and Mrs. Golda Crutcher of Alpha. Business and public sessions will be held in Keil Auditorium.

Geared to a theme which is in the minds of the entire world, "Human Rights—Our Challenge and Our Responsibility," Delta will seek to bring before its delegates from 183 chapters distinguished leaders in both domestic and world affairs to discuss the subject. In addition, a rich program of social activities is being planned by members of the local Pan-Hellenic Council to make the St. Louis conclave pleasant.

Early arrivals will be given an opportunity to tour the city on Monday, August 23, Miss Height said. A luncheon honoring the national officers and the press will be held the same day at the Homer B. Philips Nurses' Home. Formal opening o fthe convention takes place on Tuesday morning. In the evening the public is invited to a forum in which the convention theme will be projected.

egates will hear reports from t national officers, including six regional directors, discu the responsibility of colle women to their communities a nation, view an educational fi dealing with the work of Cleveland Chapters, hold demo strations and workshops, and f ally map a program for the ye ahead.

No election of officers is sche uled this year inasmuch as Sorority holds biennial electio Whatever vacancies may ex however, will be filled for un pired terms, Miss Height stat

Before entering the service 1st Sgt. Coleman attended Navasota High School.

Tourists Coming Out And In Cars Too!

Completely debunking the popular theory that the California tourist boom is subsiding, the Automobile Club of Southern California reports that the largest first-half influx of out-of-state cars in history, carrying more than 1,000,000 passengers, entered the state during the first six months of this year.

Keep your motor clean, advises the Automobile Club of Southern California. Dirt holds heat in and does not allow cool air to strike the motor.

CLUBS

MILDRED THOMAS, Registered Nurese formerly of Baltimore, Md., is Program Chairman for the Alpha Phi Chapter of Iota Phi Lambada Sorority. The first under her leadership will be "An Old Fashioned Barbecue" on Saturday from 5 until. (See story.)

FUTURE TEACHERS—Two recent graduates of the University of Redlands are Morrisontine Dunn (left) and Lenicia Boggs) (right). The two young ladies who have been friends from Elementary School days entered Redlands University in the fall of 1945 after graduating from Polytechnic High School. Determination and hard work enabled them to finish their four year College course in three years with B.A. degrees and teaching credentials. While on campus Miss Dunn, a Physical Education major, received many tributes to her abilities, which among the highest was producer and author of the Physical Education Department Senior Class Dance Production. Miss Boggs, an Elementary Education major, belonged to Phi Tau Omega, honorary teaching fraternity on campus, and won a recent popularity contest conducted by the University fraternities. As the winner her picture appeared on the cover of the Siren, an annual campus English literary magazine. Both graduates will teach in the Los Angeles City Schools come September. This summer they are vacationing away from home. Miss Dunn is visiting Eastern high spots, Chicago, New York and Virginia. Miss Boggs is enjoying Northern scenery in Berkeley, Oakland, San Jose and San Francisco. They are pledges to Zeta Phi Beta Sorority.

TO WED—Mr. and Mrs. Le Baron Goode announced the wedding date for their younger daughter, Adella Eulala Good and Robert Oliver Farmer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Merritt M. McGarity. Vows will be spoken at Holy Cross Parish on August 29. (See story.)

WHAT'S DOING IN THE SOCIAL SET

By JESSIE MAE BROWN

THE DATE HAS BEEN SET for the opening of Westview Hospital doors, and if the people of the city continue to rally to the cause, this date will be on February 15, 1949. So went the wonderful information we gathered while dining Tuesday evening, in the Embassy room of the fashionable Ambassador Hotel, scene of West View activities. The occasion was the looked forward to $10.00 per plate banquet. Allen Woodard was the M.C. of the evening, the talent was good and the collections taken sounded even better. The pace for the fund raising event was set by the author on minority problems, Carey McWilliams, who was speaker of the evening. So happens that Congressman Powell was not able to make the trip as so many expected, due to the special session in D. C.

Of course we couldn't attend an affair of this type and not mention the fashions, for milady was dressed up to her ears in finery. Some over dressed, others dressed in very good taste and still others looking quite the last word. . . . Glenna Hays, the new Auxiliary president, gave words to the effect that the women of West View are still ready and will support the drive till the hospital takes in its patients. Glenna was quite charming in a white suit with white accessories. Gertrude R. Hicks, the outgoing leader of the group took a bow, in her very gracious manner. While looking over the crowd, especially the long string of late comers, couldn't help but note the strikingly feminine pink tulle hat worn by Norma Green. Accompanying Norma was Phyllis Kelson Halloway, visiting her old home town from Sacramento.

When Dr. Frank Maxwell, made his entry, eyes claimed his lovely debutant daughter, who found the complete Westview program to her liking. Danny Kay, was among the entertainers, along with Dr. Roy Peyton, who played for the Atwater Kent winner, when she sang his original "West View March." . . Took note of Dr. Arthur Mitchell, who goes hand in hand with the drive and has really put in time and energy with the Junior League. The California EAGLE'S Gertrude Gipson was in the company of her sis, Lillian Lomax, while Angelle Stratton shared the evening with her glamorous sister, Jacqueline. The Cris Wrights were seated down in front along with Dr. H. H. Towles and his two glamorous nieces. Dr. and Mrs. Eugene Hardimon made a fashionable entrance, and we could go on and on, for the Banquet was quite the thing, in medical and community circles. Ye scribe finds delight in presenting the lighter side of the affair. There was a serious side, however and its report is carried in the general news section. Here's hoping that Feb, will be the opening date of the greatest hospital yet. . . .

FRAT TIME

Dinned with the Alphas on last Friday evening, and learned all the information about their Fraternity House that is situated on 5th Avenue, if you please, and if what they say is true, the site is one of the finest yet. By the way, the Alphas are full of spirit, and humor was the by word at the "kick-off" affair. Keeping the spirit very high was Grant Venerable, Toastmaster, Ivan Johnson, and general chairman Herman K. Barnett. Joe Oliver, My gent Friday, at this point would like to thank Joe for jotting the column while ye scribe honeymooned . . . back to Joe at the Banquet though, he was quite in evidence and served as official

MADAMES OLIVIA CLARK AND ROSE MORGAN, well known beauty specialists and heads of the Rose Meta House of Beauty, and The Rose Meta Cosmetics flying places. They departed on a Coast-to-Coast tour of the W. T. Grant Stores, where their products became the first line of cosmetics manufactured by Negroes to be accepted by a national chain. Madam Clark, accompanied by Bill Chase, famous society columnist and artist, of the New York Amsterdam News, will spend several months, giving demonstrations in the 400 Grant Stores from the West Coast to East.

Pasadena Opening Of New EADWARD Charm House To Be Highlight Event

On Sunday, August 8, Eadward, well known leader of hair styling will open his Pasadena House of Charm, which promises to hit a new high in beauty culture. Many prominent persons in the field of cosmetology will be among the guests attending the affair that will be given in the form of a formal opening tea. In the receiving line will be, Miss Norma McNamarra, for 20 years head of the cosmetology department of Frank Wiggins School; Mrs. A. Hicks, public relations director of Wiggins; Mr. Henry Miller, prominent Southern California chemist, Mr. Bob Shore, of Max Factors and Miss Frieda DeKnight, Culinary editor of Ebony Magazine.

CHARMING HOSTESSES

Tea will be poured between the hours of 3 and 6 p.m. and complete tours will be made of the new fashionable beauty salon. Jessie Mae Brown, Society Editor of the California will serve as official hostess. Assisting and pouring throughout the afternoon will be Mmes. Leontyne King, W. Robinson, Ruth Cole, Carolyn Hennington, Eleanor McSwine, Emma Adams and Miss Gloria Bunch. The Eadward Charm Girls will be present and receive as hostesses.

MODERN LINES

Furnishings in the Pasadena Salon will lean toward the modern with a touch of sophistication. Color runs rampant, with Chinese green for the reception room with rich yellow ceiling. Apple green has been used to a striking advantage in the styling room with a soft shade of yellow for the facial room.

Many original pieces of furniture have been designed by Eadward for the reception room. Chief among them being a desk consisting of two hearts of steel ribbon and a five foot glass top. Large red and white print material has been used for the draperies with a soft gold broadloom carpet.

The styling room with its strictly sophisticated modern furnishings will long remain in the memory of the many women attending the opening.

Another outstanding feature of the new salon will be the unique ceramic lamps. A four foot golden fawn has been artistically made into a lamp. The shade for this unusual and very beautiful creation was made by Arstine B. Joyce, prominent designer of Southern California. A Tony Hill original will grace the facial room and will more than likely win the admiration of all.

This new Pasadena Charm house is located at 200 N. Vernon Avenue. Women interested in good grooming are urged to be among those present.

Leo Cottrell-Frances Douglas United in Double Ring Rite

In a very impressive double ring ceremony, the former Frances Celestine Douglass, daughter of Mr. J. H. Douglass and the late Christopher Douglass, became the bride of Leo Richard Cottrell, promptly at 4:00 p.m. Sunday, July 25, at the residence of the bride's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Sanders, 851 E. 116th Place.

Rev. Lane C. Cleaves officiated the ceremony, and the bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. Sanders. She chose a gown of traditional white satin and exquisite lace. Her bouquet was of colonial design centered with orchids. Five of the bride's close friends formed an aisle for the procession, by holding white satin ribbon. The wedding march was beautifully played on the violin by Miss Elenora Bujol. The ribbon bearers were Miss Ysleta Douglass, Miss Phyllis Douglass, Miss Rosalina Douglass, Mrs. Leona Goodson Salvador and Miss Cynthia Goodson.

Serving as maid of honor, was Miss Jean Robinson. Mr. Clifford Govan was best man.

Immediately following the ceremony the wedding reception was held. Among the hostesses were Misses Franchell Lyons, Juanita Kay, Phyllis Manarthur and Barbara Woodruff. Promptly at 8:00 p.m. a bridal supper was held honoring the young couple.

The bride was an honor graduate of Thomas Jefferson High school. At present she is a student at U.C.L.A., where she held membership in the Ivy Leaf club of AKA Sorority. Her husband is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Cottrell of Huntington, West Virginia. He is a graduate of Douglass High School and finished studies at the Aquatic

'Get Acquainted', Theme of Unique College Party

The beautiful home of Mrs. Birdie Jefferies, 3817 W. 28th St., was the scene of a "get-acquainted" party for the members of the Los Angeles Bishop College Club who had as their special guests, A. Stephens Jackson, II, director of public relations of Bishop College, and his very charming wife.

Games, music and refreshments were enjoyed on the attractive patio where the L. A. Bishopites visited with out-of-town alumni of the college doing graduate work in this city.

Rev. Jackson gave interesting highlights on the progress of the college since the war years. He and Mrs. Jackson were the house guests of Mrs. Blanche Strickland.

Personalized souvenir matches were given as keepsakes of the affair.

Xavier Club Organized By Graduates

The 28th Street Y.M.C.A. was the scene of the meeting of a group of graduates and former students of Xavier University on Saturday evening, July 24, for the purpose of organizing a Los Angeles Xavier Club.

There are numerous Xavierites now residing in Los Angeles and many have expressed a desire for a club which would not only serve as an organization in which former Xavier University students could meet and formulate plans for supporting the educational program of the university but also as a social group in which happy school relationships might be revived.

Temporary officers elected at this meeting included William Mills, president; Carl White, vice president. Edmonson, secretary, and Lionel Hoffman, historian.

The club will meet again at the 28th Street "Y," 1006 East 28th Street on taSurday, August 7, at 8 p.m. Xavier graduates and former students are invited to attend.

It was revealed by the National President, R. O. Johnson, that since January 1st, 17 chapters have been added to the Fraternity. Of special concern to the delegates to the Conclave will be the newly formed American Council on Human Rights. The Council is a cooperative venture of six National, Greek Letter, Collegiate Fraternities and Sororities which was founded primarily to seek the extension of Civil Rights to all Americans without regard to race, color or religion. Because of the fact that Phi Beta Sigma has sponsored a program of social action, throughout the history of the fraternity, much attention will be devoted to the shaping of its program of social action, in line with the program of the Council of which Phi Beta Sigma is a member.

Also receiving special consideration will be the program of bigger and better business which is presently under direction of Dr. S. Edward Gilbert, national director of Bigger and Better Business, St. Louis, Mo., and Mr. James A. "Billboard" Jackson, national business counsellor, New York City. Plans will be made at the meeting for holding a two (2) day clinic late in the fall for National, Regional and chapter directors of Bigger and Better Business. The Clinic will have as its objective, the training of persons to direct the fraternity's Program of Bigger and Better Business.

Attention will also be given to the fraternity's expanded program of education which [illegible]cludes a national high sch[illegible] essay contest for high school [illegible]dents and the granting of sc[illegible]arships for graduate and un[illegible]graduate study. More than

FEMALE DISORDERS

Dr. Frank McCoy says: "There is undoubtedly no class of disorder which has so far-reaching an effect upon the nervous system as derangement of the genital organs. Our teaching upon the cause of these disorders in the past has been very limited owing to the hypocritical restriction upon anything treated of the sexual life; but the dawn of a new age is breaking, when knowledge will dispel ignorance and we will be ashamed of what we so often called innocence. A veritable tidal wave of thought upon these subjects is sweeping the world and we may look for more true teachings in the next few years than in the entire historical period of mankind.

"In such a necessarily short treatise I feel compelled to present to you those factors which have more particularly to do with Dietotherapy, and to mention only such other important causes as I hope to elaborate in future writings.

"Chief among the irritating sources of genital derangements are the following:

1st — A sluggish state of the blood stream through being surcharged with heavy foreign material which is productive of congestion in the womb and ovaries, and creates an engorged state which interefers with the normal functioning of these organs.

2nd—The pressure of prolapsed abdominal viscera upon the reproductive organs and the distension and irritation of intestinal gas.

3rd—Repression of the normal instinct and function through psychological resistance, physical malformation, or misplaced position of organs."

Women may now go in full confidence to the office of Dr. L. A. Brinkley, Ph.C., D.C., who specializes in the above technic. Remove all doubt. For $3.00, and no further obligation, you will receive female examination and Trial treatment. If suffering from any female disorder whatsoever, or piles, hemorrhoids or rectal troubles, visit Dr. Brinkley today at 355 So. Broadway, Room 216, TR. 7031.

Distinguished Daughter of Isis Honored At Public Reception

Sunday July 25, 1948 marked a highlight in the history of Egyptian Court No. 5 Daughters of Isis Prince Hall Masonry. Dt. Beaula L. McKay, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, who is the Imperial Commandress of the Daughters of Isis paid an official visit to the Court. During the afternoon hours a public reception was held at the home of Dt. Merle Gross. Many friends of long years were warmly received by Dt. McKay, who said she felt as though she were at home by seeing so many old friends.

Promptly at 7:30 p.m. the Ill. Comd. Ann Powell called the Court to order at the Masonic Hall 1050 E. 50th Street. Dt. McKay took charge and gave a very interesting as well as inspiring speech. She allowed the meeting to turn toward a question and answer forum, which was beneficial for her as well as the Court. She answered the many questions put to her to the satisfaction of all present.

At the close of the meeting the Court was opened to a few Nobles who had a chance to visit with the Imper. Comd. cutting the huge cake that was beautifully decorated with her name and a welcome from the Court. She very graciously accepted the gift of the Court which was a two strand pearl necklace and earring set.

During her visit to our fair city Dt. McKay is at the beautiful home of Dt. Ida Mae Robertson, Imperial Deputy of the Deserts of California and Arizona. We sincerely hope that Dt. McKay see fit to return in the near future.

Florence Wheatly Juniors Bid

If there is any better, no one thus far has brought it forth, than the organization of junior socialites, comprising the membership of the local Florence Wheatley Club here. But that is not it. The club, presided over by Miss Mabel Duncan, is presenting its First Annual Benefit Dance, Saturday, August 14, at the Crystal Tea Roim, 4818 Avalon Blvd. Here's the tip: The young ladies want to add some furnishings to their recreational quarters, so, they are giving this dance to raise the necessary funds. Which adds up, as a great idea. Give 'em a hand, eh?

Who walks with beauty has no need of fear;
The sun and moon and stars keep pace with him,
Invisible hands restore the ruined year,
And time, itself, grows beautifully dim. —Robert Nathan.

hundred scholarships will be awarded at the conclave. One feature of the education program will be the developing of plans for awarding annually a scholarship of $1000.00 to a student of Chemistry to do special research with the Carver Research Foundation, Tuskegee, Alabama. Heading the fraternity's education program is the national director of education, Mr. Horace F. Johnson, II, Chicago, Ill., who is assisted by an Education Commission composed of Attorney E. L. Lovell, Regional Director of Education, New York, J. L. Reddick, Jackson College, Jackson, Miss., Dr. Felix J. Brown, Richmond, Va., S. E. Duncan, State Department of Education, Raleigh, N. C., Dr. W. H. Pipes, president, Alcorn College, Alcorn, Miss., Dr. J. L. Brown, Prairie View State College, Mr. Maceo Long, Los Angeles, California, and Dr. S. H. Higgins, President Allen University.

Among former national presidents to be in attendance at the Conclave, are Mr. John W. Woodhous, Baltimore, Md., Major W. A. Clarke, Tuskegee, Ala., Attorney George W. Lawrence, Chicago, Ill., Dr. R. A. Billings, Atlanta, Ga., Attorney George A. Parker, Washington, D. C., Ex-Congressman Arthur W. Mitchell, Washington, D. C., Dr. W. Sherman Savage, Lincoln University, Lincoln, Mo., Dr. I. L. Scruggs, Buffalo, N. Y., and Attorney James W. Johnson, New York.

Many social activities for the entertainment of the delegates have been planned by the host chapters and local chapters of the leading Greek Letter Fraternities and Sororities. Among these social activities will be a reception at the home of Hattie McDaniel, a garden party at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Frank Zetar, a reception at the home of Dr. C. W. Hill, and sight-seeing tours.

Thrift is more important today than ever. Save for security the E Bond way.

OLD FASHIONED BARBECUE will get the 'New Look' when the scores of Alpha Phi Chapter play hostesses on Saturday from 5 p.m. till the wee hours. The setting for the affair will be, the strictly Californian Patio at 2056 West 29th Street. Pictured above are Iotas, Edna Crain, Mary Frances Peterson, Edith Price and Ruth Mars. (See story.)

bar tender between courses of the very tasty meal. Ivan Cannady, chatted about his lovely wife's acting career, while Peter Dautrive was enticed with the "kick off speeches." Hitting a serious note, Atty. Clarence Jones, the first local Alpha Man, Ruddy Henderson and Mrs. Lois Carr, gave the high points of the housing plan that will be reached by Christmas. . . . The Alphas have a big job ahead, and plan to see that the job is well done, with the support of all. The frat house will be open for community, as well as fraternal use . . .

HERE AND THERE

Nadine Cole, the charming little lady who goes all out for any effort that she is interested in, opened the doors of her lovely home Sunday, to the Doll League Charity Club, and its annual fund raising event. This time the girls held a festival that was a festival, with guests dressed in gay attire and enjoying the fun of it all. Among well known guests taking part were, Les Hite, Joe Turner, Art Tatum, Les Femmes, winning baseball team, Dr. Andy King, Louise Beavers, Willie Smith of Harry James' orchestra, Lawrence Brown, of the Duke Ellington Orchestra, Cal Bailey, and oodles more. Amanda Greenwood brought her little daughter along and they were dressed in cute mother-daughter outfits. The Leaguers were happy to greet member Marion Ford, who is recovering from a recent illness.

The Leaguers made a nice sum for its charity fund and will now turn their eyes toward the annual philanthropic doings that have kept the Leaguers first among outstanding charity clubs of the city . . .

Keeping in line with outdoor affairs, the Iota Phi Lambda Old Fashioned Barbecue on this coming Saturday should be a top knotch affair. Hope to see most of you there . . .

On last Sunday afternoon, Carolyn Hennington put on the little hostess apron and smile to greet friends of Gloria Bunch, bride-elect of Stan Malone. The gifts were more than beautiful and there were a group of interesting young women attending. By the way, Stan's mother, a Washington, D. C., school principal and his sister will arrive in the Crown City in time to attend the ceremony and reception that is set for August 15. Gloria's sister will be her sole attendant . . .

The Scrollers are just about ready for the annual Red and White Formal. Had the distinct pleasure of receiving the first invitation from president Herbie Howard, and the program chairman. Like the big brother's annual "Black and White," the pledge club members expect their guests to wear either red or white gowns for the ladies, and white coats, dark trousers for the gents. Wonder who will be queen this year. The membership of 54 scrollers has a wonderful field to choose from. Officers completing the roster are: Walter Miles, vice; Alpheus Merchant, secretary; Frank Rosburg, treasurer; Julius Boyd, chaplain; Johnnie Delgado, reporter. 500 invitations have been mailed . . .

WELL! WELL! WELL!

Attended the beautiful ceremony uniting lovely Pauline Jones and Gerald Stovall at Independent Church Sunday. Rainbow colors were used throughout. By the way, on Sunday evening another reception was given the former Mary Coleman and husband John Jackson, the couple made a trip East stopping at Niagara Falls, Chicago, etc., and Richmond, Virginia, where she met her in-laws. The friends of the Jackson family met the young lady on Sunday night. They should return to L. A. in a few days. . . . Word from Phyllis Scott and Madam C. A. Bass, chalks up for them a very good time at the IPP convention. . . . With this we make dead line.

'Till next week.

Clover Leaf Art Club

The Clover Leaf Art club met Wednesday evening, July 21, at the home of Mrs. Fitzgerald, 1402 E. 58th st. Mrs. Fitzgerald had been ill for several weeks, but is now able to meet again with the club, and it was a delight to meet her at her home.

Plans were made for the annual exhibit to be held the latter part of next month. The hostess served old-fashioned, home-made ice cream and pineapple layer cake for refreshments.

Joe Lewis Jr. Plays Host

Mr. and Mrs. Joe D. Lewis Jr., morticians of 2806½ 7th Ave., entertained on Monday morning with a breakfast honoring Dr. and Mrs. J. T. Lewis of Fort Scott, and Mrs. Aaron McMillan, wife of Dr. McMillan of Omaha, Nebraska.

A delightful repast was served and all had a delightful time.

Help For The Home Executive

To soften a leather brief case, wash it in a lather made of saddle soap which you can buy in any leather goods store. When dry give it a good rubbing with a flannel moistened in olive oil, castor oil, neat's foot oil, boiled linseed oil or lemon oil. Allow the oil to dry into the leather. When dry, apply a thin coat of clear shellac. This will glaze the leather.

Parent Education Program Highlight For Holmes Ave.

Recognizing that "Parent Education" is of paramount importance to the community as well as to the children in the schools, the Holmes Avenue P.T.A. has adopted this theme for the year's program.

The executive board of the Holmes Avenue P.T.A. met last Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. Wilbur A. Triggs presiding, to adopt these plans. Mrs. Lester M. Allen, chairman of the program committee, submitted an outline of the yearly program. It follows: September: Executive Board "Get Acquainted" social for teachers. October: Community Chest speaker. November: Evening meeting for fathers. Special Thanksgiving program. Rev. Clayton D. Russell, speaker. December: Christmas program. Exchange of gifts. January: Panel speakers. "Parent Education." February: Special Founders' Day program. March: Symposium, "School Education." April: Health. "Social Hygiene." Election of officers. May: Evaluation of year's work. Annual Tea. June: Speaker on "Recreation" topic. Annual reports. Installation of officers.

Mrs. Archie V. Jones, hostess, next meeting will be held August 11, at South Park, combining recreation and business. The ways and means committee will submit plans for a dance or "Variety Show" to be given in the fall.

Authors Study Group to Present Musicale

An interesting Musicale and Book Review, sponsored by Our Authors Study Club, Sunday, August 1, at 4 p. m. at the Y. W. C. A., 4260 Woodlawn, indicates that book lovers throughout the city will attend.

The much discussed, "Negro Who's Who in California" published recently, will be reviewed by Mrs. Emily Woody, teacher in the Los Angeles public school system, active in the little theater movement which has been responsible for a number of well presented plays in Los Angeles and Hollywood.

Mrs. Ever-Brewer Hudson, mezzo soprano, concert artist will be the soloist. Mrs. Hudson served as guest soloist at the First Methodist Church of Hollywood, and has been presented in recitals at the First Congregational Church of this city and the First Baptist Church at Highland Park, and many other churches throughout the city.

Mrs. Katie Miller, concert pianist and teacher, will also appear on the program. Mrs. Miller is a graduate from the New England Conservatory of Music in Boston, Mass. She gave the first Bach to Boogie recital in this city at the Polytechnic High School.

Mrs. Vassie D. Wright, president of Our Authors Study Club promises an interesting program. The club has Lending Libraries throughout the city, and makes a special study of Negro history.

The public is invited to be present Sunday afternoon.

Gay Deltas Hostess Surprise Party For Vice Prexy

The Gay Deltas Social Club entertained its vice president, Alene Lynch, Saturday night, July 17, with a delightful birthday party at the residence of the president, Mrs. Iwilla Arnold.

Club members, their husbands and escorts bestowed beautiful gifts upon the honoree who was taken completely by surprise with the affair.

In addition to the individual gifts, Mrs. Alene Lynch was presented a birthday cake by the club.

Along with the happy birthday felicitations, the evening was enjoyably spent playing cards and dancing. A buffet supper was served.

Good Cooking Hints

An olive sauce which can be used in place of meat or mushroom sauce has been tested by the University of California Food Technology Division. The sauce is made of sliced pitted olives, chopped green peppers, salt, garlic, onions and tomato sauce, cooked for several minutes.

The olive sauce can be used with canned white beans or red kidney beans. The beans are soaked in water until plump, then drained. Water and the olive sauce are added and heated to boiling.

The College of Agriculture has also developed a canned olive sauce for flavoring stews and other meats. Chopped olives, garlic, onion, chopped pimiento and tomato sauce are mixed and heated to boiling. The resulting sauce is satisfactory in flavor and appearance and can be used to flavor a great variety of meat dishes, spaghetti and rice.

Another sauce to flavor spaghetti, rice, stews, beans, etc., can be made from the contents of two tall cans of pitted olives, sliced, to which two small cans of hot sauce are added. Mixed in are also 6 ounces of chopped onions, 2 ounces of chopped garlic and 4 ounces of chopped green peppers.

BARBECUE PARTY—This gay group gathered to honor Mrs. Stella Wilburn of Tulsa, Oklahoma, Miss Agatha Wilburn, Detroit, Michigan and Mrs. Artee Brown of Chicago, Ill. All are visiting friends and relatives here in Los Angeles and other parts of Southern California. The party was held at the home of Messrs. and Mmes. Leroy Harston, 1454 E. 53rd street. Among those present were, Mr. and Mrs. James McDaniels, Jefferson Young, Calvin Hopkins, Marion Hogg, L. J. Harston, Lawrence Harston, Abraham Harston, Frank Williams, Hayward Jackson, Raymond Richardson and Mrs. Brown. A grand time was had by all.

MISS DOROTHY I. HEIGHT, national president of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, who will preside at all sessions when the 20th annual convention of the sorority is held in St. Louis, Aug. 24-28.

Crescent Club Sponsors Outing For Scouts

The Crescent Club of Phi Beta Sigma met Sunday with President Bill Dyer. Business of importance included the discussion of the boys summer camp project of the club. On July 29, a group of youngsters will enjoy the thrill of camping through the courtesy of the Phi Beta Sigma club. Plans were also made to entertain another group of scouts with a picnic in the latter part of August.

The next meeting of the club will be held on Aug. 1, at the 28th street branch of the Y.M.C.A. This will be a special business meeting and all members are requested to be present at 3:30 p.m.

Members of the club include: Bill Dyer, president; Michael Ellington, vice president; Daniel Taylor, secretary; Cecil Croslin, treasurer; Kenneth Buford, B. Clarence Cook, Rial Thornton, Frank Cobb, Allen Crozier, Arnett Lewis, Victor Mack, George Mack, Wallace Smith, Bill White and Milton Carey.

The main object of the Crescent club is to combat juvenile delinquency. The group has given free movies and many other activities on aSturdays.

Notables Attend. Kick-Off, Banquet of Bishop College Club,s Campaign

With the number of guests approaching the 400 mark, the Los Angeles Bishop College Club staged an elaborate banquet in the main dining room of beautiful Park Manor as the kick-off for the week's affairs scheduled to raise funds for their alma mater and pay special tribute to the college president, Joseph J. Rhoades, now seriously ill in Hot Springs, Ark.

A. Stephens Jackson, 11, director of public relations of Bishop College, here as special guest of the club, centered the honor table surrounded by some of this city's most forceful educational personalities having in the background uniquely arranged tables of professional fields: doctors, lawyers, ministers, fellow college clubs and many friends of Bishop College and its alumni.

The program, m.c.-ed by versatile Brice Taylor of Jefferson High, opened with the L. A. Bishopites singing the college song "Bishop Blue" with speeches from the honored table spaced between courses of a deliciously prepared menu and beautiful dinner music by George Brown and his orchestra, and singing by lovely Dolores Parker.

Special guest log registrated among the notables: John Givens, Los Angeles Board of Education, Dr. Osman R. Hull, Dean of College of Education of S. C., Leon Washington, Jr., publisher, Dr. J. Raymond Henderson, pastor of Second Baptist Church, Dr. Louis Koontz, professor of history of UCLA, representing office of university president, Dick Lambert, Examiner reporter, Charles Gipson, and photographer of Pittsburgh Courier, Frank Ewing Jr., Neighborhood News, and California Eagle photographer.

Other guests too numerous to mention included many of the top professional personalities of the city.

The closing services held at two of the leading churches of the city were favorably received by the general public. The club offers sincere appreciation for the wonderful response to this worthy cause.

Noon Luncheon Given By Pilgrim House

Pilgrim House gives another Good Will Noon Luncheon next Tuesday, August 3rd, at the Kow Nan Low, 105 N. San Pedro St., honoring Sam Ishikawa, Eastern Secretary of the Japanese American Citizens League. Mr. Ishikawa, who is serving the Los Angeles area for the Summer in the absence of Eyi Tanobe, is a graduate of Whittier College, a graduate student from Harvard University, and served on the Pilgrim House Common Ground Committee at the time of the return of the Japanese—a committee designed "to promote friendship and understanding." Lawerence Wilson, Chairman of the Public Relations Committee of Pilgrim House, will be the M. C.

California Eagle

A PROGRESSIVE NEWSPAPER FOR THE PROGRESSIVE PEOPLE

Vol. 69—No. 17 — The California Eagle, Thursday, July 29, 1948—11 — AD. 9770

By CARL L. CAIN

More important than the remarkable success of the Progressiv Party convention — and the reporters and commentators used up just about all their adjectives trying to describe it—is the meaning of the new party and its platform. Economically, 10 percent of the population controls 90 percent of the national wealth. The remaining 10 percent is distributed among the 90 percent of the people. But that 90 percent does have voice at the polls. When promises are made and broken by the bigger parties—or older parties—when people are jobless, hungry, and the nation's economy unstable, it reflects directly at the polls. When the people of a nation fear something, that indication is made too at the ballot box. And today, we, the Americans, do fear something. We fear the atomic bomb, the present trend toward American thought control.

We fear a depression under another Republican president following a war and inflation and a fifty-fifty Democratic-Republican Congress. We gasp in horror at such bills as the Mundt-Nixon; the Taft-Hartley Law restores the sweatshop under Labor. They would enslave the youths of the nation by compulsory military service; yes, a complete 21 months in the Jim Crow Army—ample time for the dictatorial officers to destroy any ambition to become a lawyer or a doctor or to pursue any highly-technical profession. They'll teach you a TRADE. But who wants a substitute cabinet-making for a medical profession, or a certificate to practice radio repairing instead of a degree to practice law. I reiterate a statement made some time ago: American youths are not afraid to die for their country—but it's much more profitable to live for it.

We must protect ourselves from organizations such as the Ku Klux Klan; while Mr. Truman shouts and bellows about civil rights, the Klan has a mass initiation of 400 new members—open to the public, not excluding the president or the attorney general. That same organization could ran rampant over the South and kill endless scores of innocent people if they did nothing to protect themselves. And, according to a good example when the four people in Georgia were murdered, Tom Clark would send an investigator to the scene. He would talk the whole thing over with the tobacco-chewing country sheriff and try to decide WHETHER ANYONE'S CIVIL RIGHTS HAD BEEN VIOLATED. Now it's happened before, under the presidency of Harry S. Truman. It will happen again if the people of this nation spend their ballots and their taxes to keep him in the White House another four years. No, the American people are not ready to yield to that type of ANARCHISM.

Ask the president, in a letter right away, why the House Un-American Activties Committee—which he had formed—has not bothered to investigate the Klan. They only know methods of violence and killing and don't hesitate to practice them and preach them to the world. Yet to the president, communism is the grand threat to the American government — an overthrow by force when we have hundreds of thousands of men in uniform.

The Truman administration has had four years to prove that it would carry out the ideals of the late President Roosevelt. Instead, as Charles P. Howard said at the convention, ". . . he has played postoffice with the Republicans, and pin the tail on the donkey with the Democrats." And now, in an effort to get something done, regardless of what, it has become necessary for the president to call a special session of Congress. Most people will agree that it's an effort to tear down the Republican platform. But in which case, emphasis is placed upon the use of presidential power for political advantage.

And so a new movement of the people exploded into the mighty Progressive Party convention last week-end. The commentators exhausted their adjective-box trying to describe the success of it. The enthusiasm was both generated and expressed in songs such as THE SAME OLD MERRY-GO-ROUND and FRIENDLY HENRY WALLACE. The newsmen also noted the color and festivity of the occasion and remarked a dozen times about the large number of youths present. The drunk Democrats, scared Republicans, and frozen ADA members, meanwhile, began to think of ways to degrade the convention and its motive. They couldn't say it was a failure and no one attended—now with a figure of more than 30,000 Shibe Park audience alone staring them in the face. Some slept in tents because they couldn't get rooms, and attended the convention. It was faultless, and glorifying to all liberty-loving people, at the same time representing their profounded and sustained efforts; at the same time cursing the arrogant falsities of the other two parties.

So what had the unfriendly groups left to do? They turned to that worn-out name-calling and Red-mongering. Unable to find other faults, they tried hard to smear the news headlines with RED, RED, RED. They're actually scared to death that Henry Wallace will make peace with the Soviet Union before the election is over in November. Then the military planks in both their platforms would cave in. They fear the Wallace Party or they wouldn't spend thousands of dollars in efforts to give the Progressives a free coat of red paint.

Perhaps the explanation for the large number of youths is that they know when the next war comes, they'll be forced with the decision: KILL OR BE KILLED; that the Progressive Party is the only political group supporting peace this time. I'd like to make a special plea to the American people. Whether you agree with the platform or not, at least give them a fair chance. Don't be taken in by the red-baiting and name-calling. We can be friends with the Russian people and we must. Certainly our chances for friendship won't grow any stronger if this war-mongering continues.

(To be continued next week.)

FOOTNOTE: Twice before we have made war. And now we find peace still harder to make.

District Schools Open Grounds for Vacation Recreation

The widely acclaimed recreation plan of Supervisor Leonard J. Roach has been extended to ten junior high schools and six high schools in the Second District, it was reported to the Board of Supervisors this week.

Following Roach's appeal to keep the school grounds open after school hours and during vacations and week-ends, the Los Angeles City Board of Education offered full cooperation in getting the program under way.

Roach was successful in getting a County appropriation for the plan, as a supplement to that already budgeted by the Board of Education, and a number of grade school grounds were opened for organized recreation.

The junior high schools participating in the program in Roach's district include: Adams, 151 W. 30th St.; Audubon, 4201 Creed Ave.; Berendo, 1157 S. Berendo St.; Carver, 885 E. 45th St.; Foshay, 3751 S. Harvard Blvd.; Gompers, 234 E. 112th St.; Lafayette, 1240 Naomi Ave.; Mann, 7001 S. St. Andrews Pl.; Mount Vernon, 4066 W. 17th St.; Muir, 5929 S. Vermont Ave.

Senior high schools are: Polytechnic, 400 W. Washington Blvd.; Fremont, 7676 S. San Pedro St.; Jefferson, 1319 E. 41st St.; Jordan Downs, 2265 E. 103rd St.; Manual Arts, 4131 S. Vermont Ave.; Washington, 10860 S. Denker Ave.

Community Sing at Lafayette Center

Tex Thomas and his band featuring Eddie Beale, famous recording pianist, and Ulysses Livingston, famous with the Hollywood "Four Blazes," guitarist, received ovation after ovation when they appeared on the program at the Lafayette Center Community Sing last Monday evening. Louispolliemon Brown (West Indian drummer) made a terrific hit by singing native Calypso songs, with Aurelia Waddy, accompanist.

Shirley and Gloria Dyer, small girls of the 20th Street School, sang "Route 66." This was their own arrangement, and was their first appearance before an audience of this type.

The Natividads rendered several guitar numbers. Frankie Reys, returning by popular demand, sang several good selections. The community singing numbers, flashed on the screen and in which all took part, proved exceedingly popular. The next "Sing" will be held Monday, August 2, 8 to 10 p.m.

Arnold C. Sorenson, newly appointed Scout Executive of the Los Angeles Area Council, Boy Scouts of America, (center) receives congratulations from Gordon B. Andy Says 'Bojo' He's the Winner

"Bojo." That's the new name for Griffith Park Zoo's baby elephant, the winner out of more than 7,000 names submitted by children in a contest conducted by the Los Angeles City Recreation and Park Department.

Little Andy Chapkiss, 8, of 3818 Los Feliz Blvd., who submitted the winning suggestion, had the honor of putting up a sign with the elephant's new name and his own on the wire enclosure at the Zoo, while photographers' bulbs popped and television cameras recorded the scene.

Young Republicans Will Meet Sunday To Plan Strategy

President Carl J. Johnson of the 62nd Assembly District Young Republicans, announces that this organization is going "all-out" to win this district for Gov. Dewey and the Republican Ticket.

A special strategy committee has marked out detailed plans for the campaign. These plans will be presented to the membership at a meeting Sunday evening, August 1, at 1320 East 57th Street.

Johnson stated that his organization feels that Dewey's passage of the New York State F.E.P.C., the appointment of qualified Negroes to important positions, his fairness to all minority groups and his efficiency as Governor of New York makes him the best candidate for President of the United States.

Gifts to European Scouts From BSA

Boy Scouts of America have been asked to send Scout packages to their fellow Scouts in Europe. There are nine different packages, each containing material for Scouting, such as cooking outfits, tents, handbook for Scouts, first aid kits, etc. If anyone should prefer to send food, this can be done through the Cooperative for American Remittances to Europe (CARE).

A Scout package costs $15. A CARE package $10. Remit to World Friendship Fund, care of Boy Scouts of America, 2 Park avenue, New York, 16, N.Y.

Youth Observe Playground's Founder Day

This week (July 26 to 31) Los Angeles municipal playgrounds which are always busy places, reach a new peak in activity, as tens of thousands of children and youth join with youngsters across the nation in honoring the memory of Joseph Lee, "father" of the American playground idea.

In tribute to the Bostonian who established the nation's first public playground fifty-four years ago, Friday, July 30, has been designated as "Joseph Lee Day." Centers of the Los Angeles City Recreation and Park Department have arranged special programs not only on that day but throughout the week. Some of the centers for this area are at Compton, Pueblo Del Rio, Ross Snyder, South Park and Watts.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By REV. IKE EVANS, D.D.

Subject: Jonathan, loyal friend: Lesson Text and Outline, 1 Samuel, 18:1-4; 19:1-6. Motto Text, Proverbs 17:17.

INTRODUCTION.

Within three or four years after the killing of Goliath, at least ten attempts, direct and indirect, were made by Saul to take the life of David. But under all the provocation and peril, David behaved wisely and won the undying love of Jonathan, the son of Saul, who steadfastly befriended him. As we read again the sacred story of the mutual love of David and Jonathan, we gaze upon the shining facets of their diamond friendship.

COMMENTS

1. Whether it refers to his conference with Saul before the battle, or to that after, in which it is proabable much more was said than is there set down, is uncertain. But, in both David expressed himself with so much prudence, modesty and piety, such o felicity of expression, with so much boldness and yet so much sweetness, and all this so natural and unaffected, and the more surprising because of the disadvantages of his education and appearance, that the soul of Jonathan was immediately knit unto the soul of David. Jonathan had formerly set upon a Philistine army with the same faith and bravery with which David had now attacked a Philistine giant; so that there was between them a very near resemblance of affections, dispositions, and counsels, which made their spirits unite so easily, so quickly, so closely, that they seemed but as one soul in two bodies. None had so much reason to dislike David as Jonathan had, because he was put to him by the crown, yet none regards him more. Those that are governed in their love by principles of wisdom and grace will not suffer their affections to be alienated by any secular regards or consideration; the greater thoughts will swallow up and overrule the less. He testified his love to David be a generous present he made him. He was uneasy at seeing so great a soul, though lodged in so far a body, yet disguised in the mean and despicable dress of a poor shepherd, and therefore takes care to put him speedily into the habit of a courtier for he gave him a robe and of a soldier, for he gave him, instead of his staff and sling, a sword and bow, and, instead of his shepherd's scrip, a girdle, either a belt or a sash; and, which made the present much more obliging, they were the same that he himself had worn, and as a presage of what would follow he stripped himself of them to dress David in them. Saul's would not fit him, but Jonathan's did. Their bodies were of a size, a circumstance which well agreed with the suitableness of their minds. When Saul put these marks of honor on David he put them off again, because he would first earn them and then wear them; but, now that he had given proofs of the spirit of a prince and a soldier, he was not ashamed to wear the habits of a prince and a soldier. David is seen in Jonathan's clothes, that all may take notice he is a Jonathan's second self. Our Lord Jesus has thus shown His love to us, that he stripped himself to clothe us, emptied himself to enrich us; he did more than Jonathan, he clothed himself with our rags, whereas Jonathan did not put on David's. He endeavored to perpetuate this friendship. So entirely satisfied were they in each other, even at the first interview, that they made a covenant with each other. Their mutual was sincere; and he that bears an honest mind startles not at as assurances. True love desires to be constant. Those who love Christ as their own souls will be willing to join themselves to him in an everlasting convenant.

2. Never was friend so surprisingly kind as Jonathan. A friend in need is a friend indeed. Such a one Jonathan was to David. He not only continued to delight much in him, though David's glory eclipsed his, but bravely appeared for him now that the stream ran so strongly against him. Jonathan knew not but that some of the servants might be either so obsequious to Saul or so envious at David as to put the orders into execution which Saul had given, if they could light on David. He took pains to pacify his father and reconcile him to David. The next morning he ventured to commune with him concerning David, not that night, perhaps because he observed Saul to be drunk and not fit to be spoken to, or because he hoped that, when he had slept upon it, he would himself revoke the order, or because he could not have an opportunity of speaking to him till morning. His intercession for David was very prudent. It was managed with a great deal of the meekness of wisdom; and he showed himself faithful to his friends by speaking good of him ,though he was in danger of incurring his father's displeasure by it, a rare instance of valuable friendship! He pleads, the good services David had done to the public, and particularly to Saul. God inclined the heart of Saul to hearken to the voice of Jonathan. We must be willing to hear reason, and to take all reproofs and good advice even from our inferiors, parents from their own children.

How forcible are right words! Saul was, for the present, so far convinced of the unreasonableness of his enmity to David. Some suspect that Saul said and swore this with a malicious design to bring David within his reach again, intending to take the first opportunity to slap him. But, as bad as Saul was, we can scarcely think s ill of him; and therefore we suppose that he spoke as he thought for the present, but the convictions soon wore off and his corruptions prevailed and triumphed over them.

This intimates the strength of those bonds by which we are bound to each other and which we ought to be sensible of. Friends must be constant to each other at all times. That is not true friendship which is not constant; it will not be so if it be sincere, and actuated by a good principle. Those that are fanciful or selfish in their friendship will love no longer than their humor is pleased and their interest served, and therefore their affections turn wit hthe wind and change with the weather. Swallow-friends, that fly to you in summer, but are gone in winter; such friends there is no loss of. But if the friendship be prudent, generous, and cordial, if I love my friend because he is wise, and virtuous, and good, as long as he continues so, though he fall into poverty and disgrace, still I shall love him. Christ is a friend that loves at all times and we must so love Him.

MISS PRIMROSE FUNCHESS of Chicago, Ill., National Baptist Convention Inc. representative, will be the guest speaker in the 50th anniversary of the Women's Convention Auxiliary to the Western Baptist State Convention Auxiliary to the Western Baptist State Convention of California. The meeting will beheld in the Metropolitan Baptist Church of Pasadena, Rev. S. M. Malone pastor, August 2-8.

50th Anniversary Celebrated By Women of Western Baptist

The Women of the Western Baptist State Convention are proud of the fact that their department of the organization is now in its 52nd year. A definite mile stone to reach in Gods kingdom building.

All charter members will be honored at the fellowship dinner Thursday evening at 6:00 p.m. All delegates and friends are welcome to attend the dinner.

A needed feature will be added this year in the form of a Missionary Manual. Published by the president, Mrs. Carter, this manual represents much research work and study. The president is to be commended.

Golden badges, in recognition of the 50th anniversary will be in circulation on Thursday. All attending are urged to be tagged with the gold badge. The session opens August 2-8 at the Metropolitan Baptist Church in Pasadena, Calif. The people of the convention are looking foreward to 50 more years of untiring work.

Antioch Notes

PHOENIX, Ariz. — "A Bad Heart" was the subject of the sermon at the evening service of the Antioch Baptist Church last Sunday. It was delivered by Rev. Johnson, assistant pastor of the church. The pastor of the church, Rev. R. N. Holt, preached at the 11 a.m. service. The Sunday school was in charge of Assistant Superintendent White.

Sister Anna Grant underwent an operation at the Santa Monica hospital, July 20. She is home new, and is doing nicely. Others on the sick list are: Sister Dunn and Brother Slack.

Memorial Service For RPP Benevol't Assn. At St. James Baptist

St. James Baptist Church, East 40th Place and Naomi avenue, held memorial services for the Retired Pullman Porters Benevolent Association last Sunday, with the Rev. H. Coleman preaching the sermon.

The Youth Choir of 24 voices will make its debut next Sunday, August 1, while the Senior Choir takes vacation during August. Mrs. Lessie Rimson is director, and Mrs. Birdie Faye Gipson, pianist. The pastor, Rev. M. J. Gipson, will preach on the subject: "Give me this Mountain."

There are 300 free seats in St. James Church. All are welcome. The beautiful church building is free of all indebtedness. "Come thou with us and we will do thee good."

Men's Day at 1st Baptist Church

The men of the First Baptist Church, 94th and Zamora sts., are planning one of the greatest programs ever rendered in the church in celebration of Men's Day next Sunday, August 1. Brother William Jackson is in charge.

There will be a galaxy of talents from various churches of the city appearing on the program at 3 p.m. Prof. A. Hollins, an artist of piano and voice of St. Louis, Mo., will be in charge of the music throughout the day. Come out and enjoy the songs rendered by the great chorus made up of men only under the direction of Prof. Hollis.

The men of the church feel optimistically that their goal will be reached, spiritually and financially, with the cooperation of their friends. All are invited to the services of the church at all times. Res. A. Moten is the minister.

Community Bethel

The Bethel Community Church of Christ, 2626 South San Pedro st., will observe its third annual Women's Day, Sunday, July 25. The theme for the occasion will be "Serve the Lord with Gladness." There will be a morning, afternoon, and evening program of prayer, song, and lecture. Sister Juanita Mack and Lucille Payney are co-chairwomen for the program. Rev. Effie Harris is pastor of the church.

The interests of childhood and youth are the interests of mankind. —Janes

Hold Grand Session in Phoenix

PHOENIX, Ariz. — The 32nd annual grand session of the Knights and Daughters of Tabor, International Order of Twelve, was held in Phoenix, July 12-16. Delegates attended from Los Angeles, Oakland, San Francisco, Berkeley, San Diego, and other cities.

The tent or juvenile department was on hand in large numbers, and a drill team from Los Angeles under the guidance of Dtr. Lillian Rutledge scored a hit. International Chief Grand Mentor Sir P. M. Smith, of Mound Bayou, Miss., and Dtr. Mabel V. Gray, of Los Angeles, who held the highest spot in the Women's Department of Tabor, that of International Grand High Preceptress, were among those who attended.

Rev. Louis H. Owens, of Sacramento, was reelected Chief Grand Mentor. Other officers elected for the ensuing year are:

Dtr. Cordelia Clifton, San Francisco, Grand High Preceptress; Sir Carl Chatman, Los Angeles, vice Grand Mentor; Dtr. Hattie B. Williams, Los Angeles, vice Grand High Preceptress; Sir D. D. Holmes, Los Angeles, Chief Grand Scribe; Dtr. Pearl J. Johnson, Denver, Colo., Chief Grand Recorder; Sir Geo. S. Rodgers, Phoenix, Grand Treasurer; Sir Ernest Harrison, Oakland, Grand Presiding Prince; Dtr. Louise Jones, Pasadena, Grand Queen Mother; Sir Robert B. Myers, Phoenix, Chief Grand Orator; Dtr. Justina L. Ross, Oakland, Chief Grand Priestess; and Dtr. Margurette Pollard, San Diego, Grand Inner Sentinel.

Sir T. B. Norman, of Los Angeles, was reappointed secretary of the Death Benefit Department. Other appointed officers include: Sir Willie Johnson, Los Angeles, Grand Drill Master; Sir Chas. W. Black, Oakland, Grand Color Bearer; Sir W. R. Rush, Los Angeles, Chief Grand Sentinel; Grand Guards, Sir E. W. Pollard, San Diego; Jas. M. Christopher, Phoenix, and Merrill C. Gadles, San Francisco. Grand Judges: Sir Knights Henry Berry, San Francisco; J. E. DuRant, Oakland; Dtrs. Tennie J. Credille, Phoenix; Maggie Rush, Los Angeles; R. M. Banks, Los Angeles; and Estrella Harrison, Oakland; Grand Tribunes: Dtrs. Annie Mae Harris, Los Angeles, and Gertrude Jesse, Oakland.

Peoples Church Conference Set

Delegates representing the Biennial Council of the Peoples Church of Christ and Community Centers from all over the nation will meet in Los Angeles August 16 for the purpose of ironing out issues concerned with the merger of two great groups of Protestant churches. The Neighborhood Community Church, Rev. H. Mansfield Collins, will be host to the important assemblage.

This union of Protestant churches was begun a year ago, when two groups met in Columbus, Ohio, for the purpose of mapping the initial grounds. These groups were the National Council of Community Churches, and the Peoples Church of Christ and Community Centers. It is expected that these two groups will hold a meeting in Los Angeles for further action in 1949.

Rev. Clayton D. Russell, pastor of the People's Independent Church, Los Angeles, represented the Peoples Church of Christ and Community Centers, at the original meet; and Rev. Dr. Roy A. Burkhart, First Community Church, Columbus, Ohio, represented the Council of Community Churches.

The merger is seen as a real solution to problems facing Protestantism and a way to end petty differences. The move is designed to place Protestantism on a broader and more harmonious interracial basis.

Distinguished Pulpit Guest at Wesley

The Rev. J. O. Williams, pastor of Sharp Street Methodist Church, Baltimore, Md., delivered the morning sermon at Wesley Methodist Church, 52nd and Main Streets, Sunday, July 25. Rev. Williams is an eloquent speaker and one of the outstanding young men of the Methodist Church. He comes from a line of distinguished preachers. Both his father and uncle were outstanding preachers of the Methodist Church in Texas and are remembered by many former Texans.

Rev. Williams has been at the University of California for six weeks on scholarship pursuing a special course in counseling. He is very liberally trained, holding a bachelor of arts degree from Wiley College and the master of arts and bachelor of divinity degrees from Boston University.

Broadcasts, KRKD

The 92nd Street Church of Christ, 1478 East 92nd street, broadcast a program of music for 30 minutes over KRKD at 4:30 p. m. recently. This was the first broadcast, but a half-hour program is planned for each Sunday at the same time by 92nd Street Church.

Rev. Cornelius W. Arnold, pastor of the church, and his choir under the direction of Willmena Shamberger, with Irma Randolph at the piano, presented the program.

Mrs. Arnold welcomed the guests who attended the broadcast. She said that 92nd Street Church was a community-minded church, working for the social and civic betterment as well as the spiritual development of the community. A free employment office is open daily from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. for all who need work. Call LA. 6686 or JE. 0310.

Arkansas on Top At All-States Tea

Mrs. Matilda Parker, captain of the state of Arkansas of the Organ Guilds All States Tea of the Independent Church of Christ, held July 18 at the Masonic Temple, 1050 East 50th street, wishes to thank her coworkers Mesdames C. Jane DeNard, Letitia McDonald, Beulah Wade, Thalia Bethel, Lillian Beavers, Rosa White Lauderdale, Josephine Quarles, and Mrs Minnie Bland for their aid in putting Arkansas over the top.

Special thanks are due to the following: Mrs. Octavia Matthews, president of the Good Deeds Club; the Friendly Twelve Charity Club, the Eastside Betterment Alliance; and guest artists, Mr. A. D. McMurray, the little Miss Judy Spann, and James Etta Rogers.

Others to whom thanks are due are: Mesdames Ruth Austin, Lillian Talbert, Helen Thompson, Mae Harrod, Elizabeth Baines, Margie Edwards, Ila Mae Chestnut, Hazel Roberson, Alice Jackson, Estell Barnett, Roberta Monroe, Macie Dorgan, Saide Brewer, Hattie Chew, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Wales, Miss Margaret A. Hayes, and everyone who helped in any manner.

The recipient of the beautiful set of W. M. Rogers silverware was Mr. R. F. Scott, 11205 Antwerp street.

Laura J. Burgett Rites Held Monday

Family and friends of the late Laura J. Burgett, oldest member of a pioneer family, paid tribute to the memory of one who was a mother, grandmother, great grandmother and great-great grandmother.

Mrs. Burgett, head of five living generations, leaves to mourn her passing, a son, Otis G. Ruth of Corona, Calif., a daughter, Tessie Gordon of Los Angeles; the following grandchildren: Katherine Bass Wharton of Santa Monica, Hilda Booker of Riverside, Opal Delociendá, Robert Ruth, and Vera Jackson (CALIFORNIA EAGLE) of Los Angeles. Thirteen great grandchildren and one great granddaughter were on hand.

Mrs. Laura Burgett, a native of Springfield, Missouri, was born January 28, 1871, and came to California nearly fifty years ago. She was the only daughter of James and Emma McCune. The latter preceded her daughter in death but only two years and often spoke of seeing her sixth generation.

The family wishes to thank their many friends for expressions of sympathy.

Annual Convention Youth for Christ

WINONA LAKE, Ind. — The fourth annual convention of the Youth for Christ was held at Winona Lake, July 11-18, with delegates attending from 266 cities in 36 states, 5 Canadian provinces and The Netherlands, Panama Canal Zone, and the Philippines. Registration went past the 100 mark.

A World Congress on Evangelism will be held at Beatenberg, Switzerland, August 10-22, which 200 youth leaders of the U. S. and Canada expect to attend.

Roy McKeown, of Los Angeles, was among the regional vice-presidents elected at the convention. Roy will be in charge of the Pacific Southwest. Dr. Robert A. Cook, of Chicago, was elected president.

Requested To Send Much More Plasma

Simultaneously with an appeal from Israel for more blood plasma, "Blood for Israel" headquarters at 604 So. Normandie Avenue announced this week that it will be open every Wednesday from 9:30 a. m. until 10 p. m.

Urgent need for immediate air shipment of more blood plasma to the sick and wounded of Israel was stressed in a cable from Dr. Paul Heller, surgeon-general of the new Jewish State, it was announced by Stanley Slotkin, the station's coordinating director.

Fulfillment of Dr. Heller's request will require between 800 and 1000 local blood contributions a week, according to Mrs. Mary Raymo, executive director. She added that the new Wednesday evening hours will draw many volunteers who have been unable to make day-time appointments. The center is closed Saturdays.

Watts Church Makes Second Broadcast

The 92nd St. Church of Christ located at 92nd and Compton, made its second broadcast, over Station KRKD, Sunday afternoon, July 25, from 4:30 p.m. to 5 p.m.

Rev. Cornelius W. Arnold, and his choir, under the direction of Willhemena Shamberger and Irma Randolph at the piano, gave the radio well wishers a real song and soul stirring program. Rev. O. C. Davis, assistant pastor, was presented with his certificate to preach. The prayer was offered by Elder Sim Spencer, also assistant pastor, while scripture lesson was read by Rev. C. F. Malcolm, pastor of the Slauson Avenue Church.

The most stirring song of the broadcast was "By and By." A guest, Mr. E. C. Dink, of the Quality Picture Studio, was present for the broadcast. The third broadcast will originate from the church on next Sunday at 4:30 p.m. to 5 p.m. If you have a song that you would like to hear, write or call Rev. C. W. Arnold, minister, 92nd St. Church at 92nd and Compton.

Girl Scouts Urged To Work Hard For Democracy

PLEASANTVILLE, N. Y. — Girl Scout adults attending Camp Edith Macy, Girl Scout National Training School, were urged to rededicate themselves to the unfinished business of democracy by Julius A. Thomas, director of the Department of Industrial Relations of the National Urban League, on Sunday.

"We must not forget that our freedom was won on a thousand battlefields by the sweat and blood of men who envisioned a better way of life," Mr. Thomas said, speaking on the subject of "Our Civil Rights — Yesterday and Today."

"Let us not forget that there are those among us who do not believe in the American Creed as enunciated by the founders of our democracy," continued the speaker. "They are not silent. They are not asleep. Their pernicious influence was felt in the halls of an indifferent Congress which declined to enact legislation outlawing the poll tax, lynching, discrimination in employment and segregation in the Armed Forces."

He called the report of the President's Committee on Civil Rights a blue-print for a "forthright program of social and political action," and the recent opinion of the Supreme Court prohibiting the Courts to enforce restrictive covenants as another indication of "our determination to put our house in order."

DANGLING THREADS FROM A GREEN SILK DRESS

The band of Diz Gillespie moved into the Cricket Club where they'll be playing their Be-Bop jive for all the nite lifers . . . The Doll League afternoon of fun and entertainment Sunday last, at the beautiful home of Nadine Coles was nothin' but a success, while a group of fellas called the Don Chesters had oodles of folks over at their cocktail hour, oer on St. Andrews place . . . And then, Cecil Count Carter is still ravin about all his professional friends who turned out to the dinner and cocktail sponsored by the Western Aces. Hear that Nat Cole, and wife Marie, Errol Garnner, Marie Dickerson and many many others all turned out to help make the afternoon an enjoyable one . . . Aha! Felix Anderson insists that Mable Harris has the "kind of lips that wink" at you . . . Alice DeCuir would like to thank, in a special sort of way, folks like the Gay Angelanos, Att. W. Gordon, Jr., P. E. Smallwood, Mrs. Valentine and all of the other's who donated so freely to aid the unfortunate kids in going to camp this summer . . . SUDDEN THAWT: Errol Garner plays like Johnnie Hartman sings, "soothing and relaxing" . . . Hear that Norma Miller is really doing things on big time style with her mad show producing at Smalls Paradise in the apple . . . That dizzy dame that insists that Frankie Lane sings circle's around Billy Eckstein should go see a psyc—sychi—pysc . . . Oh heck . . . a Nut doctor! . . . Which reminds us that Billy's recording of "I'm Out To Forget Tonight" is a natural tear-jerker . . . L.A.'s Earl Griffin (now in N. Y.) when asked anything about Los Angeles, "really doesn't know anything at all about the place." Oh well, we can understand that, and wife La Tanya, recent recepiant of a scholarship, is now in Chicago . . . The Last Word is now under a new ownership, a fella whose first name is Ed and whose last name I can't remember, hails from Seattle, is the new owner, and Esvan Mosby "Your Mayor of Central Ave" is the manager . . . The Band of Vic Dickinson will replace the terrific Five Bits of Rhythm with an entire new show . . . Aha! Johnny Williams says "monye is like an old maid, never meant to be kept." . . . The congenial and hospitable character of Atty Curtis Taylor makes him one of the most liked business men on the avenue.

T., to which Webb remarked, "Yeah, I know, that's why I'd rather be full of whiskey"! . . . The nonchalant, unassuming dis-position of Bill Dickison is one of the reason's he made such a hit with us . . . Really never cared for the music from a violin until I first listened to Ginger Smock. Don't know how she can get so much out of one violin! . . . Enjoyed also the organ music of Lloyd Glenn and the piano artistry of Emile Williams, all appearing at the Wakaki Nite spot . . . If you look real good at Alex Penland, you'll agree with me that anything that fella hasn't got, he sure doesn't need! . . . Emily Foster headlines the million dollar show with Dorothy Donegan and the band of Ray (Temptation) Engles . . . Frances White strolled into the Cresbar the other even'g, upsetting things with a frantic outfit designed and made by her niece, Jacqueline DeLavaladde Jacquett . . . Overheard in the Dunbar Lounge: "Who do you think you are, anyway, Santa Clause?" Why No!!" "Then leave my stockings alone." . . . Hear that Joe Swanson, musician, is doing some awful nice arranging these days . . . Melvin Linsday, who is everything that the word "frantic" implies, just doesn't know what to get into next . . . The next time you see Lloyd Murdock call him Mr. Kirby and watch him grin, ha ha . . . The King Cole Trio scoring nothing but a hit out at Ciro's, natch! ! . . . Hear that pretty Pat Evans is ill she's suffering from "softening of the hearteries" . . . Will Jay LoftLynn kindly contact the column please! ! ! . . . Lorenzo Flennoy insists that "Man is the only animal that can be skinned more than once." . . . John Lee (Eagle manag. Cute Ruth Mars is in love, ask and see if she'll tell you the fella's name . . . The recording of Mable Scott's "Elevator Boogie" has everybody jumping. It's awful fine . . . Congrats Freida, who had her wedding reception Sunday along with another couple . . . Arthur Lee is in a discombobarated condition. Her name is Evelyn Hall . . . The social set is all atwitter 'bout the coming marriage of a social-lovely to one of the town's number one playboys . . . claim it won't work . . . OoooWheeeee! those snappy singing commercials are slowly driving me mad! ! . . . A bloke rushed up to Harry Bigelow (who has just returned from a tour with T. Bone Walker) and demanded "Hey, what's between you and my wife?" Harry quietly answered: "you," and that's it for now.

Joe Liggins And His Crew Click At Downbeat Nitery

YOU'VE SEEN HER picture before, and you will see her picture again. She's a little bundle of feminine loveliness named Mary Louise. Mary Louise closed a smash engagement last week at Larry Potter's famed Supper Club, and recently signed a recording contract with Victor records which will go into effect as soon as the recording ban is lifted. Mary Louise made her rep singing with Walter Fuller's band. Mr. Fuller made his rep several years ago with the Earl Hines band when he introduced the tune, "Rosetta." oooo0OOOOH, look-a-there, ain't she pretty!

Good news for Joe Liggins fans, of which there are many, is the announcement that the famed originator of the hit tune, "Honeydripper," has been held over indefinitely at the Downbeat club, popular Central Avenue bistro.

The Liggins lads, headed by piano-playing Joe, who is without a doubt one of the hottest ivory ticklers to be heard around these parts in many a moon, play the kind of music that can best be described as "easy-listening." Also in the group is a tenor-tooting, handsome hunk of man named James Jackson. Jackson ays a terrific tenor and can easily hold his own with any of the so-called "greats" in the sax-tooting kingdom. He has a tone as big as all outdoors and what he does to a saxophone is something that should happen to other tenor-tooters! He doesn't resort to Coleman Hawkins-like riffs to put his style of playing across. He plays and blows from the depths of his soul, and Mr. Liggins is truly blessed with the services of James Jackson, because if ever a guy is entitled to put the name "great" in front of his name, it is the terrific, swingsational, easy-blowing James Jackson.

Of course there are others in the outfit who play as much music on their respective instruments as Mr. Jackson, but Jackson is the one who gets our vote as being the most outstanding young musician of 1948. Willie Jackson, great baritone star who recently returned to the band following a short illness, has been making headline history in music circles for many years. Peppy Prince, a drummer who can out-play most of these young upstarts who resort to trick drumming, is easy to take and easy to listen to. Frank Pasley plays as much guitar as you want to hear, and the band itself is on a par with the best in the business. All in all, an evening at the Downbeat (listening and thrillin' to Joe Liggins' lads is an evenini of downright solid entertainment.)

I wouldn't walk a mile for a Camel, but I'd walk a mile to hear Joe Liggins and his famed Honeydrippers.

On Sunday afternoon and Monday evenings, a jam-session is held featuring Gene Montgomery, who also rates a place on the local honor roll of music fame. His playing (together with a group of young Be-Bop swingsters) is well worth listening to.

Illinois Jacquet Riding High on Popularity Wave as Top Sax Star

NEW YORK—The Roxy Theater, leading Broadway presentation house, has announced the signing of Illinois Jacquet, renowned "Dynamo Of The Saxophone", and his high-flying Sextette for a three-week engagement with the annual "Harvest Moon Ball" show, headed by columnist Ed Sullivan, starting September 9.

The exciting Jacquet's appearance at the Roxy will mark his first start on the stage of a Broadway theater as a bandleader in his own right. As a featured member of the bands of Lionel Hampton, Cab Calloway and Count Basie, the might mite of the saxophone had played the leading Broadway houses with those outfits, his last stand having been at the Roxy with Basie's band in 1946.

Jacquet's booking at the Roxy for the "Harvest Moon" show came as a direct result of the spectacular success he scored in doing a guest shot on "Toast of the Town," variety CBS television program, which is emceed by columnist Sullivan. Jacquet's performance on the popular video show, which television critics and fans tabbed as the most sensational ezhibition they've ever noted, was also saught by the Roxy Theater bookers, who wasted no time in signing the frantic sax ace to make his Broadway tehater debut at the Roxy.

The youthful Jacquet, who at the age of 25 is one of the nation's most magnetic box office attractions, has written several new pages in musical history since setting out on his own a brief year-and-a-half ago. In that short span of time, he has established records in concert halls and theaters that may never be equaled. The dynamic instrumentalist has also established himself as a top recording artist, and scored still another great triumph in his recent debut in the new field of television.

KING PERRY is on the bandstand nitely at JACK'S BASKET ROOM with a zippy little combo. His recording of "Keep A $ In Your Pocket" zoomed to the heights.

"Mayor" Mosby Takes Over Last Word Cafe

Esvan Mosby, popularly known as the honorary Mayor of Central Avenue, this week, took over the reins of the popular Last Word nite club, located at 4206 S. Central avenue.

The club is owned and managed by a syndicate recorded as the Harlem Amusement Corp., of which "Mayor" Mosby is listed as the Vice President; Charles Thomas, Pes. and Leo Roche recording secretary and treasury.

Mosby, named as general manager of the club, and in full charge, has had a very colorful career, having had many triumphs as a showman in the theatrical world, and was the originator and leader of the famed Chocolateers, comic dancing trio who fathered the dance idea "Peckin'," popular dance craze of a few seasons ago. This particular group of which "Mayor" Mosby headed, had many successes from coast to coast, having starred in the Cotton Club revue with Cab Calloway for a lengthy engagement, and was also featured in the motion picture, "Thank Your Lucky Stars," with Humphrey Bogart.

During World War No. 2, Mosby was show-manager for North American Air-Craft Co., and more recently held down the position of manager at the famed local Downbeat club.

In taking over the Last Word nitery, Mr. Mosby has spared no expense in converting this spot into the smartest nitery in town. A club where patrons will enjoy the finest entertainment in town, fine foods and an atmosphere of continental gaiety.

A complete new personnel will be on hand to serve you. Assisting "Mayor" Mosby is Joe Harris, former EAGLE columnist, who will serve in the capacity as Host.

The Last Word will have its formal grand opening Wed. Aug. 4.

Sarah Vaughn In Person at Chi Nightclub

CHICAGO, Ill.—Sarah Vaughan, who has been unanimously elected the nation's No. 1 girl singer in every major popularity poll this year, returned to the Windy City, scene of several of her most important triumphs, for a two-week engagement at the Blue Note nitery, which got underway July 26.

Immediately following her current date at the Blue Note, Miss Vaughan will embark upon a six-week theater tour, which will include bookings at the Royal in Baltimore, the Howard in Washington, the 125th Street Apollo, in New York, the Broadway-Capitol in Detroit, and the State-Lake in Chicago.

GIP TO M. C.

J. T. Gipson will be master of ceremonies at the Grand Opening of the ATUR-SERVICE CENTER Friday, July 30; Saturday, July 31 and Sunday, August 1st. Mr. Gipson wil spin records, introduce and interview the various celebrities who will drop in during the afternoon.

Gip Calls Winchell Adopted Dad, But Oh What Winchell Calls Gip

By JT Gipson, Theatrical Editor

I was asked to reprint an interview I once had with Walter Winchell. (Ah, come on, make like you're interested.) I call him my Adopted Dad, and once waddled up to him one night at a bond rally and proudly exclaimed: "Hi, Walter. They call me the Black Winchell of California, to which he snapped, "That's nothing, son, you oughta hear what they call ME at Bund Meetings!"

One of the most discussed writers in America journalism, Walter Winchell is rated high on the list of favorite journalists. He's the top man on the columnist totem poll.

The nearest I came to knowing WW took place a couple of summers ago in Hollywood when he, on one of his rare visits to a niteclub (other than the Stork in N' York) visited the Trocadero nite spot to listen to the swingy rhythms of the King Cole Trio, and I say swingy rhythms because I, at the time, got paid for heaping sugary adjectives on the KCT. I was their press-agent.

I suggested, on the evening I met Walter Winchell, that the King pose in a picture with his arm around Winchell and I stand in the middle with Walter shown reading a copy of my column. He glanced at the column, and decided he'd just rather pose with the King Cole trio. The snob!

King Cole, whose first name is Nathaniel, introduced us and Winchell said hello in a voice that could be used as a cooling system, and gave me one of those looks reserved for guys who mistakingly walk into a ladies powder room. When he left the club that night, I said in my easygoing, nonchalant way: "I'll drop you a few lines sometime, Mr. Winchell."

He looked back over his shoulder as if to wonder why, and then strolled out of the club closely shadowed by a bevy of bruising buddies known as bodyguards. Since that frigid reception, my valued contemporaries in the field of Journalism often wonder why I devote so much free space in praise of him. HERE'S WHY—

I have written him more than a dozen leters, and NOT ONE OF THEM CAME BACK marked "wrong address," or unclaimed. "Had he not wanted my friendship," he could have easily told his secretary, Kay, to send the letter back and "tell that jerque to stop pestering me!" Instead, he took time out from arduous duties to throw them in the waste basket.

Ask any of his enemies why they don't like Walter Winchell, and they sputter and stammer trying to think of a reason. They finally look at you and walk away with one of those "ah, go ta' 'hell" facial expressions.

Walter Winchell is an American who believes in America. He believes in the equality of all men.

I'm often asked in newspaper circles why I'm so madly in love with the guy. It seems most Negro newspapermen don't like him. WHY NOT????? Because he donates his broadcasts salary to the American Red Cross and other charitable organizations? Because he thinks Louis Armstrong is the greatest trumpeter who ever lived? Because he is the most powerful factor in Journalism today, and has the largest audience in radio? Because Hazel Scott is one of his favorites? They don't like him? WHY NOT???—Because he turned the spotlight on the traitors among us and help bring to justice such slimy things as JERK L. K. Smith, Dudley Pelley, Winrod, and other phoney Americans? Because he once columnied that White girls in Hollywood are copying Lena Horne's hair-do? Because he stuck a pen in the Lindbergh bubble and brought it down with a crash? Because the might of his pen crushed such filthy fronts as the Silver Shirts, the America First Committee, The German American Bund, and other organizations who were trying their darndest to replace Old Glory with a Japanatzi flag? Because he "discovered" the Ink Spots, and likes the way Billy Eckstine toys with a halad? Because during World Hell No. 2 he ENLISTED in the Navy and ASKED for active sea duty—and he a family man? Because he once tried to cement strained relations between the Army and Navy by donating $50,000 to Army relief—and he a naval officer? Because he has no love for Westbrook PIGler—who has no love for anyone? Because he thinks Rochester is one of America's funnier comics? Because he is one hundred per cent American?

THEATRE — NITE SPOTS

A PIG TALE . . .

Jonathan Boliver Puff, it appears
Lived on a farm for a number of years,
Toiling with timothy, turnips and such,
Never succeeding in anything much —
Selling one harvest, failing to save
Seed for another. (He afterwards gave
More for the seed than his crops had brought,
For Jonathan B. was allergic to thought.)
There came to his shaby old shanty one day
A long-winded slicker having this to say:
"See here Mr. Puff, I'm Percival Deene—
Workingman's friend, if you get what I mean.
Having been told of your honesty,
I'm willing to let you come in with me
On a deal for making a lot of dough—
A swine-raising deal—that's Hogs, you know."
"I own," he went on, "a wonderful sow.
She'll make us a fortune. Listen now:
You take her and feed her and care for her,
Tend to her litters, and believe me, Sir—
That Cow's a prolific producer of pigs!
You can easily provide such thingamajigs
As pens and troughs, I reckon. Look—
We'll go fifty-fifty, and YOU keep the book!"
With a tacit "Well," Mr. Puff agreed,
And signed some things he didn't read.
Deene went away with a hidden grin.
A hog was brought out and put in a pen.
Puff fed it well for a month or two,
Then figuring the pigs were overdue,
He learned, after squinting through his specs,
That the hog was not of the proper sex.
And meanwhile, Deene awaited a day
When again he'd visit Mr. Puff and say:
"Now look here, you! Say, couldn't you see
This hog you accepted wasn't a she?"
Ha! Dumb old Puff! 'Twould be easy to make Him think it was he who'd made the mistake.
As slick as a fall from the well known log!
He'd found him a sucker to fatten his hog.
But by and by Mr. Puff sent a note
To his partner Deene, and here's what he wrote:
"At last i wint over that doccymint
And allsó that gintelman sow you sint.
The former allows, in parrygraff 9,
That ½ of the latter, whereas, is mine.
So pleas to kum out 1st chanc you git
An claim yore ½—my ½ is done et."

PORTRAIT OF A MAN PECKIN' AT A PORTABLE: Erskine Hawkins is due in town for a stint at the Million $ theatre. Good news for Hawkins fans, of which I'm one . . . Aside To Martin Gould: I swore I'd starve before I'd become a newspaperman, and I've been doing both ever since! . . . No truth to the rumor of a riff between Emma and Joe Adams. Wags would have you believe that they're this far apart, when in reality they're thisclose. . . . Artie Graves, the sportsman, is back in town and gave us this advice his first nite home: "It's all right to drink like a fish, if you drink what a fish drinks!" . . . Speakin' of advice, EAGLE Managing Editor, John M. (for mean) Lee once consoled us with this shrewd counsel: "Make 'em think you have money. If they think you're broke, they'll cross the streets to avoid seeing you. If they think you're loaded with dough, they'll smile and say 'how are you?' and shake your hand even when they hear you have leprosy!" He, of course, was speaking of "FRIENDS!"

THE OTHER TWO IN THE AYEM a group of us newspapermen were sittin' around discussin' the anatomical structures of feminine bodies. Lawrence LaMarr, President of the Negro Press Bureau, stated solemnly: "Gip, everyone is in your corner, why don't you try keeping saner hours?" I reached for a Lucky instead of a sweet, and seriously replied: "Glad people are in my corner. Because I'm in peoples' corner! However, should I get sick tomorrow (or go to jail), those same people who stand around street corners diagnosing my case won't even take time out to send me a penny postcard or pay me a visit. I know. I was hospitalized for three years! And I've been in jail. There are some who contend I spend too much time guzzling giggle-water in the late spots; others say I'm living too hard and fast, but those same people who pat me on the back and say "take it easy, Gip," are merely softening up a spot to put a knife! If you have six dollars in the bank, you have six friends! You can always tell whether you're a success in this town. Your 'FRIENDS' begin patting you on the back—with a knife in each hand! When you're down and out, something always turns up—and it's usually the nose of your 'FRIENDS'! I know. I was in the hospital for three years, and the people I surmised would stand by me, didn't. Others I never even associated with, did. Life is like that, son. Whenever you put confidence in a person, it's usually the wrong person." The discussion on "friends" continued far into the early dawn, with LaMarr (who is really one of my most treasured acquaintances) asked: "Gip, don't you believe you have a REAL friend?" Sure, I replied, my only real friend is GOD!

OVERHEARD IN THE DOWNBEAT: "What kind of husband do you want?" . . . "First, he must be a man—after that I don't care!" . . . Florence Williams, who stenog's so efficiently for the Walter L. Gordon Law Firm, is the kind of girl you want your kid brother to grow up to marry. As sincere and sweet as an angel in heaven. . . . Bill Day, my favorite M.C., has a radio show coming up. It couldn't happen to a finer fello. There are only three great Negro MC's in the country (for my dough): Willie Bryant, Joe Adams and Bill Day. Day tops 'em all! And it's about time he got the breaks his talents deserve! . . . If the col'm isn't up to par this issue, blame it on our Sunday airplane ride with Arthur Adams, Joe Shipp and Jake Porter. Whew! Tell you about it next wk. Jake Porter remarked: "I'll never forget the first day I went up in a plane. I'll never forget the last day—same day!" . . . Howard the Barber has moved his chair from Browne's Barber Shoppe to The Turf, across the street. He wanted his friends to know.

Johnson Continues Search for Gal With Fiest Brown Frame

CHARLESTON, W. Va.—Buddy Johnson, young piano maestro of "Walk 'Em Rhythm" fame, takes his versatile orchestra into the hinterlands for another tour of one-night dance dates and "Fine Brown Frame" contests, which will tee off with an appearance at the Auditorium in this city on Saturday, July 31.

The latest Johnson road tour will include approximately five weeks of one-niters in the states of Virginia, West Virginia, Kentucky, Indiana, Illinois, Pennsylvania and Maryland.

The youthful maestro Johnson and his orchestra are due to return to New York early in September to make preparations for Buddy's concert debut at Carnegie Hall, which will highlight the introduction of two brilliant new Johnson compositions, his own "Piano Concerto" and the thrilling "Southland Suite" in six intricate movements.

DIZZY GILLESPIE opened with a bang Tuesday night at Paul Rubin's Cricket club.

DONEGAN'S BACK
(And the Million $'s Got Her!)

Dorothy Donegan is appearing in person this week at the Million dollar theatre on a bill with Red Engle. Miss Donegan, who is famous for her superb rendition of the classics and hot style piano playing, recently returned from San Francisco where she appeared at the Actors club.

Studio Tailor Feted in Grand Style on Birthday

Joe King, local tailor and style creator who works under contract at several of the major studios in Hollywood designing men's fashions, was feted with a surprise birthday party Monday night by his fiancee, Bernice Knowles.

Mr. King, who is also under personal contract as style designer for T-Bone Walker, Cab Calloway and some of Los Angeles' leading business and professional men, celebrated his birthday in grand style, being feted at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios with a dinner party, buffet style, and later being wined and dined by the famous be-bop trumpeter, Dizzy Gillespie.

Accompanying Mr. King on his gay round of the night spots was the EAGLE theatrical editor, JT Gipson, Jerome "Biscuit" Young, Clyde Wright, Mary Louise DeJoie, Arthur Donegan, Patricia Martin and Andy Robinson.

Red Cross Asks For Polio Aid

At the request of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, the nursing service department of the Los Angeles Red Cross chapter this week launched a campaign aimed to recruit 55 registered nurses to assist in the care of polio patients at General Hospital.

Nurses who can answer this plea for assistance at the understaffed hospital are asked to contact the Red Cross at FItzroy 5261, Ext. 68, for assignment in the poliomyelitis wards, it was announced by Miss M. Louise Floyd, nursing service director.

BYRON AND BEAU, the top dancing duo in local theatrical circles, are readying plans to begin an extensive cross-country theatre-nightclub tour. They have an act that's crowded with class!

Count Basie Has Two New Tunes That Sizzle!

NEW YORK — Count Basie, who has established a veritable rhythm "beachhead" on Broadway in his current engagement on stage of the Strand Theater, which is expected to run from six to nine weeks, is winning the plaudits of critics and the public alike for a pair of new arrangements he features in his stage presentation.

The new arrangements, both original compositions by the incomparable "Jump King," are "Ten of Hearts," the first movement from his own "Royal Suite," which he introduced at his recent Carnegie Hall concert, and "Basie Bongo," the latter an exciting Afro-Cuban jazz work that rocks with a new kind of Basie rhythm.

Featured soloists in the Basie arrangements are tenormen Buddy Tate and Paul Gonzales, trumpeters Harry Edison and Emmett Berry, trombonists George Matthews and Dickie Wells, and Basie at the piano.

So You Want to Lead a Band? Hawk Can't Get a Vacation!

NEW YORK CITY—The 20th Century Gabriel has long been looking forward to a much promised two week vacation from the bandstand. Hawk has just completed a strenuous four month tour of one nighters without a single day off and expressed the desire to come home and rest for two weeks. He instructed Gale Agency, his booking agents, to arrange his schedule.

But the life of a bandleader in the public eye is not as simple as all this. Erskine Hawkins' fans started to clamor for him to make an appearance at the Savoy Ballroom. The Hawk, long absent from the "Home of Happy Feet," had promised to fulfill an engagement at the popular ballroom as soon as he had some open time. Charles Buchanan, manager of the Savoy, reminded Erskine of his promise and the Hawk tried to beg off—claiming he needed this rest. Mr. Buchanan insisted that the Hawk come in because of this popular demand for his appearance.

A compromise was finally reached when they decided to split the difference and Hawkins would only take a one-week vacation and then come on in to the Savoy Ballroom for a limited engagement.

Can't Imagine What The Boys Drink Now

SACRAMENTO — Fractional gains in distilled spirits excise taxes and large increases in wine taxes imposed on May distributions were more than offset by decreases in beer taxes, resulting in a 5.1 per cent decline in overall revenues from alcoholic beverage taxes, when compared to the levies on distributions in May, 1947, according to figures released by William G. Bonelli, chairman of the State Board of Equalization. Assessments on May distributions of all alcoholic beverages combined amounted to $1,239,882, Bonelli stated.

A Horse Player's Dream

(Dedicated to Ellis, Fred, Louie and Earl)

He tried to get even like most of us do
When we're out for some fun at the track.
So he went for a bundle of stuff they call "moo"
With a bookie the mob knew as Mac.

His pals tried to stop him; they begged him to quit
But he scowled at them, saying, "Not me!
'Cause I've got a system I know's going to hit
For a landslide of real do-re-mi!"

In wild desperation he laid in a "grand"
On a long shot that paid 12 to 1.
He parleyed the roll on a skate called "Last Stand."
Now his bag full of dogh weighed a ton.

He broke every bookie and put them in hock
And his take at the tracks was immense.
The mob called him Midas, for gold was his stock—
He won milions through common horse sense.

This story reads lovely: I wish it could be
Just as true as the poem may seem.
But it's all the baloney. Yes, take it from me,
It's only a horse player's dream!

ON THE BOXING FRONT

Turkey Thompson, local heavyweight contender, is taking his training seriously up at Saper ranch, near Ventura. The Turk, whose boxing seems to mellow with age, is being trained by Georgie Jerome and is no win the best condition since his release from the Army. With a boxing date set aside for August 13 either with Joe Kahut or Enrico Bertola, the glove-slinging Turk toils diligently and runs 12 to 15 miles a day. He's minus what is commonly known as a bay window and is as trim and sleek as a miniature Atlas. Turkey Thompson will be a tough man to beat in the future. His punching is sharper. He hits like the proverbial mule and, believe it or not, he's as light on his feet as a ballet dancer. Personally, we hope The Turk stays up in the Ojai mountains with trainer Georgie Jerome and his entourage, if only for the fact that there must be something to that mountain air. It's made a new man out of Turk, and you can just say you saw it here first, but Turkey Thompson will some day be the heavyweight champion of the world! Go ahead, grin—they laughed when I said Jersey Joe Walcott would beat Joe Louis. (Oh, fevvensakes, I mean the FIRST time!)

WILSON vs. GRAZIANO

Joltin' Jackie Wilson, who looks good to me (meaning, of course, in a prize-fight ring) is hopeful of a crack at the chin of Rocky Graziano. Wilson rates a chance at the fiery little Brooklyn battler. He has fought the best and toughest in the game, and is always a crowd-pleaser. In my books, Jackie Wilson has always been "champ." One of the cleanest little boxers in the game, Jackie personifies a gentleman in and out of the squared circle, and has always been an asset to the boxing game. He's very sincere and reminds you of a miniature Joe Louis. Jackit confided to me over a New York cut steak dinner (that I paid for; which is probably the reason he confided to me) that he's seriously hankering for a bout wiht the Rock because "I think I can beat him!" (Wanna know something? I do, too!) Jackie Wilson is trained by a cannonball named Green and is now down to his best fighting weight, 150 pounds.

EYE INJURY

Johnny Johnson, who was rated a top featherweight contender prior to an eye injury suffered in his last bout with Luis Castillo, will be out of action for at least another six months. Johnson, who is managed by Eddie (Rochester) Anderson, and trained by G. Jerome, beat what is called the living daylights out of Mrs. Castillo's little boy Luis, and was on his way to an easy win when an old eye injury bopped up. His return to the ring will be welcome news.

Pro Stars At Wrigley Field Aug. 7

"A great game for a greast cause," is promised for Saturday afternoon, August 7, at Wrigley Field when the Los Angeles Police championship team plays at group of former major league all-stars before an expected crowd of 23,000 baseball fans.

Services of all the players, as well as professional umpires from the Pacific Coast baseball league, have been donated for the game, with all proceeds slated for the Lou Costello Jr. Youth Foundation, established last year on the Eastside by Bud Abbott and Lou Costello.

The police team, now both national police champions and holders of the Southern California semi-professional baseball championship, have never been beaten by a professional squad. Managed by Vic Penney, the law-and-order men will try to sustain that record when they compete against some of the finest ex-big league material available, assembled by co-managers Fred Haney, former skipper of the St. Louis Browns, and Harry (the Horse) Danning, ex-New York Giants' catcher.

Haney and Danning plan to use such outstanding talent as Babe Herman, home-run swatter; Tuck Stainback, Johnny Moore, Jigger Statz, etc. The police line-up will feature such able players as Ken Brondell, who is still property of the Giants; Ronnie Bryant, formerly with Seattle; Fred Cochrane, who played with Hollywood, and others. Umpires will be Lon Warneke, Danny Deever and Jack Powell.

In the short year since the Costello Jr. Foundation opened its doors at 3121 E. Olympic Blvd., it has enrolled over 10,000 underprivileged boys and girls and has been credited by the police for a remarkable drop in the area's juvenile delinquency rate. Among the Foundation's facilities are a spacious swimming pool, softball and baseball diamond, basketball court, hobby shop, radio room, photography shop, and a fully-equipped medical clinic.

Game tickets are now on sale at all Los Angeles Thrifty Drug Stores, as well as all Mutual Ticket Agencies, the So. Calif. Music Co., 737 S. Hill St., and at Wrigley Field.

Bolanos Wins Bout On Tko

Fighting with a cool style and looking every inch like a little champ, Enrique Bolanos took command of the situation Tuesday night in the Olympic ring from the opening gong and when the seventh round rolled around he had chalked up a well-earned TKO over a rugged eastern gent named Eddie Glosa.

Bolanos threw everything at Mr. Glosa but the stool he uses to park his anatomy between rounds. Glosa was a game battler as far as game battlers go, but Mr. Glosa didn't go far enough! For a couple of rounds he tried to run. But he couldn't hide.

Bolanos laid gloves all over Glosa's granite-like jaw for six rounds and nothing happened. He changed his attack in the seventh and decided to apply his power punches to Glosa's mid-section. Referee Frankie Van wisely halted the bout at 2:45 of the round.

Bolanos, a 1-3 choice, tipped the Fairbanks at 136½. Glosa weighed 138.

He Thought He Could Beat Joe But Mills Whipped Him in 15

Light heavyweight champion Gus Lesnevich wanted a crack at Joe Louis, so he went over to London to engage in what was to have been a "tune-up" bout with a young Englishman named Freddie Mills. This Mills proved to be a hard nut to crack and wrested the world light heavyweight crown from the head of Gus in a 15-round decision at White City Stadium Monday night.

It was the year's most stunning boxing upset, and Mills brought the crowd of 46,000 to its feet in the first round by opening gashes over both of Lesnevich's brows. Although Lesnevich received a guarantee of $280,000, his defeat cost him a shot at Joe Louis' crown, should the Brown Bomber decide to come out of retirement for a "last" defense.

Mills floored Gus twice in the tenth, for counts of 8 and 9.

Olympic Team Has Top U.S.C. Talent

Right at the top of the list in supplying athletic talent to the United States Olympic team is the University of Southern California.

Not only are there five Trojans on the track team, plus an additional post-graduate alumnus, but there is also S.C. talent on the men's and women's swimming teams and the water polo team.

Led by Coach Dean Cromwell, the men's track team includes on its roster these Trojans: Mel Patton, world record holder for 100 yards at 9.3s., in the 100 meters and 200-meter dashes and the 400-meter relay; Cliff Bourland, captain in 1943 and a former national champion at 440 yards, in the 200-meter dash; Robert Chambers, in the 800-meter run; Roland Sink in the 1500-meter run; and Wilbur (Moose) Thompson, co-captain of the 1946 S.C. team, in the shotput.

Open Letter to 'Boss' Scolds Sports Editor

Dear Mrs. Bass:

"I was very much surprised to find not one line about our good friend Willie Bean when I picked up your paper of the 22nd.

"I am the owner of a furniture store and have known Willie for quite a while, he being one of my customers. It is not because he happens to be one of customers that I have taken time out to go to bat for him, it is primarily because I had expected at least one of the liberal Negro papers to give him at least a couple of lines after his sensational knock-out in two rounds of one of the outstanding heavyweights in these parts.

"Willie being one of your own men and a good clean living Los Angeles boy who is slowly coming along to the front and whom the Daily News saw fit to print nearly a full column on Wednesday, July 21, by Johnny Allen also nearly two columns in the same issue by Gordon Macker, I thought it a shame that you fellows didn't see fit to give the boy at least some honorable mention.

"Please pass this on to some of the other newspapers who weer also asleep at the switch and let's try to give the little fellow a break once in a while.

Yours truly,
HARRY STROGER,
Sunshine Furn. Stores

(Editor's Note: Tuesday evening two writers from the EAGLE sports staff covered the Bean-McSwain bout, J. T. Gipson and Ellis Spears. They came back with a beautiful story praising the boxing, hitting and fighting ability of Willie Bean. So what happened? What usually happens when you have an important story? Gipson lost the copy en route to the print shop. The next time Willie Bean goes to bat, we'll go along with him!)

On The Football Front

Halfback Steve Bagarus and End Bob Shaw, outstanding Los Angeles Rams gridders who sat out the 1947 season with serious injuries, this week signed contracts for the 1948 campaign.

Bagarus, 178-pound scat-back and sentational pass catcher, bowed out of action in the Rams' second regular National League game when he received a fractured left leg in the Green Bay Packer clash.

Shaw, an outstanding end from Ohio State, who was being groomed to take over Jim Benton's spot at left end, received a fracture dvertebra in one of the Rams' exhibition games and was also lost for the season.

DOTS AND DASHES ON THE DONS: Quietest man in camp is Rookie Tackle Bernie Winkler from Texas Tech, who is the original taciturn Texan. Claims he can't get in any trouble that way. . . . Johnny Naumu, the Hawaiian halfback from U.S.C., has eight sisters and four brothers. . . . Len Ford, the six-foot-five end from Michigan, claims that Jim Still, Don rookie tailback from Georgia Tech, throws a ball just like Bob Chappius. . . . Chuck Fenenbock, the Dons' veteran halfback who played in the National League, claims Burr Baldwin will develop into as great an end as Don Hutson. . . . Gordon Berlin and Knox Ramsey are the two lonesomest guys in the Don training camp. Both got married just before reporting to the Dons and miss the little woman something awful.

ON THE TURF

By Geo. A. Ramsey

CALIENTE, Old Mexico — It took the veteran jockey Ray Christensen to keep Little Delph going to grab the main attraction last Sunday at Caliente. It was the Solano Beach handicap at six furlongs. Coming off the pace set by Straight On and Texas Son, Little Delph proved the gamest in the drive to score by a half length, paying in the mutuels $6.20 as second choice. The time was 1:11 3-5. In the secondary attraction, Top Tune managed to hold on and get the decision by a neck over Vettura, who made a gallant finish to be second. The winner paid $4.80. The daily double combination of Balaruc, winner of the second race, and Quick Jr., victor of the third, paid $24.20.

The quinela backers received $7.60 when the two choices finished one-two. It looked like everybody at the track had this winning combination, which accounted for the small payoff. With the opening of Del Mar, "Where the Surf Meets the Turf," General Manager C. Marty plans some big feature races at the border course. This Sunday the main event will be the Mariposa at six furlongs and bring the speed burners together for a purse of $1,200. The secondary attraction will be the Portola at one mile and 70 yards. Ten other races from sprints to distance will give the fans plenty of thrills and excitement.

With the real summer nights no wat hand the lovers of the hare and hound races are flocking to Caliente for this exciting sport. Large quinela payoffs and the fast action the fans get make this the most popular sport south of the border. General Manager William (Bill) Collier had the pleasure of having the famous Harry James and his wife (Betty Grable) his guest last Sunday night. The popular general manager showed them through the new modern kennels and new turf club. Del Mar opened Tuesday with one of the largest crowds in history for an opening day and it looks like this will be the biggest season since the little Saratoga of the west opened some years ago. Known best as "Where the Turf Meets the Surf" it is also known as vacation land. With the breeze of the blue Pacific cooling one after losing a bet, Eddie Read, director of publicity for Del Mar has really put the jewel box on the map for the last five years. Watch this paper for my column, "Horses to Watch." So long, see you at Del Mar!

Tom Keane

Tom Keane, outstanding quarterback from West Virginia university and brother of Jim Keane, famed Chicago Bear end, this week signed a 1948 contract with the Los Angeles Rams of the National Football League.

Keane, who stands six feet one inch and weighs 190 pounds, is the first rookie quarterback prospect inked by the Rams. He will vie with Bob Waterfield and Jim Hardy for the signal calling spot and may also be used at halfback.

Barney Ewell Wants To Be a Dancer!

Norward H. "Barney" Ewell, who became one of the great sprinters of all time at Penn State, is probably the mtos popular member of the U. S. Olympic team, so states a report out of London.

Barney is the fellow who beat Mel Patton in the Olympic trials at Evanston, where he equalled the world record for 100 meters. Ewell finished ahead of Patton and the pack in 10.2 seconds.

Ewell, who is 31 years old, hopes to become a tap dancer if he makes good in the Olympics.

BILL AND JOEL Jones, who own and operate the Jones Bros. Cleaners at 4161 S. Central ave. wil sponsor a teen-age football team this season. The youths will play other teams from various playgrounds.

LEE YOUNG, well-known drummer, is being sued for divorce by his pretty wife, Louise Franklin. The case goes to court this week and the EAGLE will carry the story in next week's edition.

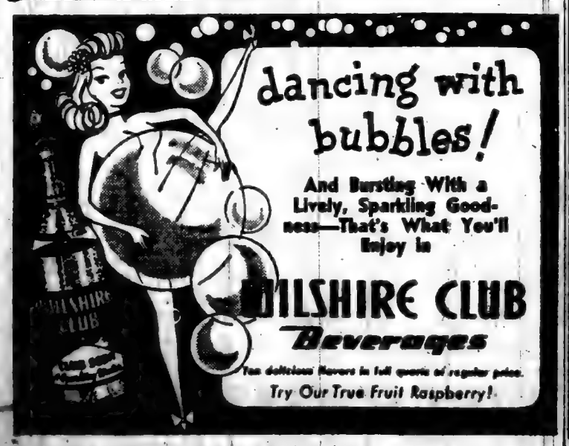
Is Paige Up to His Old Tricks?

NEW YORK—Leroy "Satchel" Paige, the fabulous Negro hurler recently signed with the Cleveland Indians, is apparently up to his old tricks again. Paige, in his last game out against the Boston Red Sox, in his two innings on the mound, issued two walks and forced the other five batters who faced him to fly out. But that isn't the "old tricks" we're speaking about.

The most widely publicized pitcher in Negro baseball failed to report at Yankee Stadium last Friday for a scheduled game because of a heavy downpour which washed out the contest. Paige stayed in his hotel room and manager Lou Boudreau slapped Paige with his first major league fine. The second fine of $50 came later when Paige missed the train to Boston.

During his hey day with the Kansas City Monarchs (or with any other team, for that matter) Paige usually traveled in a high-powered car or his private plane. If Paige didn't feel like pitching on a certain day, Paige didn't and wouldn't pitch. He's quite an eccentric character and at one time it is recalled Paige refused to play in a game because it was Friday the 13th. At another time he ate 12 hot dogs ten minutes before a scheduled game and went on to set a strike-out record that day!

He dislikes strict training schedules, and prefers to be his own boss. What his major league future holds for Paige is the $64 question. At any rate, he will still out-pitch any pitcher in baseball today.



For three innings, anyway!

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

Notice is hereby given that the Board of Education of the City of Los Angeles will receive bids for furnishing all labor and material for the following work:

FURNISHING AND INSTALLING OF LUBRICATING OIL STORAGE TANKS, EQUIPMENT AND PIPING AT THE BUSINESS DIVISION, WAREHOUSE SHOPS.

Dat of bid opening, August 12, 1948.

Each bid shall be in accordance with drawings, specifications and other contract documents now on file in the Building Branch of the Business Division of said Board, 1425 South San Pedro Street, Los Angeles. Prospective bidders may secure copies of said drawings and specifications at the office of said Building Branch.

Pursuant to the Labor Code of the State of California, the Board of Education has ascertained the general prevailing rate of per diem wages for each craft or type of workman needed to execute the contracts which will be awarded the successful bidders; and these prevailing rates are contained in said specifications adopted by the Board, and are as follows:

CLASSIFICATION

Foremen — All foremen not herein separately classified, shall be paid not less than 17½ cents per hour more than the hourly rate of the highest classification over which he has supervision as to the SIX BASIC TRADES; and not less than 12½ cents per hour as to the SUB-TRADES, more than the journeymen rate for the craft involved.

Apprentices — May be employed in conformity with Section 1777.5 of the California Labor Code.

Riggers—Same wage scale as craft to which rigging is incidental.

Welders—Same wage scale as craft to which welding is incidental.

CLASSIFICATION	Hourly Wage Rate
CEMENT FINISHERS:
Cement Finisher	$1.975
LABORERS:
Laborers, General or Construction	1.35
OPERATING ENGINEERS:
Concrete Mixer Operator—Skip Type	1.775
Universal Equipment Operator (Shovel, Dragline, Derrick, Derrick-Barge, Clamshell or Crane)	2.10
PLUMBERS AND FITTERS:
Plumber—Foreman	2.50
Plumber—Gas or Lawn Sprinkler Fitter	2.25
ELECTRICIANS:
Electrician	2.25
CARPENTERS:
Carpenter	1.90

The rates of per diem wages for each of the various classifications of work shall be the hereinbefore set forth prevailing rates of hourly wages multiplied by eight (8). Eight (8) hours shall constitute a day's work; it being understood that in the event that workmen are employed less than eight (8) hours per day, the per diem wages shall be deemed to be that fraction of the per diem wages herein established that the number of hours of employment bears to eight (8) hours.

WORKING RULES

1. Where a single shift is worked, eight (8) consecutive hours between 7 A.M. and 5 P.M. shall constitute a day's work at straight time for all workers.
2. Forty (40) hours between Monday 7 A.M. and Friday 5 P.M. shall constitute a week's work at straight time.
3. All work performed in excess of eight (8) hours per day or forty (40) hours per week or on Holidays and Sundays shall be paid for at the rate for overtime of the craft involved.
4. Holidays as herein referred to shall be deemed to be New Year's Day, Decoration Day, Independence Day, Labor Day, Armistice Day, Thanksgiving Day and Christmas. If any of the above holidays fall on Sunday, the Monday following shall be considered a legal holiday.

It shall be mandatory upon the contractor to whom a contract is awarded, and upon all subcontractors under him to pay not less than said general prevailing rates of per diem wages to all workmen employed in the execution of the contract.

Notice is also hereby given that all bidders may submit with their bids, a sworn statement of their financial responsibility, technical ability and experience. Such sworn statement may be required to be furnished before award is made to any particular bidder.

Each bid shall be made out on forms to be obtained at said Building Branch of the Board of Education; must be accompanied by a certified or cashier's check or bidder's bond (issued by a surety company accredited by the Board of Education) for not less than Five Per Cent (5%) of the amount of the bid, made payable to the order of the Board of Education of the City of Los Angeles; shall be sealed and filed with the Purchasing Agent of the Board of Education Room 200, 1425 South San Pedro Street, on or before 2:00 P.M. on the dates shown above and will be opened and read aloud in public at, or about, said time and in the public hall, second floor, of the above address.

The above-mentioned check or bidder's bond shall be given as a guarantee that the bidder will enter into contract if awarded the work, or any part thereof, and will be declared forfeited if the successful bidder refuses to enter into contract after being requested to do so by the Board of Education.

The successful bidders will be required to furnish labor and material bonds in an amount equal to 75% of the contract price, and faithful performance bonds in an amount equal to 100% of the contract price, said bonds to be secured by a surety company or surety companies satisfactory to the Board of Education.

The Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids, and/or waive any informality on a bid. No bidder may withdraw his bid for a period of sixty (60) days after the date set for the opening thereof.

By order of the Board of Education of the City of Los Angeles.

Dated: Los Angeles, California, July 27, 1948.

A. S. NIBECKER, JR., Business Manager and Architect.

Longden Voted Best Jockey

When Johnny Longden's victory on Golden Count in the eighth race rang down the curtain on Hollywood Park's ninth meeting last Saturday, dominating the season in the opinion of the turf writers who covered it day by day from the press box was the familiar triple-threat combination of On Trust, Jockey Johnny Longden and Trainer Willie Molter, according to the results of a writers' poll tabulated today.

Longden's unanimous selection as best jockey of the meeting was no surprise in view of his sensational 105 wins in 46 days of riding during the 50-day season. Solidarity was also a unanimous choice, being voted best three-year-old of the meeting, principally on his consistency and his victory in the $50,000 Westerner, which was formerly known as the Holywood Derby.

On Trust was chosen the best handicap horse of the Hollypark season, but had a close finish to nose out Minstrel Boy, a steadily improving speedster who won five straight, for "horse of the meeting" honors.

Final figures showed a total attendance of 1,394,525 for a daily average of 27,890.

Final Hollywood Park jockey standings follow:

JOCKEY	Mts.	1st.	2nd	3rd	Pct.	EARNINGS

Steel Is Cheeper Than Termites

Widespread damage incurred by building owners in Southern California through termites and other pests to the understructure of homes can now be reduced by the use of steel floor joists. When compared with other conventional methods, the cost of steel floor joists is now within the means of every individual home builder.

Air Pollution But No Solution—Yet

Scientists from three universities were called upon this week by Dr. Louis C. McCabe, county Air Pollution Control Director, to aid in solving some specialized phases of the smog problem which confronts Los Angeles and other areas of Los Angeles County.

"Because of the widely varied industries in the County, unusual air pollution questions arise here, and the Board of Supervisors is seeking the latest scientific knowledge to aid us in their solution," Dr. McCabe said.

Sleep or Smoke Bud, Make Up Your Mind!

The possibility of starting a fire with a carelessly handled cigarette is multiplied many times when the user chooses to smoke in bed. Should he fall asleep or drop sparks into bed clothing, suffocation or serious burns frequently occur before the victim regains consciousness.

There is no safe method of smoking in bed—the wise smoker wil make it a strict rule never to do so.

National Guard to Get Pistol Training During Encampment

Qualification of troops in firing of weapons—ranging from .45 calibre pistols to 155 mm. howitzers—will be a primary training objective of the 40th Infantry Division when it engages in its first regular post-war training encampment, Aug. 1-15, according to Lt. Col. Warren E. Benoit, operations officer.

The National Guard outfit, which has a record-breaking membership of 7,600 men, will train at Camp San Luis Obispo for the first time since outbreak of World War II.

Veterans Board To Offer More Bonds

The California Veterans Board considered at a meeting in Santa Cruz, Friday and Saturday, July 23 and 24, a resolution requesting the sale of $25,000,000 in bonds for the continued financing of the California Veterans Farm and Home Purchase Plan.

Although a bond sale was held in Sacramento on June 22 for a $10,000,000 block, the tremendous increase in volume during the last 90 days has made it necessary to make plans for another sale in the near future.

Childrens Hospital Tour Bares Need of Funds To Parent Council Member

Olympia Council was well represented this week, when about fifty members, including representatives of the various units comprising the council were conducted through the Children's Hospital, a Community Chest agency in Los Angeles.

As service to childhood and youth is at all times the chief concern of Parent-Teacher groups, the purpose of this visit was to attain a better understanding of the problems involving an institution of this kind.

After viewing all departments, so many of them vastly overcrowded, it was explained how through the rehabilitation program children respond, and from actually seeing the children occupying themselves with useful and creative work, proved the fact that a happy content child will get well much more quickly.

Much interest was indicated in the therapeutical work being done following polio cases. Visitors were also shown how the swimming plunge plays an important part in corrective measures.

Classrooms where the oBard of Education supplies teachers for children unable to leave the hospital, but who are able to receive some instruction, were viewed.

The vast amount of money needed to carry on this great program and give to these children, the advantages of all medical research, left no doubt in the minds of the visiting group that they must work with increased vigilance during the coming campaign when again funds for the continuation of this important work will be needed.

The tour was arranged by Tenth District P.T.A. with Mrs. William F. Weisheit as chairman of Community Chest.

Mrs. E. J. Stephens is president of Olympia Council, and Mrs. L. Kiter is council Chest chairman.

Recorder Of Deeds To Address 4-H Club

Dr. Marshall L. Shepard, Recorder of Deeds for the District of Columbia, will be the principal speaker at the first Southwide 4-H Club Encampment, August 24-31, at Southern university, Baton Rouge, La.

Announcement of Dr. Shepard's scheduled appearance on the encampment program was made this week by Acting Director of Extension Service Walter H. Conway.

In line with the encampment theme—creating better homes today for a more responsible citizenship tomorrow—Dr. Shepard will talk on leadership and citizenship. His address is scheduled for August 30 as the climax to the seven day camp.

S. B. W. May a Pioneer Realtor In a Community of Pioneers

The rich history of Los Angeles is replete with facts and lore about the pioneers who came here to visit and see and who stayed to build and grow with the community. Records, though they may be complete so far as they go, do not always give an account of these pioneers, who make their contributions in selfless silence. Such a person is S. B. W. May who has recently returned to Los Angeles from an extended trip to the Southeast and the Northwest.

Mr. May, one of the leading Real Estate Brokers in Los Angeles, has operated his business here since 1919. He is the owner of extensive acreage in Fontana, where he has developed the district in the vicinity of Alder Street and Base Line Road, and he owns considerable property in this city. His is an old and respected business that specializes (in addition to Real Estate) in insurance and property loans.

An inveterate traveller, Mr. May made touring trips to Mexico in 1944 and 1946. He has a fondness for Mexico City that is evidenced by the two trips he has made there, and he has visited Guadalajara, Mexico, three times. During his 1946 trip south of the border, Mr. May developed an attachment for Chihuahua, a quaint Mexican village that is known throughout the world because of the dogs that bear its name.

During his recent trip, Mr. May talked with persons he met on busses and trains, sounding out sentiment on the political trend. He gives the consensus of what the people in this country and in Mexico are thinking when he says they are civil rights conscious, and they will not vote for anyone who does not stand clearly for a guarantee of those rights. Sentiment, he points out, is against Governor Dewey.

The pioneer spirit has been passed from Mr. May to his daughter Ruth who operates the Mode O'Day dress shop on Central Avenue. Hers is the oldest dress shop operated by a Negro woman in the city.

There is a quality of seasoned mellowness about S. B. W. May, a quality that marks him as a man who has travelled and observed. He noted on the trip recently concluded that people in all parts of the country are planning to come to California. This, he believes, is a good thing because there is room here, and there is a need for alert, forward-moving people to strengthen the foundation laid by the pioneers.

In Oklahoma, Mr. May spent considerable time with his sisters, Mrs. Barbara Humphrey of Chandler, and Mrs. Willie Fegans of Tulsa. Mrs. Fegans, by the way, is the mother of Leonard Fegans of Los Angeles. From there he went to Denver, Colorado to visit his brother, C. W. T. May. Leisurely, he travelled to such places as Salt Lake City, Idaho Falls, then up north to Seattle, and finally across the border to Vancouver, B.C. and Victoria, Canada. He has endless notes on things he has seen, and on the things people have said to him about national and world affairs. He will tell you frequently, that people of all races are concerned about Civil Rights, and that they are going to do something about it this time.

In his office at 1252 West Jefferson Boulevard, S. B. W. May has records of the great number of properties he has handled and sold in the years since 1919. You easily get the impression that he is a man of quiet efficiency—a true pioneer with the unconquerable spirit of the community he has helped develop and build.

Shriners Urge Education Aid

BUFFALO, N. Y.—Declaring that no race or nation can succeed unless all of the people are educated, and that leadership must stem from education, Raymond E. Jackson, Imperial Potentate of the Ancient Egyptian Arabic Order Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, pointed out the appalling lack of proper educational facilities for colored Americans in the Southern states. Shriners were called upon to exert their influence in seeing that educational standards all over the nation were raised and that proper laws were passed governing the training and hiring of qualified teaching personnel, at decent salaries.

He made this statement in a discussion of the several national and local problems coming before the Shriners in their 47th Annual Imperial Council convention August 15-20 in St. Louis, Missouri.

Sgt. Moore Serving With The 8th Army

Staff Sergeant Thomas W. Moore, son of Mrs. Elsie B. Moore of 538 S. Central Ave., Los Angeles, has recently left Company D, 24th Infantry, now stationed at Camp Gifu, Japan, for return to the United States for discharge from the Army. The 24th Infantry is a part of the 25th Infantry (Tropic Lightning) Division, commanded by Brigadier General Everett F. Brown.

S/Sgt. Moore entered the Army in April 1941 and received his basic training at Fort Custer, Michigan. He departed for overseas duty in August 1947 and since his arrival in Japan was assigned to the 24th Infantry Regiment.

Before entering the service S/Sgt. Moore attended Booker T. Washington High School.

Southern California Edison Honors Long Time Employee

HUGH T. LOWERY retired from the Southern California Edison Company as chef and messenger for the executive department, after twenty-six years of service, on Monday, July 19. At an informal gathering, with Vice President Lane D. Webber presiding, at 3 p.m., around seventy-five employes, including the president, Mr. William C. Mullendore, several vice presidents, officials, and employes of the executive department, and many employes from different departments met in the executive department to extend "Lowery" their very best wishes for the future. Mr. Webber included complimentary remarks about "Lowery" nad his years o ffaithful service in the company and, in behalf of Lowery's many Edison friends, presented him with a very liberal cash purse and a scroll containg over 120 names, signatures of the members of the board of directors, officials of the company, and employes who have known him. Although eligible for pension in December, 1945, Lowery continued in the service of the company until December 27, 1946, when, because of his health, he was given sick leave with regular pay (including the general payroll increases established since that date). Now Lowery retires as an Edison employe on the pension payroll with mdeical and hospital care the rest of his life.

In 1920 Lowery was introduced to the Edison Company by the late Mr. John B. Miller, chairman of the board of directors, whom Lowery met in 1910 while serving as steward at the original Pasadena County Club, located in what is now the city of San Marino, California. This was the leading club of Pasadena and Southern Californi asociety. It wa shere that Lowery made wonderful records with both the women and men members for the 4½ years that he served them at their luncheons and bridge parties, dinners and stags. The Pasadena Country Club was the mother club of the Midwick Country Club which came into existence in 1924. As sson as Mr. Miller became president of Midwick, he at once engaged Lowery as chief steward and closed the Pasadena Country Club. In was at these two clubs that Lowery came into close contact with the great society folks of Southern California and the entire United States.

Lowery entered the Edison Company after 4½ years as a dining car waiter of the Southern Pacific Railway, at Mr. Miller's recommendation and to do anything he might request, which was a pleasure and which paid handsome dividends during the lifetime of Mr. Miller. Although unknown to all Edison employes, Lowery knew most of the directors. Upon leaving the company only one of these directors remains on the board and there are only two members remaining of the original executive department. The company's offices were then located in the Million Dollar Theater Building at Third and Broadway, known as the Edison Building.

Lowery had the pleasure, during Mr. life, of going with him and his party in 1924 to Edison territory above Fresno for a 2-week fishing trip at Huntington Lake. In 1929 he had a 7-week trip as chef on Mr. Miller's yacht to the British Islands and acted as special chef on Mr. Miller's yacht on weekends to Santa Barbara, San Diego, and Catalina.

Lowery's only hobby has been cooking, and in 1927 he entered the fruit cake business with a few Edison employes. This business flourished and extended throughout Southern California and the United States and as far as Manila. In 1940 the business included the preparation and sale of over 700 pounds of both dark and golden cake. After Mr. Miller's death Lowery handled only company business and a few outside catering affairs.

Lowery has seen the passing of two presidents and a great change in the board of directors, but his position was never disturbed until ill health overcame him. During his time in the Edison organization he has received his portion of Edison benefits, including sick time and medical service. With the exception of the time taken for leave of absence while away on the British Islands trip, he has never lost a full day of pay.

In 1945 Lowery became a member of the Edison Diamond Club, in which no employe can enter until he has completed twenty-five years of continuous service. The Club presently has a membership of over 800, and a stag meeting of the group is held every six months. A t the last meeting there were ninety new members and more than four hundred sat down for dinner.

In Lowery's own words: "I have only the greatest respect for such a wonderful organization as the Southern California Edison Company. Long may it live!"

In the very near future Lowery will return to Seth B. Ray Realty office with which he has been associated since 1938.

Platoon Sgt. Harris Overseas In Japan

Technical Sergeant Lovel S. Harris, son of Mrs. Alice Jones of 2245 W. 31st St., Los Angeles, is a member of the 24th Infantry, now stationed at Gifu, Japan. The 24th Infantry is a part of the 25th Infantry (Tropic Lightning) Division, commanded by Brigadier General Everett E. Brown.

T/Sgt. Harris is a Platoon Sergeant in Hq. 2nd Bn., and during a recent range firing he qualified as sharpshooter with the carbine.

T/Sgt. Harris entered the Army in February 1946 and received his basic training at Fort Huachuca, Arizona. He departed for overseas duty in January 1944 and upon arrival in Japan was assigned to the 24th Infantry.

Before entering the service T/Sgt. Harris attended Booker T. Washington High School.

"Little Civil Rights" Order Issued By President Truman

WASHINGTON—President Truman has decreed new measures to bar discrimination in the armed forces and in the Federal government. He announced his decision on Monday night.

From henceforth, he said, it will be his policy that "there shall be aquality of treatment and opportunity for all persons in the armed services without regard to race, color, religion, or national origin." He also ordered an absolute ban on any racial, religious, or other discrimination among civilian employes of the Federal government.

As far as the armed forces are concerned, the President provided for a seven-man committee to study current rules and practices, and to recommend what should be done.

To carry out his wishes for government civilian employes, the President called for the appointment of a fair employment officer n each department and a fair employment board within the Civil Service Commission.

But the President's good intentions toward minority groups were immediately assailed as being "palpably political." The Southerners in Washington declared his policy was "a deliberate attempt again to slap the people of the South."

Southern Senators and Congressmen claim the Negroes already have equality in the armed forces and in the Federal government. They argue, however, that forcing Negroes to serve their country in different units from their white brothers, is not showing discrimination. They have the same opportunities, the same food, the same clothing, as the white troops have. They are segregated, yes, they admit, but not discriminated against.

Negro leaders, however, regard segregation as discrimination. A. Philip Randolph, head of the AFL Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters, has announced that he will urge Negroes to refuse to register for the new draft unless segregation is ended. A 15-member delegation of Negro leaders called into conference by Defense Secretary James Forrestal last April, refused to advise him on Negro affairs "until segregation is eliminated."

Secretary of the Army Kenneth C. Royall has consistently refused to take any action towards eliminating segregation. He takes his stand on the Gillem Board report, which states that Negro manpower could best be used through separate batteries and companies. Neither Royall nor the Army press relations officer had any comment to make on the President's order.

Meanwhile the comments of political expediency buzzed loud and long. Rankin, of Mississippi termed the President's action a "terrible blunder," and said he was sure it would intensify opposition to Truman in the South.

Senatro Richard B. Russell, of eGorgia, who was the Southenr candidate for president at the Democratic national convention, said the "armed service order is a frantic effort to beguile Wallace's Negro support back into his fold, and springs from the realization that if he undertook to enforce the draft act on civil disobedience advocates he would lose the few Negroes remaining loyal to him."

The Progressive Party, headed by Henry Wallace, has come out unequivocally for the total abolition of segregation in the armed forces. It is one of the main planks in the new party's platform. It is thought that the leaders of that party will condemn President Truman for not ordering a complete ban on segregation at once, instead of asking for a committee to "study the situation." Other liberal groups have for a long time demanded the end of segregation of troops on a racial basis, and they, too, will likely wonder why the delay.

President Truman did not define what he meant by "equality of treatment." Nor did he fix the time when the "President's Committee on Equality of Treatment and Opportunity in the Armed Services" is to report. He said it would continue in existence, and keep on working, until it was "no longer needed."

Said Republican Senator Kenneth S. Wherry, of Nebraska, "The President knows he can't pass a civil rights bill, so he's making these gestures to get the Negro vote. If not," he added, "why wait until now to set up those commissions?"

Non-Partisan Action On Vital Legislation Planned

Representative community leadership met at the Woodlawn Branch YWCA at the call of Assemblyman Augustus Hawkins in a truly non-partisan spirit last Friday night and adopted a resolution and a program pointed toward full citizenship and immediate responsive action from Congress. Despite some disagreement on the final paragraph of a resolution to be sent to all presidential candidates and leaders of the House and the Senate, all of the representatives present praised Assemblyman Hawkins for his devotion to the public interest as shown by his calling the meeting, and all but one of them pledged their support to the program as outlined and discussed.

The single exception was Carl Johnson, president of the 62nd District Young Republicans, who disagreed with the language in one part of the resolution, and who left the meeting following the defeat of his motion to amend, announcing that he could not "go along."

A four-item agenda and a five-point statement of issues was the business of the conference. It was agreed to seek non-partisan action on Civil Rights, an FEPC, housing, based on the Taft-Ellender-Wagner bill and an improved FHA, price control legislation and Federal aid to education. The group, made up of leaders and representatives of the Democratic party, the Republican party and the new Wallace Progressive Party pledged itself to work within the parties for the success of these measures, and to come together for the purpose of evaluating the degree of success and to counsel and advise.

Primary concentration is to be on the special session of Congress which opened at the call of President Truman this week, and on the conferences of all parties which will be held in Sacramento beginning at 10 a. m. on the morning of August 7. Eight Fraternal, Social and Civic organizations are expected to send delegates to the Sacramento conferences. The promise of action within these organizations came after Assemblyman Hawkins in his capacity as chairman said:

"We are worse than our forefathers in slavery time if we don't make a motion in our own party for FEPC, housing, Civil Rights and Price Control."

Rev. Williams was elected chairman of a committee of nine persons who will act to carry out the approved program. Beulah Terry is secretary of the committee, and Dr. Cobb is the treasurer. It was decided to call the Group The Conference of Negro Leaders On Vital Legislation.

Hawkins emphasized that the group is non-partisan, and of a temporary nature. He joined with other leaders present in requesting that letters and telegrams be sent to the special session of Congress demanding action now on the measures included as planks in all of the party platforms, and he pointed out that the program of the conference is one upon which everyone can agree. (The resolution adopted at the meeting is printed in full in this issue of the California Eagle).

Women are divided into two main classes — those who don't believe everything their husbands tell them and those who haven't any husbands.

15000 - TESTIMONIALS

"My object in publishing this statement," says Dr. Chas. A. Tyrrell, M.D., "is to point out the true cause of disease, together with the means for its prevention and cure, and that, too, by a simple and inexpensive method of hygienic treatment, which has proved eminently successful in tens of thousands of cases, which is perfectly harmless and natural in its action, and absolutely free from even the suspicion of a drug. An imacted colon is a prolific hotbed for the wholesale breeding of disease germs, microbes—those organisms which science has demostrated to be the cause of many phases of disease, or rather, the toxins (poisons) they produce, cause disease."

"The most rational and practical manner of dealing with this . . . breeding place of disease is to wash it out. With me, it has passed beyond the theoretic stage, for I have in my office fully 15,000 letters from grateful patients who have used this process, under my directions, with the most astounding results, scarcely a disease known to humanity but has been relieved, and in ninety-five per cent of the cases, cures effected, while tens of thousands of gratifying messages have reached me from time to time; nor is the testimony in its favor confined to the laity, for hundreds of physicians (including some of the most prominent authorities) testify to the wonderful beneficial results achieved by its use."

Residents of Los Angeles County are fortunate in having doctors available who practice the above technic. If suffering visit any one of the following offices, where competent doctors, D.C., operating independently, specializing in colon technic, will thoroughly examine, diagnose, and give trial treatment, all for only $3.00. Treatment at offices only. Consultation free without obligation. No medicine or drugs. 8:00 a.m. to 8:00 p.m.

$3,000 DOWN—Five bedrooms, 2-story frame. A very good house. Buy it for $12,500.
$9,500 DOWN—You will have to see this 3-story house to realize the beauty it holds. Believe me it cannot be adequately described here. $26,500.
$5,500 DOWN—A stucco dream; near Crenshaw; 6 rooms, 2 bedrooms, breakfast room, dining room, living room and tiled kitchen. What a deal and a large lot with side drive; $12,500.
CLEANING STORE—Corner location doing very good business. Look at this, 3 pressing machines, a Cissel sleever, a new Christman puff set including a shoulder machine, sleever and a topper, plus a steam iron. More equipment than in most plants and all for only $4,500 with possible terms. I own the place and would not sell it for twice the price if it was not for the fact that my doctor has ordered me to take it easy. I hav a long-standing case of spastic colitis, which is a nervous condition, and overwork makes it worse, therefore it is imperative that I take a forced vacation. If you're looking for a good business, this is it. But hurry. The first best offer takes it. See it at 2300 W. Jefferson. COURTESY TO ALL BROKERS.

Former Jefferson High School Track Star Sets New Record In Olympic Games Even

NAT "KING" COLE and his new bride, the former Marie Ellington, told an Eagle reporter Tuesday that he intends to move into his newly puichased home in fashionable Hancock Park despite protests from members of the Hancock Park Property Owners Association to keep the famous couple out.

King Cole Determined to Move Into Newly Purchased Home

Nat "King" Cole is good enough to sing for everybody, but the popular leader of the world famous King Cole trio isn't good enough to live where he chooses. This was learned last week when the man, whose recording of "Nature Boy" zoomed far past the one million record-sales mark, purchased a luxurious estate in fashionable Hancock Park only to be the target for protests hurled at him by members of the Hancock Park Property Owners Association.

When it was discovered that the ivy-covered English style red brick home at 401 Muirfield road had been purchased by the singer at a reported price of $75,000, the property owners association, headed by attorney Andrew J. Copp, presented Cole with an affidavit pointing out that homes in the section were covered by covenants restricting ownership to anyone not belonging to the Caucasian race.

At an interview in the Cole suite at the Watkins hotel, Tuesday, Cole told an Eagle reporter that he intends to stand on his constitutional rights to live wherever he

Dorothy Thompson calls For War

Using as a premise for an attack on all the forces in our government and nation working towards the establishment of peace, Dorothy Thompson in her regular Daily News column last Tuesday, used this quotation from a report to UNECO by eight social scientists: "The problem of peace is the problem of keeping group and national tensions within manageable proportions."

She then accused what she saw fit to call the Wallace convention of being Communist dominated. And that it wanted civil war to break our eternal power and force our withdrawal from Europe and Asia.

The banners at the Shibe Park meeting in Philadelphia, July 24, she said, carried slogans as :End Jim Crow." "Peace, Security and Freedom." "Full Friendship with Israel."

None of these, she contends, appeals to the class struggle, but rather to the racial struggle, with identification established between minority racial groups and social classes.

Evidently irked by the presence of so many Negroes holding dignified positions in the Progressive Party they had never held before in either the Republican or Democratic parties, Mrs. Thompson observed that such changes in the political life of Negroes would call for a new uprising of the Klan with the ugliest visage in years. And more anti-Negro feeling in the North, an more suppressed anti-Semitism in the nation than has ever been known.

The great campaigns against social discrimination

Reports on IPP Nat'l Convention

Reports directly from the recent national convention of the Progressive Party will be presented at a meeting of the 65th A.D. Club, Friday, July 30 at 8 p.m. at the West Ebell Club, 1717 West 47 Street.

Margie Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. Spencer Peel and Neal Pettibone, delegates tto the national convention from the 15th Congressional District, will present highlights of the Philadelphia meeting. A registrar will be present to register new voters and to re-register voters into the New Party. Also on the program will be an exciting film. Admission is free and everyone is welcome.

Volunteers Needed For Agency Service

Men and women who wish to volunteer their time and services to youth groups, hospitals, and clinics should apply at the Los Angeles Volunteer Bureau, 733 S. Figueroa St.

There is a great need for clerical help in these agencies at the present time, but there are also places for those who would like to share their hobbies. If you are unable to give a few hours a week at an agency, there are typing and phoning jobs that can be done at home.

Campaign To Aid Retarded Children

The Interracial Society for the Development of Maladjusted, Retarded Children is making an intensive drive to secure funds for the establishment of a resident and day school for retarded children of all races. Appalled at the lack of facilities in Los Angeles for the development of retarded children, the organization is striving to care for at least twenty-five of these unfortunate youngsters who cannot be absorbed in the city's public school system and for whom city, county and state agencies claim they are unable to find a place in private schools.

Interracial in scope, the organization is aware of the urgent need for a resident school to care for these (retarded or maladjusted) youngsters at an age when they can be easily trained along lines best fitted to make them capable of earning a livelihood in later life and thus lift

"THE BIGGEST THRILL in my life," is what attractive Betty Whitfield Wilson told an EAGLE reporter yesterday when asked how it felt to be the sister of an Olympic Games champion. Mal won the 800-meter Olympic Games championship in the record-breaking time of 1:49.2. (See Story.)

NAACP Membership Drive Opens September 12 at Independent

The annual membership drive of the Los Angeles branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People will be launched at a mammoth kickoff meeting at the People's Independent Church of Christ, 18th and Paloma, on Sunday afternoon, September 12, at 3:30 p.m.

The city has been divided into 10 districts, each one headed by an outstanding leader in that community. These persons, working together with the three co-chairmen, Mrs. Gertrude Hicks, Rev. M. Frederick Mitchell and Dr. H. Claude Hudson, will help to spearhead the drive. The goal this year is for 25,000 members. The entire community is asked to help make this the biggest drive in the history of the NAACP.

Speakers and other parts of the program for the kick-off meeting will be announced at a later date.

Henry Wallace Condemns Leaders; Headlines for Fear Indictment of Communist

(An Editorial)

Henry A. Wallace, candidate for president on the Progressive Party ticket, in a bold and courageous statement, condemned the recent arrests of the leaders of the Communist Party as being a movement from which the American people have more to fear than from the tearhing of an ideology different from the standard American way of life.

"The indictments are an attempt to promote new fears," he says. And notes that violence in the United States and in other countries has generally been committed "by the very people who would suppress the free speech of Communists and other groups with whom they disagree."

The statement follows:

I have been asked for a statement on the indictment of the leaders of the Communist Party. Although the information about the indictments is limited, there are certain obvious conclusions an American who believes in civil liberties must reach:

1. We Americans have far more to fear from these actions which are intended to suppress political freedom

Roach Wins Fight For Playhouse In Watts Area

Confirmation of Supervisor Leonard J. Roach's successful fight to carry out plans for a community house at Will Rogers Park adequate to the "needs of the community of Watts and a very large segement of the population of Los Angeles" was received from his office this week.

Roach's successful defense of the rights of the people of Watts and sister communities came during Board of Supervisors action to approve a standardized building plan for County parks.

The eight buildings to be constructed are single auditorium type having about 8,000 square

Whitfield Sets Olympic Games Track Record in 800-Meter Run

OLYMPIC STADIUM, WEMBLEY, England—Streaking the cinder path like a jet-propelled rocket, Mal Whitfield, f Jefferson High school track star, this week won the 800- Olympic Games championship in the record-breaking tir 1:49.2. The race was run in a light drizzle.

Whitfield took the lead near the end of the first lap of the 400-meter track, beating out Arthur Wint of Jamaica who finished second ahead of Marcel Hansenne, the French middle-distance streak, who had been expected to give Mal his hardest push. Bob Chambers, of Los Angeles, finished sixth.

Whitfield, an Army Air Force sergeant stationed at Lockbourne Field, Columbus, beat the greatest field ever to run in the event in the Games.

Mal graduated from Jefferson in the class of June, 1943. He won the all-city 880 in his senior year at Jeff in 1:59.30. Now a sophomore at Ohio State university, Whitfield ran in the Coliseum relays here in May when

King Defense Committee Directs Appeal To Governor

OAKLAND—Hursel Alexander, co-chairman of the Wiley King Defense Committee, appealed this week to the people of America for a flood of letters and telegrams to California's Gov. Earl Warren, demanding that he deny the extradition of Wiley King to certain death in Mississippi.

"Governor Warren must be made aware that the eyes of the entire nation are focussed on his action in this case," Alexander declared. "That is the only guarantee that King's life will be saved."

Warren will act on the extradition request of Mississippi's Gov. Fielding Wright, vice-presidential candidate of the Dixicrats, within the near future, after studying evidence submitted at a hearing in Sacramento last Tuesday.

Representatives of more than 200,000 California citizens appeared before Warren's clemency secretary, James Welsh, Tuesday and testified that the 45-year-old Oakland Negro grocer has been an asset to his community, both here and in Memphis, Tenn., for 21 years subsequent to his "escape" from a Mississippi labor camp in 1927.

Governor Warren, the Republican vice-presidential candidate, was told by 40 prominent California church, civic, labor and political leaders that to grant the extradition would mean sending King to his death at the hands of the small band of Dixicrats who openly flout the Bill of Rights.

A legal brief and affidavit submitted by Oakland attorney Robert E. Treuhaft contended that King was sentenced to life in prison for a self-defense slaying without due process of law in February, 1926. The trial in Walthall County circuit court lasted 10 minutes. King was not represented by an attorney. He had no jury and was not advised of his legal rights.

Treuhaft argued that Mississippi has not attempted to disprove King's story and has not proved that a pardon was not granted in 1927. In his affidavit King said he paid $250 to a prison guard to "cover costs" of a pardon and even left his sister's name and address so that papers could be mailed to her.

For 21 years no effort was made by Mississippi to apprehend the quiet-mannered small businessman, although he was employed duuring the war by the Navy and was fingerprinted. King was arrested June 23 by Oakland police following a routine fingerprint check-up on a junk dealer's application. He is still in the Oakland city jail.

Oakland's Mayor Joseph E. Smith, elected to office in 1947 with the support of organized labor, has asked Governor Warren to deny the extradition request "if investigation shows that King was denied due process of law" at his original trial.

THE TIME TO ACT IS IN NOVEMBER, THE PLACE IS IN THE ELECTION BOOTH.

Former Senator Faces Prison; Awaits Appeal

DETROIT—Charles Diggs, Detroit leading undertaker, and former Michigan State Senator will know his fate next month—whether he will or will not have to serve a prison sentence for his recent bribe-case conviction.

The United States Supreme Court in a decision handed down Monday stayed the proceeding to allow opportunity for appeal for the former U. S. senator.

Diggs' lawyer, Attorney Lloyd K. Loomis, was given until September 27 to file his appeal.

The execution of the four to five years imposed on Diggs will be held up pending the results of the case.

Diggs was convicted in 1945 with former Senator Jerry Loggie, of Bay City, of accepting $150 bride in the 1941 legislature session to help kill a bill by which the State hoped to collect more revenue from parimutuel betting at the Detroit Race Track.

The indictment against Diggs was issued by the Carr-Sigler grand jury.

The conviction was upheld by the State Supreme Court early this year.

It is expected that Diggs' attorney will charge that he did not have a fair trial because no non-whites were drawn on the Ingham County jury panel despite the fact that Lansing has a fair-size Colored population.

Picket Line Saturday For Civil Rights

This week is "Tell It to Washington Week," and on Saturday (Aug. 7) at noon a picket line will walk in front of the Federal Building in a demonstration symbolic of the mass request being made to President Truman to drop the indictments against the twelve Communists who were arrested several weeks ago.

All persons who are aware of the manipulations used by Hitler while he prepared for the advent of his fascist state are urged to write, wire and phone President Truman and Attorney General Tom Clark against the indictments in a statement issued by the Los Angeles Civil Rights Congress which was unanimously adopted by representatives of 45 organizations.

Goodness is a special kind of truth and beauty. It is truth and beauty in human behavior. —H. A. Overstreet.

Henry Wallace Condemns Indictment of Communist Leaders

than from the teaching of ideas with which we are in disagreement.

I understand that the Grand Jury which returned the indictments has been engaged in its investigation for more than a year. It is significant to me that after this prolonged investigation the indictments make no charge of the commission of acts of force and violence. They are limited to a charge that these men teach such a doctrine. This is not a new allegation. J. Edgar Hoover has made it before, yet I recall that Hoover, quite rightly, opposed the very objective the indictments seek to accomplish—the objective of outlawing the Communist Party.

2. It is interesting and highly significant that these Red scares over the past two or three years have been timed to silence opposition to new turns in the bi-party get tough foreign policy. Millions of Americans have indicated their displeasure at the refusal of the bipartisans to enter into real negotiations with the Russians, looking to a peaceful settlement of existing differences.

The indictments are, I feel, an attempt to promote new fears. They are another in a series of diversions created for Americans who are complaining about mounting inflation, the stupid bungling in Berlin, and other problems. Both the Administration and the bipartisans in Congress make allegations to make headlines, make headlines to make fear, and make fear to stay in power.

The important thing for democratic Americans is to recognize this practice and defend with all their energy the rights of others to speak freely, no matter how much they may disagree with the points of view of those they defend.

3. While I favor strong action against any individual who commits violence, it has been by observation that violence in the United States, as indeed in other countries, has been generally committed by the very people who would suppress the free speech of Communists and other groups with whom they disagree. When we look at noncommunist countries with millions of communist voters, we are shocked that there are politicians in our rich, powerful democracy who feel so insecure that they are led to suppress the political freedom of a relative handful of American communists.

4. Defense of the civil rights of communists is the first line in the defense of the liberties of a democratic people. The history of Germany, Italy, Japan and Franco Spain should teach us that the suppression of the communists is but the first step in an assault on the democratic rights of labor, national, racial and political minorities, and all those who oppose the policies of the government in power.

5. I am confident that the courts will eventually find unconstitutional the Smith Act under which the indictments are handed down to the extent that it makes unlawful the advocacy of any doctrine by peaceful means, unaccompanied by a clear and present danger to established government. I think that such an application of the Smith Act clearly violates the First Amendment and infringes the American right of free speech. Meanwhile, the bipartisans will play up the indictments and hearings and trials to promote fear. The present situation makes it essential for the Administration to create fear through a continued series of crises. We can expect further Red scares and attacks on other minority groups with charges that their views are hostile to the government. I, personally, have great hostility for many present practices of the Administration and the old parties. I fully expect continued attempts to attack the New Party with all manenr of false and inflammatory allegations. The New Party will continue to carry on the fight in defense of the constitutional liberties of all the American people.

Civil Rights Congress Leads Peoples Crusade to Washington

A call for a nation-wide "crusade" to Washington, D. C., on August 5 in a campaign to "make the special session of Congress yours" was issued yesterday by the Civil Rights Congress to hundreds of labor, religious, community and fraternal organizations, it was announced by George Marshall, chairman of the board; William L. Patterson, executive secretary, and Len Goldsmith, national director.

Urging delegations from every major state and city to make the session "a battleground for civil rights," the Civil Rights Congress stated the demonstrants in Washington would crusade for a program calling for repeal of the Taft-Hartley Law; defeat of the Mundt-Nixon Bill; elimination of the President's "loyalty" oath; outlawing of the Ku Klux Klan; passage of the anti-poll tax and anti-lynch legislation; creation of a permanent FEPC and dismissal of the indictments against Communist Party leaders.

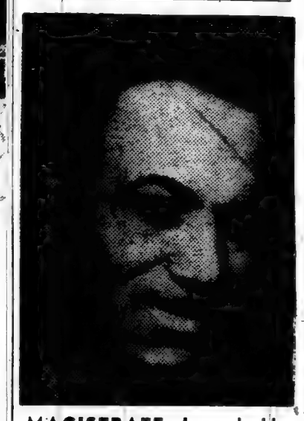
Referring to the recent arrests of these leaders, the Civil Rights Congress, which supplied the bail bonds for their release, stated that more than one Supreme Court decision had declared the Communist Party a legal American political party which had not "advocated force and violence." It charged that "both parties use the red-scare to hide their betrayal of the people, their bankruptcy and their shamelessness," and warned that this is the "tactics of Mussolini and Hitler."

This Is Dangerous but They Do It Every Time

Electrical circuits are designed for specific purposes. The usual home circuit can safely supply as many appliances as there are outlets.

However, when double or multiple sockets and additional appliances are connected to a single circuit, that circuit may overload and develop heat, which in turn breaks down insulation and frequently leads to fire.

CIO Public Workers Aid Civil Rights



WASHINGTON, D. C.—Thomas Richardson, chairman of the United Public Workers of America, CIO, Anti-Discrimination Commission, stated this week that the Executive Order on Fair Employment Practices in Federal Agencies "is a step forward for democracy, long overdue."

The Union, one of the initiating organizations in the campaign to secure the Order, revealed that it had discrimination cases ready and waiting for the new Fair Employment Board. The United Public Workers said that its locals in the various Federal agencies would carefully police the administration of the order to insure complete compliance.

Low Budgets Effect Even The Military

Because of budgetary limitations, only about 5,534 officers and men of the 40th Infantry Division's 6,553-man strength will participate in the National Guard outfit's first regular postwar summer training encampment, beginning Aug. 1 at Camp Luis Obispo.

Maj. Gen. D. H. Hudelson, who commands the Southern California division, said about 5,134 men entrained for camp last aSturday night and early Sunday morning. About 400 men traveled by truck. About 135 cooks departed last Wednesday for San Luis Obispo where they will attend a school prior to arrival of the Division.

MAGISTRATE Joseph H. Rainey, president of the Philadelphia NAACP, former State Athletics Commissioner, and candidate for Congress on the Progressive Party ticket was one of the speakers at the mammoth Shibe Park Rally where Henry A. Wallace accepted the nomination to run for president on the Progressive ticket. Rainey is a grandson of the first Negro Congressman, Joseph H. Rainey, who was elected from South Carolina. Magistrate Rainey showed his fighting spirit when he went to a Philadelphia police court and demanded the release of a Progressive Party adherent, and though he was roughed up by a burly policeman, he stood his ground.

in the United States, and the tendency of minority groups to identify the national interest with their own, are not mitigating but exacerbating tension.

"For where racial or religious sympathies or antipathies are concerned, the forces engaged are emotional and irrational, with roots twisted all through the unconscious mind and capable, therefore, of producing the most explosive reactions."

Discrimination is a phase of human nature but not confined to any group.

In other words, the Daily News writer warns that any effort on the part of Negroes or other minorities will be met with violence.

"The racial problem," further observes Dorothy Thompson,, "of such a heterogeneous nation as ours cannot be "solved" except by gradually expanling tolerance over great periods of time.

Be patient, is the advice that has been given Negroes approaching the century mark. Why should you ask for the abolishment of lynching, the poll tax, Jim Crow in the Army and Navy, segregation, and discrimination in public places? That is the question Dorothy Thompson puts to 15,000,000 American Negroes.

She accuses Henry Wallace and The Progressive Party of inciting Negroes and all minorities to riot in one breath, and in another tells them that any struggle to end Jim Crow and achieve peace, security, and the freedom guaranteed to them by the Constitution will be met with violence. I presume she means from the Klan, the Parnell-Thomas-Rankin inspired un-American Committee, and the Dixicrats.

Mrs. Thompson, if there were no such individual as Henry Wallace, there would nevertheless be a Progressive Party or movement, and a demand from the minorities for equal justice.

And may I say that these minorities are not demanding what they have not worked for. Negro-Americans fertilized the soil with their sweat in the making of this nation, struck the first blow for freedom from British tyranny with their blood. But the tears they shed in a plea for their own freedom have run dry.

There is nothing greater than fear, than fear itself, said Franklin Delano Roosevelt. No, Dorothy Thompson, the Negro is no longer afraid to demand his rights. He will join hands with other minorities, and march to freedom under the banner carried by Henry Wallace.

Blood For Israel Contributions Grow

Blood For Israel Headquarters at 604 S. Normandy announces through its chairman, Mrs. Edward Meltzer, that more than 2500 pints of blood have been contributed thus far, and that because of the Wednesday evening policy of remaining open until 9 p. m., it is expected that the total will increase greatly in the next few weeks. Because of the success of the Wednesday evening opening, it is planned to add other evening sessions in the near future.

Mrs. Mary Ramo, executive director of the bank, dispatched an emergency shipment of plasma by plane last week for immediate use. It was announced by Stanley Slotkin, coordination director, that over two hundred Los Angeles business firms have donated furniture, linen and linen service, medical supplies, stationery, etc., to keep the Blood For Israel Headquarters functioning with full efficiency.

Hahn Supported In Program to Divert Freeway

On July 12th Councilman Hahn introduced a resolution in the City Council asking that the State Highway Commission and the City Engineer of Los Angeles construct the gigantic Harbor Freeway along the Pacific Electric right-of-way instead of between Broadway and Figueroa where thousands of homes would have to be moved.

Councilman Hahn received communications from members of the Legislature indicating that if necessary his brother, Assemblyman Gordon Hahn from the 66th District, will carry the battle to change the location of the Harbor Freeway to the Assembly Chambers at Sacramento next January. Senator Fred H. Kraft from San Diego, one of many who wrote on the matter, stated, "I join with you in condemning this action (the Harbor Freeway going through thousands of homes) and would like to assure you that I applaud your stand in this matter. Only vigorous actions by active public servants such as yourself can stop this kind of procedure. Believe me, I am with you."

Disabliity Claims Higher During July

An increase in State disability insurance benefits are noted during July when $419.552 of the greater Los Angeles district total disbursement of $655.180 was paid to 9.552 workers in the Los Angeles area who were temporarily unable to work due to non-occupational illness or injury. William R. Dougherty, manager of the Los Angeles disability insurance office of the Department of Employment announced this week.

During the previous month a total of $360.194 was paid to Los Angeles workers.

Sears Roebuck Pickets Halted By Injunction

Superior Judge Clarence M. Hanson has issued an order restraining mass picketing and interference with the business of Sears Roebuck and Company, Santa Monica, against the United Committee To End Job Discrimination at Sears. The injunction is in effect pending a hearing to be held on August 13, and it was issued following arguments by lawyers for Sears Roebuck that the picketing represented a conspiracy to wreck its business.

The complaint also set forth that placards carried by the pickets are misleading and that charges of discrimination made against the company are false. The company points out that it employs 11 Negroes out of 240 employees. The 11 Negroes are working in categories such as janitors and attendants, and as a spokesman for the United Committee, the picket line and action against the company grew out of attempts by Negroes to be hired as clerks and in positions other than janitors and attendants.

It is reported that an official of the company told a Negro that Negroes should be glad to get jobs as janitors since they were slaves just a short while ago. It is this policy of refusing to hire Negroes as clerks that brought into existence the United Committee, and the Friday night picket lines.

Progressive Victory Will End Jim Crow, Director Says

"Only with a victory for the newly-formed Progressive Party in November will Jim Crow and segregation be driven forever from national life," Elinor Kahn, State Director of the Independent Progressive Party of California, said last week while welcoming President Truman's executive order against segregation in the Federal Civil Service and armed forces.

"The new Progressive Party will fight for equality for all Americans," Miss Kahn said, "and while we justifiably take much credit for this first step of President Truman's we are not satisfied with this single Executive Order.

"The Progressive Party calls on all individuals and organizations interested in the enactment of real anti-poll tax, anti-lynching and FEPC legislation to intensify pressure on this special session of Congress.

"Millions of progressive Americans represented at the historic weekend convention turn today with renewed inspiration and vigor in their support of Henry A. Wallace and Senator Glen H. Taylor. A victory for the new party is possible this November. As Mr. Wallace said we've started to roll and we're going to keep on rolling."

Three Groups Plan Free Fruit Juices For European Kids

Three American organizations have joined to start a great supply of health-giving fruit juices flowing to the vitamin-starved children of Europe.

They are CARE, the non-profit, government-approved service for food and clothing aid to friends and relatives abroad; the Save the Children Federation, a CARE member agency with a magnificent record of achievement overseas; and the Texsum Citrus Exchange.

Here is the plan: From now until October, every three tins of Texsum grape-fruit juice purchased by American and Canadian housewives will send one additional tin to youngsters abroad. The Citrus Exchange will consigne these free tins to CARE, and the Save the Children Federation, because of its experience in the field and its knowledge of where the need is greatest, will undertake the distribution.

Golden State Mutual Invests Half Million in U. S. Securities

Golden State Mutual Insurance Company now holds close to one million dollars in Government securities, it was announced this week following the recent purchase by the company of an approximate half million dollars worth of series 'F' United States Savings Bonds. Holdings in this series by Golden State are now worth $793,000.

In addition to these holdings, the company has purchased securities in some of America's largest industries, indicating a steadily increasing influence being exerted by Negro-owned Insurance Companies in the economic structure of the nation.

Among the bond holdings in the company's portfolio are the issues of the following companies: American Telephone and Telegraph, Bethlehem Steel, Westinghouse Electric, The May Company, Sears-Roebuck, Philco and American Steel Foundries.

Included among the utility holdings are issues of Boston Edison, Texas Power and Light, Wisconsin Electric Power, Detroit Edison, and numerous other power and light company firms.

Broadway Federal Savings and Loan Association of Los Angeles, the Dallas Federal Savings and Loan Association, the Houston First Federal Savings and Loan Association, the Liberty Savings and Loan Association of Los Angeles are among the highly selective group of Federal savings and Loan Asociation in which Golden State Mutual has made investments. Investments are made with regard for safety of the principal and an adequate yield. A portion of the investment profits are returned to the policyholders in the form of diviends.

Don't Go Shopping When You're Hungry

NEW YORK, N. Y.—Even with inflated prices food bills can be reduced by using psychology in buying, according to T. Swann Harding, of the United States Department of Agriculture.

To help combat high prices, Harding suggests four buying rules. First, never shop when you're hungry. That's when everything you see looks good and you're tempted to buy more than you actually require. Second, curb impulse buying. A recent business survey disclosed that three out of four shoppers buy at least one item on impulse, and most women will admit that they buy many things without real need for them. The third rule Harding sets is list what you want to buy before you shop, and stick to the list as closely as possible.

Noted Lecturer Speaks Sunday On World Peace

Corliss Lamont, world-famous author, lecturer and authority on Sovitt Russia, will be the honored guest at a reception given by the American Russian Institute of Southern California this Sunday afternoon, August 8th, between 3:30 and 5:00 P. M. at the lakefront garden of the home of screenwriter Howard Koch, 9918 Toluca Lake Avenue, North Hollywood.

Recently arrived in California, Mr. Lamont will speak on "Russia and World Peace," a subject that has taken priority in the headlines and in the concern of every American. Just what are the chances for an amicable understanding with the Soviet Union? What can be done to slow down and halt the frightening momentum of the cold war between the East and the West?

For further information, contact the offices of the American Russian Institute, 6618¼ Sunset Blvd., GRanite 4179.

NAACP Groups Urge Action For Cloture

All branches of the NAACP have been reguested by Walter White, executive secretary, to urge the public to send telegrams to their Senators insisting on a continuous session or a vote for cloture. Mr. White points out that some Senators are reluctant to vote for cloture, but there is no established precedent forbidding it. The recent filibuster conducted by Senators Langer and Taylor against the Selective Service Bill was broken by continuous Senate sessions.

The California Senators to be contacted are: William F. Knowland and Sheridan Downey, Senate Office Building, Washington, D. C. Unless the filibuster is broken, it is not likely that there will be any action taken on Civil Rights legislation for a long time to come.

Wallace Calls Truman's Orders "Belated" Milquetoast Gesture

(ED NOTE: Following is Henry Wallace's statement on President Truman's executive orders on discrimination in the Federal Service of the Armed Forces):

Mr. Truman's nightmares over the rapid growth of the Progressive Party have forced him to face the issue of discrimination, but once again he has made only an empty gesture. He has written into executive order the language of the South. e talks glibly of "equal treatment" and "equal opportunity," dodges always used to avoid action, but fails utterly to attack the heart of the matter—segregation. The President's order on equality of treatment in the armed services says nothing, promises nothing, does nothing—and leaves segregation intact.

He appoints another commission to investigate discrimination in the armed forces with no time limit set for action and no promise that its recommendations will be binding. Since Captain Robert Berry, Defense Secretary Forrestal's aide, has already announced that "there is no discrimination in the armed forces," it is obvious that the present gesture will only delay any honest grappling with one of the nation's greatest problems.

His belated effort to establish an FEPC in government service issued on the eve of his politically created special session is another obvious political gesture and a milquetpast one at that.

What slight action Mr. Truman has taken is an obvious result of the fact that the people of America know that the Progressive Party means what it says when it states that its on principle is to end segre in America.

Once again I challenge Truman and Mr. Dewey t bate with me—and to d with me in the South b non-segregated audiences

Banish Constipation

"Constipation is one of the greatest causes of disease, misery, inefficiency and premature senility, and should be most earnestly combatted," says Dr. Kellogg, M.D.

"Every case of constipation is curable, but not by means of any panacea. Each case must be studied and individual conditions must be dealt with in an intelligent and rational manner.

"A coated tongue, a sallow complexion, dark circles around the eyes, appearance of brown spots upon the hands or other parts (the so-called liver spots), offensive breath and perspiration, the discharge of foul-smelling gases from the bowels, putrid stools, a thin, inelastic, parchment-like skin, dullness of mind, mental irritability or depression without cause, cold hands and feet, chronic headache, arthritis, neuritis, rheumatism, asthma, panis around the heart—these and a score of other symptoms which might be mentioned are certain indications of chronic poisoning.

"A thorough cleansing of the colon, removing the cause, may prevent more serious conditions, tuch as hardening of the arteries, Bright's disease with albumen and casts in the urine or apoplexy with paralysis. Phenomenal results are obtained when the cause is removed.

Dr. Chas. 9. Tyrell, M.D., eminent physician, says: "The most rational and practical manner of dealing with this . . . breeding place of diseases, is to wash it out. With me, it has passed beyond the theoretic stage, for I have in my office fully 15,000 letters from grateful patients who have used this process, under my directions, with the most astounding results: scarcely a disease known to humanity but has been relieved, and in 95 per cent of the cases, cures effected, while tens of thousands of gratifying messages have reached me from time to time; nor is the testimony in its favor confined to the laity, for hundreds of physicians (including some of the most prominent authorities) testify to the wonderful beneficial results achfeved by its use."

Residents of Los Angeles County are fortunate in having doctors available who practice the above technic. If suffering, visit any one of the following offices where competent doctors, D.C., operating independently, specializing in colon technic, will thoroughly examine, diagnose, and give trial treatment, all for only $3.00. These offices are havens for those who suffer. Treatments at offices only. Consultation free without obligation. No medicine or drugs. 8 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Southern Hospitality Amazes Detective There on Business

BY ISAAC JONES

DETROIT — Many may agree that Macon, Georgia, is a good place to be from and a better place to stay way from—but the Southern hospitality shown Detective Ben Turpin, of the Hunt Street Station last week by the Macon Chief of Police, Glenn T. Watson, when he appeared in the Georgia city to return a prisoner to Detroit, took him by surprise. Detective Turpin now has a slightly different feeling about some of the many bad things tht people up North say about the South.

At least, Detective Turpin knows for himself, that there's good and bad to be found in the most sorrowful places, even in Georgia.

Detective Turpin related to this reporter as he sat at his desk in Hunt Street Station with his partner, Detective Marshall, how Chief of Police Watson of the Macon Police Department called in all of his men, including the four colored policemen and introduced them to him. Then the Macon chief said:

"The question has been raised about my colored officers arresting white folks; I have instructed them to arrest anyone who violates the law on their beat, so if the white folks don't want to be arrested by these colored policemen they had better stay out of their territory, or stay within the law, if they should have occasion to go into their districts."

The Macon police chief showed his southern hospitality in other ways. He wanted Detective Turpin to see the sights of his city. A police car was furnished and the chauffeur and host was a white detective of the Macon police force.

Detective Turpin looked across his desk at Detective Marshall, then turned to the writer.

"When I was ready to go to the station to start to Detroit, the chief furnished me a car and a driver. When we arrived at the depot, this officer hustled my luggage from the car like a red cap. All I can say is, there are some nice people of the other race in Macon, Georgia, because I was treated swell."

Detective Turpin made the trip to Georgia and returned Willie Russell, 2268 Jay street, who escaped to the above city after shooting his estranged wife, Lucinda Russell, a few weeks ago, when she refused to take him back.

The couple had been separaeed since April and were living in different rooms in the same house, with a divorce pending.

Russell was arraigned before Recorder's Judge Murphy last week, and is held under $1,000 bond.

Dreves Elected President Works Commission

Louis M. Dreves, prominent Los Angeles citizen and former U. S. government official, recently appointed by Mayor Bowron and confirmed by the City Council as member of the Los Angeles Board of Public Works, was chosen president of that important commission last Friday at the annual election of officers.

Dreves succeeds Frank Gillelen who has served as president of the Board of Public Works for the past four years. Gillelen, well known local civil engineer and a long-time prominent citizen of Los Angeles, continues to hold the post of commissioner of public works.

Seventh District Request Okayed

Councilman Don A. Allen advises that the following requests have been granted by the Board of Police Commissioners for the 7th District:

Repainting of a crosswalk at 37th St. and Maple Ave., request of Cordia A. Graves;

Establishing of a loading zone for the American Rug & Carpet Co., in front of 2917 Compton Ave.;

Prohibiting parking at any time on the S'ly. side of East 36th St., between Avalon Blvd. and San Pedro St.

The safety zone on Leimert Blvd. at Stocker Place has been relocated to better advantage for the streetcar riders.

A crosswalk at Santa Barbara and Woodlawn Avenue, requested by the Allena Corp. thru' Councilman Don A. Allen, has been ordered repainted.

The request of Cordia Graves, thru Councilman Allen, for traffic signals at Santa Barbara and Avalon Blvd. has been approved. proved.

A safety zone, requested by Roy Church, on Santa Barbara between Brighton Ave., and Western Ave. at each designated streetcar stops, has been approved.

Protect Your Child Before School Opens

If your child is starting school this fall, now is the time to get him immunized against diphtheria, Dr. George M. Uhl, city health officer, advised this week.

Dr. Uhl said that immunization should be first administered when the child reaches the age of six months, again at two years, and once more when he starts school.

Booster immunizations should be repeated every two years, until the child is ten, he said.

For parents who can not arrange to have their children immunized by their family doctors, Dr. Uhl suggested telephoning the health department at Michigan 5211, ext. 416 for information on the location and hours of city clinics.

Can You Locate Any Of Your Gold Here?

Los Angeles motorists received 371,021 traffic citations, representing more than $2,000,000 in self-imposed fines and forfeitures, during the first six months of this year, the Automobile Club of Southern California reports.

Approximately one-third of these citations were issued to violators of parking regulations, the Club said.

Non-observance of signal lights was the most common moving violation with 29 per cent o fall citations written for vehicle code infractions being given for this offense, it was pointed out. Speeding was next at 22 per cent.

Dr. Trillingham Accepts Post in College Drive

Dr. C. C. Trillingham, superintendent of schools of Los Angeles County, will serve as co-chairman with George Beavers, president of the Golden State Mutual Life Insurance Company, Abe Lastfogel of the William Morris Agency, Harpo Marx, Colonel Irwin W. Minger and Lawrence B. Wilson of the Liberty Savings and Loan Association, of the Los Angeles division of the United Negro College Fund drive.

In accepting the co-chairmanship Dr. Trillingham said: "The proper functioning of a democracy requires an educated people."

The fund drive is entering its last weeks locally, and volunteer workers will report this week on the progress being made. Contributions should be sent to 6612 Sunset Boulevard, Hollywood 28, California.

Newsmen Praise Howard Speech; "Best in Years"

NEW YORK—"The best keynote speech delivered at a major political convention in many years."

That's what New York newspapermen, speaking off the record, said about the address given by Charles Howard, Negro attorney, editor and former leading Iowa Republican, at the founding convention of the Progressive Party in Philadelphia.

Ten days after the convention, newspapermen and political observers were still talking about the hard-hitting charges and eloquent phrasing of Howard's keynote address in which he declared that "the plain fact that I stand here before you tonight defines our party. For the first time in my life, I am experiencing human dignity." (The text of Howard's speech was printed in last week's, July 29th, California Eagle).

Save Your Marriage With This Approach

NEW YORK, N. Y. — A new technique for saving marriages headed for divorce courts is recommended by James E. Barbee, noted marriage counselor.

Give your mate a "personality gift," advises Barbee in the August Journal of Living, and you stand a good chance of regaining your tottering love. "When husband and wife approach divorce or separation," says Barbee, "they are usually convinced that monstrous difficulties have driven them apart. Actually, the trouble usually starts with little annoying habits."

In thirty days, the most annoying, tension-producing faults will have been brought into the open and possibly eliminated. When the tension goes, so do the quarrels.

ROGER WILLIS, Scout Executive of the McKinley District, and who is the senior District Scout Executive of the Los Angeles Area Council, will be the guest speaker at the Men's Day Services at Grants Chapel this Sunday morning, August 8, at the 11 a.m. services. Mr. Willis, it is believed, is the first member of his race to hold the District Executive post.

Aged Suitor Charged With Girl's Murder

By ISAAC JONES

DETROIT—A man who took the law in his own hand and committed an unnecessary, brutal murder of his sweetheart, and seriously wounded her sister last August 15 has discovered too late that crime does not pay.

The subject is Ben Noel, alias Ben Nole, 59, 15550 Wabash avenue. He was returned to Detroit last week from Blytheville, Arkansas, where he has been living since shortly after the alleged crime was committed.

Police charge him with the fatal shooting of his estranged sweetheart, Georgia Lee Higgerson, 19, and the wounding of her sister, Anna Clay, 27, both of 15550 Wabash avenue.

Police said Noel gained entrance to the sisters' apartment by claiming that he wanted to pay Anna Clay the sum of $98 which he owed her.

A check by police reportedly revealed that Noel has a wife in Detroit, one in Elyria, Ohio and a number of scattered sweethearts.

Anna Clay, the second victim of his gun, has been in the hospital for almost a year.

White Newsmen Hit White Press On 'Rape' Reports

CHICAGO — Reporting what a group of the nation's leading white newsmen decided was wrong with their own newspapers, Mark Harris states in the September Negro Digest:

"These nine journalists admit a basic weakness in sloppy, careless, uninformed and sometimes uninformed treatment of racial and religious minorities."

These nine journalists, all white, were the seven men and two women selected as winners of the Nieman Fellowship, top journalist honor which grants a year's study at Harvard. In discussing the white press' treatment of Negroes they pulled no punches, Harris says.

"Rape," according to their report, "has been so distorted i nthe white press as to be synonymous with the word 'Negro.' The Chicago Herald-Tribune even inserted the picture of a Negro in the first paragraph of a rape story to mislead readers.

"This Negro," the report continues, "had actually shot a white man who was trying to rape a three-year-old colored girl."

The New York Daily News and the Hearst-owned International News Service also came in for the journalists' blasts. These papers use the word "ape" in juxtaposition with the word "Negro" in blanketing more than one-third of the nation's press, Harris declares.

Listed for recurring chicken-thief jokes about Negroes is the St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Race Riots Flare In Liverpool Dock Area

LIVERPOOL, England — Following two nights of scattered fighting, this city was rocked this week by a race riot that began early Monday evening and continued until early Tuesday morning. Police say there were many whites and Negroes hurt in "serious racial disturbances."

Tuesday morning, 69 men and women, many of them wearing bandages, were crowded into the courtroom here to face charges on rioting.

week at Philadelphia, announced today that its state convention will open at 10 a. m. Saturday, August 7, in the Memorial Auditorium, Sacramento.

Almost ten months ago, in the midst of the petition drive which resulted in the collection of 484,000 signatures and qualified the new state party for the ballot, IPP announced that it's convention would meet "behind open doors, open to the public and supporters."

That promise will be maintained. The announcement by the State Office today advised press and public that more than 2,000 seats will be available and that all business sessions of both the convention and state central committee will be open to spectators.

Saturday's state convention will name presidential electors for Henry A. Wallace and Senator Glen Taylor, Progressive Party candidates, and will adopt the state platform.

It was announced that the Platform Committee of the new party will hold open hearings in Sacramento at 10:30 a. m. Friday, August 6. Tentatively the hearing has been scheduled for Memorial Auditorium, but the place is subject to change. All statewide organizations wishing to appear before the platform committee are asked to advise the State Office so that they may be scheduled.

Youth Council, the Festival will be the cooperative effort of 20 young people's organizations in the Southeast area combining their efforts for the affair.

There will be music, specialty acts, and plenty of entertainment, with a capacity crowd expected, young Rickerson said.

Prizes will be awarded for the best contribution of participating groups, who will share the platform with leading professional entertainers, he declared.

"Now is the time to put a big red circle around a big gala Friday night, August 20," Rickerson added. Other officers of the Youth Health Council are Frank Kent, Jr., vice president, and Vera Mae Lee, secretary.

When some members of the Board said they would not agree to a variation from the standardized plan before them, Roach said he wanted facilities for his parks that would permit families to keep together in community recreation.

Red Cross Seeks Blood Donations

The Los Angeles Red Cross is seeking a minimum goal of 2500 pints of blood per month to fulfill requests from both civilian and Veterans Administration hospitals, and is utilizing its mobile blood bank equipment to spur the campaign.

Initiating the series of visits planned for the mobile blood bank in large industrial plants will be the "Blood Bank Day" arranged for August 6, when the Red Cross unit will be set up at the Ducommun Metals and Supply Company in Vernon. At this time, employees of this concern, along with voluntary donors from Acme Brewing Company and the American Can Company, will give blood when the "blood bank on wheels" visits there.

Another large-scale operation of the mobile unit is programmed for the afternoon of August 10, when Red Cross will receive donations of whole blood from employees of the National Broadcasting Company in Hollywood.

Fitzgerald and Paul Robeson, co-chairmen of the Progressive Party.

In addition to demanding "abolition of Jim Crow in the armed forces," the platform contains a detailed 350 word plank on freedom, all of it affecting American Negroes.

The Progressive Party freedom plank begins as follows:

"The Progressive Party condemns segregation and discrimination in all of its forms and in all places.

"We demand full equality for the Negro people, the Jewish people, Spanish-speaking Americans, Italian Americans, Japanese Americans, and all other nationality groups.

"We call for a Presidential proclamation ending segregation and all forms of discrimination in the armed services and Federal employment.

CHARLES P. HOWARD, attorney, and newspaperman, kept a rendezvous with history when he made the keynote address at the recent founding convention of the Progressive Party in Philadelphia. A prominent Republican leader for twenty-five years, Howard resigned his posts to support and work for the election of Henry Wallace to the presidency of the United States. History must record that Howard stood on the threshold as the century of the common man dawned, and experienced for minority people all over the world, the thrill and moral satisfaction of placing his hand on the forge that shaped the course of destiny.

National Leaders To Speak At Shriner's Convention

ST. LOUIS, Missouri — Addresses by nationally known leaders led by Dr. Mary McLeod Bethune, founder of Bethune-Cookman College, Daytona Beach, Florida, and former NYA direcotr; Dr. Roscoe C. Brown of the United States Medical Department, Washington, D. C., and Nelson C. Johnson, Urban League official, will highlight the 47th Imperial Council sessions of the Ancient Egyptian Arabic Order Nobles of the Mystic Shrine meeting here in Kiel Auditorium, August 15-20, according to Raymond E. Jackson, Imperial Potentate.

The delegates from more than 140 Temples in as many cities across the nation, the Daughters of Isis and representatives of other Prince Hall Masonic Bodies will also hear during the Public Welcoming Exercises Monday evening, August 16, Governor Phil M. Connelly and Mayor A. Kaufmann.

The convention will officially open Sunday night, August 15, with memorial services. Imperial High Priest and Prophet, Dr. Charles E. Stewart, New York City, will deliver the oration. Music during these services will be provided by the Marraoci Chanters of Detroit, Michigan, the Persian Temple Chanters of Indianapolis, Indiana, and the Bishop Howard Z. Plummer's Chanters from Portsmouth, Virginia.

The five-day convention will also include a Potentate's Ball, a full dress parade, a bathing beauty contest and Talent Pageant, and ornately garbed patrol drill contests.

he anchored the Buckeyes to an American record in the 3200-meter relay. Mal is the only man ever to win both the 400 and 800 meters in the final United States Olympic tryouts.

Mal was raised in Los Angeles by his sister and brother-in-law, Betty and Artilus D. Wilson.

Wondering how it feels to be the brother of an Olympic track games champion, I decided to pay a visit to the home of Whitfield's sister and find out for myself.

As I sat there in her cozy Westside apartment gazing at the loveliness of Mal's sister, Betty, I could see why Mal is such a great runner because fine legs run in the family.

"How does it feel?" we asked, by way of getting the conversation off to a merry start, "to be the sister of a World's Champion. "Mal has always been a champion to me," she said, "and his winning the 800-meter championship was the biggest thrill I've ever experienced in my life!"

Betty, who is a tall, attractive rather shy miss, spends her leisure creating and making hats. She has a shop in Hollywood, and is the former wife of Arthur D. Wilson, a member of the Los Angeles Police department the past 24 years.

She is proud of Mal. As all America must be, for "Big Whit" is truly a champion both on and off the cinderpath. Quiet, unassuming and engaged to a Columbus, Ohio, girl Mary Adams, Whitfield will go down in the Olympic Games history as the greatest 800-meter champion of all times!

chooses. A recent United States Supreme Court decision outlawed race restrictive covenants.

Attorney Harold C. Morton, another member of the Property owners' association, said he had offered to buy back the home from Cole, either personally or with other members of the group. Cole told reporters he had been offered an additional $25,000 as a bonus not to purchase the property. When Attorney Morton mentioned the fact that neighbors would resent a Negro moving into the district, Marvin Fisher, a music publisher, said "If any of the neighbors want to moev out of their homes because of Cole's presence, I'll buy the houses they move out of!"

When asked why he choose that particular district to move into, Cole said "Marie (Mrs. Cole and I looked all over for the type of home we wanted, and found it in Hancock Park. We could have purchased Mickey Rooney's home, but the property on Muirfield road was just what we wanted."

The property owners' association held a meeting to discuss the Cole case, and Attorney Morton telephoned Mort Ruby, Cole's road manager and complained, "How would YOU like it if you had to come out of your home and see a Negro walking down the street wearing a big wide hat, a zoot suit, lonk chain and yellow shoes?" This, of course, is just the opposite of how Cole dresses. He is known as one of the most conservative and best-dressed entertainers in the theatrical profession.

Following the meeting, Cole told reporters that in view of the fact that he is the main principal in the case he should have been called to sit in at the meeting and be given an opportunity to meet his neighbors face to face. He elaborated on the word "neighbors," as the famed leader of the top trio in the country, stated he had no desire whatever to relinquish his property.

The present occupant of the house has been threatened with death by phone calls and anonymous notes, and Monday night threats became so persistent he found it necessary to obtain police protection as he slept.

Despite these threats, and the agitated temper of the neighbors, Nat Cole said he purchased the home in an American community, he is an American, and he intends to live in his home.

theatre, and it is planned to begin mass picketing there, possibly later this week. Leaflets that point out that "every admission paid to see the picture encourages the making of more anti-democratic films," the leaflet asks prospective customers to "support democracy and stay outside."

Because of the ban on the showing of pro-Nazi films, and because the Un-American Activities Committee brought about the indirect indictment of 10 Hollywood screen writers who wrote scripts that showed minorities in a favorable light, indignation is running high in progressive circles over the official sanction being given subversion from the right in permitting this picture to slander the Negro people.

Organizations and individuals who are concerned about the protection afforded reaction when it presents itself in the guise of demeaning the American Negro are asked to send protest letters and to make protest phone calls to the Western Amusement Company.

Hearst and Boddy Reject New Vendors Request; No More Contract, No Union They Say

William Randolph Hearst, publisher of the Examiner and the Herald-Express, and Manchester Boddy, publisher of the part-time liberal Daily News, have told their newsvendors that of August 18, they will no longer recognize their union, they will not negotiate for higher wages, and that they will demand an election supervised by the National Labor Relations Board, although they know full well that such an election would probably be delayed for a year or more.

The present contract expires on August 18. On June 17 the News Vendors Union Local No. 75 (CIO) served that on August 18 they will request "cost of living" wage increases, and on July 13, both Hearst and Boddy replied that they will not recognize any contract after August 18.

months after the death of the husband and father, a mule and some pigs belonging to Mrs. Ingram strayed across the line onto the property farmed by John Ethron Stratford, the white neighbor. The mother set out to retrieve the wandering stock. Across the line she encountered Stratford, armed with a rifle and intent on killing the trespassing animals. Mrs. Ingram protested. An argument ensued. Words led to threats.

Carrying out his threat, Stratford set upon Mrs. Ingram striking her with the butt of his rifle and inflicting bloody wounds about her head and body. Seventeen-year-old Wallace and his 14-year-old brother, Sammie, rushed to the rescue of their mother. In the struggle, stratford was struck over the head with a hammer. The blow proved fatal.

Arrested and jailed, Mrs. Ingram and her two sons were held without bail for three months. On February 3, 1946, an all-white jury in a one-day trial found the Ingrams guilty of first-degree murder. They were sentenced to execution in the state prison at Reidsville on February 27.

Following the conviction, the NAACP entered the case, assisting in the care of the children during the emergency. When the Sheriff came to arrest her and hauled Mrs. Ingram off to jail, he also took the four oldest boys, leaving six smaller children in the care of an 11-year-old child.

On April 6, Judge William M. Harper, before whom the motion for a new trial had been argued, vacated his former sentence of death and handed down sentence of life imprisonment. He denied the motion for a new trial. Immediately NAACP lawyers prepared to appeal to the Supreme Court for a reversal of Judge Harper's decision and a new trial for the Ingrams. The case, if necessary, will be taken to the United States Supreme Court. And that's where you, Mr. and Mrs. Public, come in. Funds are needed to fight this case. It is for that reason the gigantic benefit-dance is being planned.

Truman's Wretched Performance

Birth is a time for rejoicing and millions of Americans last week drank a toast to the newly-founded Progressive Party.

Many a harrassed house-wife, digging deep into her pocketbook for the diminishing dollar to buy groceries, to pay the rent, welcomed the party. She sees it as a party of the Common Man.

Many a mother, heartsick that her teen age boy was preparing to go into the army, blessed the Wallace-Taylor ticket. She sees it as a party of peace.

Many a Negro, burning with indignation at his second class status, acclaimed the new party. He sees it as a party that meant democracy when it said it. He had just seen its vice-presidential candidate arrested in the South for defying Jimcrow practices.

President Truman observed the birth of the new party, too, believe it or not. He appeared before the special session of Congress the day after the Progressives ended their convention and allowed that he, too, was a champion of Negro rights, a veritable knight crusading against the high cost of living.

But he's fooling fewer and fewer people every time he opens his mouth. He certainly didn't fool Wall Street: it knows him for what he is. That sensitive barometer—the index of stock prices—rose immediately. "Sharply," the United Press put it. The directors of Wall Street should know: their men like Forrestal pack the cabinet, own both old parties. They okay the President's speeches.

Truman's program for reducing the cost of living, has, as you would expect from past performances, no teeth.

The tip-off on the President's intentions was evident in his failure to demand a roll-back on prices. His flimsy proposal for "standby" powers to ration "scarce goods," "if necessary," is ludicrous.

Prices aren't rising because of any scarcity. Why, the wheat grower sof the country announced such a bumper crop this week that they fear it may break the market. But the price of bread is still going up. There is no scarcity of steel even though the trust announced a $10 a ton price rise this week.

There is a meat scarcity, yes, but Truman steered clear of that one. If he got into that tangle, he would have to divulge the reasons for the artificial scarcity: the Marshall Plan exports and the hoarding by the big packing interests.

But the man who broke the railroad strike hasn't changed his stripes. He proposed a wage freeze in the event wages "might increase prices." But he knows very well the fabouously high dividends today do not arise from wage-increases.

Finally, and most illogically, Truman included universal military training in his anti-inflation plan. Actually, the billions being allotted for the war program is one of the principal reasons for the inflationary gallop today.

The hard fact is that both Truman's Party and the GOP are responsible for high prices today. The President began to scuttle OPA price controls in 1946. The GOP murdered OPA with the help of hundreds of Democrats in the House and Senate.

Whatever measures he proposed that could do good—if enforced—are those sponsored by the Progressives in their Philadelphia platform. These included strengthened rent control, restoration of the excess profits tax and passage of the public housing bill.

The President practically buried the crucial issues of civil rights with a few words in the tail-end of his speech. He evidently figured he'd said enough on that. A few hourse before, he came up with one more board of inquiry to counter the demand to end segregation in the armed forces. He double-talked about "equal opportunity" but sidestepped the heart of the issue—the end of segregation. Thus he stood with the Dixiecrats. Chief of Staff Omar Bradley knew what the President meant, for he went to the press a few hours afterward, with the blunt declaration that segregation would continue in the army.

No, this sickening performance proves only one thing. America's common men can rely only on themselves, can get to first base only through their crusading support of the newly-founded Progressive Party. Many thousands, therefore, will join the people's lobby sponsored by that party for August 5, in Washington. That's the only way.

That's why millions toasted the birth of the Progressive Party.

American Youth Firm for Democracy

The California Branch, American Youth for Democracy, has issued a stinging denunciation on the indictments and arrests of Communist Party leaders. It warns that America, like Germany and Italy, is being driven "step by step" into a police state and is being prepared for World War III.

Firm in their convictions for democracy in America, the California AYD urges all youth to protest actively against this latest attempt to foist a Fascist state upon the United States. The statement follows:

Our country is being driven, step by step, into a police state and is being prepared for World War III.

The newest shocking measure which tears at the roots of our democracy, is the grand jury indictment of all members of the national board of the Communist Party and the arrests of the leaders of the Communist Party on charges of conspiracy to overthrow the government.

Everything for which the millions of American youth fought, worked and died in World War II, to help smash the Berlin-Rome-Tokyo "anti Communist" Axis is being sold out. A U.S. brand of Hitler's "anti-Communism" is being substituted for the wartime pledges and promises to the youth of a better life in postwar America.

American youth face real problems today of growing unemployment, lack of housing, high prices, police brutality, discrimination, inadequate educational facilities. They know the crimes being committed today are not by the Communists. The criminals and conspirators are the Democrat-Republicans, and their "bi-partisan" Congress who spend millions for war instead of education, who throttle academic freedom, and who today are raising the cry of anti-Communism" to divert the attention of American students and youth from their real needs.

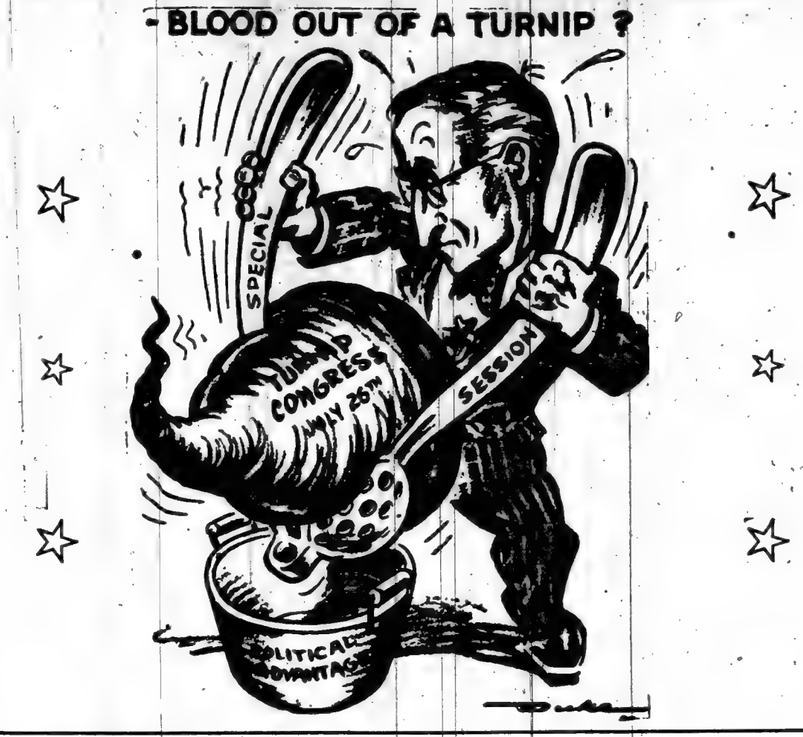
Only a few months ago Attorney General Tom Clarke was forced to admit that there wasn't a shred of evidence that any Communist was guilty of espionage, force and violence, or service to a foreign power. And so the administration was forced to by-pass the laws of the land and the basic documents of our liberty, and state it is a crime to be a Communist.

The right to political fredom are rights long ago won by our forefathers when they issued the Declaration of Independence and won the war of 1776.

Hitler made similar charges against the Communists and then robbed every other German of his freedom on the excuse of fighting Communism. No nation can sustain the outlawing of the Communist Party and still remain a democracy. For the Communist Party, an integral part of the American working class, is likewise an integral segment of the nation's democratic movement. The American Communists have enriched the democratic heritage of the United States and have made outstanding contributions to the well-being of the American people.

It is no accident that the arrests were so timed as to coincide with the convening of the New Party, in an attempt to discredit and weaken it. Nor was it an acident that they came less than one week before the convention of the special session of the notorious 80th Congress, as an attempt to intimidate and divert the American people from fighting for effective price control, housing, and civil rights legislation.

But the big scare attempt will not deflect American youth from rallying around the Wallace candidacy, in fighting for their basic neds.



The American Youth for Democracy calls on all youth to write or wire President Truman and Attorney General Tom Clark demanding that the cases against the Communist leaders be dropped.

No Color Line Drawn

When a coal mine blew up in Alabama the other day, in such shape were the injured miners, it was impossible to tell which was Negro and which white.

No doubt when these miners entered the death pit, the racial line was definitely drawn. But tragedy in the coal mines and everywhere else knows not the color line. And this is an established truth that Gov. J. Strom Thurmond, presidential candidate for the Dixicrats, and vice-presidential candidate Fielding Wright, his running mate, should learn.

These Dixicrats who bolted the Democratic party and President Tru-

THINGS I SEE

By Marian Inglewood

"It's your turn, brother," says Tom Buchanan, veteran reporter for The Washington Evening Star, who was fired by his boss because he dared to admit he was a member of the Communist Party.

That was the only reason given for his dismissal. Benjamin M. McKelway, editor of The Star, said that was the only reason. Was there any indication, Buchanan asked, that his political views had ever prompted him to distort the facts, or to slant a story along his line of thinking, in writing it for The Star? The editor said there was not. His work had always been satisfactory in every respect. As a matter of fact, it was a little bit more than that. It was splendid.

"Then why should I be fired?" Buchanan wanted to know.

Editor McKelway hedged a bit on that. Then made a clean breast of it. It wasn't so much what he had done in the past. Nor even the fact that he was an admitted Communist. It was because The Star was afraid of what might happen to itself, if it kept a Communist reporter, however good, on its pay roll. It was afraid Buchanan might be called before some congressional investigating committee, like the Un-American Activities Committee—then woe be to The Star if anything like that happened!

Innocent or guilty, merely to be called before such a committee would spell disaster for any newspaper or any industry that would knowingly harbor a person of that kind in its ranks! Circulation would drop at once. Advertising, the economical lifeblood of a newspaper, would stop, and in a matter of weeks or months at the most, the paper would be bankrupt.

Well, in a way, one can sympathize with that attitude. Since we still have the private-profit system, and it is not likely to go overboard en masse very soon, no one wants to go overboard singly. It is the same kind of fear among employers which prompts employees to conceal their political identity in order to get and keep a job. "After all, we have to eat," as someone remarked, who had a family on her hands to support.

Dewey has promised to get rid of all Communists—provided he is elected, of course—by simply not giving them any jobs. That means in the last analysis, no one except registered Republicans will be eligible for any government jobs. And all the big industrial magnates will follow suit, in short order. Any one who has ever lived in a rock-ribbed Republican state like Pennsylvania, will realize what that means. You register Republican, or you don't work. Period. Public or private.

No, we here in America won't tolerate concentration camps or gas chambers or any of the other horrors of Nazi Germany. We are too cultured, too highly civilized for such primitive methods of torture. We'll use a much more refined method. We just wont' give anyone any work, if his political views do not happen to coincide with ours.

That means, of course, the man and his family won't eat. They'll have no home to live in, because they can't pay the rent. And in the worry and fear of the next depression, multiplied a hundredfold greater than that of its Republican predecessor, those who disagree with the political views of the powers-that-be who dispense charity, will not be given the bowl of soup or the stale vegetables so graciously handed out to the meek and lowly "yes" men and women.

The remedy? Is there a remedy? Of course there's one. But whethor or not the men and women of America will be wise enough and far-seeing enough to grasp it, remains to be seen. You know that old saying about the best way to reach a man's heart is through his stomach. Well, the surest way to reach the head of a man or a woman is through his or her stomach. Believe me, those who stood in the breadlines before the administration of Franklin Delano Roosevelt, realized this when they elected and re-elected him four times.

But have we American voters learned our lesson? I wonder. For you hear on the street some of the very persons who were on the SRA and the WPA, now declaring they are going to vote for Dewey or Truman, and condemning the one presidential candidate, Henry Wallace, who stands for the principles of Roosevelt, as being a Communist!

As long as that kind of political rot exists in the minds of the American people, there can be no hope for an intelligent choice at the polls in November. Must we have another appeal, through empty stomachs before we can get any sense knocked into our heads? Could be. And believe me, if that's th ecase, brother, it's your turn next.

Let's Save Civilization

An excerpt from the Sunday New York Post said:

Our waterfront, the very life-line of the City's economic health, is run down to the point of decay. Pier facilities, many of them a hoary half-century old, are sinking into disgraceful, even hazardous condition.

No rat with any degree of pride would rear his family in the congested, crumbling area.

More to the point, many shippers may soon be induced to take their trade elsewhere; to the ports boasting adequate berthing, unloading, trucking and marketing services.

Unless the Mayor acts soon, New York City may be left with one of the finest natural harbors in the world going into one of the dreariest declines known to a trading area.

With this condition on the New York waterfront certainly many lives are endangered.

A few days ago the editor of this newspaper rode through the slum sections of beautiful Philadelphia, that city of brotherly love, and was appalled at what she found. It would be unfair to say that Philadelphia's slum area is worse than it is in other large cities.

It is a well known fact that at least one tenth of the population in cities like Philadelphia, New York, Chicago, and Los Angeles citizens start life and live in filth and disease-breeding shacks not fit for the habitation of rats.

But one wonders which of the two evils at work is of the greater importance; the preservation of New York's Harbor, where Big Business extolls a billion dollar trade, or the preservation of our civilization, which is threatened by greedy capitalists at the cost of human lives.

We believe in freedom of the press along with other freedoms. But we do think that it is high time that some pressure be put on the press to tell the truth about these conditions. With all the forces of destruction at work in our country, unless something is done to preserve peace by providing adequate housing, health facilities, renovated educational system, we won't need improved harbors.

Negroes and all minorities may serve Uncle Sam in war times. They may join in paying every tax that the government sees fit to levy. But Civil Rights they just can't enjoy, Governor Thurmond and the other Dixicrats have declared.

As the charred bodies of these Alabama miners were being brought to the surface, the people whose lives, comfort, and happiness they protected by their labor and their sacrifice, were meeting to plan the strategy by which at least the heirs of the victims, by the denial of their civil liberties, may continue the slavocrats of the Dixicrats.

But there is no color line in tragedy. Some day, perhaps, the charred bodies of those same Dixicrats may lie side by side on some field, the victims of a tragedy as fearful as the coal mine disaster. And who shall say then who is white or who is black?

The Dawn of a New Century

By C. A. Bass

All hail the power of a people's movement! This day a new party is born!

That was my thinking a hot day in July as I pushed my way through a seething crowd into the Bellevue-Stratford hotel in Philadelphia.

I have been to conventions before. I have seen great crowds of people, usually excited or riotous. But I can truthfully say that on Thursday evening, July 22, the closely knit mob that literally filled to overflowing the lobby of the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel was the most peaceful I had ever witnessed.

Small groups and large groups, composed of old and young people, Negro, white, Japanese, Chinese, Indian and Mexican Americans, State delegations, were comparing notes and getting ready for the big event which would be on the morrow, Friday, July 23.

After checking in for hotel assignment and credentials, I learned that nothing important would happen Thursday evening. A good night's rest would put me in shape for a heavy day on the morrow.

Well, Friday started with a bang. WOMEN FOR WALLACE held a morning session in one of the hotel suites where we had our first introduction to Mrs. Henry Wallace and Mrs. Glen Taylor. And right here I will digress to tell you that they are both very charming but sensible women—no frills, puffs, or noses up in the air.

This meeting was to get acquainted. I met for the first time Elinor Gimbel, chairman of National Women for Wallace, and the other co-chairman, Mrs. Lawrence Steefel. This was truly a get acquainted session.

I noticed by my program that the next order of the day was a press conference on the 18th floor of the hotel, at which Henry Wallace would be present. I hastened upward. When I arrived the assembly room was already filled to capacity, and questions of all kinds from who killed Cock Robin to who wrote the last letter to Hitler before he passed, were being tossed about the room.

To the surprise of many, especially myself, among those bobbing and weaving up, down, and all around with questions, were Westbrook Pegler, the venerable Norman Thomas, and ever present Edgar Brown.

It was my feeling, and I believe the opinion of all present who came with open minds to learn something about the program of the Progressive Party, that Messrs. Pegler, Thomas, and Brown came for no purpose at all other than, if possible, to agitate.

They missed their mark. Henry Wallace refuted every attempt of the enemy to confuse and smear, and came out shiningly victorious.

The merry-go-round continued, around and around. From the conference in the upper chamber, we descended to a small dining room on the first floor where Charles P. Howard, keynote speaker of the convention, presided over a southern press conference.

With just time enough to get a bite and a face wash, the great moment had arrived—the official opening of the first convention and founding of the Progressive Party, at historic Convention Hall.

Promptly at 7 p.m., singing for Wallace, people's songs, opened the convention. These were followed by the usual preliminaries. And from that time on to the close of the session, Sunday evening, July 25, lasting history was made in the city of Philadelphia, Pa.

Across the nation, echoes from the Progressive Party convention are resounding. What the American people desire is peace, and peace is one of the main planks in the Progressive Party platform.

At both of the major parties' conventions, a great deal was said about peace, but nothing done to achieve it.

Many of those who furnished the gas for the Democratic and the Republican conventions, were members of the 80th Congress, and were called back into session by the President following their conventions.

The Congress is now in its second week's session. To date nothing on those issues, such as price control, G.I. housing, etc. that make for peace in the United States, has been accomplished.

In the words of Keynote Speaker Charles P. Howard, at the Progressive Party convention, the war crisis "can be solved only at the conference table, never on the battlefield."

It is this demand for peace, now being carried to the far corners of the nation by the returning delegates, that carries within it a powerful obstacle to the war program, because it exposes the heart of that program—the refusal by both major parties to work for peace in any way.

"The White House has said that it is tired of talking over differences," Howard charged. "And I say we are tired of dying over them."

A Salute To Courage

We have never held any reserve thoughts about Satchel Paige's becoming the subject of an editorial in these columns. It would be more accurate to report that we expected Old Man Time to catch the great hurler and assign him to the limbo of forgotten things before now, but Fate and the unbelievable vigor and youthful determination of the truly 'Grand Old Man' of sports have crossed us up, and we are happy to open these sacred precincts to give a literal and literary pat on the back to a man whose very life and activity is proof that what cannot be done, can be done.

There will always be a question about Satchel Paige's correct age. Lately, there seems to be some inclination to set it at the arbitrary figure of 44. Let the controversy continue, but let there be no question about the measure of his performance the first time he started a ball game in the major league. It must be recorded that he turned in an amazing performance before the second largest crowd ever to witness a regular major league baseball game. There is a lesson on courage, determination, and the ability to maintain balance in adversity, in his performance. We should study it.

Of the $58,800,000 school lunch fund set aside for the States and territories for the coming school term, nearly half of it has been earmarked for the South, the U. S. Department of Agriculture announced last week.

The Southern States and the District of Columbia will receive a total of $28,185,826, or 48 per cent of the school lunch fund.

It is estimated that about 6,500,000 of the 27,500,000 white and colored children in elementary and high schools will benefit from the program during the coming school year.

During the past year, more than 17 million surgical dressings were "manufactured" by Red Cross production service workers for use in civilian and veterans' hospitals, as well as those serving the armed forces.

Families suffering losses in the recent Northwest floods numbered 20,670, Los Angeles Red Cross officials were informed this week. Of these, 12,269 families have turned to Red Cross "for some type of assistance." The organization estimates that the total cost of emergency and long-term aid to victims of the disaster will amount to approximately $3,300,000.

Examinations by the U. S. Civil Service Commission for the positions of meteorologist and patent draftsman will be held in the Federal building in the near future. Applications for the meteorologist exam should be received not later than August 31. Applications for the patent draftsman position will be accepted until further notice. If the position is desired at once, applications should be on file not later than August 24.

Salary for meteorologist is $2,974 per year; patent draftsman, $2,498 to $3,351 per year.

Raleigh, N.C. — President William A. Fountain, Jr. of Morris Brown College, Atlanta, Georgia, will deliver the Commencement Address at Shaw University Tuesday morning, August 17 at 11:00 o'clock, in Greenleaf Auditorium, marking completion of the annual summer session of the 83rd academic year.

Sacramento — Featuring the slogan "Take a Kid Fishing," sportsmen of California are embarked on a campaign against juvenile delinquency which has already received widespread public endorsement.

The plan calls for city and county recreation departments to work with adults in arranging fishing trips for boys who otherwise would not be able to toss a line in the water.

White and colored farmers of the South may obtain credit assistance up to 70 million dollars through the Farmers Home Administration between now and next July, the U. S. Department of Agriculture has announced.

Of the total sum, $8,400,000 may be borrowed directly from the agency by Southern farmers for the purpose of buying family-sized farms of their own. Also, the Farmers Home is authorized to insure farm ownership loans up to $62,000,000 which may be advanced by private lenders during the next 11 months.

Nation-wide, the Farmers Home can make direct farm ownership loans totaling $15,000,000, and can insure farm mortgage loans in the aggregate up to $100,000,000 this fiscal year.

According to Washington reports an average of 500 new workers per day have been added to the Federal payroll since the first of the year. No doubt these workers are qualified to vote. No doubt, too, their boss, a man named Harry Truman, hopes they will vote for, and induce their friends and relatives to vote for—guess who? Well, this system worked quite well in 1936, 1940, and 1944. The only catch is, this is 1948.

When people abandon thrift they lose first their independence and their self respect—and then their liberties, says the El Cajon Valley (Calif.) News. The same thing goes for the Government of those people.

American journalists, returning from Germany, report that American and German bureaucrats are literally throttling German production, so important to European recovery, by a passion for red tape that approaches mania. According to one report, in an important part of the American zone (Wurtemberg-Baden) the monthly consumption of paper by bureaucracy has been about 1,000 metric tons in the same period that newspapers were allotted 32 tons, books 70 tons, and periodicals 500 tons.

The Indiana Legislature has passed a resolution regarding Federal aid to States which says: "We have taken a good look at Federal dollars and find that they all lose weight on their journey to Washington and back home again."

It is significant, in view of Mr. Truman's slurs at Congress, to note that the only other President in American history who had as many vetoes overridden in one 2-year term of Congress was Andrew Johnson, and you remember what happened to him.

While the cost of food has gone up 100 per cent since 1939 the cost of government has gone up 377 per cent, and government now costs more than food.

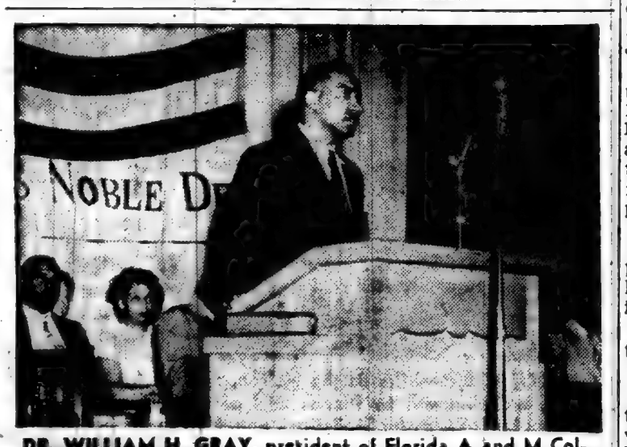
WASHINGTON—Charging that Senator Olin D. Johnston (D., S.C.), in a speech on the floor of the Senate, threatened "to risk plunging the nation and the entire world into obliterative germ and atomic warfare" rather than to permit enactment of civil rights legislation, Walter White, Secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, today wired Senator Arthur Vandenburg (R., Mich.) urging the Senate to censure the South Carolinian.

WASHINGTON—The 51 Republican and 19 northern Democratic senators were called upon "to proceed forthwith to break the filibuster" against the anti-poll tax bill in a statement released by the Conference on Civil Rights Legislation composed of 19 national civil rights, labor, church, Negro, Jewish, professional, and trade organizations.

Southern Democratic Senators privately admit that they cannot defeat cloture if Republican and northern Democratic Senators insist on a cloture vote to stop a filibuster. But in the face of this admission by a southern minority of hte Senate, it has been reported that the Republicans do not intend even to file a cloture petition, much less support a motion to invoke cloture.

"Only by eliminating segregation in the armed forces can President Truman adequately meet the civil liberties issues threatening to bring about a civil disobedience movement," said A. A. Heist, director of the American Civil Liberties Union, in releasing a statement by his Interim Committee as to the policy of the Southern California Branch in connection with problems raised by the new selective service act.

In at least two respects the Selective Service Act of 1948 threatens the rights of American citizens.



1. In disallowing political, sociological and philosophical grounds for conscientious objection.

2. By disregarding the constitutional guarantees of equality of citizenship through making possible the induction of minority arces into a segregated service.

It will, therefore, be the policy of the Southern California Branch to accept appropriate cases for court test whenever these issues are raised, said Mr. Heist.

A second city-owned airport for use by private flyers is being considered by the City Council, that of the metropolitan airport at Van Nuys. It can be purchased for $1, as war surplus, Robert L. Smith, president of the Board of Airport commissioners, told the Council. It will require about $132,000 to put it into operation.

Mayor Fletcher Bowron has said that a general purpose bond issue is probably the only way out to finance the completion of the Hyperion sewer project. The amount needed is $15,000,000. The bonds may appear on the November ballot.

200,000 CALIFORNIA CITIZENS spoke last Tuesday when representatives appeared before James Welsh, clemency secretary for Governnor Warren to testify that Wiley King, 45 year old Negro grocer, has been an asset to his community in Oakland and in Memphis, Tennessee, for the 21 years subsequent to his absence from a Mississippi labor camp in 1927. Governor Warren is being asked by thousands of interested citizens to deny the request to extradite King to Mississippi, and the Independent Progressive Party has joined with community leaders and organizations to mobilize support to keep King from being sent back. Shown above is a representation of the leadership that spoke for the community in King's behalf.

Oklahoma University Sued Again For Discrimination

NORMAN, Okla.—Challenging Oklahoma's discriminatory policies in higher education, three graduate students, represented by NAACP attorneys, have filed suit to compel the University of Oklahoma to admit them to courses not offered by the state at any other institution.

Rejected by the University when they applied for enrollment on February 2 for the spring term, the students sought the aid of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. The students are Helen Maxine Holmes, seeking a Masters degree in education; Mauderie Hancock-Wilson, desiring to pursue courses leading to a degree in social work; and G. W. McLaurin, working for a Ph. D. in school administration.

The cases, presented by Thurgood Marshall, NAACP special counsel, and Amos T. Hall of Oklahoma City were heard by Judge Justin Hinshaw in the District Court of Cleveland County here on July 26. Judge Hinshaw, who also heard the case of Ada Sipuel Fisher last spring, reserved decision. Mrs. Fisher had sued for admission to the university's law school. The court may consider the three cases together with that of Mrs. Fisher.

Knights of Peter Claver Holds 33rd Conventon Here St. Patrick,s Is Setting

The Knights of Peter Claver, national fraternal benefit society of Catholic men and women, will meet in its 33rd convention in Los Angeles beginning August 1.

Three train loads of delegates from the East and Middle West and the South will arrive Saturday, July 31. Headquarters for registration have been established in St. Patrick's Hall, 1026 East 34th Street.

Sunday evening, August 1, a public meeting will be held in St. Patrick's Hall. Civic officials and dignitaries of the Church will welcome the group. The Supreme Knight, Hon. J. Roland Prejean, will be introduced to the Los Angeles public on Station KFOX at 10 o'clock Sunday morning, August 1.

Preceding opening of the business sessions on Monday, August 2, at 9 a.m. a solemn High Mass will be celebrated in St. Vibiana's Cathedral, Second and Main streets.

This Mass will be celebrated by Rev. Francis G. Wade, S.V.D., a Negro priest, and national chaplain of the Order. Another Negro priest, Rev. Anthony Bourges, S.V.D., will preach the sermon. Father Wade will have two local pastors, Rev. Reynold Bergamo, C.S., LL.D., of St. Patrick's, as deacon, and Rev. John McNulty of St. Leo's, as sub-deacon.

Summer Recreational Program in Area IV

Jefferson High School opened its doors Wednesday evening to the teenagers for the beginning of their summer program, sponsored by the schools, YMCA, YWCA, City Recreation and Center Playgrounds. Each Wednesday evening from 7-11 there will be volley ball, ping pong, parlor games and dancing. An admission of 5c will be charged, out of which prizes will be given for various sports and games.

Thursday evening all young adults are invited to attend. The 5c admission will also be used for prizes to be distributed among those participating. Each Tuesday evening there will be moving pictures. Mothers and fathers, as well as children, may come and enjoy an evening of relaxation. Mr. Farnum, vice-principal of Jefferson, heads the committee in charge of these activities.

Carver school wishes to urge parents to send their junior high school girls to the sewing class which meets on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays from 1 to 5 p.m., under the direction of Mrs. Robinson. The girls are instructed in making dresses, blouses and other useful garments. Instructions are free and the cost of whatever material is used is small. Another interesting class at Carver is the tap dancing. The members of this class expect to produce a show in the fall for other students and teachers of the school.

Each Friday afternoon at 2:30 one of the various playgrounds presents a play given by the children from the Southpark Playground. Concerts are also on the summer program.

Plans are under way for a barn dance to be given the evening of July 28, also a parade of stars scheduled for August 11 at Pueblo Del Rio.

At the Woodlawn Branch YWCA, a special feature of the summer program among the teenage group will be a play to be given by the summer theatre group, Mrs. Inez Allen and some of her girls will join the Carver group on a bus trip to Val Verde, July 22.

The 28th Street YMCA, El Santo Nino Center, All Peoples, Eastside Settlement, Avalon and Hednerson Community Centers are due honorable mention for the splendid and numerous activities being carried out in their program.

Health Aids

As a first step in a broad public health program for the West African Republic of Liberia, Dr. Edwin R. Embree, recently elected President of the Liberian Foundation, announces the appointment of two public health experts as key members of his staff.

Dr. George W. Harley, who becomes General Consultant to the Foundation, is known for twenty-five years of work as head of the Methodist Mission at Ganta in the interior of Liberia.

Dr. Stanley J. Leland, who becomes Medical Director of the Foundation, has served in a wide variety of public health posts, including Director of Civil Health and Nutrition for the Surgeon General of the War Department, Chief Medical Officer of the China Mission of UNRRA, and special missions to Korea, Siam, Malay States, India, Rhodesia, and the Union of South Africa.

Sally Wilson Plays Hostess At Dinner Fete

The popular Miss Sally Wilson entertained on Sunday evening at a formal dinner, honoring several out of town visitors. The affair was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Howard of West Los Angeles.

Among the honored guests were: Bishop Stevens of Chicago; Rev. Prince Thomas, formerly of Detroit; Wyomia Gipson of Dallas, Texas and Mr. and Mrs. R. Howard.

Insurance Man's Family Visits Southern Cal.

Mrs. Lionel J. Trouillier Sr., nee Walita Jones, with her son Liinel Jr. and daughter Merle Marie are the house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Burgoyne of this city. Friends from different parts of California have been honoring them with many social courtesies.

The visitors also enjoyed several weeks in Oakland and San Francisco prior to their arrival here.

Mrs. Trouillier is the wife of Mr. Lionel J. Trouillier, a district manager of "The Good Citizen Insurance Company" in New Orleans, and is widely known in civic and social as well as insurance circles.

News Vendors to Air Contract Campaign

Daniel G. Marshall, well-known Los Angeles attorney, Catholic layman, and chairman of the Citizen's Committee for Justice to the News Vendors, announces a series of public service radio programs sponsored by the Citizen's Committee. Radio Station KLAC (570 KC.) will broadcast the programs Monday, August 9, and Monday, August 16, all at 7:15 p.m.

The program on Monday, August 9, will present a dramatization of the life of the average newsboy in a decade of struggle to build his Union and obtain collective bargaining rights with the Los Angeles daily newspaper publishers.

Public Utility Tax Reaches New High

SACRAMENTO—Willial G. Bonelli of Los Angeles, State Board of Equalization chairman, revealed here this week that public utility property, assessed by the board for local tax purposes, is valued this year at an all-time high of more than $1,368,000,000. Subject to tax rates identical with those applying to property assessed locally, this state-assessed property will produce almost $70,000,000 of current city, county and district revenues.

Most people spend their time solving the wrong problem.—Ibid.

JUNE WEDDING !

Albert J. McNeil

EAGLE MUSIC CRITIC

In Chicago

To say a conductor's work is interesting often means that he sheds a willful new light on the music he "interprets."

Doubly interesting, then, was the work of Fritz Stiedry, whom we saw last week-end in his Ravinia Park debut with the Chicago Symphony. There was nothing willful about it, and the music at its best shone with a light of its own made brighter by an affectionate and vigorous thinker.

Certainly not every measure of Weber's "Der Freishutz Overture," the Mozart "Prague" Symphony, and the Beethoven "Eroica" emerged luminous Tuesday evening. But even in moments of uncertainty, Stiedry's earnest and vivid approach could not but elicit sympathetic listening.

Surprisingly, for a conductor who had programmed nothing but German music for his Ravinia appearance, he has a light touch—a touch to find the wit as well as the tragedy in the "Prague" and to make Beethoven laugh like a Titan without verging on pomposity.

The 65-year-old conductor more closely associated with opera than concert, is noticeably without a practical audience-side manner.

Chicagoland Music Festival

Approximately 24 Negro vocalists will compete with 500 other entrants in the Chicago Tribune's annual Festival of Music scheduled for Soldier's Field August 14. The vocal winner will receive a substantial cash award as well as the title of the Best Man Singer and the Best Woman Singer. Instrumentalists, bands, and choral organizations have been asked to appear in competition.

This year entrants number close to 5,000 from 30 states and Canada. The winning men's, women's, and mixed choruses will sing and a massed group of 4,000 voices led by Dr. Edgar Nelson will present Handel's "Hallelujah Chorus." This is the first year that venerable J. Wesley Jones will not conduct the 1,000-voice Negro chorus, for years a highlight of the festival.

Eighth Notes

June McMechen, rising young soprano, and Todd Duncan, baritone, will sing for Connecticut music lovers on Friday evening when Alexander Smallens will conduct for the State's "Pops" concert at the Fairfield College. . . . Carol Brice, contralto, will appear at Hampton Institute Thursday as one of the stellar attractions during the school's Art of the Theatre Festival.

The Albert McNeil Choir will be presented with the Philharmonic Glee Club next spring in Cleveland's Severance Hall; the Los Angeles group recently completed its first mid-western tour of eight states, appearing in Tulsa, Emporia, Wichita, Jefferson City, Chicago, Indianapolis and Cleveland.

Orrin Suthern, distinguished organist and head of the Dillard University Department of Music, will be one of the featured recitalists at the convention of the NANM which convenes in Cleveland, Ohio, August 22.

Representing California at the NANM will be George Robert Garner, the regional director; Mabel Massengill, CSANM president; Albert McNeil, state organizer; Lorenza Cole, concert pianist; Billie Lynthecom, director of publicity of the local branch; and Lester L. Orticke, local city school teacher and member of the National Publications staff. . . . This column expresses sincere plaudits to the Musicians Local Union No. 767 and Katie Miller for the fine presentations made possible over at South Park.

On a recent trip to New York we were thrilled to hear of the successes of two of Los Angeles' charming musicians, Yvonne Cummings and Gloria Roberts; incidentally, the Collegiate Chorale, the outstanding chorale aggregation directed by internationally famous Robert Shaw, is filling vacancies in its ranks during the months of August and September. Admission is open to anyone regardless of race.

Our friend Hall Johnson lives comfortably in N. Y. but is doing absolutely nothing with that marvelous talent of his. . . . Zella Watson George, known to Angelenos as Zelma Duke, lives attentiously in Cleveland; she recently completed requirements for her Ph.D. from N. Y. U. Her dissertation deals with the implications of Negro Published Music. She has probably one of the most complete files of Negro music in existance; she still has that marvelous soprano voice and charming manner, naturally Cleveland of both groups adore . . . . Will be in New Orleans next week. Until then. . . .

Here's Welcome News

Sacramento—Motor Vehicle Director A. H. Henderson today announced that a manual typing unit capable of producing automobile registration certificates at an anticipated rate of 20,000 a day has been established to supplement the Department's mechanical registration system.

A WORD OF THANKS—Officer Marie Thomas, Los Angeles Policewoman, shown above thanking Roy Milton, prominent band leader, for his contribution to the Department's Juvenile fund. This fund will provide summer vacations for many needy boys and girls.

Things That Interest Women

How Do You Look?

It's time for a bit of back talk! How often do you neglect your back in the really cleansing process?

Too often our back becomes a sort of stepchild, and that is an unforgivable breach of the beauty ritual. Gone are the days when we were clothed up to the chin. Today the back and shoulders are almost as much in evidence as one's face.

With the mad rush of "bra-top" in dresses and the off shoulder in blouses, something must be done to acquire that smooth supple back.

It is really a very simple matter. You can purchase a mild friction wash that you mix with a bit of cold water and apply with your hands over the shoulders and parts of your back you can reach.

Rinse off thoroughly, better under the shower, if you have none, make use of the bath tub. Try this treatment three times each week. You will notice the difference after a few treatments. After your daily tubbing, rub your shoulders and back with a good body lotion.

If you would like to know the name of a lotion that will leave your skin with a satiny texture, or my leaflet, "Slimming The Waistline," address Bessie F. Bell, c/o Global News Syndicate, P.O. Box 86, Manhattanville Station, New York 27, N.Y. Mention the paper you read this in. Enclose a three-cent stamp for mailing.

Traffic Signals to Be Operating Soon

There will be a traffic signal installed at Vernon and San Pedro in the very near future. According to an announcement received from 8th district Councilman Kenneth Hahn, this intersection which has been a danger point because it represents a five-point convergence of traffic will be provided with a signal within the next few weeks. The Councilman also announced that the signals at Long Beach Boulevard will be turned on just as soon as it is possible to provide a device that will synchronize the fast P. E. trains with the signal.

Dr. L. P. Hill On Staff for UCLA Session

Dr. Leslie Pinckney Hill, president of State Teachers College in Cheyney, Pennsylvania, a graduate and Phi Betta Kappa of Harvard University, and the author of books on poetry, drama and race relations, lectured and served as an advisor on service teacher education, and as a consultant in Negro-White relations at U.C.L.A. during the six week workshop on intercultural education held at the University from June 21 to July 30.

Dr. Hill was the only member of the staff who was appointed by Provost Dykstra to the regular faculty of the University. He came to U.C.L.A. from the presidency of the Eastern States Association of Professional Schools for Teachers, an organization of 72 colleges from Maine to the District of Columbia. Only three of the member colleges are Negro institutions, and all of the major colleges in the region are included by membership.

LABOR ON THE MARCH

By JOHN M. LEE

VARIATION ON A THEME

We don't know how to tell them to go about it, but a prominent member of the Los Angeles Newspaper Guild suggested to us the other day that we invite the NAACP and the Urban League to get behind the campaign to have Negro newspapermen employed on the metropolitan dailies. It crtainly is the sort of thing both organizations should want to foster, and we go beyond the suggestion, and IMPLORE them to lend their support.

As matters stand now, it will be necessary to work just as hard on the Guild as it will be on the newspapers. The president of the LANG would gladly confer with and work with both organizations on the project, for she has told me on more than one occasion that she felt the LANG is inadequate for Negro newspapermen because it can only offer them the limited service and protection called for by employment on Negro weeklies. I would suggest that a conference be held NAACP, the Urban League, and the administrative officer of the guild present. That conference could explore the field and decide on a single newspaper for a demonstration approach; L. A. Daily News is the paper.

Perhaps the matter can be worked out around the table; there is no reason why it shouldn't be. Specific employment should be promulgated, and it seems to me that a sports writer is the proper take-off point. This because it presents the least all-around difficulty. In proposing this, we do not visualize a knock-down, drag-out fight. No such thing is necessary. It is a matter of simple justice; a balance between patronage and employment.

Undoubtedly, the LANG is responsible, in a large measure, for the failure of the dailies to employ Negro writers and reporters. Actually, using the same yardstick that the LANG uses (or used to use) when fighting for a national FEPC, the Los Angeles Newspaper Guild is a Jim Crow union. President Ferguson uncompromisingly decrees that a publisher is a publisher, and she takes no exception when she deals with a publisher of a Negro paper; it is expected of her then, that she make no exceptions when dealing with a Negro newspaperman.

The question of employment of Negro newspapermen on the dailies is one that should have been put before the LANG for action a long time ago. It is my purpose to present it at the next monthly meeting, and it would be of material help if the Urban League and the NAACP had communications, requesting that the LANG propose Negro newspapermen for employment on daily papers, sent in before that time. They may be sent to(Miss) Zulu Ferguson, president Los Angeles Newspaper Guild, 1324 South Figueroa Street, Los Angeles.

Under no circumstances are we limiting action on this project to the two organizations named. We expect to stick with this until it is achieved; therefore we can use the support of anyone who wants to see democracy and Americanism demonstrated and not spouted as though it were a zealot's creed, to be used as stimulation for a weakening concept. I'll be calling you up some day soon, and I hope you'll respond.

Allied Arts League Hears Noted Artist A. Douglas; Fisk Department Head

The exclusive Allied Arts League had as their guest at last Sunday's meeting Aaron Douglas head of Fisk University's Art Department. Synonymous with the Negro Renaisance is the name of Aaron Douglas in the field of fine arts. He has won wide acclaim with his mural paintings at Sherman Hotel in Chicago, 135th Street Library in New York, and at Fisk University's Library in Nashville, Tenn.

Mr. Douglas, a native of Topeka, Kansas studied in Paris, France under noted teachers Charles Destrian and world renown de Waroquier with a Barnes Scholarship and two Julius Rosenwald foundation fellowships. Mr. Douglas is listed in Who's Who in the field of art. He has illustrated books on Negro life for Langston Hughes, Paul Moraine and Countee Cullen. He ranks high with such artist as his contemporary, Mural artist, Covar Rubias of international reputation.

The Allied Art League will present Mr. Douglas in a fall showing with a fine collection of 24 paintings. Included in this group will be his famous "Sad Faced Boy."

While in the city, Mr. Douglas and his wife Alta are the visiting guests of Attorney and Mrs. Loren Miller.

Also listed among the more than 40 present last Sunday, as a guest of the League was Miss Anita Thompson Dickerson, renown for her dancing and acting. Miss Dickerson, who claimed Europe as her home for many years is now residing in New York City.

Official Call State Meeting In San Diego

By the power vested in me, Esther Taylor Greenly, State President of The California State Association of Colored Women Inc., I hereby issue the Call for the meeting of the Forty-Second Annual State Meeting to be held in San Diego, California on September 14-15-16, 1948, at the Bethel Baptist Church, Corner 29th and Clay Streets.

Registration will be held at the Church, Monday evening and Tuesday morning, September 13th and 14th respectively.

National Association of Colored Girls and Phillis Wheatley Departments will hold their meeting Wednesday, September 15 at 2 p.m.

Outing Planned By Popular Girls Of Gardenia Club

The Gardenia Girls Club held its regular monthly meeting on the third Sunday in July at the home of Mrs. Lula Payne, 9715 Pace Ave.

The meeting was conducted by the Vice-President, Mrs. Louise Taylor.

Old and new business were discussed and the main topic was the coming event, the club's annual picnic to be given August 15.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Ida Mae Perry. The club wishes the president a speedy recovery.

HAPPY THE BRIDE and groom—Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Leonard Stovall, nee Pauline Jones, go through the old tradition of cutting the cake, at their recent wedding reception. The popular young couple were united in one of the most beautiful ceremonies of the season. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Jones. The groom is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Leonard Stovall. WHAT'S DOING IN THE SOCIAL SET

By JESSIE MAE BROWN

THE ALFRESCO FETE HAS GAINED PREDOMINANCE on the local social front. This type affair gives way to the casual, and in my estimation, very colorful type of garbing. The past Saturday afternoon, found Mrs. John Lamar Hill honoring the newlywed Mrs. Barrington Tate with a "get together," that was quite informal and loads of fun. Some 30 members of the younger set of femmes about town were much in evidence. Luncheon was quite informal, a la picnic fashion, and the cateress for the affair was the charming Mrs. Hill, who aside from being the perfect mother of three youngsters, has a grand reputation of being queen of the cook book. The setting for the affair was the newly built playhouse of the Hills' West 35th abode, and adding much to the scene was Mrs. Bill (Annette) Taylor, who wore her hair coiffed in an oriental manner that went hand in hand with her originally designed afternoon dress that featured "new look" lines in scollops and length. Elizabeth Garrott and Gloria Roberts were much in demand for conversation on their year's stay in N. Y. Both artists are still uncertain about the exact date of their return to the big city, however they admit that they will definitely return to do more study. Mmes. Bal, (Corine) Kemp, Frank (Evelyn) Abney, Bert (Ruth) Kenner, and Elbert, (Marilyn) Hudson were full of chatter about the opening of school comes September. Corine and Ruth will return to teaching the 3-Rs. Corine has been spending the early summer weeks at S.C.'s summer session.

Other guests at the affair included, Flora Boswell, Paulete Coleman, Ann Dickerson, Jessiel King, Norma Green, Mary Johnson, Alice Watkins, Jean Garrott and a host of others. Before taking leave of the very delightful affair (and it was just that) learned from the gent of the house that new additions would include a barbecue pit, more space for dancing. Believe me, when completed, the Hill home will be the perfect little show place. . . .

Must mention the Old Fashioned Bar-B-Que given by the Iotas last Saturday night. The outdoor affair was quite the event of the week. Dorothy Redd, Irma Brown, and Norma McDaniel were out in front with the script that went on sale. Gloria Vaughn, wearing a darling pink ballerina skirt, was flashing her personality smile throughout the evening as she did her bit for the affair, that will benefit the sorority's delegation fund. By the way, Rip Ridley of the Phi Beta Sigma frat was the life of the party, along with Cookie Cook, Joe Oliver, Michael Ellington and Jimmy Stafford, to name a few. Nelson Galloway and better half Doris enjoyed dancing along with Chuck and Louise Collier, who were guests of Elizabeth Kennard King. Arriving toward the end of the affair were Clara Taylor and Frances Smith. Euvolda Morris, Amanda Greenwood, Sidney Jackson and sister Evangeline were also guest listed. Eddie Mae Armstrong took time out from her legal studies to enjoy the affair along with her good friend Mel Bouey. Quite an affair. By the way, the Iota Phi Lambda national takes place in N. Y. this year and to give you a hint on what '49 holds on the convention scene, the national, which will be the 20th anniversary of the sorority will be held here in dear ole L. A. . . .

Missed Hazel Scott's performance at the Bowl Saturday night. My girl Friday, however, brings back the story that she was greater than ever. As per usual, the "Symphony Under the Stars," was attended by many visitors to the city on that night especially, as well as a few thousand residents. The bowl held its capacity, and you know, that's many a person. John Weems escorted his sub-deb sister, Carrie and Antoinette Brown to the concert, marking their first exciting night at the bowl. . . . The threesome topped the evening by enjoying an after snack in Hollywood. . . .

Many happy returns of the day, to Lillian Lomax, who celebrated her birthday on Tuesday night in grand style. Gertrude (EAGLE) Gipson, entertained with a Surprise party honoring her sister, and the scene of the festivity was the home of Atty. Curtis Taylor. Fourth Estaters, and entertainers galore were much in evidence at the affair that proved a real surprise to the little lady of the hour and loads of fun. Gifts and more gifts were received by Lillian, who was quite speechless over the whole wonderful idea of a surprise party.

The Gerald Stovalls Home From Honeymoon Spent In Northern California

One of the most fashionable weddings of the mid-summer season took place on July 25, when lovely Pauline Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Jones, recited marriage vows with Gerald Leonard Stovall, son of Dr. and Mrs. Leonard Stovall, in the main sanctuary of the People's Independent Church of Christ.

Promptly at 4:00 p.m. Mrs. Fannie Benjamin played a medley of beautiful bridal music. Minutes before the bridal party marched in, Miss Ella Mae Hilson lifted her beautiful voice in the familiar wedding song "Because."

The church was beautifully decorated in fresh cut flowers. The center aisle was flanked with white and green floral work, the altar was a picturesque scene of white flowers, with a dash of color added in baskets on either end that were filled with different shades of pink flowers.

The soft colors of pink, yellow, turquoise and orchid were used

Kappa Concert to Feature Famed Atwater Kent Winners At Philharmonic in Fall

Winners of the famed Atwater Kent music contest will be presented to the public on Sept. 26 at the Philharmonic Auditorium. This musical offering has been long awaited by the lovers of the arts. The sponsoring group is made up of the three local chapters of Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity; L. A. Alumni, Upsilon, and Beta Omega. The general chairmen of the concert that will augment the building and scholarship funds of the fraternity are: Polemarcks: Robert Green, Julius Brown and Norman B. Houston. Assisting on the committee are Halley Harding, Tom Bradley, Edwin Sneed, Bill Jones and Horace Johnson.

The artists taking part on the program represent separate areas and have many devoted followers. In shaping the concert program the Kappas have used some of the finest musical organizers in the city. Appearing will be: William De Valentine, basso cantata, Kent audition winner of '48. Young Valentine started his musical career at the age of 13, while a student at Los Angeles high school where he appeared in many student operatic productions. He has appeared with the KFI Symphony Orchestra and in leading churches of the city.

Georgia Ann Laster, 21 year old coloratura soprano, has appeared in several student recitals at the University of Southern California. An Atwater Kent Audition winner for '48, she is soloist with the university's a cappella choir. Miss Laster is a member of the Alpha Kappa Alpha sorority and will be accompanied for this concert by the well known pianist, Bernice Lawson of Delta Sigma Theta.

A native of Mexico, Atwater Kent Audition winner Felix F. Uribe has been studying under the GI bill at the L. A. Conservatory of Music. He is a product of the Los Angeles Schools and is a member of the opera department of the Conservatory.

Kenneth Chapman, baritone, Kent winner in '47, is a teacher of voice at the L. A. Conservatory of music. He has appeared in "Romeo and Juliet," "Carmen" and many other operatic performances.

Katherine Hilgenberg, mezzo soprano, has had wide experience. She is a student of opera repertoire and operatic dramatics at the American Operatic Laboratory.

Following the concert a reception will be held, with a guest list highlighted by the many patrons of the Kappa Concert. The women of the Silhouette club will be in full charge of the reception. Tickets for the concert are now on sale by any member of the fraternity and are being handled by 70 Mutual Ticket agencies.

SHOPPING WITH DORIS

By DORIS AUSTIN

Hello There:

Did you know that:

To be wonderfully groomed for fall and winter does not necessitate a large clothes allowance or even a lot of clothes, if skilfully plan better yet, let your shopper buy for you. No time lost from work, no shopping worries or problems, personal attention to all with free exchange services if you are not completely satisfied. Call Shopper Doris, CE. 2-0819, for information or appointment. Do your fall shopping during the many August clearance sales, save money, time and temperament.

If you can only afford one "good" coat for all-around wear, you'll be fashion-wise to choose one with a slightly flared back of tailored lines good for dress and casual wear.

The House of George, 5870 Hollywood Blvd., Ladies' and Men's Custom Tailors, offers the best in tailoring, fine fabrics plus superb work at prices you can afford.

The odder your fabric combinations for fall clothes the smarter dressed you will be. Combine wool and satin or crepe, lame and velveteens, taffeta and woolen with corduroy your main bet for casual and sportswear.

The Sheffield Men's Shop and Flower Patio, 4410 Avalon, your neighborhood shop of distinctive men's wear and original floral designs offers the best in quality, merchandise and service.

VACATIONERS

Leola Beavers is going to breeze through the sultry August month vacationing in the windy city of Chicago, and taking in the Delta convention in St. Louis. Tuesday she entrained for points East, with quite a wardrobe.

New York seems to be the coatless months magnet for most vacationers. Mrs. J. R. Portwig left Sunday, of course she will take part in the national Medical convention, however she will spend quite some time seeing the sights of New York, she left Sunday. Mrs. Edith Bailey, who holds a nation position with the Auxiliary has also left to attend the convention. Ouida and David Williams left Saturday for New York. The little Williams youngsters will spend the rest of the summer with relatives at the family's lake home up Elsinore way. . . . Dr. Vada Somerville, with a specially made wardrobe, departed for Philadelphia and other points East, the early part of the week. Most of her special outfits were originated by Julian. . . . September will find Dorothy and Jerry Nicholas joining their husbands for the second time this year in Europe. This time they plan to take the youngsters with them. Already they have completed plans for visits to Belgium, Egypt and North Africa. . . . Lt. and Mrs. Leslie King have hied off to the northern part of the state again. As per usual they will spend some time with the Walt Lovings. . . . The John Colemans and Ish Evans must be finding the Olympic games very interesting. To date, some of their good friends have not received even a card from them. Bet they are having quite a time of it. . . . Charming Frieda DeKnight, author of "Date With a Dish" will spend about 10 more days in the city with Rene her better half. The past few days she has been busy getting her Xmas copy ready for Ebony. Believe it or not, Tuesday she was as busy as could be expected instructing florist on how to decorate a Xmas tree for the Ebony pictures. Next week, the EAGLE will be carrying a special feature on this noted foods editor.

WELL! WELL! WELL!

Happy to see Dr. E. I. Robinson up and out again following a very serious illness. . . . Received a little note this week from EAGLE music critic Albert McNeil who has been teaching summer school at Howard U. Jots that the girl of his dreams is Joyce Thompson of St. Louis, a charming and petite senior. She plans to visit the angel city in December around the holidays. Methinks wedding bells will soon ring out again. . . .

Friday night, the Kappa Scrollers will be playing hosts at the looked forward to Red and White. . . . Saturday night the Playtimers will be serving cocktails and what have you to a group of friends at their annual affair. . . . On the serious side, and making deadline, we extend deepest sympathies to the Wright family, in the passing of their mother. . . . 'Till Next Week.

in the old fashioned gowns worn by the bridesmaids. The procession started from the front of the auditorium, with the maids and ushers joining at the rear of the church and walking down the center aisle together. The beautiful cascade bouquets carried by the maids were tied with rainbow colored ribbon. The maids were: Mary Priestly, Yolande Stovall and Enid Jones. The little flower girl was Dale Pierson, daughter of the Earl Piersons. Charles D. Kennedy served the bridegroom as best man. The ushers were: Clayborn Robinson, Theodore Williams and Paul Jones, twin brother of the bride. Master Henry McPherson Jr., son of Dr. and Mr. Henry McPherson was ring bearer.

TRADITIONAL SATIN

The bride, who was given in marriage by her older brother, Mr. Frederick Jones, wore a gown of traditional white satin. A full length train and a smart neckline were features of her gown. Her flowing veil was held in place by a dainty cap with a slight brim. She carried a cascade of white orchids with satin streamers.

The reception followed immediately after the wedding at the Casa Raphael. The couple received their many friends in the appointed room that was beautifully decorated in colorful flowers.

Hostesses at the reception were: Dr. Vada Somerville, Mrs. Emily Portwig, Mrs. Gentry, Mrs. L. W. Oats, Mrs. C. Davis, Misses Marilyn Ward, Gloria Crouch, Mary Pollard, Harriet Kelly and Diane Lewis. Many beautiful and useful gifts were received by the newlyweds.

The bride is a graduate of Thomas Jefferson High. She holds membership in the Phi-Delphian social club and is presently employed by the government. Her husband is taking a pre-med course at UCLA. He is a member of Gamma Xi chapter of Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity.

The honeymoon was spent in northern California. Oakland and San Francisco were high points.

Raisin' Cain

By CARL L. CAIN

During the past few weeks, I have attempted to review some of the causes for the present turmoil and disagreement in the world among peoples and nations. The lackness of both peace and war, today, can be attributed in some cases to poverty, the lack of understanding, the unwillingness of peoples to "turn the other cheek." We can't agree and live peacefully with the folks next door, too often. The same pattern is reflected internationally. The systems of government and economy in many nations are inefficient to deal with both internal and external problems of government. And finally, because the political status in this country is so important to the cause of peace, this column has recommended the party that's running on a ticket of peace and not war in November, the Progressive Party.

Last week To Be Continued followed the closing sentences of "We can be friends with the Russian people and we must. Certainly our chances for friendship won't grow any stronger if this war-mongering continues." And the war-mongering is pretty bad, today. It seems that we can't be satisfied unless we have a common enemy—or a scapegoat — as some would say, to let loose our hates and fears upon. Any nation making a false move will be granted that right to serve as our scapegoat immediately, and too any nation that has an internal system of economy that contrasts sharply with our own.

We fear many things today; uncertainty of the election in November overshadows a large number of people. Now that fear that Mr. Roosevelt told us to avoid is catching up with us rapidly. If we can have a common enemy upon which to unleash all our fears, we're satisfied. When all the nations of the world had to band together to defeat Hitler and the Japanese — our common enemies at the time — we got along with Russia. But now we have no common enemy, and so we must bicker and fight among ourselves, all because of the fear and uncertainty that has overtaken us. We fear ourselves, from within, or the present witch-hunt and name-calling campaigns would not be so entirely successful.

Now we'd better head off that fear and war-mongering campaign at home right away. But war-mongering isn't a cause of fear—but a cause of profit. Wallace would take away the excess profit from the manufacturing of war materials. That's why they're fighting the Progressive Party with all they have, but quite unsuccessfully . . . little can be done after the flood had broken the levies. If we're unsuccessful in heading off the war-mongering, the inevitable consequence will be war. We will hate the mention of the word Russia as we came to hate the mention of Germany for almost half a century. Movies can do a lot to help to strengthen peaceful relationships between America and the Soviet Union. In my estimation, the IRON CURTAIN had the opposite effect. We're being asked to transfer our hates from the gruesome Nazis and slimy Japs to the Russians the potent Red enemies.

If we have a war with Russia anytime in the future, we will be as guilty and as dead as anyone else, whether we caused it or not. Certainly we are doing nothing to prevent it. The generals and the munition makers do not die in the battles. The boy you see riding the bicycle, the newsboy on the corner, the boy who delivers the groceries on Saturday mornings — are the ones who will die; the boys in the Church Choir. And it's the same in Russia. The time to make peace with Russia is now—today. The whole situation is no longer a joke but a frightfully dangerous reality. I appeal to the people with common sense—don't be taken in by the red-baiting and the war-mongering. Don't deny yourselves peace at this time. Do your bit by not being falsely led on. Personally do your bit to assure peace for the world in the months and years ahead, in every way possible.

Too long for a FOOTNOTE, so I guess I'd better call it a LEG-NOTE:

A POEM—THE ENEMY LAD

Once when I was in a war
I met a young enemy lad,
A chap of five, no more
Whose eyes were so gentle, and sad.

I was a rugged Yank,
And he was a young lad.
But he did not see me as a rugged Yank,
Through his eyes, so gentle and sad.
Now this little chap—enemy lad,
Saw me as a weary soldier on enemy soil;
A soldier all worn with duty's toil,
Through his eyes so gentle and sad.

I stopped to rest my burden—a heavy gun
And the little lad came near me.
With a smile as bright as the morning sun.
But his eyes were so gentle, and sad.

I removed my helmet as he came near.
And my heart grew weak and sad.
For he extended a tiny hand and tousled my hair.
His eyes were so gentle, and sad.

A few words we tried to exchange.
I a Yank—so bold and bad.
But his expression did not change,
Nor his eyes—so gentle, and sad.

He wished me the time of day
With such slim English words as he had.
And I longed for something kind to say.
For his eyes were so gentle, and sad.

But what had I to give
To this little enemy lad.
But the sight of a weapon—that he'd ne'er forgive.
This little lad — his eyes so gentle, and sad.

He waited and there fell an awkward pause.
Then he clutched my hand and I was glad
For many a reason and many a cause
To befriend the enemy lad — his eyes gentle, and sad.

For his eyes to my heart had done
What never a bullet could have done, this lad,
Nor bullets from a dozen guns.
His eyes so gentle, and sad.

42 Diabetic Children Travel To Camp

There is nothing particularly unusual about children leaving for summer camp these days, but the 42 youngsters who left the Childrens Hospital in Los Angeles last week for the San Bernardino mountains rarely get that chance.

They are all diabetics.

The children, who require constant attention and can never go far from their life-giving hypodermics of insulin and special diets, left for 12 full days of outdoor encampment. Under the direction of a dietitian, 10 camp counsellors, two doctors and a nurse, they will roam the 12-acre camp grounds almost like normal children.

The annual encampment was first begun in 1941 by the Diabetic Children's Fund Society under the direction of Mrs. Hugh Sutherland. Camp grounds are donated free by the non-sectarian University Religious Conference of UCLA and Los Angeles City College. Funds are provided by the West Hollywood Rotary club and by individual donations.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By REV. IKE EVANS, D.D.

Subject: Baruch, the Scribe. Lesson Text and Outline, Jeremiah 36:4-8, 17:24, 32. Motto Text, Psalm 119:105.

INTRODUCTION

Baruch, whose name means "blessed," came of illustrious family as Josephus said; for his grandfather, Masseiah, was "governor of the city" under Josiah; and his brother, Seraiah, was "chief chamberlain" under Zedekiah; while his father, Neriah, must have been prominent in the reign of Jehoiakim. His service with Jeremiah gave him his chief distinction, for he was the prophet's trusted friend as custodian of a deed to land bought near Anathoth; his amanuensis and agent in the production and preservation of his prophecies; his co-worker in fallen Jerusalem and fellow exile in Egypt. One tradition says that both died in Egypt, though another says that Baruch survived Jeremiah and that he was carried to Babylon where he wrote the "Apocryphal Book of Baruch" and died in 574 B.C., twelve years after the fall of Jerusalem.

COMMENTS

1. The writing of the scripture is by divine appointment. The instructions which Jeremiah gave to Baruch, his scribe, pursuant to the command he had received from God, and the writing of the roll accordingly. God bade Jeremiah write, but, it should seem, he had not the pen of a ready writer, he could not write fast, or fair, so as Baruch could, and therefore he made use of him as his amanuesis.

God dispenses his gifts variously; some have a good faculty at speaking, others at writing, and neither can say to the other: We have no need for you. The writing and repeating of the sermons that have been preached may contribute very much towards the answering of the great ends of preaching. What we have heard and known it is good for us to hear again, that we may know it better. To preach and write the same thing is safe and profitable, and many times very necessary, and we must be glad to hear a good word from God, though we have it, as here, at second hand. Both ministers and people must do what they can when they cannot do what they would. Prayer to God for grace to turn us is necessary in order to our turning; and those that are convinced by the word of God of the necessity of returning to Him will present their supplication to Him for that grace. And the consideration of this, that great is the anger which God has pronounced against us for sin, should quicken both our prayers and our endeavors. Now, according to these orders, Baruch did read out of the book the words of the Lord, whenever there was a holy convoction.

2. It is common for sinners, under conviction, to endeavor to shake them off, bu shifting off the prosecution of them to other persons, as these princes here, or to another more convenient season. They asked Baruch a trifling question: How he wrote all these words, as if they suspected there was something extraordinary in it; but Baruch gives them a plain answer, that there was nothing but what was common in the manner of the writing, Jeremiah dictated, and he wrote.

But thus it is common for those who would avoid the convictions of the word of God to start needless questions about the way and manner of the inspiration of it.

But those who thus despise the word of God will soon make it to appear, as this king did, that they hate it too, and have not only low, but ill thoughts of it. Jehudi had not patience to hear it read through as the princes had, but, when he had heard three or four leaves read, in a rage, he cut it with his penknife, and threw it piece by piece into the fire, that he might be sure to see it all consumed. This was as daring a piece of impiety as a man could lightly be guilty of, and a most impudent affront to the God of heaven, whose message this was.

Thus he showed his impatience of reproff; being resolved to persist in sin, he would by no means bear to be told of his faults. He showed his indignation at Baruch and Jeremiah; he would have cut them in pieces, and burnt them, if he had had them in his reach, when he was in this passion. He expressed an obstinate resolution never to comply with the designs and intentions of the warnings given him; he will do what he will, whatever God by his prophets says to the contrary. He foolishly hoped to defeat the threatenings denounced against him, as if God knew not how to execute the sentence when the roll was gone on which it was written.

He thought he had effectively provided that the things contained in this roll should spread no further, which was the care of the chief priest concerning the gospel. They had told him how this roll had been read to the people and to the princes. "But," says he, "I will take a course that shall prevent its being read any more."

See what an enmity there is against God in the carnal mind, and wonder at the patience of God, that he bears with such indignities done to Him. So soon, so easily, do good impressions wear off. They showed some concern till they saw how light the king made of it, and then they shook off all that concern. They rent not their garments, as Josiah, this Jehoiakim's own father, did when he had the book of law read to him, though it was not so particular as the contents of this roll were, nor so immediately adapted to the present posture of affairs. As God is one mind, and none can turn him, so He has still more arrows in his quiver; and those who contend with God's woes do but prepare for themselves heavier of the same kind.

COMMENT ON THE MOTTO TEXT

The nature of the word of God, and the great intention of giving it to the world; it is a lamp and a light, it discovers to us, concerning God and ourselves, that which otherwise we could not have known; it shows us what is amiss, and will be dangerous; it directs us in our work and way, and a dark place indeed the world would be without it. It is a lamp which we may set up by us, and take into our hands for our own particular use.

The commandment is a lamp kept burning with the oil of the Spirit; it is like the lamps in the sanctuary, and the pillar of fire to Israel. The use we should make of it. It must be not only a light to our eyes, to gratify them, and fill our heads with speculations, but a light to our feet and to our path, to direct us in the right ordering of our conversation, both in the choice of our way in general and in the particular steps we take in that way, that we may not take a false way nor a false step in the right way. We are then truly sensible of God's goodness to us in giving us such a lamp and light when we make it a guide to our feet, our path.

MRS. ORA C. VENERABLE, widow of the late K. O. Venerable, a pioneer in Los Angeles, died Tuesday morning, July 27, at her home, 972 East 42nd Place.—(See story.)

Rev. Russell Moves For Merger of Negro and Non-Negro Church Groups

(N.P.B.)—Rev. Clayton D. Russell, pastor of the Peoples Independent Church of Christ and Community Centers in Los Angeles, and ead of the body known as the Biennial Council of Community Churches and Centers, announced that a move to merge this body with a non-Negro organization known as the National Council of Community Churches, is becoming one of near realization.

Delegates representing member churches of the Biennial Council of Community Churches will meet in Los Angeles, Monday, August 16, to discuss the merger. The meeting will be held in the Neighborhood Community Church, Rev. H. Mansfield Collins, pastor.

Rev. Russell led a delegation to a conference held in Columbus, Ohio, last year, where the conversations were begun for the merger. Rev. Dr. Roy A. Burkhart, pastor of the First Community Church, Columbus, head of the National Council of Community Churches, was host to the conference. Reports show that the delegates from both organizations approved the merger, a formal meeting will be held in Los Angeles, 1949, to complete the merger.

Rev. Russell has worked for the merger of the two organizations for the purpose of achieving a broader and more harmonious interracial Protestanism.

Ministers of Gospel Oppose Draft Act

Angeles have united in a protest against the draft act, and are urging that Sunday, August 22, a week before registration begins should be observed as a day of mourning and repentance.

In a written statement, they declare that they believe that "complete refusal to conform to this Act, beginning with refusal to register, is the most Christian and patriotic position to take. It would be disastrous if peacetime conscription were accepted without protest and without persistent witness against the evils which it entails."

On the day of national mourning, August 22, these matters should be discussed in the houses of worship, and should be laid before the people and especially before the young men of draft age, the statement urges.

Among the subjects suggested are: the need of repentance as a nation; the dangers of peacetime conscription and the importance of continued protest against this measure; the need of nation-wide prayer for a general peace settlement and the universal abolition of national armaments and conscription; and the responsibility of young men not to give unquestioning obedience to secular authority, as is demanded in totalitarian lands, but to decide each for himself with regard to conscription.

The statement noted the provisions under the law for conscientious objectors, and pledged loyal support to all young men who refuse to register.

Nationally the statement is signed by a group of men such as Harry Emerson Fosdick, John Haynes Holmes, Nels Ferre, and others. Locally ministers of all churches, Negro and white, have signed. Among them are: Rev. Frederick M. Jordan, pastor First A.M.E. Church; and Rev. E. W. Rakestraw, of Wesley Methodist church.

Dr. Morris Speaks at Tennessee State

NASHVILLE, Tenn.—Dr. Charles Satchell Morris, II, of Los Angeles, formerly a faculty member of the Tennessee State College, appeared here as a lecturer under the auspices of the Walter S. Davis lecture series. His subject was: "Looking Three Ways." He said men must be unsatisfied with the past, organized for the present, and prepared for the future—economically, educationally, and spiritually.

Dr. and Mrs. Morris have just completed a 12,000 mile automobile trip which included a trip via boat to Cuba.

Final Services for Dr. Frank A. Pearl

Final services were held for the late Dr. Frank Adrian Pearl who died Saturday, July 24, at the First A.M.E. Church, 8th and Towne avenue, at 10 a.m. Thursday, July 29. Ceremonies were conducted by the Lodge with which Dr. Pearl was affiliated.

The services opened with the hymn, "Abide With Me." Rev. John L. Branham then offered prayer; Rev. Clayton D. Russell read the Scripture lesson; Rev. George R. Garner sang a solo, "I've Done My Work," and later the solo, "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere;" Dr. J. S. Sommerville gave the tribute from "The Boule," and also read the obituary; and Rev. Frederick D. Jordan gave the eulogy.

Among the many organizations with which Dr. Pearl was affiliated were: American Legion, Benj. J. Bowie Post No. 228; Ancient Order of Forresters; Boule; County Republican Assembly Committee; Disaster Relief Committee; Medical, Dental, and Pharmaceutical Association; Selective Service Board; Veterans of Foreign Wars; and World War I Officers Association.

Interment was made in Rosedale cemetery, with military services held at the cemetery.

Baptist Temple News

Baptist Temple members invite their friends to visit their church, especially at 11:30 a.m., to hear their pastor, Rev. J. C. Sweeney, preach one of his great sermons. It will do you good to hear him, they say.

FINAL REST—Guards of the Ben Bowie Post stand at attention, as active pall bearers carry the body of the late Dr. Pearl, pioneer medic and civic leader, to its final resting place. Ralphe W. Porter, Dr. Mahlon Cooley, Dr. R. S. Whitaker, Dr. J. A. Somerville, Arthur J. Williams and Buell Thomas are the pall bearers. (See story.)

The manner of giving shows the character of the giver, more than the gift itself.—Lavater.

It is not enough to help the feeble up, but to support him after.—Shakespeare.

THROUGH THE YEARS

In the 23 years we have been serving families of this community, we have always considered fine service and fair dealing our obligation to the bereaved family. Through years to come we shall continue, always, to provide the service increasingly preferred by bereaved families.

A Proved Plan to Eliminate Funeral Expense

A new funeral service policy, recommended by Angelus Funeral Home, pays all expenses regardless of how little has been paid in, costs only a few cents a day. Phone or stop in for free information today—no obligation.

"Unsurpassed Service Through The Years"

HUNDREDS HAVE SAID, as time has passed, that the ceremony we conducted was one of correct appointment, and that our personal assistance was with a spirit of sincere helpfulness.

SUCH PUBLIC CONFIDENCE is not won by words. Actions are the only reliable symptoms of sympathetic sincerity. And that is what you get in a CONNER - JOHNSON service, whether it is one of utmost simplicity, or the most elaborate.

Consult us about our recommended pre-payment plan of funeral expenses, with no obligation. It costs only a few cents a day.

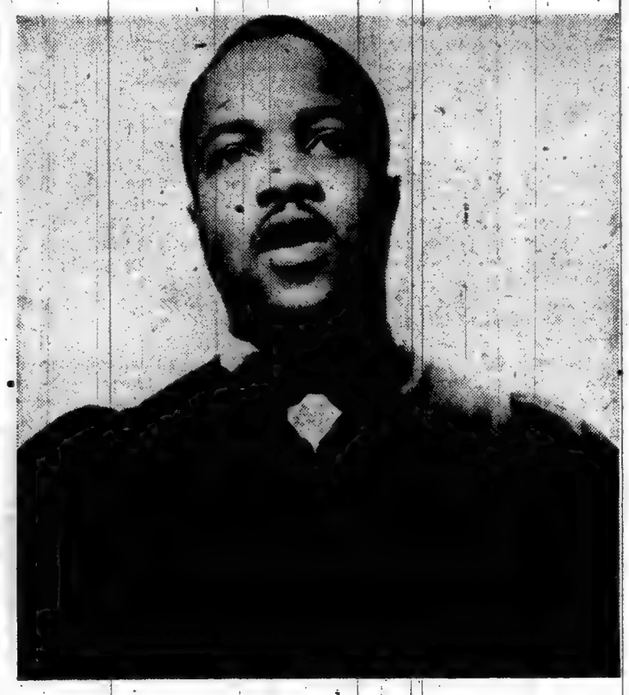
Debt Free, McCoy Baptist Church Celebrates

McCOY IN FIFTH ANNIVERSARY

BEAUTIFUL McCOY BAPTIST CHURCH pictured above was the scene of great rejoicing last week as the pastor and congregation celebrated the completion of 5 years of wonderful progress.

The fifth Anniversary of Rev. E. A. Anderson, pastor of the McCoy Memorial Baptist Church at 802 East 46th Street, was celebrated last week. The deserving pastor received one of the most elaborate anniversaries ever in the church history. Rv. Anderson has done a great work at the McCoy Memorial Baptist Church in the past five years. He has remodeled the church and purchased furnishings at a cost of more than $35,000 and the church is at the present time debt free. The membership has increased by some 1400 members. The work accomplished by Rev. Anderson shows the evidence of intellectualism and divine guidance. So wonderful have been his accomplishments its is hanrdly necessary to speak of them, they can be seen at the first glance.



The program began Sunday afternoon, July 25, 1948, at 3:00 p.m., with Mrs. Gertrude Buford, presiding and the Calvary Baptist Church of Santa Monica, Rev. W. P. Carter, pastor, in charge of the worship. Mrs. M. A. Lockehart brought a paper on "Our Pastor as a Leader" and little Miss Luene Brantley thrilled the audience with a beautiful solo.

On Monday evening the St. Paul Baptist Church, Rev. John L. Branham, pastor, worshipped with us, with Mrs. Leona Yates, presiding. Mrs. Leola Douglas held the audience spellbound with her wonderful reading, "Our Pastor as a Master Builder". Mrs. Amy Thompsons' beautiful solo helped make this evening worship one of the most beautiful and spiritual ever witnessed.

Tuesday evening the Second Baptist and New Hope Baptist Churches of Long Beach were in charge of the worship. Bro. W. J. Bogan, presiding, Rev. N. J. Kirkpatrick directed the music and Rev. H. B. Charles brought the message .

On Wednesday evening the New Zion Baptist and Opportunity Baptist Churches with Rev. Thomas P. Moss and Rev. E. D. Smallwood, pastors, were with us. Mrs. Fannie Lou James was soloist of the evening andMrs. Gertrude Jackson brought the reading on "Our Pastor as a Gospel Minister."

Soloist and Director of Music

Thursday evening the Sunday School and Missionary Society of the McCoy Memorial Baptist Church were in charge of the worship, Rev. H. B. Charles brought the message. Mrs. Thelma Williams presented a reading on "Our Pastor as a Missionary" and Mrs. D. D. Williams was soloist. This was another of the succesful service both piritual and financial. Mr. L. F. Moore, presided.

The visiting church on Friday evening was the Second Baptist Church, Dr. J. R. Henderson, pastor. The Youth Choir of the Second Baptist Church brought the music. Mr. John Williams presided and Mr. Aaron Bryant, famous for his readings, spoke on "Our Pastor and the Youth". Solo Mrs. B. M. McElroy.

To climax the Anniversary, on Sunday evening at 3:00 p.m., the Victory Baptist and Greater First Baptist Churches, with Rev. A. A. Peters and Rev. R. R. Williams, pastors, were with us. Mrs. Velma Rivers and our Director of Music, Mr. Cecil W. Gandy, were soloist of the evening. Mr. Herbert Miller, presiding.

The decoration committee, with Bro. Ira [illegible] as Chairman, Mrs. Gracie Hughes, Mrs. Roberta Ford, with the assistance of the Anderson Florist, are to be commended for their beautiful and original decorations throughout the week.

The Pastor and Mrs. Anderson wish to thank each member, Friend and Visiting Church for the splendid, unselfish spirit shown them during their anniversary. Surely this is inspiration to an even greater work, with the help of God in the years to come.

You are also invited to worship at McCoy any time it is convenient for you to do so. Our Church and our hearts are always open to receive you.

Rev. E. A. Anderson, Pastor.

Nat'l Convention of Disciples of Christ Meets in Detroit

Rev. M. Frederick Mitchell, 3309 Hooper ave., committee chairman of the National Christian Missionary convention of the Disciples of Christ, will leave next Thursday, August 12, for Detroit, Mich., where the 32nd annual convention of the national organization will be held August 17-22. Others in the Los Angeles delegation are: Rev. Baxter Carroll Duke, Rev. Walter Bryant and Rev. Clifford B. Spears.

The Los Angeles delegation and the churche sof this district are very anxious to have the 33rd annual convention to be held next year in Los Angeles. The local city and county officials, and many civic and religious groups have filed letters of invitation with the committees of the Los Angeles delegation. The California Eagle is happy to unite in this request for the 33rd convention of the National Christian Missionary convention of the Disciples of Christ to be held in Los Angeles.

There will be about 1000 delegates attending the convention in Detroit.

Bishop Bowen Welcomed

ORANGEBURG, S. C.—Methodists of the South Carolina Conference Atlantic Coast Area, extended a big welcome to Bishop J. W. E. Bowen at special exercises held at Claflin College on July 8. Bishop Bowen was making his first visit hede since his elevation to the Episcopacy.

New Church Center Opened

The All Nations Christian Church of America, 3210 West Pico blvd., was opened Sunday, August 1, by Bishop W. L. Sledge. Services in the new church will be conducted each Sunday at 11 a.m. and at 7 p.m.

Bishop W. L. Sledge, founder and director, left Monday night for Chicago to hold a general conference. He left in charge Rev. R. E. Higley, D.D. as pastor. Bishop Sledge will return to Los Angeles in September.

All persons are invited to attend the services.

Rev. Crawford Mt. Olive Pastor

Rev. M. E. Crawford, formerly of San Antonio, Texas, is now pastoring the Mount Olive Baptist Church, with services held in the Christian Center Building, 48th street near Avalon Blvd.

Mount Olive Baptist had its beginning only last Sunday, August 1, at 3 p.m., with the Rev. F. D. Ferrell moderating the meeting. The members of the new church wish to thank all who came to assist and to encourage them. Services will be held each Sunday at 3 p.m. in the Christian Center Building. All are invited to attend, especially those who have no church home.

Rev. Crawford is a graduate of Prairie View University, Texas, and is a former student of Howard University, Washington. Before coming to California he served as superintendent of the N.Y.A. work center at Guadalupe College, Texas, and in Baptist churches throughout Texas. He is the son of the late Wm. Crawford, San Antonio, Texas.

Generosity is the flower of justice.—Nathaniel Hawthorne.

Notice

The Israel Missionary Baptist Church, 4501 Compton Ave., cordially invites the church going public to share the gala program planned for Sunday, August 8. Begin the day with us at Sunday School. Listen at 11:00 a.m. about the "Chief Cornerstone" by Pastor H. D. Higdon. Pause for an attractive nourishing meal prepared by the capable cooks of Israel, served in our spacious pleasant basement.

Reconvene at 3:00 p.m. for the history making cornerstone laying conducted by the ministers of Los Angeles City and County.

At 8 p.m., the Golden Jubilee singers shall present a soul stirring musical in their own individual styling.

If my plea for one day of your life does not seem desirable, please accept a portion of it and let us show you the hospitality of Israel.

For the next six consecutive Saturdays, various auxiliaries of Israel are sponsoring large scaled dinners. Plan your program to eat at least one home cooked meal with Israel each Saturday. We will deliver if you can't iall in person at the church.

"Come with us and we will do thee good."

Rev. H. D. Higdon, pastor.

Knights of Pythias Celebrate

Pythian banners, flags and streamers were unfurled and flown to the breeze last Sunday celebrating the presence of Supreme Chancellor R. A. Hester, of Dallas, Texas.

Among the several affairs arranged in his honor during his short stay was the public reception Sunday afternoon at the Elks Hall where many of his old friends from the Lone Star state mingled with members of the Pythian family from every section of California to meet and greet the little Giant of the K of P.

The very interesting spetch by the Supreme Chancellor highlited a delightful program after which the good old-fashioned hand-shaking bee and refreshments were in order.

The Supreme Chancellor is on official tour of the Supreme Realm and will visit lodges in Washington, Oregon and Colorado before returning East. We wish him God speed and may he return soon.

Baha'i Faith Lecture

"In the Infinite Meadows" is the subject of the lecture which will be given by Mrs. Isabelle Downing at Los Angeles headquarters of the Baha'i World Faith, located at 331 South New Hampshire Avenue, on Sunday, August 8, at 11:00 a.m.

"Let us turn toward the spiritual Sun and acquire a spiritual light which will render the world luminous, so that we may be freed from matter and acquire celestial qualities, that this limited existence may become eternal."—Abdul Baha.

Prominent Pioneer, Social And Church Leader Passes

Los Angeles mourns the passing of Mrs. Ora O. Venerable, widow of the late K. O. Venerable, who died Tuesday morning, July 29. She was a pioneer in Los Angeles, and was loved by many for her Christian activities. She lived for many years at 972 East 42nd Place, where she made friends among all her neighbors.

Among the many social and religious clubs and organizations in which she was active leader are: The Willing Workers Club of the First A.M.E. Church; Hiawatha Temple No. 91, the Elks; Pastor's Aid Band and the Willing Workers Club of Phillips Temple C.M.E.; the Masonic New Day Club; and the Florida and Alabama Social Club.

Services were carried out in the traditional manner by the Hiawatha Temple No. 91, accompanied by the Elks from her church, Phillips Temple C.M.E. The eulogy was delivered by the Rev. Lane C. Cleaves.

Mrs. Venerable is survived by an uncle and several nieces and nephews.

The family wishes to thank the many friends for their kindness and for the beautiful flowers. Also for the more than 200 cards sent to Mrs. Venerable during her illness.

Christian Science Sunday Theme 'Spirit'

"God is a Spirit: and they that worship him must worship him in spirit and in truth." This declaration of Jesus from John is the Golden Text of the Sunday Lesson-Sermon on "Spirit" in all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston.

A Bible passage from Joel reads. "Fear not, O land; be glad and rejoice: for the Lord will do great things. . . . Be glad then, ye children of Zion, and rejoice in the Lord your God: . . . And ye shall know that, I am in the midst of Israel, and that I am the Lord your God, and none else: and my people shall never be ashamed. And it shall come to pass afterward, that I will pour out my spirit upon all flesh."

In "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" Mary Baker Eddy says, "As mortals begin to understand Spirit, they give up the belief that there is any true existence apart from God." "Material sense never helps mortals to understand Spirit, God. Through spiritual sense only, man comprehends and loves Deity."

Rev. LaBeaux

W. L. LaBeaux, pastor of the Emmanuel Baptist Church, Beloit, Wisconsin, was unanimously elected Moderator of the Wisconsin General Association in its recent session held in Beloit. Wisconsin is a pioneer Baptist state. Rev. LaBeaux went to Wisconsin from Texarkana, Texas.

He who is afraid of being too generous has lost the power of being magnanimous. The best man or woman is the most unselfed.—Mary Baker Eddy.

Services For Mrs. Wright Held Today

Mrs. Gertrude Wright, one of the founders, and a past president of the Hooper Avenue P.T.A., and an untiring and devoted champion of youth activities passed away last Friday following a long illness. Mrs. Wright had been a resident of Los Angeles for over twenty-five years, and during most of that period she was one of the most active members of the Second Baptist Church. Until the illness that resulted in her death, Mrs. Wright was a zealous worker in religious and all worthy civic causes. She was a prominent member of the Kappa Mothers Club and the Delta Mothers Club, and her counsel and leadership was an asset to both organizations.

Surviving are seven children, Mrs. Miriam Lee of Detroit, Michigan, Mrs. Jewel Hall, Dr. Warner R. Wright, Miss Irene Wright, Mrs. Winona Martin, Mrs. Mercedes Scott and Attorney Crispus A. Wright; two daughters-in-law, four sons-in-law and ten grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at the Second Baptist Church this Thursday (today) afternoon at one o'clock. The Rev. Dr. J. Raymond Henderson, pastor of the church, will officiate. The Peoples Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

Give, and it shall be given unto you; good measure, pressed down, and shaken together, and running over.—Luke 6:38.

THE COMFORTER

Are you passing through a time of deep sorrow or change which has left you to shoulder various responsibilities and find the burden too hard to bear?

Perhaps the savings of your life have suddenly disappeared. Instead of helping others, you must be helped; or you must leave the warm nest where you have been sheltered from life's storms to go alone into an unfriendly world. Or, maybe, you have been called to assume the burden of some other life, taking no rest for yourself till you have steered it through dark and difficult seas into the haven.

You need outside help to support you through such a crisis, a comforting hand to be always near to give you a lift. When Prof. Herman is so able and willing, why not let him? Write him today.

E. H. Dear Prof. Herman: I read your column each week and find it very interesting. Will you please help me with this problem? Will I be successful in building a home during the coming months?

ANSWER. A careful analysis of your question indicates the fact that you have set the time for the completion of your home around the first of next year and are wondering if these plans will materialize. It seems to me that if you do not have any unexpected difficulties it may be completed by that time.

Mrs. M.B.F. My home life is becoming—unbearable, what should I do?

ANSWER. Concentrating upon your question I find that your husband has changed a lot recently and this change is causing you much unhappiness. I feel that I can help you with this problem but would rather do so privately. The limited amount of space in the column does not permit my giving a full, and complete reply.

Mrs. J. Does the little guy I love, care for me?

ANSWER. Your Lucky Stars and guiding Planet indicate just how you feel about this young man, but his actions do not reveal his feelings. He seems to be very fond of you, and as your friendship develops will prove this to you.

D. W. What does the future hold for me?

ANSWER. My Psycho-Mentalist Crystal reveals many things, far too numerous to mention in the column. I do feel, however, that many of your plans for the summer will come to pass and you will find true love and happiness. Send for your Horoscope to aid you in making the proper decisions.

Congressional Candidate Leads Fight for Negro Bank Clerks

(Ed. note: Following is the statement by Sidney Moore, 14th District Progressive Party congressional candidate on the campaign for employment of Negro bank clerks).

I have from time to time observed the situation at the 25th Street Branch of the Bank of America, and in it is seen the usual pattern of racial discrimination by big corporations which makes the passage of an FEPC necessary. It was the big corporations which fought against FEPC when it was on the ballot as an initiative.

Take a look at the patrons of the bank as I did. This is the picture I found. There were 20 persons in the lines for service at the teller windows and counters of the bank. Some were apgive the bank the mwmmww give the bank heavy interest rates. All were Negro people. On the other side of the counter the employees were all white. This certainly does not give a picture of a democratic hiring policy, and does disgrace to a country which boasts a democratic government. The question arises. What are we? Are we colonial people in our own home? Shall the Negro go forever an exploited people taking the crumbs from the employment table? No, we shall fight back with all our strength.

The bank at 25th and Central exists by virtue of the people of the community just as all other business, but is refusing to return in wages any of the money taken from the community. It is time for us, the Negro people of this community, together with all other people both minority and majority groups, to fight to end open racial discrimination in the community. In the absence of the passage of FEPC laws by the Republican-Democratic dominated Congress, we must ourselves fight for fair employment, that the people of our community may have an equal chance at employment in the business establishments operating among us.

As a candidate for Congress, I pledge to fight for fair employment until Negro people are hired as other Americans. No canddiate for Congress, nor representative for our district can ignore the just demands and aspirations of the Negro people for fair employment. The Committee for Fair Employment, like myself, are determined that the 25th Street Branch of the Bank of America will be just the starting point in our fight for fair treatment in the community. We intend to expose and to fight the discriminatory hiring policy of the other banks, namely, the Bank of America at Jefferson and San Pedro Streets, Security First National Bank at Vernon and Avalon Blvd., and at Central and Slauson, and the California Bank at 57th and Central Avenue.

Letter to the Editor

Madonna House, Combermere, Ontario, Canada

Dear Friends in Christ:

Eddie is up. Typing. Walking. Eating his meals with all of us, instead of in lonely splendor on a tray in bed. God be praised. And may He bless all of you, dear friends, who prayed so much and so well for him.

The woodshed is up. So is the ice-house. The pigs are growing fat and the bees fill the hives with honey. Only one little cloud fills the blue sky—the need of workers and cash. But that is a need that is always with us. May we beg your good prayers that it may be filled in God's own time and way, not ours.

To live so as to be always worthy of God—this surely is the most certain way to be always with our dead.

Catherine Doherty

If You're Over Sixty Lie Down, You're Dead!

WASHINGTON, D. C.—According to the Federal Security Administration the average longevity of non-white persons is 61 years for women and 57.5 for men, while white women have a life expectancy of 70.3 years and white man can expect to live 65.1 years.

Blood Donors Falling Off Red Cross Says

Has Los Angeles and vicinity forgotten its war-wounded so soon?

This question was raised today by Los Angeles Red Cross officials as tabulations of whole blood donated for transfusion use in the organization's civilian blood donor program revealed a startling drop when compared against the peak of performance recorded here during World War II.

"With the need comparatively as great as prevailed during the war years, the Red Cross is failing to make its quota of 500 pints of whole blood per week needed to fulfill minimum requests from civilian and Veterans Administration hospitals," Chapter Chairman William T. Sesnon, Jr., declared. "Week after week, when Red Cross was dispatching its collected whole blood and plasma overseas to save lives and hasten recovery of war-wounded on global battle fronts, men and women of this area maintained a 10,000-pint average, and records show that the blood bank and its mobile unit were consistently over the 8,000-pint mark."

Floral Panorama At Los Angeles Fair

POMONA—A more fascinating or colorful panorama could hardly be imagined than that afforded by a quarter of a million blossoms assembled in one gigantic pattern covering 50,000 feet of floor space and yet this will be only one of the countless surprises awaiting visitors to the 21st Los Angeles County Fair in Pomona, Sept. 17 to Oct. 3.

Stressing the policy of the fair officials in making every department as educational as it is interesting and attractive, the floral department this year will present a veritable short course in variety, culture, and arrangement of flowers, according to Joseph Copp Jr., superintendent. Among the exhibits will be many rare and exotic plants, some but recently introduced into this country. Stimulating the beautification of the home and garden, practically every blossom grown in the southland will be on exhibition at one time or another.

Now You Can Hold It A Little Longer

Announcement was made today by Harry C. Westover, Collector of Internal Revenue for Southern California that regulations requiring employers to deposit income taxes withheld from their employes within ten days after the close of each calendar month have been relaxed and hereafter fifteen days will be allowed for such deposits.

Employers who withheld $100 or more in a calendar month from their employes have been required to deposit such withholdings in an official United States Depository within ten days after the end of the month. This provision often worked a hardship on employers with out-of-state payrolls. The allowance of five additional days will also provide relief for many large organizations with involved accounting procedures.

WAC Re-Enlistments Offer $50 Bonuses

With the opening of Women's Army Corps re-enlistments, it was announced by Captain Lucille Wimberly, Southern California chief for WAC recruiting, that Negro WAC veterans discharged since May 1st, 1948, may also re-enlist.

WAC veterans re-enlisting within ninety days of their discharge will receive a re-enlistment bonus of $50.00 for each year completed since July 1943 to the date of discharge.

Veterans will be interviewed, processed, and sworn in at McCornack General Hospital, Pasadena.

Re-enlistees will be assigned to the WAC Detachment at Fort Ord, California.

For further information, Captain Wimberly may be contacted directly at the McCornack General Hospital, Pasadena, SYcamore 6-3131, Extension 88.

Awarded Fellowship For Degree Study

TALLAHASSEE, Fla.—Charles U. Smith, instructor of sociology at Florida A. and M. College, has recently been awarded a two-year fellowship to study for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy in Sociology at the State College of Washington, in Pullman, Washington. Smith, who comes from Tuskegee, has been on the faculty at FAMC since Septemer, 1946. He holds membership in the American Sociological Society, Southern Sociological Society, the Florida State Conference of Social Work, Alpha Kappa Mu National Honor Society, and Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity.

9th Regional Conference Of American Women Brings Distinction To Angelenos

Representatives from California received several special distinctions at the 9th annual regional Conference of American Woodmen officers held in Austin, Texas, beginning June 23.

The Conference comprises the 1st District of the organization and includes the states of Arkansas, California, Colorado, Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, parts of Missouri and Louisiana and is composed of Commanders, clerks, Worthy Guardians of Juvenile Tents, Field Workers and representatives from the Home Office in Denver, Colorado. The nominating Committee headed by Dr. B. E. Howell, of Dallas, Texas, recommended Commander Clarence D. Hargrave of Los Angeles Camp No. 2 as the presiding office for the conference which carries with it the title of District Commander. The Los Angeles Commander was unopposed in the nomination and at the end of the session received open commendation from veteran members as having been the most effective presiding officer during the history of the district conference. Because of his experience in the field of public speaking and because California juveniles were not among the contestants, District Commander Hargrave was also selected as a judge for the annual oratorical contest. Fourteen youthful speakers entered the contest. By a close but unanimous decision the winner was a brilliant girl speaker from Austin.

The first honor of its kind was bestowed upon District Manager Eugene Robinson who headed the California delegation. He was awarded a large loving cup by his fellow field workers throughout the country for his most exceptional accomplishments in fraternal insurance for 1947-48. Clerks Odell M. Rhodes, Bernice L. Mays and Opal Moore of Los Angeles were cited for their fine records and especially for gaining and sustaining memberships. Commander Hargrave and Clerk Rhodes had previously been cited for heading the most progressive Camp in the entire jurisdiction. Supreme Commander Lawrence H. Lightner of Denver; District Managers B. W. Goodwin of St. Louis and J. W. Patton of Birmingham, Alabama, helped officers of the first district in the conduct of their conference. Other officers from California present were: C. L. Daniels, Lucy Ross, Olivia Walker, Cora Cormea from Los Angeles. J. W. Ford, Lucille Boyd, Josephine De Jan from Oakland; Hattie L. Van Hook of San Diego; J. W. Booker, Calanthe Green and Lela Lewis of San Francisco. Sessions were held in Austin's Wesley Methodist Church. Social events were held on public lawns, private homes and at the Dave Miller Auditorium.

Mass Meeting to Aid A Democratic Greeee

The Los Angeles American Council for a Democratic Greece announces a mass meeting at the Embassy Auditorium for Friday, August 13, at 8 P. M. Prominent speakers will discuss the present situation in Greece. Mrs. Phyllis Ziffrin will speak on the needs of the Greek women and children.

William S. Lawrence, president of the Los Angeles C. I. O. Council, will speak on repressive legislation of the present Greek government against Greek trade unions, and the support which American trade unions are giving to the democratic trade unions of Greece. The entire policy of the American government towards the Greek people will be outlined and appropriate resolutions presented for adoption.

The people of Greece are in desperate need of clothing and shoes. All people are urged to bring with them to the mass meeting any used clothing or shoes in good condition.

Mike Barlos, a young fighter of the Resistance Movement who fought against the Hitlerite forces of occupation in Greece, will also address the meeting. And the guests of honor will be a number of Greek fighters, recently arrived here; they will sing some of the immortal songs of the Greek Resistance Movement.

PFC Donald Estes Is Serving in Japan

Private First Class Donald L. Estes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Estes of 3812 Adair St., Los Angeles, Calif., has recently been assigned to Company F, 24th Infantry, at Camp Gifu, Japan; a part of the 25th Infantry (Tropic Lightning) Division, commanded by Brigadier General Everett E. Brown.

Before entering the service Pfc. Estes attended Rils High School.

Friends Committee Set To Enlist Draft Age Men

PHILADELPHIA, Pa. — The American Friends Service Committee announces it will not set up any alternative service programs for men of draft age. However, the Quaker organization said that it will welcome men eligible for the draft into their regular relief, rehabilitation, and educational projects, which are carried on in thirteen different countries, including the United States.

This decision was made as a result of a conference on conscription and war which was recently held at Earlham College, Richmond, Indiana, and attended by representatives of 18 Yearly Meetings of Friends in the United States, as well as the Service Committee and the Friends Committee on National Legislation.

During World War II the Quaker Committee, together with the Mennonites and the Church of the Brethren, sponsored Civilian Public Service Camps for conscientious objectors.

Antioch on Air

After an absence from the air of almost a year, the Antioch Church of God in Christ, 1864 West Jefferson blvd., returned to the air last Sunday to broadcast part of their regular Sunday services over station KGER, from 1:05 to 1:30 p.m. each Sunday.

The pastor, Rev. R. A. Bell, wishes each one to tune in, or better still, to atend these afternoon services. A special invitation is extended to the sick and shut-ins.

Trigo Vs. Docusen At Olympic Tuesday

(Former Triple Boxing Champ)

PINCH HITTING FOR A PAL: Last Saturday morning in Stuff Crouch's Backstage Theatrical club, I ran into J. T. Gipson, Sports and Theatrical Editor for the California Eagle and an A-Number One Guy! We sat around over a quart of milk for nearly an hour discussing sports and sportsmen. Gip asked me to do a "guest" column for his sports section and I promised to write a brief synopsis of sports and stuff for his column.

So here goes. J. T.

LOUIS-WALCOTT FIGHT

On street corners, in barber shops, in pool rooms, in bars and wherever sports fans gather, the number one topic of conversation is centered around the last Jersey Joe Walcott - Joe Louis fight. A fight, I believe, that will linger in the minds of sportsmen for a long time to come. I was dubious of that fight, as many sports columnists and boxing fans were. I was afraid of Joe's condition. So, believe it or not (MR. RIPPLEY!) I picked Walcott to defeat Louis! I even spoke my opinion up to ring time. But after the 11th round I was convinced (like most others) that Joe Louis performed like the Joe Louis of old.

He fought a clever fight. He stalked his man patiently, awaiting an opportunity to move in for the kill. When the opportunity came, Joe was there waiting for it and what happened has now gone down in the books of boxing history. Yes. I picked Walcott, but even fight experts can be wrong sometimes, can't they, Gip?

MY PROTEGE

I have what I think is a terrific fighter in my protege, Keith Nuttall, who hails from Brigham City, Utah. I met this little fighter about five years ago and fell in love with his style of fighting. I have confidence in his ability, and seriously believe I will be the only former boxing champion to develop a champion! The kid has class. He's a gentleman both in and out of the ring. He throws leather at a mile-a-minute clip. He doesn't tire easily and stays in the best condition at all times. He has but one thought in mind, to be a champion.

Finding a great fighter with all the necesary attributes to become a champion isn't an easy task. As the word goes, fellows like Joe Louis, Ray Robinson, Jack Dempsey and Barney Ross aren't born every day. They come along once in a lifetime. In Keith Nuttall I seriously believe I have the same qualities of these combined ring greats. The ability to punch. The ability to take a punch, and the ability to think and keep cool under any and all conditions. These are the signs of a successful boxer!

Keith has been acclaimed by Sports writers all over the country as the Wonder Boy of boxing. He has been fighting since he was thirteen years old, and takes his boxing seriously. He turned pro last year, and out of 27 fights has lost only 3. I'm training and carrying him along very slowly, but have hopes of showing him to California fans sometime this year.

ABOUT BASEBALL

Jackie Robinson, California's native son, set the major leagues afire when he was the first Negro to be admitted to the Big Time circuit. Jackie has always been a grand spot and a very fine athlete, having won many honors during his years at the University of California at Los Angeles. I have known Jackie for quite sometime, and have always admired his great sportsmanship and athletic ability. I was in New York the day he played his first game with the Brooklyn Dodgers. His sparkling performances and all-around baseball ability added color to the league, and of course—finance to the gate!

From the strength of Jackie Robinson's great playing, other Negro stars have been admitted to the Big Leagues, and just recently pitcher Satchel Paige was added to the roster of the Cleveland, Indians. That's progress!

Without a doubt, the field of Sports in America is greatly on the march, and you can rest assured the ability and performance of the Negro athlete has played a major part.

And they will continue to play a major part.

And now, I would like to sign off here with a "thank-you" to my very good friend, J.T. Gipson for asking me to do a column for him. Although I really shouldn't be thanking the little bum, because he spent the Sunday at his Doctor's palatial ranch in Lake Elsinore basking in the sun, and I spent My Day one-finger pecking at a typewriter trying to get out a column for Gip's readers!

It shouldn't happen to my worst enemy.

—Henry Armstrong

CALIENTE, Old Mexico—Jijabujay, the consistent son of Sarada-Miss Plunge stoled the main attraction at Caliente last Sunday in the one mile event. Held at six to one in the betting the six-year-old gelding laid close to the early pace set by Alamo Boy, a noted sprinter, and Ten Above who is known for his stretch run. When Alamo Boy threw in the sponge after the first six furlongs Ten Above, the favorite, took a two-length lead heading for home and looked all over a winner until Jijabujay turned on the steam and pass the favorite to win by two lengths, paying in the mutuels $12.00 straight. In the secondary feature Harihar the odd on favorite just got up in the last jump to nip Double Regret by the shortest of noses to pay $3.20. A mild killing was made in the second race on Carmen K. who opened at 20 to 1 on the morning line when money began to show for the daughter of Tedsim-Buckeye Belle cut to twelve and then to six to one. At the break it was Jonniedell at the quarter by three lengths. At the half Las Fenale moved up to take a short lead with Carmen K. in third position. Turning for home Las Fenale was a head in front with Carmen K. now making her move to pass the leaders and win going away by three lengths. The books took a bad beating and never recovered thru the day. In the mutuels the winner paid $17.20, $13.20, $11.60 across the board. The daily-double backers of Carmen K. and Kelley, winners of the second and third races, received $103.40, while the Quiniela paid $48.40. When Piute Pass was first and Camp Smoke finished second. Popular Manager Walter C. Marty announced two feature attractions to support the twelve-race program. "The Olympics" at six furlongs is the main event, while "The Decathlon," also at the same distance will be the supporting feature. Executive General Manager William Collier of the greyhound races is very happy to have two of the fastest and best greyhounds ever to visit the west now prepping for the feature races. This Sunday the lovers of the Hare and Hounds races will be given a treat to see these two speed burners in action. They both hold world's records. One of the largest crowds of the season are expected to be on hand for this outstanding program of 10 races. In last Sunday's feature attraction, High Cotton upset the dope to defeat Lady Emissary and Our Roll two of the fastest greyhounds at the border oval. Del Mar goes into its second week of the forty-one day season.

Dillard Equals Tolan's Mark

Harrison Dillard, the world's greatest high hurdler (even though he couldn't compete in his specialty in the London Olympics) today is rated as the world's fastest human!

Dillard, who hails from Baldwin College (in Ohio) and attended the same high school in Cleveland that produced another great Negro star, Jesse Owens, won the Olympic 100-meter crown when he breezed to a lightening-like victory in 10.3s., to equal the record set in the Olympics at Los Angeles in 1932 by Michigan's great Eddie Tolan.

Dillard, who holds a pending world record in 13.6s in the high hurdles for the 120-yard barriers failed to win in his specialty when he hit a series of hurdles in the final Olympic tryouts last month in Evanston. Dillard, who surprised nearly everyone but himself, managed to snare a third place behind Barney Ewell and Mel Patton in the 100-meter dash to qualify for the team in that event.

In winning his Olympic title, and most assuredly an upset because three of his rivals are world record holders at standard distances, Dillard breezed to victory in four successive races. He took both heats on Friday in 10.4s., and then won his semi-final Saturday in 10.5s before breasting the tape in the final race.

Patton (Olympic team coach Dean Cromwell's Pell-Mell pride and joy) who ran fifth in the 100-meter race, holds the record for 100 yards at 9.3s., and Ewell and Lloyd LaBeach, running for Jamaica, have equalled the mark for 100 meters at 10.2s.

During the past year, Dillard compiled an amazing record of winning 82 successive final races—either in the hurdles or sprint events. His streak was broken when he trailed Ewell in the National A.A.U. 100 and Bill Porter of Northewestern in the high hurdles of the same meet.

JOE SHIPP is out of the hospital and back on his job following a minor operation. Nothing really wrong that a reconciliation with wifey, Mercy, won't cure!

Let Motor Cool

Cold water poured into the automobile radiator while the motor is overheated often causes the cylinder head to crack, warns the Automobile Club of Southern California.

Buddie Garcia And McClain Import Fighter

Xavier Patin, a flashy 135 pound lightweight whirlwind glove-slinger from deep in the heart of Tex's, was imported to the Angel City last week by Leonard McClain and Buddy Garcia. Garcia and McClain spend their time managing fighters when they aren't working at their respective jobs. Garcia, in the Law offices of Attorney Walter L. Gordon, Jr., McClain at his own bail bond office on Central Ave.

Patin, a slim, quiet lad, turned pro last year. He has had 18 fights, winning 15 and losing 2. He is being trained by Charles Williams, who trained John Thomas, and should be ready for action in one of the local rings within a couple of months.

Use Linen Cloth

For effective cleaning of automobile windows and windshields a clean linen cloth is recommended, says the Automobile Club of Southern California. Linen is not only free from lint, but also has the special property of removing dirt and grease from glass.

Star Olympic Bout Scheduled For Ten Rounds

A top fistic dish will be served up to a fight-hungry public on Tuesday, Aug. 10, at the Olympic Auditorium (Los Angeles' answer to NY's Madison Square Garden) when the battlin' little Mario Trigo engages in fistic encounter with Maxie (Little Duke) Docusen, the New Orleans scrapper who fights like a miniature Jack Dempsey.

Manuel Ortez, the bantam king, was originally scheduled to do business with the Duke but became ill last week and Trigo was called in as a substitute. Personally, I believe the substitute will turn out to be a better deal than the original. Firstly, Trigo holds wins over Buddy Jackalich, Paulino Montes, Bobby Jackson and other top-flight fighters, and is now listed in Ring magazine as the 4th ranking lightweight! His only defeat in local rings was suffered last year when he was stopped in two rounds by a Bolanos named Enrique. But then, this boy Enrique is subject to stop anybody!

Secondly, Ortiz, had he gone through with the scheduled bout, would had to put on added poundage which surely wouldn't have helped his speed any. So we think the OLYMPIC matchmakers rate a nod in picking Trigo as a substitute for Ortez. Don't get us wrong, we love Ortez over at our house, but we just think the little Duke would have been too much for the game Mexican battler. However, in Trigo, Docusen, who is undefeated, will have his hands full on Tuesday next, Aug. 10, at the Olympic.

This is one fight he doesn't have to win!

Paige Pitches Cleveland To Victory Over Senators

CLEVELAND—Old man river keeps rolling along, and so does Satchel Paige. Tuesday night at the Cleveland Stadium, Paige, making his first major league start, hurled the Indians to victory over the Washington Senators by a 5 to 3 score. The game was played before 72,434 paying customers, the largest crowd ever to witness a night game here.

Although he was removed for a pinchhitter in the sixth inning, Paige got credit for the win. He allowed three runs and seven hits, and struck out six. He gave up two runs in the first when he walked two men and Ed Stewart tripled, and he allowed another in the fifth on a double by Early Wynn and Al Kozar's single. Ed Klieman pitched two hitless innings in relief of Paige.

National Public Tennis Championship Aug. 8-15

The nation's greatest public courts net starts will assemble from cities throughout the country in quest of titles in the twenty-second annual National Public Tennis Tournament, when the classic is held in Los Angeles for the first time in ten years, on August 8 to 15 at Griffith Playground Courts, Los Feliz and Riverside Drive.

Among the defending champions who will be back for another shot at the titles will be Mary Arnold Prentiss of San Bernardino in the women's singles. Mrs. Prentiss and June Crowe of Santa Monica in women's doubles, and Mrs. Prentiss and Willis Anderson of Los Angeles in mixed doubles.

Beginning with matches on Sunday, August 8, play will be continued daily at Griffith courts down to the national championship finals on Saturday and Sunday, August 14 and 15.

Gasoline Waste

Defective spark plugs cause the loss of as much as one gallon of gasoline out of every ten, warns the Emergency Service Department of the Automobile Club of Southern California.

Los Angeles Dons Leave For Oregon

VENTURA—Ready for one of the most strenuous campaigns ever undertaken in pro football history, the Los Angeles Dons will leave by plane Saturday for Portland where they will open their exhibition game season against Coach Cecil Isbell's Baltimore Colts Sunday night in Multnomah Stadium.

A week after their Pasadena Rose Bowl game which will be played against the powerful San Francisco 49ers, the Dons will leave for Chicago where on Aug. 27 they will open their 14-game All-America Conference season against the Chicago Rockets at Soldier Field.

The home league schedule of the Dons will open Friday night Sept. 10 in the Los Angeles Coliseum against the Brooklyn Dodgers, who this year will feature Michigan's Bob Chappuis, hero of the 1948 New Year's Day Rose Bowl game.

SCANNIN' THE NEWS TICKER TAPE

Raves still comin in about the Hollyw'd Bowl Concert and the piano artistry of Hazel Scott . . . That was handsome and popular Matthew Thompson with his wife Ruth, Ma. and Mrs. Norman Hall, and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Sims that made up that well-dressed party out to the Casbah Sun. nite, listening to the ear pleasing of the Benny Carter Combo . . . Blues Singer Jimmy Witherspoo now appearing out at the Melody Club on Slauson . . . Red Mack and his trio apearing at the Club Congo . . . That's Al (Step Bros.) Williams you see cruisin round town in his pretty cadalac . . . Bill Jones asked our fave bartender Bill Porter, "if he liked 'Bathing Beauties,' ", "Don't know" said Bill, "I've never bathed any" . . . Chatted with Helen Brock Thompson t'other day . . . Helen now in Real Estate, was at one time one of the best women publicity agents in the city . . . Hear some folks didn't believe it when I said that Dynamite ha the cheapest drinks in town, any time you can get two drinks that contain alcohol for 60 cents, Brother, that's cheap . . . That's our modiste, Janet LaStrapes, you see riding round town in that out-of-state red convertible Buick . . . fella is from Detroit . . . SUDDEN THAWT: "If you have beauty a man will admire you. If you are witty, clever or profound, he will respect you. But if you have charm he will adore you and lay at your feet, the love that man gives o n l y to a charming woman." . . . Those dancesational Step Bros. open next week out at Slapsy Maxie's Nite spot . . . Overheard in the Memo: "Can you remember the first man you kissed? . . H—I can't remember the last one" . . . Our sis Lillian still can't get over the birthday surprise party Tues. nite over at the abode of Atty. Curtis Taylor . . . Diz Gillespie really bringing them in over at the Cricket Club . . . the smooth singing of Johnn Hartiman (Diz's vocalist) is enough to draw folks in any place . . . Pianist Dorothy Donegan thinking about accepting an offer to go abroad . . . That's pretty Ethel Sissle you see cruisin round town in that Cadalac.

PORTRAIT OF A CENTRAL AVE. PLAYBORE

He insists upon ringside tables because he wouldn't know any of the unimportant people seated in the rear . . . He pulls out a fat roll with one $20.00 on top, and 20 one dollar bills making up the remainder of his roll . . . He pays the check as though he were buying everyone's soul with it . . . He mistakes that phony bankroll of his. For his charm, he sets up a table of pretty girls with "BEER" . . . Head waiters usually know him by his first name, cops by his last alias.

NOTES FROM A NEWSGIRL'S NOTEBOOK

San Francisco seems to take the spotlight nowadays for the best in entertainment . . . Understand that the Sepianeers (Old Flennoy Trio) going over real nice at one of the finer spots there . . . Who was Ardie Graves talking to t'other even'g in the Cresbar when he told the little girl "Listen baby, you might be right, there may be other pebbles on the beach, but they don't wear the same kind of rocks" . . . Mac Pinkston is readying plans to open a 1st class Haberdashery on the Westside of town . . . The Three Flashes returned from Mexico and will soon be seen at one of the smarter Hollywood nite spots. . . . That Harriet Ortega (with the act) is pretty enough to be in pictures . . . John Robinson, who owns and operates the FAWN catering service on Western blvd., is really a swell person to know. I've known John for years, and have liked him for ditto . . . John Lee (Managing Editor) thought he was smart and twisted our column around last week to suit his mood ! ! I love John Lee from the depths of my heart, but I could never love John Lee as much as John Lee loves John Lee! . . . Les Hite, the former great band leader is living the life of a country squire at his ranch in Monrovia. He's my all-time favorite band leader . . . Joe Morris should make a million dollars with his Congo club. If there ever was a person who knows how to treat a niteclub customer and make them feel at home, it is the very friendly Joe Morris. (He reminds me of Little Caesar!) . . . Betty Jones (Dorothy Donegan's Aunt and business manager) is the sister of Edwin Wilcox, who played al that piano for all those many years with the great and late Jimmie Lunceford orchestra . . . Ha! The first few weeks of married life are the most confusing. The guys over at the E A G L E office can't get used to Jessie's new name. The other day a caller telephoned and said: "May I speak to Mrs. Beavers, please?" and Earl Carter (who works in the Advstng dep't) said, looking all puzzled and confused into the mouthpiece: "Sorry, but we have no Mrs. Beavers working here!" Was his face red when Jessie Mae called out from her office and said "Hey, that's ME! " (She married Leroy Beavers a couple of Sundays ago, and she's my f a v o r i t e society editor.)

NOTES FROM A NEWSGIRL'S SECRETARY

Dear Gertie, I'm not in the mood to go out in search of news for your column this week. My boyfriend just got a new baby. Oh, No! Gertie, I don't mean it the way it sounds. I mean he's found a new girl-friend, and my heart is as limp as a nightie this week. I can't eat. I can't sleep. I keep pacing the floor—'cause my baby's gone away and he won't call me no more. But seeing as how you're paying me to act as your social secretary, I'll try to put together a few notes I gathered while going from party to party toting a torch brighter than the one the Statue of Liberty is toting! So, here goes: Abie Robinson, the columnist, hit below the belt on his recent article of a famed celebrit. Men don't fight girls, Abie! (Shame) . . . Rochester arrived home Tuesday morning from a successful p.a. tour . . . Hey, Gertie, how about this Louis Jones. He's really a handsome character! No wonder Lena Horne married the guy . . . he's almost as pretty as she is! Seriously, tho, the EAGLE'S new Business Manager should really click here with the Central Avenue crowd! He's class all over, and just in case JT didn't know it, he was the guy responsible for getting Larry Doby into the major leagues!!!!! Speaking of JT, he must be nuts! Did you know he spurned an offer to travel with Dorothy Donegan all over Europe on her forthcoming concert tour as personal secretary and traveling companion? And at a salary that would have made him rich in six months He gave the reason for his refusal as this: "I don't like Europe!" (Oh, please, is there a Psychiatrist in the house????) . . . Well, dearie, I must bring this stuff to a close because I'm running out of space. Your faithful Secretary, Beulah.

TOPS IN TERPSICHOREAN ART is the dance team of Byron and Beau. They have one of the smartest dancing acts in the country and caught the eye of the talent scouts during their successful stay at Paul Rubin's Cricket Club. The very beautiful and talented Beau was a member of the famed Cotton Club Cuties chorus, and the handsome Byron made quite a rep dancing solo before teaming up with the Beau, whose real name is Louise Franklin. The team leave on an eastern tour of the theatre-nightclub circuit within a few weeks.

Happy Johnson's Orchestra On Air Show With Sinatra!

Happy Johnson and his orchestra began a series of broadcasts over the Columbia Broadcasting System last Tuesday, Aug. 3, as a feature on the nation-wide air show titled "Columbia Party." The "party" is a CBS feature studded with such stars as Frank Sinatra, Doris Day, Buddy Clark, Steve Allen, CBS announced-producer plus other names in show business.

Happy, who formerly played with Les Hite's band is a top trombone player, and started his career with A l p h o n s o Trent's g r e a t orchestra. He made quite a fep in music circles here and won many popularity polls for his torrid tooting on the h o r n made famous by a Dorsey named Tommy.

On the strength of his performance of the s o n g, "Barbecued Hot Dog," Happy Johnson's crew is fast rising to the ranks of the topnotch bands in the country. Billboard rates the "Hot Dog" discas .80 in song popularity.

Personnel of the Johnson band is Roy Precely, Wm. Woodman, sax's., Chas. Thompson, Drums, Geo. Mason, Bass, Bobby Strickland, piano and Happy himself doing the vocals and toying with the Tram.

For a little guy Happy Johnson certainly is doing big things! He has a featured spot on a big time air s h o w with Frank Sinatra; since his Columbia release of "Hot Dog" he has been swamped with offers from Hollywood agents, and he starts a personal appearance tour soon.

Teddy Rudolph Loses Creach

With most band l e a d e r s screaming about the high cost of operating and holding together a band of any size in these trying times, and some of the leaders giving up their orchestras for a more lucrative profession, Johnny Creach, violinist with the 5-Bits of Rhythm, decided to jump right into the thick of things and organize a band of his own. His leaving the outfit will reduce Teddy Rudolph's group down to four.

Johnny, one of the main standbyes in the Bits of Rhythm outfit, will leave August 11 for eastern parts and will organize a band here or upon his arrival in New York.

Rudolph is undecided as to a replacement for Johnny's violin choir with his crew, and may leave the Bits down to the original four men, consisting of two guitars, bass and piano.

THE THREE ROCKETS, top dance act, move next into a swank club in Lake Tahoe for a two weeks' engagement following their current stint on a picture with Dan Dailey.

Central Avenue Dance Hall Will Feature "Stars"

Five torrid-tempoed hours of solid music and Progressive jazz wil be the feature of the evening this Saturday night, August 7th, at the air-conditioned ELKS HALL, 4016 S. Central ave., when Gene Montgomery and his swing school of steller instrumentalists will be on hand to play a Jam Session-Dance. Montgomery, who has played Tenor in some of the Mcountry's leading bands (i.e., Jay McShann, Charlie Parker, Billy Eckstine and others) will be the featured guest soloist at this gala swing festical, which gets under way promptly at 9 p.m., and lasting until 2 in the morning.

GENE MONTGOMERY

Also featured at the Jam Session-Dance will be Chuch Thompson, whose drumming has been acclaimed by critics as "next to Joe Jones," and a torrid Sax star named Teddy Edwards who does more with a horn than a monkey does with a cage of cocoanuts. Jimmy Bunn will be on hand to play piano, and Los Angeles' answer to Charlie Parker alumns, and Wardell Gray (now with Benny Goodman) has promised to be on hand if the Goodman gang is in town on that date. They will be.

It's an evening of downright solid swing and progressive jazz, at the Elks Hall, Saturday, Aug. 7 from 9 until 2. There will be a concert and a dance with admission being s e t at $1.10.

It'll be an outstanding event, and I'll be out standing in line for a ticket to the top affair on the seasons swing calendar!

Tiny Brown to Organize Trio

Tiny Brown, who became famous with the Slim Gallaird trio as featured bass player, is back in town and has hopes of organizing his own band. Prior to joining the trio made famous with their zany rendition of the novelty song, "Cement Mixer," Brown worked at the Trocadero nitery on the Sunset Strip in Hollywood supplying background music for the talented Loch Lomond lass, Maxine Sullivan.

Tiny's new group will feature progressive jazz, and all types of music for all types of people. His plan is to create something new in music, and Tiny's just the guy to do it!

Gipson Interviews Do rothy Donegan And Calls Her Playing Tops In Music Field

Your niteclub editor is just about the luckiest niteclub Editor in the niteclub Editing b'sness, to corn a phrase. Yesterday I had tea with a queen. Not one of those antique, eighteen-century drawing room queens. But a modern, up-to-date statuesque bundle of loveliness known throughout the kingdom of swing as "The Jueen of The Classics." And who else but Dorothy Donegan would I be raving about?

The interview took place in the cozy Eastside home of her Aunt and b'sness manager, Betty Jones. Donegan with the Dorothy handle, as she is affectionately called by members of the angel city's swing coterie, was dressed smartly in a "New Look" skirt. We also noticed that she was wearing a sweater. It being a bit crowded sorta reminded your mischievious little newsboy of Lana Turner. To resemble Lana Turner in ANY way surely won't hurt any girl's reputation!

"Do you think I play better than Hazel Scott?" She asked me when I had entered her home and comfortably parked my anatomy in an easy chair. I replied that I thought she played MUCH BETTER than Miss Scott, and she jumped up and kissed me smack dab on the lips! I wanted her to name some other piano player she wanted my opinion on, but Hazel was the only one mentioned. And that was the only kiss I got. (Maybe I expect too much on a reporter's pass.)

Seven years ago Dorothy was drawing something life fifteen dollars a week playing her piano in an obscure nitery on Chicago's northside called Elmer's Lounge. Today, the very beautiful and talented Chicago lass whose torrid tempos and tricky techniques on the keyboard is the sensation of the swing enthusiasts, draws in the neighborhood of 2 grand a week. (Nice neighborhood, huh?).

She confided to me over a tender New York cut steak Aunt Betty prepared for us that she owes her success to four guys. "Four?" we asked, surprised as all hell that ANY GUY at all had anything to do with the overnight rise of the beautiful Piano queen.

"Sure," she purred sweetly in a voice as soft as the mellow tones of an organ, "I owe my success in Hollywood to four guys. Bach, Beethoven, Brahms and Gipson!"

"I know, Miss Donegan, that you dressed Bach, Beethoven and Brahms up in boogie woogie style and had the classical numbers from the pen of these three gents rocking in rhythm. But this guy Gipson. Where does he come in?"

"Well," she sweetly smiled and confided in a low confidential tone, "that guy Gipson gave me some nice writeups, and he's the greatest writer in the world!" (How can you help loving a gal with such good taste in literature?)

"Didn't you," we asked, "once play a concert in Chicago's Orchestra Hall and had 'em standing in the aisles?" She admitted to playing the concert. We checked our files for the report of the crowd in attendance. In Downbeat magazine, the week following the concert, we found this paragraph: "There is no doubt about the concert being a sell-out. Joe Sherman, the sponsor, couldn't even obtain a pair of tickets to his own affair for a friend on the day of the big deal. And the reviewers, while betraying certain astonishment and bewilderment in the writing of their critiques, were extremely kind to the young pianist. And the audience, which crammed every nook and corner of the hall, extended to Miss Donegan what is popularly described as an ovation!"

After chit-chatting for a few minutes, I mentioned the fact that Nellie Lutcher was playing at the Melodee Club, and she suggested we go out and hear the gal who made "Real Gone Guy" famous. I evaded the niteclub suggestion, and she sensed my uneasiness, and asked: "What's the matter, haven't you got any money?"

I let her get what she could out of a shy grin, not mentioning that whether or not I had any money, I thought it only fair for a girl who makes anywhere from one to two thousand dollars per week, to pay for the check. We went out to hear Miss Lutcher, so I'm going back to my interview.

Dorothy Donegan plays with ease and humor. Her music is relaxed. There is never a dull listening moment when Dorothy Donegan is toying with the ivories. Her arrangements are marked by a sense of proportion. There's never a note out of plade.

We first heard her play in Chicago back in 1939. The first impression of her playing was the last, too; that here is a girl who plays more piano with her left hand than Hazel Scott does with BOTH of hers!

Felix Gross Adds Bateman to Band

Ralph Bateman, whose piano playing with the Buddy Banks band helped skyrocket that group to a top spot in the music playing field, last week joined Felix Gross adn his fast-rising crew of stellar swingsters.

Bateman is one of the best piano players playing in this neck of the woods and his musical background puts him on a par with other top pianists in the kingdom of swing.

Gross and his recording orchestra left Wednesday morning for a dance tour which will carry them as far south as Texas.

PATROLLIN' THE BRONZEVILLE BEAT:

Mae Turner went to Las Vegas with Hubert "Bumps" Myers last week and changed her name to his. He's a top sax star. She's a society beauty . . . Bill Day, that wonderful little Master of Ceremonies, rates the bows his rapier wit has earned. A columnist who visited the sharp-witted Day was astonished that he didn't see a single vase of flowers in the place. "I thought you liked flowers," he remarked. Day flipped curtly: "I'm also fond of children, but I don't cut off their heads and stick them in pots around the house!" . . . Toni Harper is at the Million $ theatre. She alone is worth the price of admission. She was born with a silver tune in her mouth! . . . Boxer Jackie Wilson eating a steak in one of the avenue restaurants and giving it a worse beating than Dempsey gave Willard at Toledo . . . Finger Snap: From the neck up Geraldine Lung looks like a doll. From the knees down she looks like Marlenah! . . . Wanna buy a one way ticket to N. Y. for $35? Contact the colyum. . . . The sun comes up just for the privilege of seeing beautiful Esther Kamin Brown. She works in the LAPDep't, and has the kind of loveliness you see only in a dream. Her personality is as gay as a Cole Porter tune. Who wants to go to heaven when angels as sweet as Esther are on earth? . . . Buddy Garcia, Attorney Walter Gordon's right arm, went horseback riding last wk. and came back walking like this: ()() . . . Glammer gal Margo Picket's reason for wearing a sweater: "Hell, I've got as much right to keep warm as Lana Turner!" . . . Aside to JHY: Thanx for your letter. We never divulge our source of information. Nobody can make you. And we wouldn't even if they could. You can find Nellie Lutcher at the Melodee club, and you can always reach the parent of this pillar at ADams 9770. . . . The 3-Rocket$ (Johnny Thomas, Phace Roberts and Andy Jackson), fresh from a Succe$$ful engagement at a famed La$ Vega$ nitery popped in port a coupla wks. ago. They're working on a moom pickcha with Dan Dailey . . . Juanita McGinnis (a cute deb with a pair of dimples on one end of her and a neat pair of gams on the other) has been Mrs. Bill Bernard for 30 days, with not a society reporter hep to their elopement!

EASTSIDE, WESTSIDE, ALL AROUND THE TOWN:

Hazel Scott was superb in her Hollywood concert Satday last. so was Dorothy Donegan in her appearance at the Million $. Dorothy sounds just like Hazel Scott—only better! . . . To be blount about it, Mildred Blount is one of the most ah-tractive dolls God ever built! . . . Here's proof all beauties aren't dumb: Patricia Williams is investing her moola in Real Estate. . . . Dr. Ennis, the Dentist, heads the top of our "grand guy" list. . . . Ruby Joyce (boxer Willie's wife) upped the temperature the other evening when she walked into the Last Word. She was wrapped in an off-the-shoulder dress and male glances. . . . Harry Bigelow rejoined T-Bone Walker in Tex's the other wk. after an overnight flight home on b'sness. He's The Bone's road-manager. . . . When the authoress of Forever Amber, Kathleen Winsor, was asked if her book was autobiographical, she flipped: "If it had been, I'd never have had time to write it!"

IN PRAISE OF A PRAISE-WORTHY PROJECT:

The California School of Photography (at 3330 S. San Pedro St.) is worthy of your inspection. The only photographic school of tis kind on the Pacific Coast! It's approved for Veterans, and stocked with the latest and most modern equipment. Ebony Magazine (a must on my preferred reading list) should scout out to the School (you, too, Leon Washington, Mrs. C. A. Bass and other newspaper publishers!) and do a story on the progress of this wonderful porject. Don't take our word for it, drop in and see for yourself! It's a community project, worthy of your inspection — and tops anything in Hollywood! Chas. Williams, Norman Siminoff, Alex Arkatov and Wm. Westerfield rate a nod for a wonderful idea. If you wanna learn Photography, you can learn more at the California School of Photography than you can in Hollywood!

LOVE LETTER OF THE WEEK

(Or: The Customer's Always Right): "Dear John," passionately writes Arthur Robinson all the way from Pasadena. "I sent your column to Walter Winchell last week. It was one of the finest pieces I have ever read on him. It may interest you to know that your name came up in one of the bars the other evening and someone referred to you as a 'Jew Lover' because you're always writing about Walter Winchell and other 'phoney Americans.' A fellow, seated at a near-by table, quietly walked across the room and flattened the character with one punch. His reason for Joe Louis'ng the Schmo was this: 'I'll defend JT because JT isn't here to defend your accusations.' Keep plugging away at that typewriter, kid—we love you over at our house. What the newspaper game needs is more Walter Winchells and JT Gipsons!" Thanx, Arthur. If anyone would like to be enlightened on the Who-What-When-Where-and Why about Walter Winchell's phoney Americanism, check your newspaper files of Dec. 1941. It was this same "phoney American," Walter Winchell, who warned the country of war JUST THIRTEEN DAYS BEFORE PEARL HARBOR! (But those dumb-o-crats in Congress wouldn't listen. They were too busy sitting on the back of their respective laps believing Hitler's statement of not wanting war. Some even kissed his cheeks. All four of them.)

NOTES FROM A NEWSBOY'S PRIVATE FILES:

Charles Brown is a man-about-town and a fool about a certain doll who reminds me of an angel on a furlough from the heavens. . . . Overheard In Dorothy Donegan's Undressing Room at the Millyun dollar thittar: "She has the shape of an hour glass —after the sand has seeped all into one place!" . . . Bill Smallwood, the colyumist, is running all over the Country and acting like the little millionaire he is! (That's muh pal) . . . Louis Jones (he gets sooo tired of people pointing a finger at him and saying: "That's Lena Horne's first husband!") is the newest addition to the EAGLE family. He's in as B'sness Mgr. . . . Lorraine Williams' dimpled smile is a sight for tireless orbs. She's pretty all over. And wotta pr. of legs!

PORTRAIT OF A PEN-PUSHER PECKIN' AT A PORTABLE:

Robert Gay's poems should be set to music. His verses are as beautiful as a Rembrandt painting! . . . Selena Budd (once in T-Bone Walker's employ as secretary) is the new ciggie gal at the Last Word, in case you wondered who the new ciggie girl at the Last Word was! . . . Hal Roach (The Moom Pickcha biggie) wired Ernest "Sunshine Sammy" Morrison to contact him immediately upon his arrival from NY. Sammy was the top star of the Our Gang comedy series a few seasons ago, and made Roach reech starring in his fillums. . . . Speakin' of cute debs (nobody was, I know, but I've gottat fill a colyum) how about the loveliness of Patsy Roberts? She's lovely to look at. . . Bardu Ali, what a wonderful showman he is! And Leigh Whipper (a ditto, and poppa of a charming dghtr., Leighlia) cruising down the stem hello'ng their many fans and friends. Two grand guys! . . . Bill Jones and his brother, Joel, who operate the Jones Bros. Cleaners, rates a columention here for their wonderful work in combatting Juvenile Delinquency. The Bros. Bil and Joel will sponsor a kids' football team this season to play at the various City Playgrounds. At their own expense! . . . In case you've wondered of his whereabouts, Marshall Royall is blowing his horn with Phil Moore's outfit. . . . Drummer Earl Hyde has joined Vic Dickinson's Esquire Award Winning band at the Last Word. . . . Sportsman Jimmie Collette and a columnist talking politics in front of the Dunbar. . . . Elihu and Pat McGee, cruising down the stem and acting more like sweethearts than just man and wife. And after 13 yrs., too! Being in love with each other has made them as happy as a fly on Betty Grable's legs! . . . Ellis Williams is in love with a memory. The one he loves belongs to somebody else. . . . Lillian Lee Lopax eats Spinach, which is why hey legs are as pretty as this: !! . . . Joe Morris is the new owner of the Congo club. Free dancing nitely except Monday, featuring the Bad Mack trio. . . . Bill West is one of the most popular young fellows in the town's social set.

Class Dismissed. Melrooooooose, bring me a naspirin!

NITE SPOTS REVIEWS

Paul Rubin's Cricket Club
W. Washington Blvd.

Dizzy½ Gillespie and his world famous Be-Bop orchestra are holding sway nitely at the Cricket Club. Diz and his gang are chalking up records galore, and it's hard to review Diz's band other than to say it's the best Be-Bop music played in the world by the King of Be-Bop!

THE LAST WORD
4208 S. Central Ave.

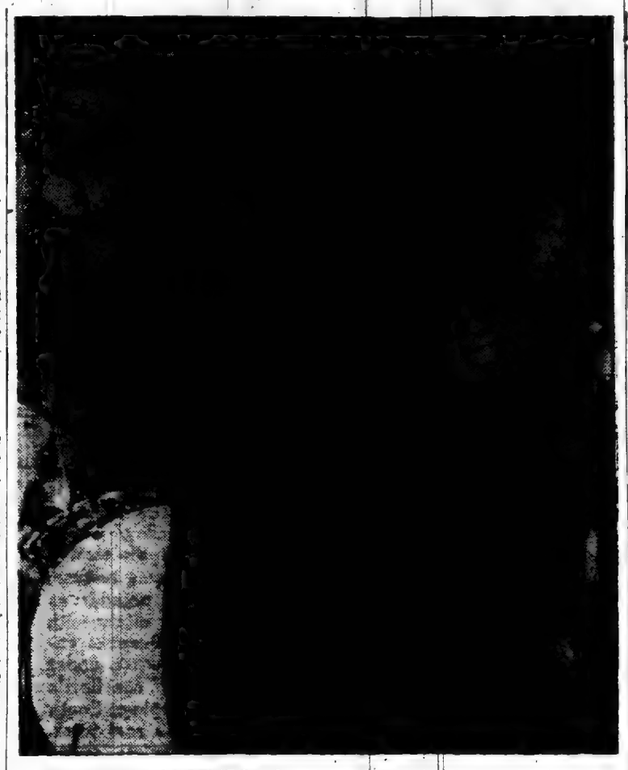
Ray Wheaton headlines the show at this spot, with George Van (the blues man) and Sylvester Scott, a top barrel-house pianist, sharing spotlight honors during intermission. A comely and shapely little doll named Ju Lee holds down the featured femme singing spot and does a capable job. She makes a lovely appearance and looks like a miniature Lena Horne in her attire. Vic Dickinson and his Esquire Award winning band are in charge o fthe music department and with Earl Hyde on drums, J. D. King tooting the tenor and Vic himself very ably handling the trombone playing, the crew make for easy listening. A piano player, trumpet and added saxaphone make up the combo. The pianist is great. The added sax is superb. The trumpet is n.s.g.

THE DOWNBEAT CLUB
42nd and Central Ave.

"Pops" is the genial host at this smart intime little nitery, and Joe Liggins' famous honeydrippers hold down the featured attraction spot. Joe Liggins is out o fthis world, and his music is the kind worth walking a mile to hear. The Downbeat is one of the few clubson the avenue where you can take mother, wife, sweetheart, sister or friend and be assured of an evening of clean fun. No rough stuff, ever, at the Downbeat. It's always the tops in entertainment, and it's uor after-cundown address while Joe Liggins is on the banstand.

CONGO CLUB
4215 S. Central Ave.

The Congo Club is under new management. Joe Morris is the skipper at this spot formerly known as the club Alabam. Free dancing every night with Red Mack's trio on the banstand. Red Mack o ndrums, and trumpet is enough magnet to lure the crowds into any spot.



DELIGHTFUL DISCS

"You sure looked good to me," as toy'd with by the Big Three trio . . . Sherman Williams' version of the Leomine Gray ditty. "Hello." The Ravens' "Send For Me If You Need Me" makes you wanna send for whoever it is you need. "I'm Just Waiting For Your Call," by Aaron (T-Bone) Walker, the little Guitar King of the blues.

Tony Harper's recording of "Candy Store Blues" is catching on like love. The way this little 9-year-old bundle of talent chirps, she'll retire rich before she reaches the ripe old age of 12!

WANTED: DANCERS!

(NPB)—Carl Landers, one the originals of the famed Three Rockets dance trio, is reportedly seeking a pair of tall dancers he needs for the trio he is forming. He wants them at once. Interested hoofers may contact Landers at 754 East 41st Place.

WHEN THE LEGENDS of our entertainment era are composed, Happy Johnson, a top trombone tooter from Los Angeles' cradle of swing, will warrant his share of stories, for he's an outstanding example of what the peak in music can bring in the way of a following. Creator of a new and particular brand of music that's made his band box office at the smartest supper clubs, he has recently added conquest of a chain of the nation's leading nite spots to his trophies. His recording of "Barbecued Hot Dog" is sailing stratispheric heights!

HARRIS TO WED

Joe "Smoke Rings" Harris, former EAGLE columnist now making good as niteclub host at the Last Word, will wed an Indianapolis society beauty in September. Her name is Imogene Smith, owner of a cosmetic firm in Indiana.

BEVERLY ANDERSON, high school deb who wrote "Rock That Voot," a tune that made the Nelson Alexander Trio popular, has written another song on a be-bop kick. She'll try to interest Diz Gillespie in introducing the song to the public.

THE FOUR-STEP BROTHERS, arrived in town last week from a highly-successful eastern personal appearance tour and will open at Slapsie Maxie's club in Hollywood.

GEORGE WASHINGTON

George Washington, who formerly played trombone in the ouis Armstrong band, has organized his own group and plans are in the making for the crew to follow Vic Dickinson's outfit into the Last Word.

Former Sax Tooter Organizes Top Act

One of the most unique acts ever to play in California was formed a few weeks ago. A boy-girl duo who call themselves the 2 Breezes, this sensational new act is currently appearing five nights weekly at the Zanzibar club.

Cecil McNeely, who is a top flight sax star, and a tall, shapely lass named Cecille Curry make up the act. They do comedy. Dance. Sing. And everything a lover of good clean entertainment could ask for.

The 2 Breezes are definitely headed for the Big Time, if only for the reason that they're new and different—and terrific!

Marvin Johnson Combo Clicks!

Marvin Johnson's fine five-piece combo current at the York club out at Western and Manchester boulevards, is catching the raves of both the news critics and the heavy flow of patrons who flock to Gene Fine's entertainment emporium.

Stanley Morgan, ace guitar-soloist, proves unto himself and all present at the club at each session, that he is "Mr. Entertainment" himself. Singer Joe Alexander and pianologist and song warbler Shelton Brooks Jr. round out a well-knit entertainment bill.

Jazz Festival Slated

According to advance notices, the Fifth Annaul Calvalcade of Jazz produced by Leon Heflin, will be swelled in number of popular band attractions, to such etent, as will prove to be the greatest musical presxentation in more than a decade.

Lionel Hampton's famed orchestra tops the star studded band festival, slated for a matinee appearance, Sunday, September 12th at Wright Field. Heflin has thus far lined up such additional bands for the jazz carnival as Dizzie Gillepsie; Sweethearts of Rhythm beautiful and talented all-girl band; Charlie Barnett's orchestra, the noted Honey Drippers, of recording fame, and singers Frankie Laine and Toni Harper. More are being recruited daily to make this year's presentation a most gala attraction.

PUBLIC NOTICES

(California Eagle—15295)
NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

Notice is hereby given that the Board of Education of the City of Los Angeles will receive bids for furnishing all labor and material for the following work:

FURNISHING AND INSTALLING OF LUBRICATING OIL STORAGE TANKS, EQUIPMENT AND PIPING AT THE BUSINESS DIVISION, WAREHOUSE SHOPS.

Dat of bid opening, August 12, 1948.

Each bid shall be in accordance with drawings, specifications and other contract documents now on file in the Building Branch of the Business Division of said Board, 1425 South San Pedro Street, Los Angeles. Prospective bidders may secure copies of said drawings and specifications at the office of said Building Branch.

Pursuant to the Labor Code of the State of California, the Board of Education has ascertained the general prevailing rate of per diem wages for each craft or type of workman needed to execute the contracts which will be awarded the successful bidders; and these prevailing rates are contained in said specifications adopted by the Board, and are as follows:

CLASSIFICATION

Foremen — All foremen not herein separately classified, shall be paid not less than 17½ cents per hour more than the hourly rate of the highest classification over which he has supervision as to the SIX BASIC TRADES; and not less than 12½ cents per hour as to the SUB-TRADES, more than the journeymen rate for the craft involved.

Apprentices — May be employed in conformity with Section 1777.5 of the California Labor Code.

Riggers—Same wage scale as craft to which rigging is incidental.

Welders—Same wage scale as craft to which welding is incidental.

CLASSIFICATION	Hourly Wage Rate
CEMENT FINISHERS:
Cement Finisher	$1.975
LABORERS:
Laborers, General or Construction	1.35
OPERATING ENGINEERS:
Concrete Mixer Operator—Skip Type	1.775
Universal Equipment Operator (Shovel, Dragline, Derrick, Derrick-Barge, Clamshell or Crane)	2.10
PLUMBERS AND FITTERS:
Plumber—Foreman	2.50
Plumber—Gas or Lawn Sprinkler Fitter	2.25
ELECTRICIANS:
Electrician	2.25
CARPENTERS:
Carpenter	1.90

The rates of per diem wages for each of the various classifications of work shall be the hereinbefore set forth prevailing rates of hourly wages multiplied by eight (8). Eight (8) hours shall constitute a day's work; it being understood that in the event that workmen are employed less than eight (8) hours per day, the per diem wages shall be deemed to be that fraction of the per diem wages herein established that the number of hours of employment bears to eight (8) hours.

WORKING RULES

1. Where a single shift is worked, eight (8) consecutive hours between 7 A.M. and 5 P.M. shall constitute a day's work at straight time for all workers.
2. Forty (40) hours between Monday 7 A.M. and Friday 5 P.M. shall constitute a week's work at straight time.
3. All work performed in excess of eight (8) hours per day or forty (40 hours per week or on Holidays and Sundays shall be paid for at the rate for overtime of the craft involved.
4. Holids as hereinafter referred to shall be deemed to be New Year's Day, Decoration Day, Independence Day, Labor Day, Armistice Day, Thanksgiving Day and Christmas. If any of the above holidays fall on Sunday, the Monday following shall be considered a legal holiday.

It shall be mandatory upon the contractor to whom a contract is awarded, and upon all subcontractors under him to pay not less than said general prevailing rates of per diem wages to all workmen employed in the execution of the contract.

Notice is also hereby given that all bidders may submit with their bids, a sworn statement of their financial responsibility, technical ability and experience. Such sworn statement may be required to be furnished before award is made to any particular bidder.

Each bid shall be made out on forms to be obtained at said Building Branch of the Board of Education; must be accompanied by a certified or cashier's check or bidder's bond (issued by a surety company accredited by the Board of Education) for not less than Five Per Cent (5%) of the amount of the bid, made payable to the order of the Board of Education of the City of Los Angeles; shall be sealed and filed with the Purchasing Agent of the Board of Education Room 200, 1425 South San Pedro Street, on or before 2:00 P.M. on the dates shown above and will be opened and read aloud in public at, or about, said time and in the public hall, second floor, of the above address.

The above-mentioned check or bidder's bond shall be given as a guarantee that the bidder will enter into contract if awarded the work, or any part thereof, and will be declared forfeited if the successful bidder refuses to enter into contract after being requested to do so by the Board of Education.

The successful bidders will be required to furnish labor and material bonds in an amount equal to 75% of the contract price, and faithful performance bonds in an amount equal to 100% of the contract price, said bonds to be secured by a surety company or surety companies satisfactory to the Board of Education.

The Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids, and/or waive any informality on a bid. No bidder may withdraw his bid for a period of sixty (60) days after the date set for the opening thereof.

By order of the Board of Education of the City of Los Angeles.

William Hood, Secretary of Ford CIO Union

DETROIT—History was made, and history repeated itself for the third time, when members of the Ford Local 600, UAW-CIO went to the polls to elect the officers of the world's largest labor union (more than 65,000 members) and elected a colored Ford worker to the post of recording secretary. The new recording secretary, who will take over his duties next week, is William Hood, 37, 6054 Northfield avenue. He defeated William Johnson, third term aspirant for the $5,000 a year job.

Fireman! Break That Glass!

CHICAGO—It's a man-bites-dog story when firemen go to school to learn how to break glass but that's what the Chicago fire department is doing in this picture. The glass is Herculite, the super-strong tempered glass used in modern all-glass doors. Two men making a running stab at the panel with a 14-foot pike-pole did not succeed in breaking through, as the arch in the pole clearly shows.

MINNEAPOLIS MAN SPURNS GOVERNMENT APPOINTMENT TO DRAFT BOARD POSITION

Our Convention

A sample of how distorted news gets into the big metropolitan dailies, is the report on the IPP convention held in Sacramento last week. The SACRAMENTO UNION said, "The IPP adopted a multi-planked platform covering everything from lowering the voting age to inter-racial marriages."

That is not true. Like Kilroy, we were there.

Travel Discrimination

Let's take a look at what's going on in our own backyards. We are constantly criticizing the South for discrimination in travel. But here in our own state of California, rank discrimination is also evidenced. And we do nothing about it.

Realty Board Asks Change In Constitution

Following close upon the announcement of the purchase of a $75,000 home in the fashionable Hancock Park section by Nat 'King' Cole, it develops that the Los Angeles Realty Board proposes an amendment to the U. S. Constitution to permit racial restrictions on residential property.

According to Phillip M. Rea, president of the board, the National Association of Real Estate Boards will be invited to promulgate the campaign on a national basis. The amendment is necessary, Rea said, "to protect American family life, stabilize home values, avoid widespread

Eagle Editor Introduced C. V. Baldwin

Charlotta A. Bass, California Eagle Editor-Publisher, National Committeewoman of the Progressive Party, a member of the State committee, and a national vice-co-chairman of the Women For Wallace introduced C. V. Baldwin, Progressive Party campaign manager, at the morning session of the party's convention in Sacramento last Sunday.

Mrs. Bass was applauded thunderously as she made point after point in outlining the service of Mr. Baldwin to the party, and it became necessary for her to ask the delegates and spectators to hold their applause until the conclusion of her introduction so that time might be conserved.

Sunday morning Mrs. Bass declined to have her name proposed for election to membership on the State executive committee. A delegate to the convention, Mrs. Bass arrived in Sacramento Sat-

Raymond W. Cannon Refuses Post Because of U.S. Army Jim Crow

Raymond W. Cannon, prominent attorney of Minneapolis and a member of one of the oldest Negro families in Minnesota, has refused to serve on the draft board of Minneapolis to which he was appointed by Gov. Luther Youngdahl.

RAYMOND W. CANNON

The reason for his refusal, Cannon said, was the fact that the Army has continued its policy of racial segregation. "As a member of a selective service board," he said, "I would be obliged to participate in certifying a number of Negro American registrants. The United States Army maintains a policy of segregation, Jimcrowism, and other forms of humiliating discrimination toward Negroes. Therefore in good conscience I must decline the governor's appointment."

Cannon had been asked to serve on the selective service board by letter, while he was out of the city, and without being consulted beforehand. When he received his appointment, he wrote at once to Governor Youngdahl and notified him that he could not serve.

Cannon praised the governor, however, for including Negroes on the newly-appointed draft boards and for the courageous stand he has made in trying to eradicate discrimination against Minnesota Negroes in the Minnesota National Guard.

Raymond Cannon is believed to be the first Negro American who has refused to serve on a

Sharecropper Brings Suit For Property

LITTLE ROCK, Ark.—Ross Robley, Workers Defense League attorney, is pressing suit on behalf of James Hawkins and William Henderson, Negro sharecroppers, to recover the value of their crop, livestock and personal possessions which their landlords, Roy and Charles Cox, are charged with confiscating.

U.S. Judge Harry J. Lemley set a hearing for early September, after the Cox brothers contended that the case does not come under federal jurisdiction. Pointing out that a prior suit filed on behalf of the two sharecroppers in Desha county circuit court was only $885, they claimed that the damages have to amount to at least $3,000 for the federal court to assume jurisdiction. Henderson and Hawkins contended that the prior suit was unauthorized

Supervisors Refuse Hearing To Purged County Employees

Close to one hundred and fifty persons were present in the chambers of the Board of Supervisors last Tuesday morning when the Board flatly refused to hear pleas or any discussion of pleas requested to be made for the seventeen County employes who were fired last week for refusing to sign loyalty pledges.

Spokesmen for the Supervisors claimed they had no authority to grant the hearing, this despite the fact that the Board ordered the loyalty check and is thus responsible for the firing of the seventeen.

Supervisor Roger Jessup said the Board should not waste its time on the matter. When one of the former County employes attempted to speak, he was ordered to sit down.

Following the refusal of the Board to grant the hearing, the discharged employes set up a picket line around the County Building from 10:30 to 12:15. The seventeen discharged employes are being supported in their fight against the dismissal by the large group of County employes who were coerced into signing part of the pledge. An action is pending in court to determine the legality of the loy-

Atty. Broady Wins Freedom For Client With Sharp Defens

Three men charged with burglary and robbery heard the verdict in Department 40, Superior Court, last Monday, which freed one, and found the other two guilty, his trial brought a smashing victory to attorney Earl C. Broady, who represented Louis Juarez, the one man found not guilty.

The men were charged with entering the hotel room of Jose Garcia, on South Olive Street, last May 22, 1948, and robbing him by threatening him with a knife. The victim testified that the three men forced their way into his room, roughed him up and took his money. He also stated that he turned the light on in his room and pleaded with his assailants for an hour, and was positive all three defe ants were present in his room that time. His testimony

By C. A. B.

I am relating an experience I had between San Francisco and Sacramento last week to prove that discrimination in some branches of our government is as rampant in California as it is in the deep South.

Last Friday evening a friend called the Southern Pacific ticket office in San Francisco and reserved a seat for me on the "Overland," leaving for Sacramento Saturday, the next morning.

A half hour before train time I called at the ticket window for my reservation. A cheerful little man gave me a going-over and without asking for my identification, handed over my ticket saying in broken English, "Dis is yours."

It turned out to be a ticket for the very last seat in the car.

I wondered about this, but asked no questions. The porter who brought in my baggage, I knew. He was visibly indignant, and at the risk of losing his job, expressed his indignation in a manner of reproach against the company's discriminatory practices right here in California against Negro pasengers.

This porter said that the Southern Pacific and the other railway companies make a practice of seating Negro pasengers at the extreme lower and upper end of coacres, where the conductor and porters keep their junk and occupy space which is not otherwise taken.

About a year ago it was reported to The California EAGLE that the Southern Pacific was running a Jim-cro train out of Los Angeles, Calif. to Texas. We investigated this report, and got this information from some company officials! That in order to avoid transferring Negro passengers from its trains to Jim-cro trains when they cross the line into states where Jim-cro travel laws prevail, they added this service.

The officials with whom I discussed this matter, assured me that it was done not in the spirit of discrimination, but to give Negro passengers less inconvenience and embarrasment.

Now, I want to know from the Southern Pacific and the other companies what purpose does discrimination in seating and sleeping Negro passengers in the state of California, serve?

I reported my personal experience in the trip from San Francisco to Sacramento last Monday to a group of Ministers at the YMCA Monday.

Present at this meeting was Dr. Charles Satchell Morris who had just returned from a transcontinental trip. Dr. Morris said that from personal observation such travel discrimination against Negroes as that discovered here, is the present practice of railroads from

Progressives Get State Sanction

The State Convention of the Independent Progressive Party, larger in attendance by delegates and visitors than the combined Democratic and Republican conventions held simultaneously in the same city, closed in Sacramento last Sunday evening following a three-day session that impressed even the most sceptical with the growing stature of the Wallace-Taylor ticket. The formal convention sessions opened Saturday morning at 10 a.m. following the Friday meeting of the platform committee which was open for participation by the interested public.

William Esterman was elected temporary chairman of the convention with Helen Thompson elected as vice-chairman, and Susan Hutchins, secretary. Miss Hutchins, a young Negro girl showed remarkable capability as secretary, and she displayed unusual talent and personality. A credentials committee, consisting of one person from each congressional district was appointed, and following the reading of greetings and other communications Reuben Borough of Los Angeles chairman of the platform committee, made his report.

He pointed out that many groups had worked together to build the platform, and that it 'embodies group thinking.' The chairman also announced that his committee was presenting a state platform only, since the national platform was adopted in toto by the California delegation at the national convention. During the process of amendment, it was proposed to incorporate into the preamble of the state platform an amendment to the national platform section on 'Peace' under the subdivision, 'Soviet-American Friendship.' In essence the proposed amendment read, "The Independent Progressive Party (Of California) does not endorse and subscribe to the foreign and domestic policies of any foreign nation." This amendment was proposed at the national convention and voted down there. It was presented to the state convention by a delegate from San Mateo.

A lively and seemingly inspired debate resulted from the introduction of the amendment, and it is believed that the matter was conceived by interests that had in mind to disturb the

Bob Hall Accused by Chicago Woman as Father of Her Child

Sensational charges made here this week by a 38-year-old former Chicago matron that a prosperous local business man is the father of her 3-weeks' old infant, created a furore in social circles.

The brief against Robert A. "Bob" Hall was prepared by Atty. Walter L. Gordon, and filed in the Superior Court.

Mr. Hall is the husband of Mrs. Alice Woods, widow of the late T. L. Woods, of Bowley, Oklahoma fame, having been one of the founders and financial backers of the All-Negro town, Bowley. The Woods accumulated valuable property holding in and around Los An-

Negroes Vote In Carolina Elections

COLUMBIA, S. C.—Following up with recent action a decision he handed down a year ago, which declared that 'the primary is the state's only meaningful election," Judge J. Waites Waring of Charleston made it possible for an estimated 50,000 Negro voters to participate generally in a South Carolina election last Tuesday for the first time since 1876.

It has been estimated that over 300,000 Negro citizens here are eligible to vote, and while they participated Tuesday in a proportion slightly over 10 percent, it is expected that the impetus of the Wallace campaign and the awakening interest in Civil Rights will bring three times that many to the polls in the November elections.

The voting Tuesday was to elect a U. S. Senate nominee, six U. S. Representatives and State and local officers.

GOLDEN STATE vice president, George A. Beavers Jr., received the Carver Citation for his outstanding part in the business development of the community. (See story.)

Railroad Man Ousted Didn't Pay His Rent

Because James Goings, a railroad employe and tenant of Bob Roberts, popular Yellow Cab driver, persisted in not paying his rent, he was ousted from the premises he occupied at 646¼ E. 50th st. by a court order obtained by his landlord.

Atty. Walter L. Gordon, Jr., who appeared as Roberts' counsel, told the court that his client was sorely put in making for too many trips to his tenants' home in order to collect rent.. Most of the time when he went to collect the rent, Roberts complained, Goings was out on his run.

CIO To Fight Doubled Tax

The Los Angeles CIO Council, announcing its full support of wage increase demands of city employees, today denounced a city council proposal for a boost in the city sales tax as "placing the burden on the working people of this city."

The CIO comment on the proposal to double the present sales tax was sent to all members of the city council over the signatures of John F. Allard and James H. Burford, chairman and director of the Los Angeles CIO Council political action committee.

"The CIO Council has voted unanimously to oppose not only the proposed increase but to work for the elimination of the sales tax in its entirety and to fight for a tax program which would levy the taxes on the basis of ability to pay," they said.

"Arrest The Confessed Spies" Former Governor Demands

OAKLANK, Calf.—One of the highlights of the State Convention of the Independent Progressive Party held in Sacramento last week-end, was the forthright and logical assertion made by Elmer Benson, former Governor of Minnesota, and national Chairman of the Pregressive Party, on the matter of the present spy-hunt and red-baiting campaign being conducted with an eye on the ballot box.

Benson, who was scheduled on the convention agenda to be the one principal speaker at the afternoon session Sunday, arrived in Sacramento Sunday morning and together with C. V. Baldwin, Progressive Party Campaign Chairman, he was presented to the convention just before the morning recess.

Speaking with firm conviction in his voice, Benson blamed President Truman for the beginning of the red-baiting, spy-hunting, loyalty purge campaign, that he (Benson) stated had been developed into an attempt to frighten away the overwhelming popular preference of the American people for Henry Wallace for President of the United States.

"You started this spy-hunt, red-baiting business Mr. Truman. The Republicans and Congressional reactionaries are merely taking up where you left off," Benson declared at one point of his speech.

Caling the whole business of loyalty purges and red-baiting an 'American Shame,' Benson demanded that indictments be sought and voted against Elizabeth T. Bentley, an admitted spy ring courier, and consequently, a self-confessed spy, and Louis Budenz, former managing editor of the Daily Worker, who turned, and is reportedly giving information purporting to show that the communist party is dedicated to the overthrow of hte United States Government by force and violence.

"These are the guilty ones!" Benson declared. "They are the spies. They admit it; they admit they spied against this country against during the recent war. They should be indicted."

The convention delegates, representatives and audience rose and applauded Benson at the conclusion of his speech in which he also advised against day-to-day answering of the charges being made by the opposition. "Answering these smear attempts, will keep us too occupied to do some of the work we have to do for civil rights and housing and such issues," he pointed out.

Ivie Anderson Gets $15,000 in Annulment Suit

A property settlement has been reached in the Annulment action between Ivie Anderson, noted singer, and Marque Neal. It is understood that by the terms of the property settlement, Mr. Neal will give Mrs. Anderson the sum of $15,000.00 and in return, Mrs. Anderson will convey to Mr. Neal the Nealander Apartment House which was the community property of the parties.

Attorney Crispus A. Wright, representing Mr. Neal said that his client will allow Mrs. Anderson to take the annulment by default on the grounds that Mrs. Anderson was not divorced from her prior husband before she married Mr. Neal.

Ordinance Forbids Children In Basket

This week Councilman Kennetth Hahn, who is Chairman of the Public Health and Welfare Committee, approved a proposed ordinance which regulates the use of food baskets or containers in Los Angeles City markets.

The new law reads that "No basket or other container furnished by a market for transporting or conveying food shall be used for carrying or conveying any child, or any substance other that food, which may cause contamination of the basket or container or the food contained therein.

EXCEPTION: Nothing in this subsection shall be construed as prohibiting the use of special seats, platforms or other devices, especially installed on basket-conveying devices, for the purpose of transporting children."

This law was approved by Councilman Hahn because it was found that it is necessary for public health and safety and that food baskets should be used primarily for food and not for children and/or other substances.

New York to Florida, and in fact all over the country.

Instead of discouraging bigotry that promotes racial hatreds in the South, our Northern and Western friends have not only joined the Dixiecrats in building a one-party political machine under two heads, Democrat and Republican, but is adopting a new and more subtle plan to keep the Negro according to the Dixiecrats' philisophy "in their place," the position of second-class citizenship.

The railroads that discriminate against Negroes by way of segregation, in giving them a second type of accommodation, extract from these Negro passengers the same railroad fare charged others traveling unhampered by such differentials.

It does seem to me that if there are un-American activities in practice, this type of travel discrimination against a segment of American citizens who are called upon to serve their country with the same degree of loyalty as others, is at the top of the list.

Negro citizens are forced to pay taxes to operate and sustain a government that looks on in silence at such un-American activities.

Added to lynching and the poll-tax, such a spread of unchecked Jim-crow in the Nation could not but be expected to produce in the thinking of Negroes some avenues of escapes from their persecutors.

In order to find this way of escape, it may take a little knocking down and draging out of some Negro political leaders by Negroes themselves.

There are Negroes who think more about keeping their bellies fat, than about securing their full citizenship rights. They enjoy the cordiality of the Republican-Democratic coalition that promises all but gives only a little filthy lucre in political campaigns.

These pseudo-Negro political leaders might easily be described as Jim-crow loyalists. They join readily with the Wall Street gang trying every political trick in the political bag to discredit Henry Wallace and the Progressive Party as the true spokesmen for democracy. It is our job, we who have been relegated to the last seats in the train, to see to it that the truth is known and that the truth shall make us free.

Newsvendors Deplore AFL Resolution

AFL and CIO workers in the Herald-Express, Examiner, and Daily News plants this week expressed amazement at a "misinformed" resolution passed by the Central Labor Council (AFL) and the Allied Printing Trades Council (AFL) at a recent meeting.

In scores of lunch-hour conversations with newspaper workers in these three plants CIO newsvendors found nearly unanimous sentiment for AFL-CIO rank and file unity on the job to stop the publishers from using the Taft-Hartley law to destroy unions in the newspaper industry. Sentiment was unanimous that the publishers must negotiate with the CIO newsvendors.

William Axelrod, Secretary of the News Vendors Union, Local 25, UOPWA-CIO, termed the AFL resolution ill-advised and an encouragement to the publishers' plan to force jurisdictional squabbles that weaken AFL and CIO newspaper workers ability to defend their unions and their economic standards.

Axelrod's statement continues, "If the Central Labor Council and the Allied Printing Trades Council really want an election to determine who represents the newsvendors we are 100 per cent willing to join them in demanding of the publishers that an immediate election be held. We have already agreed to the Los Angeles Newspaper Guild proposal, as wired to the three newspaper managements and the unions involved, for the conducting of an immediate election. To date the Guild has not received any replies from the publishers or the AFL."

Signal Fat Conclave Under Way Here

The 34th Annual Conclave of Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity got under way on Wednesday, August 11, with a public assembly held at Hamilton Methodist Church. Presentation of the national president, Dr. R. O. Johnson, was made by the local president of the host chapter, Phi Beta Sigma and Alpha Upsilon Chapter, Dr. C. W. Hill. This meeting was the official greeting place of the many fraternal organizations of the city, who are doing their all to make the hundreds of visitors to the city have a delightful time.

Included among the greeting organizations were, Alpha Kappa Alpha, Delta Sigma Theta, Sigma Gamma Rho, Iota Phi Lambda, Zeta Phi Beta, Omega Psi Phi, Alpha Phi Alpha and Kappa Alpha Psi.

The response to the greeting was made by Sigma William Land. This was followed by the annual Carver Citation Awards, presented by the national president, Dr. R. O. Johnson. Receiving awards were, Dr. Leonard Stovall of Outdoor Life and Health? Mr. H. A. Howard, of Broadway Federal; Attorney Loren Miller, Restrictive Covenants; Rev. Dewitt Turpeau, Mr. Joe Oliver Sr., Atty. T. L. Griffith Jr. and Mr. George A. Beavers, Jr., of the Golden State.

A musical interlude was played by Samule Brown at the console of the organ.

The key address of the evening was delivered by Dr. Ambrose Caliver, of the U. S. office of education, Washington, D.C. As a fitting climax to this public meeting, Congresswoman Helen Gahagan Douglass was presented.

The conference will be held throughout the 14th, with many social affairs planned to set off the 4-day session that will be devoted to business. Always keeping the motto of the organization in mind, "Culture for Service and Service for Humanity," the Sigma men are out to make this one of the finest conventions ever held in its history.

Officers of the host graduate chapter include: Dr. Charles W. Hill, president; Otto Johnson, Jr., vice-president; Joe Oliver Sr., vice-president; William Perty, Executive Secretary and Treasurer; Leonard Christmas, Asst. Secretary and Treasurer; Dennis Johnson, Corresponding Secretary; Atty. Curtis C. Taylor, parliamentarian; Simon J. Johnson, chaplain; Arthur Houson, Jr., editor; John L. Thompson, auditor; Rev. George Garner III, public relations; Mitchell Miles, Sgt.-at-arms; Commodore Wynn, pledgemaster.

The Bigger and Better Business Committee of the chapter is headed by Dr. N. A. Fearonce, Oscar Stokes, John Allen and William Curry.

From the pe nof the National Executive Secretary of Phi Beta Sigmas, Lynwood W. Brown, comes the purpose of this convention of 1948: "Our job here is greater than at any previous meeting because we fully realize that the rapidity with which the wheels of progress rotate, a challenge is issued to us to increase our activity in the fields of Brotherhood, Scholarship and Service. Our challenge is to give to the world leadership in the promotion of the kind of "Brotherhood" which will make all men, irrespective of race, creed or color, feel a kinship one to another, that will bring to all humanity a spirit of close cooperativeness culminating in a peaceful progressive world, where each individual contributes his every effort to the betterment of the human family as a unit. The challenge is ours to give to the world leaders sufficiently trained to meet and solve the perplexities of life through the eradication of such evils as ignorance, illiteracy, intolerance, bigotry and fear. To insure the perpetuation of our "Democratic Way of Life" is a distinct challenge to us to intensify our efforts to promote the highest levels of scholarship attainable by the youth of today."

This 34th Annual Conclave of Phi Beta Sigma is definitely an important one. The CALIFORNIA EAGLE sincerely wishes for the body a very successful session with much accomplished in the end.

CIO Executive Supports Moore Bank Campaign

(Editor's Note: Following is the letter sent by Philip M. Connelly, CIO secretary-treasurer, in support of the campaign being waged by Sidney Moore, 14th District Congressional candidate, for the employment of Negro bank clerks by the Bank of America.

Mr. A. J. Gock, Vice President,
BANK OF AMERICA,
7th and Spring Streets,
Los Angeles 14, California.

Dear Mr. Gock:

We understand it to be a fact that the BANK OF AMERICA does not hire Negro employes in any clerical or professional capacity. We are sure that you are aware of the fact that among the people who have deposited their money in the BANK OF AMERICA and use the services of your banking institution are Americans of every nationality and of every race.

For an institution such as yours to maintain a policy of discrimination in hiring against any particular race is to give substance and to assist in perpetuating the Hitlerish racial myths which we have inherited from the dark ages.

I cannot help but comment on the fact that the founder of the BANK OF AMERICA was a son of a national group which has been discriminated against and belittled in the most vicious way in many American communities.

To discriminate against the Negro is to assist in maintaining the basis for discrimination against the Italian, the Jew and any other minority group.

Thousands of the members of the CIO are depositors in the BANK OF AMERICA and in their name we urgently call upon you to hire Negroes on the same basis of qualification as any other applicant for employment. We hope that no one in the BANK OF AMERICA will contend that qualified Negro workers are not available. Our schools turn out many thousands of young Negro citizens whose qualifications are equal to or surpass those required by your institution. We hope that you will not contend that white workers will not work harmoniously with workers of other races. In hospitals, factories and shops throughout the nation it has been amply demonstrated that such arguments are completely fallacious.

We urge you to make a beginning in breaking your policy of discrimination by hiring Negroes in clerical positions in the Central Avenue branch.

Let us assure you that our interest in this is very strong and will be an abiding one. We eare organizing this campaign throughout the CIO and throughout the community. It will continue until it becomes clear to the management of the BANK OF AMERICA that if for no other reason it will be good business for them to practice democracy in employment.

Sincerely yours,
Philip M. Connelly,
Secretary-Treasurer, Los Angeles CIO Council.

For Civil Service Asked of Truman

The United Public Workers of America, CIO announced this week that it had intensified its campaign to secure the appointment of a Negro as U. S. Civil Service Commissioner. The Union's demand was placed before Presidential Assistant David K. Niles in a White House Conference by a UPW delegation consisting of Vice President Ray Eldean; Anti-Discrimination Thomas Richardson; Max Roffman, Charles Elam and Ralph Russell.

The Union stated that the appointment of a Negro as U. S. Civil Service Commissioner by President Truman would demonstarate the determination of the President to carry the spirit of fair employment practices into all sections of government employment and would serve as an answer to high ranking government officials who have already indicated a reluctance to carry out his recently issued FEPC order for federal agencies. The Union stated that a vacancy on the three-member U. S. Civil Service Commission exists as a result of the resignation of former Civil Service Commissioner Arthur S. Flemming.

Police Broadcasts Honor Reservists

The Los Angeles Police Department, honoring the public-spirited citizens who comprise their Reserve Corps, will present the history and activities of this organization on the Police Radio broadcasts during the month of August. This program may be heard on the following stations:

KHJ, Aug. 14, 8:15 a. m.
KGFJ, Aug. 20, 9 a. m.
KFSG, Aug. 23, 11:15 p. m.
KKLA (FM), Aug. 26, 8:45 p.m.
KHJ (FM), Aug. 26, 7:30 p.m.

A little known fact about the Police Reserve Corps, which is composed of about 1100 citizens, is that they give their time without pay when they are called to duty, and that they furnish their uniforms and equipment at their own expense. Their only compensation is the satisfaction they get from doing something for the good of the community.

The Reserve Corps is open to citizens between the ages of 21 years and 50 years, provided they meet the physical requirements and successfully complete the training course set up for them.

The U. S. army in the Mexican war numbered only 100,000 men.

Asked the Man On the Jury

A stinging indictment of the reactionary tactics of the various investigating agencies now in a relentless crusade against the masses of the American people was read in the speech made by John Apt, brilliant attorney, and former general Counsel of the CIO and the Ladies Garment Workers at the Sunday session of the Independent Progressive Party in Sacramento last week.

Apt, who is presently serving as General Counsel of the Progressive Party, rebuked red-baiting and race-baiting officials for violating the secrecy of the Grand Jury chamber, and for smearing the character of hundreds of Americans who refuse to be intimidated by the police-state methods currently in vogue in official Washington.

In a speech that dramatically revealed the courage of Apt and the race-baiting cowardice of a member of the Grand Jury before which he recently appeared, Apt related the line of questioning followed.

"Are you a Jew?" a member of the Grand Jury asked him.

"My parents practiced the Jewish faith," Apt replied, "but I have not followed that faith."

Despite his answer, the line of questioning continued until the foreman of the jury interrupted and had the questions and answers stricken from the record. Apt protested against the striking out of the evidence, but to no avail.

$500 Fine Imposed For Mussels Sale

Selling fresh mussels which were not labeled as unfit for human consumptino proved costly to William Peart, Malibu highway bait-stand operator, who was sentenced to pay $500 or serve 100 days in the county jail following a guilty plea to Judge John L. Webster in the Malibu justice court.

W. A. Gordon and G. P. Sitton, Los Angeles county health department quarantine inspectors, obtained the convicting evidence. According to Dr. Roy O. Gilbert, county health officer, it is not illegal to sell mussels during the quarantine season of May 1 to October 31, either bottled or in bulk, if the package is plainly marked as unfit for human consumption.

Reports show that this year the crustaceans are more deadly poisonous than in any years during which records have been kept.

Philosophy Meaning

Howard Selham, director of the Jefferson School of Social Science in New York and author of "What Is Philosophy?" and "Socialism and Ethics," will be the principal speaker in two discussions on philosophical problems on August 13 and 14 at the South Hall of the Embassy Building, it was announced this week by David Hedley, Los Angeles director of the California Labor School.

America's security is your security. Invest regularly in U. S. Savings Bonds.

Heavvy Demand for Oranges and Lemons

Thirsty lemonade sippers seeking relief from Midwestern and Eastern summer heat created a heavy July demand for Southland lemons, much to the gratification of California citrus men, according to the monthly farm report of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce.

Lemon prices averaged 44 cents per box above 1947 and $1.07 higher than 1946, Agricultural Committee Chairman Roy M. Hagen said.

Oranges also were selling better than a year ago, with valencia prices 80 cents abo 1947 and demand holding ste through July. Valencia picki was reported 50 per cent co plete.

Nurses Still Needed For Polio Ward

Registered nurses from as far away as Milwaukee have answered the Red Cross appeal for assistance to polio victims in Los Angeles General Hospital.

This fact was disclosed this week by Miss M. Louise Floyd, director of nursing service for Los Angeles Chapter, as tabulations were completed on the mammoth recruitment project here.

At the request of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, the Red Cross here was charged with the responsibility of recruiting 55 registered nurses for assignment in the polio wards at General Hospital.

Calling on the Pacific Area Red Cross offices in San Francisco for aid, the recruitment appeal was flashed nation-wide, with nurses answering the call from virtually every western state and as far east as Wisconsin.

Any registered nurse who can accept assignment in General Hospital's polio ward here is asked to call the Red Cross headquarters at 1200 South Vermont Avenue, Fitzroy 5261, Ext. 68.

Junior Chamber in Life-Saving Drive

"Use Traffic Courtesy for Life", was the slogan adopted this week by the Los Angeles Junior Chamber of Commerce as it continued its month-long traffic safety program.

With Mayor Fletcher Bowron proclaiming the period from August 8 through 14 as Traffic Courtesy Week, the program is expected to be one of the most far-reaching in recent years.

As was the case last year, the mythical Droopert character created by the Los Angeles Junior Chamber of Commerce again will be the feature of the August safety drive. This year, however, Droopert will be pictured as a reformed character, having learned his lesson following his one-year "imprisonment."

The Junior Chamber's participation in the drive is in cooperation with the National Safety Council's year-round program.

MR. AND MRS. ANDREW STEWART are proud of the cleanplant they own at 3326 South Central Avenue. Because they operate it with community service of the highest type as their goal, they have been successful to the extent that they own $45,000 worth of modern equipment and employ three persons. During the three years Mr. and Mrs. Stewart both former Texans, have been in business, they have made several large investments. Recently Thomas Duckett, insurance Counsellor for the Golden State Mutual Life Insurance Company delivered the latest far-sighted investment to Stewart. The event is pictured above, showing Duckett delivering a $10,000-20 year endownment policy to Stewart and his wife.

Western Pacific In Precedent Negro Stewards Appointed

OAKLAND—Announcement of the appointment of four employees as dining car stewards by the Western Pacific Railroad was made this week by William E. Pollard, general chairman of the Joint Councils of Dining Car Employees Union, A. F. of L., Locals 456-582.

The four men, Charles Woods, Louis Hill, David Shelton, and Robert Allen, are veteran employees of the road.

Their employment marks the first time in history that a railroad system west of Chicago has hired Negroes in this capacity. Since their employment and subsequent assignment to the line's crack Exposition Flyer from Oakland to Chicago, company officials have expressed themselves as being highly pleased with the new steward's efficiency and capabilities.

Master Rental Has Show Booth

The only rental service at the Appliance and Food Show will be the Master Rental Service. Their exhibit will be adjacent to the Elizabeth Arden Booth.

This service has just opened, in Hollywood, its fifth office. Other branches are at 4333 S. Main, 1170 W. Jefferson, 3828 Wilshire Blvd. The Servicecenter is at 655 So. Figueroa.

Eagle readers are cordially invited to visit any of the five offices.

Oh! Deer! That's the Kind of Meat to Eat

Good deer hunting can be expected in most of the coastal areas of California this season.

Such was the prediction made today (Wednesday) by the Outing Bureau of the Automobile Club of Southern California in reminding nimrods that the 1948 deer season got under way August 7, in the southern and central coastal regions of the State.

This includes San Luis Obispo, Santa Barbara, Ventura, Los Angeles, Orange and San Diego Counties, portions of Kern and Riverside Counties and 22 northern California counties. Inland and High Sierra hunting areas will not be open until September 16.

Dr. Zetar Returns From Long Vacation

Dr. Frank G. Zetar, Progressive Chiropractor has returned to his office at 4511 South Avalon Blvd. in Los Angeles after a month vacation period. Dr. Zetar said that he is feeling great and is now ready for eleven months of solid work.

DR. FRANK G. ZETAR

Among the many highlights of his rest period was a visit to Catalina Island with his young son, Frank Gary Zetar, Jr. also in the party was little Bobby Smith, grand son of the Late Sidney P. Dones.

Dr. Zetar also visited the Bay Cities, where he was the house guess of Dr. and Mrs. DeWitt Buchingham and Mr. Wendell Terrill, both of Berkley. Dr. Zetar's return to the City was timed, so that he would be present for the Great Sigma Conclave. He is past President of the Los Angeles Chapter of the Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity and during his administration many measures were iniated, which still guide the destinies of this great organization.

Sidney Moore To Stay In Campaign

Any belief that Sidney Moore, 14th District Congressional candidate of the I.P.P., will be withdrawn in favor of Democratic incumbent Helen Gahagan Douglas, should be dispelled as the result of the stated position announced by C. V. Baldwin, Progressive Party campaign manager and Elinor Kahn, California State director of the party. In a press conference held in Sacramento last Sunday for Elmer Benson, former Minnesota Governor and national chairman of the Progressive party, one of the newsmen made reference to a phony telegram sent in the name of the CIO asking that candidates of the I.P.P. be withdrawn in four Congressional districts of which the 14th is one.

Baldwin stated the position of the Progressive party in the matter as an emphatic 'No'. "I know of Mrs. Douglas and Chet Hollafield," he said. "I spoke to them and urged them to cross-file on the Progressive ticket, but they did not. They did find it possible to file on the reactionary Republican ticket. I regret that they did not cross-file on our ticket."

Elinor Kahn, commenting on the matter, said: "We would welcome them to cross-file on our ticket without any commitments. Patterson and Healy cross-filed. Healy voted for the Marshall plan, yet we accepted him. He could not have won without the support of the Progressive Party. Four others cross-filed. We have no intention to withdraw a single candidate. She paid tribute to Sidney Moore and pointed out that his candidacy represents the fullest expression of the minority groups in the 14th district. "We shall certainly keep Sidney Moore in the field," she concluded.

Defendant Freed Of Selling Weed

A jury in the courtroom of Superior Judge Charles W. Fricke, after hearing testimony in the case of Mrs. Azuree Edwards, a domestic employe and restaurant operator, last Friday found the defendant not guilty of possession of marihuana, after four hours' deliberation.

The woman operates a restaurant at 163 Weller st. Last June 10, officer Herbert Hansford, a member of the police narcotics squad, testified he arrested Mrs. Edwards when he espied her standing at the counter with several cigarettes. He said, when he approached her, she threw the cigarettes on the floor. The officer said upon examination, he discovered the cigarettes contained marihuana.

Mrs. Edwards, through her counsel, Atty. Walter L. Gordon, Jr., vigorously denied ever having possession of the cigarettes. Attorney Gordon elicited from officer Hansford that he had received a telephone tip that Mrs. Edwards was peddling marihuana.

Progressive Party Convention United Against Red Baiting

convention. However, if that were so, it failed of its purpose, for there was overwhelming opposition to it, the prevailing sentiment being, 'this is no time to fear red-baiting.' The amendment was voted down with only two delegates standing in favor of it.

One of the many significant amendments to the platform was the one to amend the section of 'Freedom' so as to include a provision for the elimination of the national, local and state-wide loyalty purges, and for the elimination of all restrictions on public workers concerning their freedom of association, expression, opinions and political action. This amendment was adopted unanimously.

A Resolution to support the NMU in its fight against injunctions and in its pending strike was voted, and a copy is to be sent to President Truman and Attorney General Clark.

A resolution, calling for protest to Governor Warren against the requested extradition of Wiley King, a small businessman of Oakland, to Mississippi was unanimously adopted.

Sunday's session was highlighted by the keynote speech of Hugh Bryson, state chairman on the Progressive Party, by the speech made by Charlotta A. Bass, California Eagle editor-publisher, and high official both in the state and nation of the party, and by the addresses delivered by Elmer Benson, national head of the party, and C. V. Baldwin, party campaign manager.

Mrs. Bass said during her speech: "This is one of the happiest moments in my life—feeling the progress of the United States. Like Mr. Howard at Philadelphia I want to say, this is my first opportunity to be a dignified citizen. For thirty years I was a Republican, and it isn't easy to change, I know, but to those people who say Wallace hasn't got a chance, I say vote for him, your vote may be the deciding one."

Former Governor Benson paid tribute to the growing progressiveness of the west. "Minnesota used to have the reputation for being progressive," he said, "but I must admit the East and the West are more progressive today. The leaders of organized labor are to some extent responsible for this."

"We must bring in all the people we possibly can," the national chairman of the Progressive party continued. "There are many farmers in California, and we must make a real effort to bring them in. They recognize the need for progressive movement. It is pleasing to note the support our party is receiving from clergymen. In all my experience, I have never seen clergymen so aroused as they are now."

Benson lashed out against the current spy hunt and the growing Red scare. "There are only two people in America whom everyone knows to be guilty of espionage," he said. "They are Elizabeth Bentley and Louis Budenz. They should be indicted and prosecuted. They have admitted they were spies. They can be saved only if proven insane."

C. V. Baldwin brought messages from Henry Wallace and Glenn Taylor. He noted there were 3400 people in attendance at the founding convention of the Progressive Party, and he said it was the largest convention ever held. "Our platform is the most democratic ever. We mean every word in it. When we say we'll end segregation, it's not from Truman, it's from Wallace."

"We mean peace with the Soviet," Baldwin continued. "We mean repeal of the Taft-Hartley Law; the Democrats don't mean to repeal it, they support it. "He declared that the Progressive party will not be thrown off by the red herring business started by President Truman by encouraging action against artists and writers, which Congress has picked up and nourished.

The convention closed its sessions in Memorial Auditorium Sunday night following the report of the election of representatives of members of the state executive committee. (For further reports on the convention see stories in other sections of this issue).

Meanwhile County employes who fought against the loyalty check have had their efficiency ratings lowered, and various acts of intimidation have been reported. The president of local 558, American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes has been suspended for three weeks for a reason that has not been explained to him. Employes who fought the checks and who have passed promotional examinations, have been denied promotions.

TOXIC POISON

MUCOUS COLITIS—LIVER—CONSTIPATION

Dr. Kellogg, M.D., of Battle Creek Sanitarium fame, says, "Putrefaction germs produce highly-poisonous toxins, many of which closely resemble the venom of snakes and minute quantities are capable of producing the most alarming and distressing symptoms. A good example of the ill effects of these poisons is expressed by contact with odors arising from a dead mouse in a closet or under the floor. Although greatly diluted with air may give rise to headache, nausea, loss of appetite and other unpleasant effects, how much more grave must be the effects when through retention within the body (constipation) of these foul substances their poisonous contents are sucked up into the blood and circulated through the body. In other words, when a person through constipation throws off through the lungs, kidneys and skin a large part of the poisonous matter which ought to have been discharged through the bowel, how great must be the mischief done. The ultimate effects are oclitis, biliousness, gastritis, gall stone, skin diseases of various sorts, Bright's disease, hardening of the arteries, high blood pressure, apoplexy, paralysis, nervousness, insomnia, mental depression, and even insanity. Every case of constipation is curable."

"Remember," says Dr. C. A. Tyrell, M.D., "an impacted colon is a prolific hotbed for the wholesale breeding of disease germs, microbes — those organisms which science has demonstrated to be the cause of many phases of disease, or rather, the toxins (poisons) they produce, cause disease. The most rational and practical manner of dealing with this breeding place of disease is to wash it out. With me, it has passed beyond the theoretic stage, for I have in my office fully 15,000 letters from grateful patients who have used this process, under my direction, with the most astounding results, scarcely a disease known to humanity but has been relieved, and in 95 per cent of the cases, cures effected, while tens of thousands of gratifying messages have reached me from time to time; nor is the testimony in its favor confined to the laity, for hundreds of physicians (including some of the most prominent authorities) testify to the wonderful beneficial results achieved by its use."

Residents of Los Angeles County are fortunate in having doctors available who specialize in removing toxic poisons and treating constipation. If suffering, visit any one of the following offices, where competent doctors, D.C., operating independently, specializing in colon technique, will thoroughly examine, diagnose, and give trial treatment, all for only $3.00. These offices are havens for those who suffer. Treatment at offices only. Consultation free without obligation. No medicine or drugs. 8 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Americans Send Streptomycin To Russians

PHILADELPHIA — Four thousand five-gram vials of streptomycin, the gift of the American Friends Service Committee to the people of Russia, are now on their way to Odessa. They will be distributed in the U.S.S.R. by the Russian Red Cross and Red Crescent. The gift of streptomycin, which was decided upon after a sereis of conferences between Russian officials and Service Committee representatives, left last week end aboard the Russian vessel Bebeda.

The American Friends Service Committee has been deeply disturbed over the tension which has prevailed in Russian-American relations in the past six months. The drug was purchased with special funds given to the Committee for the purpose of building better relations between America and Russia, and each five-gram box will bear this inscription in Russian: "This streptomycin is a testimony of good will and friendship from the American Friends Service Committee to be used to promote the health of the people of U. S. S. R."

The Service Committee carries on relief and rehabilitation programs in 11 foreign countries — France, Italy, Germany, India, Austria, China, Hungary, Japan, Finland, Poland and Spain. In this country the program includes education for peace and projects designed to help eliminate social inequality and prejudice. The Southern California Branch is located at 426 North Raymond Avenue, Pasadena.

corroborated by a Miss Alvarado who occupied the room next to his. She stated that the three defendants came to her room before entering Garcia's rooms.

Attorney Broady's searching cross-examination of Garcia in behalf of defendant Juarez revealed the fact that Garcia had failed to identify Juarez at the police show-up, and was not certain of Juarez' presence in the room until after he had seen a picture in the hands of the police.

In his forceful address to the jury, Broady asked the return of his client, Juarez, to his wife and children and strongly emphasized the fact that the defendant was entitled to the benefit of the doubt if the jury was not certain Juarez was present with the men who robbed Garcia.

The jury deliberated more than 5 hours, and then brought in a verdict of "Not Guilty" as to Louis Juarez, attorney Broady's client, and "Guilty," as to the other two defendants, one of whom was represented by Ward Sullivan, associate of Jerry Geisler.

Housing Expediters Confer on Vet Homes

In a move to coordinate Veterans' Emergency Housing Compliance with the actions of the Department of Justice, Housing Expediter Tighe E. Woods announced that his Deputy Regional Housing Expediter for Veterans' Affairs were brought to Washington for joint sessions with the 21 United States attorneys called in by Attorney General Tom C. Clark for a conference on Veterans' Housing. The meetings were held last Thursday and Friday.

Violators of Federal laws in the construction, sale and financing of homes for veterans are first shown by the Office of the Housing Expediter that they have broken the law. They are then given a chance to comply voluntarily by making restitution to the veteran. If they refuse to come into this "voluntary compliance", prosecution in the courts is the next step. United States Attorneys handle the actual prosecutions of both civil and criminal cases against violators.

Recently Congress voted the Office of the Housing Expediter funds to hire about 300 additional Compliance Officers. For the previous fiscal year only about 15 were provided for, so a greatly accelerated program on compliance is under way, both in the taking up of a backlog of cases and in handling new complaints.

Dr. Fernandez Appeals 3-Day Jail Sentence

Dr. Phillip Fernandez, well known physician, escaped jail by the skin of his teeth when he appeared in Division 29 to answer a traffic citation for speeding. He was sentenced to three days in jail by Judge Pfaff who was presiding in Division 29. After sentence, the doctor was allowed to contact his attorney by one of the court's bailiffs.

His attorney, Crispus A. Wright, appeared and replaced the case on calendar after which Judge Pfaff suspended his sentence and released the Dr. from jail.

The divorce comes as a surprise to the many friends of the couple in local social circles where Mrs. Williams has long been a favorite. The marriage took place on Aug. 2, 1944, after a whirlwind courtship, and Mrs. Williams resigned her position at the Gold Furniture Company to become the bride of the popular railroad man. She was formerly the wife of Dr. N. A. (Nat) Fearonce, popular dentist who recently married the curvacious Dorothy (Dotty) Towles, niece of Dr. H. H. Towles. Williams has been placed under a restraining order pending further proceedings in the case. Rea proposes that the amendment be made retroactive, an indication that the primary purpose of the activity is to circumvent the recent Supreme Court decision, the effect of which, outlawed restrictive covenants.

Charlotta A. Bass, California Eagle editor-publisher, and an official of the Independent Progressive Party, who led the fight against restrictive covenants when such leadership was scarce, said today that the action of the Los Angeles Realty Board is of a piece with the present red-baiting march of fascism. "This latest attempt by reactionary forces to keep the Negro and other minority people in a position of second class citizenship must be fought at every turn. These angry men are willing to destroy the United States Constitution to serve their own narrow interests, yet they investigate and purge loyal Americans who seek only democratic opportunity for all citizens."

urday from Seattle. Her first appearance on the floor of the convention hall was the signal for prolonged applause, and each mention of her name during the course of the convention brought sustained applause.

One of the busiest delegates at the convention, she found time to speak at the morning services last Sunday at St. Andrews A.M.E. Church on a special program with Frances Williams, Progressive Party Assembly candidate. Mrs. Bass and Hugh A. Macbeth Jr. were named Presidential Electors, pledged to Henry Wallace and Glenn Taylor by the convention.

How American Dollars Affect British Colonies

In widely scattered parts of the British colonial empire—on the Gold Coast, in British Guiana, in Malaya—a protest by the natives against oppression is being answered with gun-fire from their oppressors.

One of the causes of these disorders and of the fact that the natives are being oppressed now more than ever, is the part that American money plays in the economic system of the world. Neither the government authorities nor the press have mentioned it, but these are the facts.

Britain's ruling class, forced to submit to American economic domination, has in turn put the squeeze on the colonies in order to wring out the last dollar that can be earned from tne export of their raw materials.

In Malaya, for example, the rubber exports netted the merchants of Great Britain $266,000,000 as compared to $180,000,000 earned by all the home industries of Britain put together. The tin mines earn almost as much as England's whisky exports to America.

Of course, the Malayans, knowing this, are not content with poor food, bad health conditions, and low wages. They are engaged in a strugle right now to obtain a fair share of the wealth their labor has earned. But they are being answered by mercenary troops and the hangman's rope.

In West Africa the situation is the same. Last year West Africa cocoa earned $140,000,000 for the English owners of the cocoa planations from sales in the United States alone. The people of the Gold Coast early this year undertook a boycott of British goods as a protest against the exorbitant prices they were being charged for goods they were virtually forced to buy. Twenty-six people were killed in suppressing the riots which followed.

In British Guiana, on this side the Atlantic, the wretched story of the same, the story of quick profits, returns and the neglect of human beings, accompanied by strikes, riots, and police shootings. Parallel situations will be found in the other British colonies, and in the colonies of the other European imperialist powers—all of whom must dance to the tune of the fiddlers of Wall street.

It is the exploitation of the people in the colonies that is causing all the trouble. Yet in every official report that is sent in to government offices, the Communists are blamed over and over until the repetition becomes monotonous.

"It is an indication of the bankruptcy of the colonial authorities," says the Council on African Affairs, "to attribute the problems they themselves have created to the machinations of Communists. The colonial people are angry because the promises made to them during the war have been betrayed.

The British Labor government and the British Tories are in perfect agreement on colonial policy. But the colonial peoples regard the Tories and Laborites in Britain as the Common Man in America regards the Republicans and Democrates—as Tweedledum and Tweedledee."

The call for freedom has gone forth to all the world. And the Common People all over the world are heeding it. In America. In Europe. In Africa. In the colonies. Everywhere.

They Shot it Out

Two groups, one Negro, the other white, in a small farm community in the state of Alabama, decided to settle their racial difficulties by shooting it out.

When the shooting started, the State Militia stepped in. Twelve Negroes were put in jail for safe-keeping. The whites were sent home with the admonition to be good boys.

From this incident we learn two things: The State Militia can act. Negroes, praise God, are learning not to be afraid.

Anyhow here is a job for the un-American Activities Committee. Maybe they could deputize Miss Bentley and Louis F. Budenz as witnesses in this case.

U. N. Holds World Together

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, U. S. Representative to the United Nations, said one time that after a particularly strenuous argument she looked around at all the representatives of the other nations of the world, and sighed with relief as she thought to herself, "Well, we're still all here. And together, even if we're not united peacefully."

That is the attitude taken by the U. N. Secretary-General Trygve Lie in his third annual report for the United Nations. Despite all criticism, and there has been lot of it, the peoples of the world nevertheless have a world law under which to operate—the U. N. Charter—and they have the U. N. flag under which they have a good chance to build a world that is fit for all men to live in.

"The U. N. has continued to stand for brotherhood in the midst of all voices that talk of national policy in terms of military strategy and tactics," said Mr. Lie. "Indeed, the organs of the U. N. are now virtually the only places where regular contact and discussion have been maintained between the Western Powers and the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics.

"The world has been made physically one by modern technology, but its peoples must be given time and fredom to search out the common ground afforded them by the loosely-knit United Nations of today in order to develop the stronger unity that the United Nations of tomorrow can achieve."

This one common meeting place for all the ideologies of the world, for the different economic systems, the Babel of tongues, is the cement that is keeping the world together. As long as we can get together, and do get together to talk things over, the danger of war is lessened.

And that, it seems, is what the United Nations is doing. In spite of all the Truman Doctrines, the Marshall Plans, and the by-passing of its authority by the nation that should be doing the most to uphold it, it is still functioning, and functioning very effectively.

It is doing so well that Mr. Lie resents it being thought of as an infant that must be protected from the harsh realities of world politics. The world, he says, should start recognizing that the U. N. has become the main force that holds the world together against all the conflicting strains and stresses that are pulling it apart.

Splendid. Now remember that the platform of the Progressive Party proposes to do that very thing. That Henry Wallace opposed with all his might the Truman Doctrine and the by-passing of the U. N. And if we, the people of the United States, place Henry Wallace in the White House, plus a Congress that that will work with him, there need be no war neither next year nor any other year in the future.

Another Home Run

The Progressive Party scored again last week when it held its first annual convention in the capital city, Sacramento.

This convention marked the beginning of the new party in California, and paved the way for its all-out campaign for Wallace, Taylor, and all local IPP candidates. It built the foundation pillars of a political organization destined to save the people of this nation from further monopoly control by vested interests.

For a long period of time, the people who have suffered most from the exploitation of their civil rights by the two major political parties have had no redress because of the lack of leadership in those parties.

On two other occasions, efforts were made to rescue the people from political powers that held them in bondage. The first time under the Bull Moose led by Theordore Roosevelt, and the second time under Bob LaFollette.

The new Progressive Party now organized will use the past traditions to motivate present action. The goal is the election of Wallace, Taylor, and the entire Progressive ticket.

Always the Iron Curtain

For Negro citizens in the USA, the meaning, if not the wording, of "The Iron Curtain" is not a new thing.

There has always been an Iron Curtain between them, and free and equal citizenship rights.

THINGS I SEE

By Marian Inglewood

There are plenty of things to see in the Hugh Gordan Book Shop, 1109 E. 42nd pl. And if you haven't visited that charming little place since you attended the opening on June 18, do so now. There's more time now to browse about, to take down some of those delightful books, to talk.

Folks who gather there seem to like to talk to sympathetic listeners. And of course anyone who would visit the Hugh Gordon Book Shop, would be sympathetic toward liberal thinking of any kind. The Gordon Book Shop specialty is the history of the attainments, the glory of the Negro people.

"Why, I used to think the Negro people hadn't any history," said one man. "I thought they were just slaves. And cotton choppers. Or sharecroppers. And that's all."

The man himself was a Negro. He said he hadn't been taught anything else when he went to school.

"They were trying to keep you down," Adele Young, the gracious manager-owner of the shop, told him. "The teachers who taught you those things, never wanted you to rise above a slave. Or a sharecropper."

"Guess that's it," agreed the other, as he fingered longingly the life of Frederick Douglass, the slave who had become the friend of Lincoln and who perhaps did more than any other single individual to free his suffering brothers.

There are scores of other books there, too, telling of Sojourner Truth, of Phyllis Wheatley, of Crispus Attucks. There are books for little children, story books and picture books. There are books which tell of the struggles of white people, too, in overcoming obstacles in the struggle for the freedom of the Common Man. There are Bibles. And stories of the heroes of the Bible. There are magazines. And pamphlets. And books on economics. And labor. And delightfully-written fiction.

Anything you want at the Hugh Gordon Book Shop.

This book shop was really given to the city of Los Angeles by Hugh Gordon. Mr. Gordon was a lecturer in Los Angeles on subjects of Negro life, on sociology, and economics. He took a keen pleasure in ferreting out the unusual and little-known things in history, especially those concerning the Negro people, and telling his audience about them. He used motion picture slides to illustrate his subject, and was in great demand as a lecturer.

According to the "Los Angeles Negro Directory and Who's Who" for 1930 and 1931, published by The California Eagle, Hugh Gordon is listed as "Student of Sociology, History and Economics." He was born in La Grange, Georgia. Came to California in 1903. Originator of "The Unusual Man in History" or "A Peep Into the Past." In demand as a lecturer in history and economics.

Mr. Gordon, besides being a lecturer of note, worked for the city of Los Angeles as a laborer. He was a janitor in the City Health Department, and doubtless could have enlightened many of those who were sitting in swivel chairs in their well-appointed offices in the building he kept clean.

But no bitterness entered his soul because of this discrepancy in positions. He swept floors and dusted during the day. And at night soared to heights of glory while telling his people of the greatness of those unusual heroes in history.

He was in great demand until his health failed. That began about 1932, when his wife suffered a horrible death by being burned while burning rubbish in their bac kyard. He retired from the City Health Department and quit lecturing about 1938.

It was then he began thinking of leaving something tangible to the City of Los Angeles, something that he had accumulated with the wages he had earned, something that would be of benefit to his people and through them, of benefit to the entire community.

He talked about it to Adele Young, who was then connected with the Progressive Book Shop. He thought there should be a book shop devoted almost exclusively to Negro history, Negro literature, with other books of high quality, of course, serving as a secondary course.

When he died in October, 1946, he bequeathed the house and lot where he had made his home, to Adele Young, with the understanding she should use it to acquire a book shop that would specialize in books on the life and history of the Negro people.

Adele Young has accepted this trust in all faithfulness. The estate was sold, and the shop was purchased on East 42nd place. After long and careful searching through catalogs, the books were bought. And now they are there, in bright array, inviting you to peep into them. Inviting you to take them home, to learn something of the greatness of your people, of the battles they fought, of the struggles they won.

Come in and look around. "There is no other book shop like the Hugh Gordon Book Shop in Los Angeles," says Adele Young. "Or in California. Or anywhere else."

About 200 business and community leaders attended the testimonial dinner for Ellis E. Patterson, Democrat and Independent Progressive Party candidate for Congress for the 16th District, at Tom Brenneman's restaurant last week.

City Council vs. The People

The City Council's hasty attempt to add to the people's tax burden a 100% boost, calls for protest and action.

One voice raised against this tax in behalf of the people is the voice of the Third Party, the Independent Progressive Party of California.

Such tax increases never hit where they should, at the profit-making businesses and the wealthy who can afford to pay more. It's the little business and the small home owner that suffers.

Bert Witt, executive vice-chairman of the Independent Progressive Party, said this week that such a proposed tax raise is due to a lazy-minded city council, incompetent to deal with the complex problems of planning for the welfare of the fastest growing city in the country.

The poor little man who will suffer most from such a tax raise must express his objection by protesting to the councilman of his district.

Too often we elect a councilman with our votes and never see him again until the next election. And this is not always his fault.

Over taxation, poor lighting, unfair police protection, and unsanitary conditions can be brought to the attention of our councilman now if we are interested enough in our city government to do so.

For Whom the Bell Tolls

The glaringly preposterous spectacle of the Southern filibuster in the August Senate of the United States in their successful effort to thwart justice, liberty and the preservation of human dignity is not only a blue ribbon indictment of the total lack of discipline prevailing in the two old parties and in both houses of Congress, but is also positive proof of the rapid disintegration of a glorious republic that once bid fair to become a complete democracy.

At a time when "Rome burns" and the nation is being rapidly consumed in the flames of inflation, selfish interest control, the rising tides of racial hatred and prejudice and a serious lack of housing, the peoples' mis-representatives make a mockery of democracy, legislative assembly, and justice.

Both parties are equally guilty of perpetrating this farce. The Democrats, by calling such a session when they knew they had no discipline either in their party or in Congress and the Republicans, who in their greed for Southern votes and in their sordid desire to see a complete break-up of the Democratic Party, are courting and conspiring with the Southern Dixiecrats to create the present "Comedy of Errors."

But election time is rapidly coming too and people today have elephantine memories and just as the Communist hysteria precipitated several months ago by Mr. Truman, today promises to consume both him and his administration, so too, will this present fiasco boomerang on both old parties.

W. J. Wheaton Says

Mary Ann's going-away party was a screaming success. The mothers of her grandchild's classmates were present with gifts and well wishes. The Mrs. Bergman, Olsen, Yamati, O'Brien, Chung, and Lavinsky were all there and each one contributed one of their native dishes for the occasion. But to be honest, Mary Ann's beaten biscuits and Maryland fried chicken seemed a favorite with every one, especially "yours truly."

The gifts were many and appropriate for both Mary Anns, but it was amusing when Mary Ann unwrapped the present from Mrs. Yung. A set of pale blue pajamas, all decorated with gold dragons and such. Mrs. O'Brien let out a Wh-e-e-e!! that could have been heard a block away. "Glory be!" exclaimed Mrs. Bergman, while Mrs. Yamati said "Beautiful!"

Mary Ann whispeerd "I'se never wore nothing 'cept a nightgown all the days of my life 'en maybe I'll save them for my grandchild."

The party was such a success that the mothers of those children formed a club to meet one night each week at their different homes.

Said Mrs. Bergman, "I never thought folks could have so much fun."

"That's because we never knew one another," said Mrs. Olsen, and both Mrs. Yamati and Chung nodded assent. It was with deep regret that we said our goodbyes, but we lingered to have our final chat and we expressed our sincere regret.

"I kind 'er feel like I'se losing something," said Mary Ann.

"Me, too," chimed in little Mary Ann.

"You've done a wonderful thing in bringing those folk togetehr," we said; "greater good than you think. You have done something in this few weeks by this method, which little Mary Ann and her classmates inaugurated, than that accomplished by other methods, and which it would have taken months, if ever, otherwise. To bring those women, of so many racial origins, together, and the spirit of amity and goodwill exhibited with understanding, is an enviable feat; one that could be emulated and patterned by more pretentious organizations.

"Those senators of yours from back home who set up a political party of their own because the Democrat Party, at the convention in Philadelphia placed in its Platform the plank favoring the President's recommendation of abolition of the Poll-tax, and condemning lynching, and other un-American acts are at it again."

We said to Mary Ann, "This Poll-tax has been brought up in this special session of Congress and those senators from 'Back Home' are trying to talk it to death through what is called a filibuster. That talk can be stopped by cloture, or setting a limit for debate. We are waiting to see if this Republican majority will have the intestinal fortitude to vote a cloture, or if their plank in thei platform is a mere platitude; a sop to catch minority votes. The President has emphasized his desire to have the Civil Rights enacted into law and the Republican majority in Congress is sufficient to pass it.

"We again say that we admire President Truman for the enemies he's made. That incubus of southern barbarity and ignorant intolerance has been a stigma on democracy and deterred many minority people from the minority groups from casting their lot with that political party. The fear of intolerant dominance of the Bourbon element kept many from aligning themselves with the Democratic Party because it savored of everything save Democracy.

"Franklin Delano Roosevelt did much to make the word 'Democrat' decent. He gave the clarification to the world.

"We were discussing the Civil Rights programme with a recent arrival from the southland, or a State below the Dixie border, and he gave us a new slant on the situation. Here is his version:

"I, personally, can vouch for the assertion that there are many right thinking white people in the South, even in South Carolina. Should you read the history of the Civil War carefully, you will notice that what was known as the aristocracy, or cultural class, was ruined financially and driven to abject poverty. They were a proud people and it rankled them deeply. They lost interest in the political ideologies of their sections, and that was the case in the 'carpet bagging' era. That lack of interest on the part of the cultural south was rapidly seized on by that element of overseers and political demagogues, who used their natural antipathy against them to rise to political power. They feared the newly freed slave and inaugurated a reign of terror to 'keep him in his place.' That element is being displaced, rapidly, by a new generation of thoughtful people, and the political situation grows better.

"It may, and will take some time; yet Rome wasn't built in a day. Education of the Negro people . . . my people . . . is just as essential to that end as the elimination of the intolerant and biased white. By that I do mean that all should be educatde with the idea that they must enter the profession. Oh no! But educated in the niceties of life. It's going to be a task, be-

LABOR ON THE MARCH

By JOHN M. LEE

Reactionary or Frightened?

Up in Sacramento last weekend, a man arose in one of the caucuses and made the point that the Independent Progressive Party must incorporate Trade Union forces into the top leadership, or fall short of the goal of true peoples representation set by the mass founders of the party. This is neither a criticism of the delegate who raised the question, nor is it a criticism of the party or the arm of the party where the question was raised. It is merely cited as a jumping-off point; a plunge, as it were, into the pool—the national dilemma of organized labor. Actually the language the delegate used proposed Trade Union people, rather than Trade Union forces, but in the end, the people are the forces, and the forces are the people.

As I read the preceding paragraph, it occurs to me that I do not have to labor the theme for even a second; the point is there in two parts. A well-oriented representative of labor who thinks clearly enough not to go phony; and an appeal to include labor forces in the greatest mass people's revolution in the history of the nation. It becomes plain then, that labor no longer leads, but rather, the leadership of labor is being led. The rank and file, it must be confessed, is either scattered or standing still in frightened concentration, for the most part. That all Trade Unionists did not join together to endorse and work for the election of the Wallace-Taylor ticket, once the Progressive Party Platform was adopted, is the bitter pill we have to swallow, for everything organized labor has asked for, and fought for and petitioned for is there—plainly stated, democratically proposed and considered.

What is it then that the national leadership could not accept? They dare not deny one word of the Progressive Party Platform, they dare not openly challenge the Americanism of either Wallace or Taylor; they only dare to catch the fever of the hysteria that has seized the hearts and minds of weaklings and reactionaries, and scream with them in uncontrolled emotional fervor about the sanctity of the reactionary thought, and the un-Americanism of the common democratic thought; the thought that is concerned with spiritual values and brotherhood and decency and the dignity of a man above and beyond the shade of his complexion or the tenets of his faith. Who are these Caesars who stand august and mighty wrapped in the mantle of atomic destruction, stabbing at the very heart of America with the words of liars, impugning the character of courageous, spirited, fair-minded Americans, with the testimony of self-confessed cheats and spies and recanters? Who are they indeed that they dare say of you that you are a communist, and meaning more in saying it, than was exemplified by the nobility of the life and death of HIM who suffered and died that even those who know no other emotion than hate in a greater or lesser degree, might live? By the broad inclusive definition of those who have arrogated the power of bestowing or withdrawing the virtue of Americanism (which is an empty bothersome virtue unless it is implemented with acts) the Saviour would be un-American were he to walk abroad today. He would not kill, nor bear false witness, nor sit in judgment, nor would he do any of the things that the thought-controllers have set up by implication as the standard of true Americanism.

If you be a communist because you will not follow the frightened reactionary national leadership of labor, then wear your distinction proudly, and preach it abroad that communism is the true spirit of American freedom. PREACH IT until the Tenneys and the Tom Clarkes and the blood-sucking money-changers get off your back and stop calling you names because you dare stand up for your rights with those who will have the power to get them for you if you will support them. Don't be frightened because they call you names. You ought to be used to it by now; You Jew! You Dago! You Nigger! You Greaseball! Remember? Stop running and fight back!

POTPOURRI

GENEVA—The Human Rights Committee of the United Nations Economic and Social Council demning the bans on marriage between persons of different races, religions, and nationalities in the various countries.

Henry A. Wallace, candidate for president on the Progressive Party ticket, declares President Truman is right in calling the spy investigations a "red herring."

Wallace said the hearings were "designed to distract the people form their real problems, which the Congress has failed to solve," and were of the same pattern as that developed in Nazi Germany in the 1930's.

He said the Progressive Party will stand like a "bulwark against attempts to do to our country what the militarists and cartelists did to Germany."

"The Wallace Slant," by the Wallace for President Trade Union Committee, ADams 1-2654, and "The Challenge" by the AFL Committee for Wallace, ROchester 1850, are two new publications worthy of notice.

Legal action against four Westwood barbershops which refused to serve Negro customers was being considered by Students for Wallace after nearly 30 were arrested on a protest picket line for obstructing entrance to a building last Saturday. Barbershops being picketed are: Bob's, 1042½ Broxton st.; the Blue and Gold, 10908 Le Conte ave.; and Oakley's, 1051 Broxton st.

Just returned from San Francisco, Robert W. Kenny, former attorney general of California, remarked: "Voting for Harry Truman would be like buying the Golden Gate bridge this year from the guy who sold you the Bay bridge last year."

The San Francisco CIO Council voted unanimously last Friday to investigate the Association of Catholic Trade Unionists.

The ACTU has been accused of red-baiting, and that it is out to wreck state and local CIO councils and to sabotage political action. James Kearney, who acknowledged he was a member of the ACTU, declared this was not correct, and asked for the investigation to establish the truth.

The CIO United Electrical Workers are circulating a neat pamphlet exposing State Senator Jack B. Tenney and his un-American committee. It reminds its readers that Tenney said: "The time has come for us to stop talking about democracy.... Nowhere in the Constitution is there a word about democracy."

Charles F. Anderson, prominent Boston attorney, has been named a member of the Commission for the Recodification of the Laws of the Commonwealth (Massachusetts), by Governor Robert F. Bradford, governor of Mass.

Anderson was born in Alabama. He was graduated from Morehouse College, Atlanta, Ga., summa cum laude, in 1940, and from Boston University Law School in 1947, magna cum laude. Last June he was awarded a Master of Laws degree from Harvard, receiving the highest average mark for a post-graduate course at the University this year.

Anderson is one of three comprising the Commission.

The Soviet Union has supported Yugoslavia's demand for Security Council action against alleged Anglo-American attempts to merge the Western occupied zones of Trieste with Italy. The Yugoslav case is the first Council argument over Trieste in many months.

Also at Lake Success, the state of Israel has asked the Security Council to take action against the United Kingdom for what it charged was British violation of the Palestine truce by refusal to free 11,000 Jews from detention camps in Cyprus.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Efforts are being made here to have the Belasco Theatre leased as a legitimate theatre. It is well known that bureaucratic red tape strangled all efforts to have the Belasco Theatre light up when the National closed because it could no longer operate as a jim-crow house.

The opening of the Belasco Theatre could symbolize a victory for democracy in at least one major internationally scandalous area in the nation's capital. In this case it would indicate that our government at least means to practice what it preaches.

GENEVA—A special European health office is to be opened early next year by the World Health Organization (WHO), probably in Czechoslovakia. The office, the first of a series, will be given priority because of the seriousness of health conditions in war-damaged areas of Europe.

Recommendations have also been made for the opening of WHO's regional offices in Africa, Southeast Asia, the Western Pacific, the Eastern Mediterranean and the Americas.

A resolution, offered by Isaac Kushner, commending President Truman for calling the special session of Congress, and condemning the Republicans for establishing a smoke screen of spy investigation in order to divert attention from the real issues of housing, high prices, etc., was adopted with only one dissenting voice at a meeting of the Los Angeles County Democratic Committee on Tuesday evening.

That voice belonged to Chuck Lewis, of the 15th Congressional District, who said something should be inserted in the resolution commending those who are hunting out subversive activities in the United States. In Lewis' opinion "we should get down on our knees and thank God for the Un-American Activities Committee which is searching out the enemies of the country."

RIVER ROUGE, Mich.—Royal Prince Chukuka, 23, of Nanka-Awka, Nigeria, West Africa, was given a royal reception here recently when he visited River Rouge, and was taken through the various city departments and had their operations explained to them. He was later a guest of Mayor Duncan and family at their beautiful River Rouge home.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa. — All Quakers were told last week by the American Friends Service Committee, after a conference at Earlham College, Richmond, Ind., to refuse to cooperate in any way "with any warlike measure such as a selective service draft or universal military training."

They also declared that Quakers should support those who express opposition to the draft, either by failure to register, or by registering as conscientious objectors; and avoid engaging in any trade business or profession directly contributing to military service.

Negroes reached another milestone in the entertainment field, when Bob Howard stage, screen, and radio star, signed a five year television contract with the Columbia Broadcasting company. This is the first time such a contract has been awarded to a race performer. The weekly salary was not announced, but it is thought to be very generous.

Mr. Howard is currently seen over your local television sets, 7:00-7:15 daily, Monday through Friday and heard on CBS 8:00-8:30 Saturday evenings.

Lovely Lena Horne's recently concluded five-week engagement at the Capitol Theatre in New York was productive of more than just a new box-office record. Miss Horne whiled away the hours between shows taking painting instruction, along with her young daughter, Gail. Her first finished product, a portrait of a friend was privately shown to several prominent art experts for criticism, and strangely enough, it evoked such marked praise. Miss Horne has been persuaded to complete a series of similar works for public exhibition.

Besides radio news broadcasts in English, French, Chinese, Russian, Spanish, Portuguese, Dutch, Hebrew, Arabic, Tagalog and Turkish, the U.N. Delegation Visits Governor On Behalf of Wiley King

A delegation of Los Angeles citizens visited Governor Earl Warren yesterday to protest the attempted extradition of Mr. Wiley King, Negro businessman from Oakland, to Mississippi.

Governor Warren was presented with the following letter on behalf of Mr. King:

Los Angeles, California
August 10, 1948

Hon. Earl Warren
Governor
State of California
Dear Sir:

The request of Governor Fielding Wright of Mississippi for the extradition of Mr. Wiley King in our opinion should not be granted.

The record indicates that Mr. King was denied his legal rights in the original arrest and trial proceedings and that he acted in good faith in the acceptance of what he believed to be a valid pardon in 1927.

Mr. King's exemplary conduct in the 21 years since that time has fully established his right to freedom and should not result in having his life placed in the jeopardy that confronts a Negro in attempting to secure justice in a southern state openly flaunting the Bill of Rights.

We urge you to publicly state your refusal to sign the extradition papers in this case.

Sincerely,

The Road to Health

Little Alice Rivers had romped and played with the neighbor's police dog almost since the time she could walk. The dog had always been very gentle with the child, so it was quite a shock to her when he leaped up and bit her one hot summer day.

Mrs. Rivers was almost hysterical with fear when she brought Alice to my office right after the incident. he had heard that only a "mad" dog, one infected with rabies, would bite and that the person bitten died almost immediately afterwards.

While I cauterized the wound on Alice's thigh carefully with nitric acid, cleaned the area and covered it with a bandage, I explained to Mrs. Rivers that not everyone who is bitten by a dog is in danger of rabies. The dog bite is dangerous if the animal has rabies, or is "mad," or if the bite occurred in an area where there have been rabid dogs.

When the bite is on the face or results in considerable laceration, particularly if there have been rabid animals about, the safest measure is to treat the child as though the animal were rabid, cauterize the wound and administer anti-rabie serum at once. If there is no history of rabies in animals in the area, and the wound is not on the face, and not serious, serum may be delayed until the animal has been observed for at least 10 days. The disease takes several weeks, or even months, to develop, although once it has developed, it cannot be cured and is almost always fatal. So Mrs. Rivers was wise in bringing Alice to see me as soon as possible.

As soon as I finished bandaging the leg, I asked Mrs. Rivers if she knew where the dog had gone. She said he had run back to the house of the neighbor who owned him and she though he was still there in the cellar. She added that her neighbor, too, was terribly upset about the incident and was wondering whether or not the dog should be shot right away before he could do any more damage.

I called the owner of the dog at once, urged her to keep the dog in the cellar and notify the health authorities immediately so they could send for the dog and keep him under the observation of a veterinarian. I warned her above al not to kill the dog. We could not tell whether the dog had rabies unless symptoms developed. If he were killed the symptoms had time to develop, it would be difficult to determine if he had the disease. If the dog seemed to be normal 10 days after he bit Alice, it meant he did not have rabies and there would be no danger that the child would develop the disease.

As it turned out, the dog did not have rabies. I learned later that some neighborhood boys had been teasing the dog and that he bit the little girl as she ran past him while playing a game.

It may take several weeks for the germ causing the disease to take effect in the person bitten, but at the same time, treatment is unless if itis begun too late. We should never take chances with a dog bite. The doctor should be consulted immediately because he is the best one to give advice on what treatment is needed and what other measures should be taken to safeguard the person bitten.

BOOKS & AUTHORS

One of the recent books to come off the press is The Story of John Hope, an inspiring biography of the late presidentt of Atlanta University, written by the distinguished poet and playwright, Ridgely Torrence, and published by Macmillan.

Though the book is in no way fictionalized, it has the quality of a great novel and in time, setting, characters and conflict, it covers the whole sweep of the Negro's rise during the six or seven decades preceding Dr. Hope's death in 1936.

Born in Augusta of a Scottish father whose family became wealthy in this country, and a mulatto mother, John Hope benefitted from a heritage of canniness from the one parent and from the sympathy to a cause that came fro mthe other. His aducation was almost a penniless struggle from his days in Worcester Academy to his graduation from Brown University, but he spurned higher emoluments and easier success in the North, to devote his school mastering talents to the people represented by his mother's side of the family in the South.

John Hope was extremely sensitive to race injustices. His life was devoted to cultivating a classical education for the Negro and to put no limits on his upward climb and to bring about a civilization based on interracial strife. In the former, he was opposed to the educational philosophy of Booker T. Washington whose emphasis on normal and trade school education for the Negro brought support from a white civilization. In the latter purpose, he was opposed to the white philosophy of a bigotted South.

John Hope was to see his dream of a liberal arts college come into being in his beloved Morehouse College in Atlanta, and then he saw his hope of a higher education affiliation materialize in the Atlanta University System of which he became the first head.

Hope was a fine writer and a great traveler and his speeches and letters reveal a cosmopolitan for all mankind. Of utmost importance is the extent to which his story impartially embraces white an dcolored people, for his career was a foretaste of the day when Negroes and whites will have better relations.

The author, Mr. Torrence, made his first departure from poetry and playwriting in the biography of Dr. Hope. A native of Xenia, Ohio, his "Plays for a Negro Theatre" were the first serious plays to be written about the Negro and the first to be acted by a Negro cast. His poem, "The Bird and the Tree," is considered the most impassioned of contemporary lynching.

In The Story of John Hope, Mr. Torrence has brought to it a profound poetl csympathy and yet has allowed Dr. Hope to plead his own cause as much as possible in his own words.

The Story of John Hope is for everybody interested in the Negro problem, in American education, and American culture.

Letter to the Editor

Oakland, Calif.
Editor The California Eagle:

I am an earnest reader of your paper. I also like the Sunday school lesson printed in your paper each week, and loow forward to reading it each week. But in your paper dated July 29, you by mistake, I am sure, printed the July 25th lesson, instead of that for August 1.

The Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners, Veterans Administration, Los Angeles, California, announces an examination for X-ray Technician, Electrocardiograph Technician, Electroencephalograph Technician and Ophthalmoprosthetic Technician with salaries from $2284 to $3727 per year. Applications will be accepted until further notice.

Meat Boycott Campaign

The campaign to boycott meat as a protest against high prices was continued yesterday afternoon by the Independent Progressive Party of the 15th Congressional District, in the Vermont-Jefferson area where 20 people carried signs urging the meat boycott. Leading the line were Maynard J. Omerberg, candidate for Congress in the 15th District and Frances E. Williams, candidate for Assembly in the 63rd District on the IPP ticket.

Miss Williams stated: "We've been watching the issue of inflation kicked around by Congress and the President for three years as a political football with no positive legislation from either Democrats or Republicans. The same kind of thinking which has created the national inflationary situation is reflected in our City Council's proposal to double the city sales tax. We are protesting any attempt to increase the load on the already overburdened consumer."

Mr. Omerberg said: "The 80th Congress has adjourned with lots of talk and no action on the real issues facing the people. We are not adjourning in our fight to bring inflationary prices down. The "Don't Buy Meat" campaign is not directed against the neighborhood storekeeper who is as deeply affected as the consumer by spiralling prices. We want Congress to know that the people are aroused and working together for a real legislative program against inflation."

Many of the housewives participating in the price line brought along their children and explained it was becoming more difficult every day to provide proper food for their families. The response from shoppers was enthusiastic. Many passersby volunteered support for the boycott and expressed satisfaction with the campaign. One man said he worked in a stockyard and saw no evidence of meat shortages to justify the terrific price rise.

The Independent Progressive Party sparking the line asked for participation from the community at large and announced that further information could be obtained from headquarters at 1542 West Jefferson Boulevard, telephone number REpublic 11805.

How Do You Look?

Aids To Beauty

If sallow complexion is your big trouble don't try to cover it over with powder and tinted lotions. You must work from within, since the sallow complexion is usually due to some internal disturbances. This disturbance may not be sufficient to cause digestive tract is not function-digestive tract is not funactioning properly.

A well-known specialist instructs her patrons to take unsweetened lemonade with a dash of salt before breakfast every morning since it has a refreshing effect upon the digestive organs. It washes them out, acts favorably to the liver and results in a clear complexion.

Carrots are good for the system, yet they definitely give a yellow saffron appearance to the skin when eaten in abundance.

It is advisable to eat a green salad once a day. To eat various vegetables for their contents of vitamins and mineral salts and to drink water freely. All of the avenues of elimination, lungs, skin, kidneys, intestinal tract, should function properly.

The diet should be light and nutritious. All citrus fruits are helpful.

Make-up must be very special. Lipstick and rouge; they should not be of a blue cast, some of which are burgundy tones and the raspberry tints. Orange red makes the skin look fairer.

Now about clothes: Black is better than navy blue. Cream tones near the face are more flattering than dead white. Green, purple and orange are on the blacklist. Dark, rich brown, is alright. Rusty browns with red tones are taboo.

Believe it or not, the ears have an important position in the appearance of one's face. If yours are prominent, or too large or unattractive in shape and unless you want to focus attention on your ears, you should give a bit of special care to them.

When choosing earrings it will be well to keep in mind a few rules. If the face is fat and broad, it will seem twice as broad when wearing earrings because the eye is drawn to two focal points of interest, that being one on either side of the face. A narrow face, naturally looks fuller when earrings are worn. The round button style of earring is considered flattering to a thin face and neck.

The long pendant kind will appear to drag on one's shoulder. (For the older woman, wrinkles and sagging contours of the face are aggravated by dangling and "fussy" styles in earrings.)

Earrings can lend that perfect touch when chosen to match the costume, or in a contrasting tint—except for the woman with a wide face.

Etiquette says: Boys always stand up when they are introduced. Girls rise when they are introduced to an older person, but not when they are meeting one of their own age.

Annual Meeting Of Vets' Center

The Annual Meeting of the Veterans Service Center, Los Angeles Area, will be held on Tuesday, August 31st, at 2 P. M. at Barker Brothers Auditorium, 11th floor, Seventh and Flower Streets, Los Angeles. In accordance with the provisions of the By-Laws, directors will be elected to serve a two-year term ending in 1950.

Arrangements are being made to have Mr. William P. McCahill of Washington, D. C., assistant to Admiral Ross T. McIntire, chairman of The President's Committee on National Employ the Physically Handicapped Week, to be the featured speaker.

Drink Plain Water

Stay away from too many sweet drinks these hot days. Overindulgence can result in food deficiency symptoms because the sugar in these beverages boosts the body's Vitamin B1 requirement—without contributing a thing toward meeting it. In particular, overuse of sweet drinks can result in the "jitters"—meaning that nerves are not getting enough Vitamin B1.

Delegates Request More Earl Robinson

Here's a memo to the officials of the convention of the Independent Progressive Party of California recently held in Sacramento: next time add a day to the proceedings, and give it over to Earl Robinson and his guitar. If there was any dissatisfaction in the minds of the delegates, it was because they didn't get the chance to sing all the songs on the sheets. There's something warm and folksy about Earl Robinson's singing, they say, that inspires them with the will to win, so remember to include more of him next time.

In case you're interested in the lines that really send the boys and girls here it is: The Republicans, they grieve me, The Democrats only deceive me, I've a brand new party believe me, and we're rolling up the vote."

Double Sales Tax Proposal Condemned

The Independent Progressive Party this week sharply condemned the ill-considered and surprise attempt of a majority of the City Council to jump the city sales tax by 100 per cent. Demanding that adequate provision for public hearings be made immediately, the new party denounced the double tax scheme as a further blow to the shrinking pocketbook of the average consumer.

"Some 15 million dollars in the next year would be extracted from the shopping budget of Los Angeles families," Bert Witt, Executive Vice-Chairman of the IPP, said. "And only because a lazy-minded city council is incompetent to deal with the complex problem of planning for the welfare of this fastest growing city in the country."

By PAUL FRENCH

It is notorious that the so-called "comics" in the Big Business papers are anything else but funny. But it isn't so well-known that for real belly laughs, one should look to the so-called "news" columns, and behold the silly antics of the pompous fools who rule this fair land.

For instance, if you had looked at the front page of the L. A. Times for Friday, August 6, you would have read there a three-column wide headline of the current "spy" thriller being staged in Washington by vastly angry and tremendously self-righteous Congressmen. It said: "Mystery Witness May Break Spy Case Open."

That sounds serious, doesn't it? To the average American, who does his day's job honestly (especially if the foreman is hanging around), and pays his bills, the righteous anger of the Congressmen that any other nation should dare spy on this one, seems natural and right. Isn't Joe Doakes going about his business without even thinking of spying on the Russians? So what the heck are those Russians doing spying around here for? No American would do such sneaking tricks! Americans are all honest Johns, and this government surely wouldn't spy on the Russians.

That's where you're wrong, brother; one thousand per cent wrong. And to get that belly laugh, you'd have only to turn the pages of that August 6 issue of the Times, to page 5, second section, and read there an article (one of a series) by Hanson W. Baldwin, the N. Y. Times "military analyst," to find out that the U. S. government has a vast spy network spying all over the world, particularly against the Soviet Union.

Mr. Baldwin surely picked a bad moment to write a series of articles on U. S. spies against the Soviet Union; but there they are. And in the L. A. Times of August 6, he tells how "Silly Spy Work" has given United States spies "a bad name." Otherwise, if they weren't "silly," American spies would, presumably, have a "good name." But, Mr. Baldwin goes into some detail. He says in part:

"Two young and exuberant Army officers attached to the Central Intelligence Agency (that's "our" spy network—PF), made contacts almost openly with anti-Communist and opposition leaders in Rumania, urged the formation of an anti-Communist group in that country, and recorded their efforts, the names of the conspirators, and even the minutes of the 'secret' meetings held.

"Naturally, such naive attempts were 'duck soup' for the Russians; the officers left Rumania hastily, but their Rumanian associates soon landed in jail. The Russians utilized the information, including seized documents, with coisiderable embarrassment to this (the U. S.) government, at the trial of Dr. Juliu Maniu and his associates, which subsequently resulted in Dr. Maniu's imprisonment for life."

This very frank discussion that the United States has a big spy service sort of takes the edge off all this enormous indignation being generated by the wild tales of "beautiful blondes" (who turn out to be ugly brunettes) passing "documents" (that don't exist) to mysterious gents on street corners, and excited editors of the "Time" magazine who relate how they laid awake all night for a year, waiting with rifle in hand for "Communist assassins" who never showed up.

The fact is, that these very Congressmen who are all lathered up with indignation that "the Russians" should be spying around Washington, are the very same Congressmen who kne actly what they were doing they voted to appropriate dreds of millions of dolla establish a vast spy sy against those same Rus That vast stpy system is the "Central Intelligence Ag (CIA) and united all the tary and civilian spies unde general supervision of the Department, headed by other than "honest" Secr Marshall.

Mr. Baldwin makes no about that outfit spying ag the Soviet Union and tryin bribe politicians in many tries to organze armed rebe against their governments, sassinate Communist leaders such "innocent" activities. irritates Mr. Baldwin is tha American spies are so infer silly as to get caught here, and everywhere. "These fia he says, "have occurred in mania, Hungary, Finland elsewhere." Baldwin asserts "catastrophes" occur becaus CIA is full of ignorance in of "intelligence" and fact jealousies of its various de ments.

In Italy, the man who Togliatti was admitted inte Chamber of Deputies by A can-aided "Christian Demo politicians, who pointed ou victim to the assassin. In Gr the Greeks who murdered American journalist George were given virtual orders so by U. S. spies. This so thing is something more, worse, than just getting "infe tion." The Blue Bird

By Bob Duncan

When you go to the beach, to sit and look
At the many sites, boy I could write a book
There's nothing much to do at hand,
You'll take a dip, then lie in the sand.

Then comes the time to quince your thirst
The 'Blue Bird's' the place for fun and firth
It's open each day, for fun and frolic
For the many who come, and never touch the water.

There's never a delay, as you fall in line
To sip of the beer, and choicest wines
You'll ask for a burger, with or without
The hot doys too, will melt in your mouth.

After a few refreshments, you're feeling fine
The juke boy's rocking, everyones' in time
You call for Alice, or Marie, so fine
To bring another round, on YOU this time.

The music gets loud, the voices too
You'll never know what's happening, unless you're
For it too
Whether you're from the South, East, or West
When you come to Santa Monica, the Blue Bird's
The best.

So hurry on down, whether you swim or float
If you try hard enough, you may reach the boat
On the beach, the shapes are many you never saw befo
The fat, and fine, they really put on a show.

You'll meet people you haven't seen in years
Some with joy, others with tears
It's THE place to go, if you can find any
In Santa Monica, that's saying a plenty!

So let it be known when you're in town
Come to the Blue Bird, and clear up your frown
You'll never forget the time you had,
With Alice's parting words, 'Hurry Back Jack'!

Visitors Quicken Pace of Social Doings

Opening of Edward's Salon Is Brilliant Pasadena Affair

Despite the traveling of our society maids and matrons, bachelors and benedicts, there are still some people left in Los Angeles and Pasadena, and a goodly crowd of these gathered at Eadward's official opening of his Pasadena House of Charm on Sunday. Eadward's House of Charm as it is professionally known, is to his many friends a haven for good grooming, regal and lasting beauty.

The Pasadena opening was made noteworthy by the array of well known personalities taking part in it. Among the group of beautiful hostesses were the Eadward Charm Models. Ruby Joyce, Dorothy Bradley, Margret Young, Viola Chapman, Sweet Smock and Christine Rivers. Also assisting was Pasadena's popular young matron, Mrs. Carolyn Hennington, who delighted in showing the high points of the new Pasadena Salon. She was quite lovely in a formal gown of orchid moire.

Presiding at the appointed table, and doing it in quite a regal manner, was Mrs. Leontyne King, smartly attired in a black faille suit with diamond accessories, which by the way are family heirlooms. The plush satin finish of the solan styling room was duly complimented by the appearance of this charming hostess. She was assisted by Mrs. Eleanora McSwini and Mrs. Willie Robinson, who poured from an Early American crystal tea service.

Among the out of town guests admiring the smartly appointed Salon, which is quite an addition to Pasadena, were: Mrs. Lucious C. Harper and daughter, Jeanne, of Chicago, Illinois, wife and daughter of the editor of the Chicago Defender; Mr. Bill Chase, well known columnist of the Amsterdam News, New York City; Mrs. Olivia Clark of the famous Rose Meta Solons of New York City and her husband, Mr. H. W. Miller, well known Southern California chemist, Mr. and Mrs. M. Cannon of Toluca Lake, and Mrs. Freda DeKnight, the culinary editor of Ebony magazine.

Other personalities among the first to register were, Mr. and Mrs. John Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Allredd, Mrs. Eunice Rumford, who will be receptionist for the Pasadena Solon, and Mmes. Earl Ross, R. Lott, Lucille McLacey, L. Sweeney, Seletia Kinnard, Leola Larsuel, E. Cole, Justyne Bartlett, T. C. Saunders, eontyne Gandean, Millicent Walcott, Gladys Brown, Mabel Briggs, Bessie Johnson, Cassie Brooks, Mary Griffin, Isaac Peters, Arthur Collier, Sandra Greenwood, Lena Torrance, Bessie Hawkins, Melicent Bouey and many many others.

Seen chatting with Mrs. Price of Pasadena was Mrs. Freda DeKnight, who by the way, was one of the most fashionably dressed ladies present. Freda chose green print with a matching chapeau of emerald green with pink roses, topped by a Stone Martin scarf.

The official opening of the Pasadena House of Charm proved both a social and community highlight. The opening of this Solon marks the third for this young beautician who is operating in Los Angeles and San Francisco.

George T. Waughs Honor Visitors at Gay Soiree

The George Taylor Waughs entertained William (Bill) Chase, the new city editor of the Amsterdam-Star News, New York, at a gay soiree on Saturday evening at their west side home. Bill Chase was very pleased at the opportunity to chat with his many Los Angeles friends and the renewing of old acquaintances made for an enjoyable evening of camaraderie.

Out-of-town guests included, Dr. and Mrs. Rice, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bennett, both of Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Anderson (Libby Clark of the House of Beauty New York), and Eddie Coleman, also of New York. Miss Charlotte Miller of Detroit, and Mrs. Elwood Fletcher of Omaha, Neb.

Other guests, Dr. and Mrs. Frederick Spann, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Van Hargis, Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Bridges, Mr. and Mrs. John Dozier, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Middleton, Mr. and Mrs. William Richardson, Mr. and Mrs. Arnell Harper, Miss Rena Bailey, Russell Cunningham, Phil Rhoten, Marguerite McQuinn, Rene Alston and Joel Fluellen, Jay Loft-Lynn and Deveron Anderson.

Reunion of Pals At Recent Confab

When the Knights of St. Peter Claver convened in Los Angeles Sunday, it also marked the first meeting of Messrs. Charles Housemann and Chandler (chef) Haynes, native Orleanians over a span of many years. They were reunited at a dinner party tendered Mr. Housemann by the Dennis Woods, Jrs. in their lovely home at 2716 Halldale.

Mr. Haynes has more than 32 years on the Southern Pacific Railroad, while Mr. Housemann employs more than 150 persons in his furniture plant in Indiana while living in Chicago.

Local Attorney Back From Texas

Attorney Everette M. Porter, member of the local legal firm of Ragland and Porter, and Atty. Roger Q. Mason, member of the Texas bar, returned last week after a short business trip to Dallas, Texas. Both men made the trip by auto.

Delegates To Presbyterian Meet Honored Here

Mrs. John L. Collins of 2649 South Manhattan Place, entertained at a lovely dinner party recently at her home, honoring her house guest, Mrs. Lillie B. Harris, of Augusta, Ga.

Mrs. Harris was a commissioner to the General Assembly of the Presbyterion Church in the U.S.A., which recently met in Seattle, Washington.

Other guests present were Mmes. J. H. Waggner, Sadie L. Priestly, Jessie R. Blodgett, G. L. Hanes, Jessie B. Carter and Mmes. Gertrude S. Hollifield Dean E. Hart, of Seattle, and Miss Ruby L. Locke of Kansas City, Mo.

IMPORTANT GENTS AND A LASS—Guest listed at the opening of the Pasadena House of Charm, were many visitors to the city. Frank Jackson, business manager, may be seen at left, Libby Clark, of N. Turnabout Charity Club To Hold Highlight Soiree During Twilight Sunday

Turnabout is fair play. . . . Seeing to it that youngsters less fortunate than others in the community are given a chance at summer camping fun, is the main project of the well known Turnabout Charity Club, who will be entertaining on Sunday afternoon with a festive Cocktail party at 1919 S. Harvard Blvd. starting promptly at 4:00 p.m.

Dancing will hold sway throughout the late evening and a program highlighted with many star performers will be the high point of the afternoon. Mr. J. T. Gipson, theatrical editor of the California EAGLE will be announcer throughout the affair. Evelyn Burwell will be at the piano a goodly part of the program and Miss Kitty Bilbrew White will render several original numbers. While pop in selections are expected from Dorothy Donegan, King Cole Trio, and many another.

The Turnabouts are headed by Joyce Steward, who is serving her second year in office. The program is being chaired by Lucille Boswell, while Turnabout officers and members, Melonee Blocker, Josephine Birch, Betsy Green, Jessie Mae Beavers, Harlette Johnson, Ruth Kenner, Jerry Steward, Betty Alston, Josephine Spearman, Haroldine Browning, Evelyn Abney, Barbara Faulkner, Kitty Beard and Jane Hampton are working hard to see that the affair Sunday will be a huge success.

Invitations have been out for the past two weeks, and a representative number of the younger and older social set members are expected to be on hand.

Mrs. Lucille Jenkins of Berkeley, Calif., is house guest of Mrs. Louisa Roan.

CHAIRMAN — Heading the Carol Brice Concert Committee of Alpha Gamma Omega chapter of the Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority is Mrs. Reatha D. Beck, charming wife of Dr. W. A. Beck and an active worker in the local sorority chapter. (see story)

Mr. and Mrs. Ford leave a young son and daughter with their grandparents while takig their first extended trip togeher since their marriage in 1939.

WHAT'S DOING IN THE SOCIAL SET

By JESSIE MAE BROWN

IT'S A HEARTY WELCOME WE EXTEND TO the visiting men of Phi Beta Sigma and their lovely wives. Angelenos are all out to make this one of your most exciting conferences in the history of Sigma. And judging from reports from years afore, it will not be an easy job. However, we rest on the laurels that past conventions held in the Angel city have brought. The sunny southland, is noted for its hospitality. Believe me, not one stone will be left unturned, as the saying goes, to make the Sigmas as happy as could be expected. Socially speaking, the Zeta Phi Beta, sister club to the frat, gave out with the starter, by welcoming the gents in a typically Californian manner on Tuesday night at the down town El Sombrero Club. To name who was there in the fashionably dressed milling crowd would be out of the question, for there were hundreds on hand to welcome the Sigmas to the lighter side of life. Last night, Wednesday, the public meeting was staged at Hamilton M. E. Church. The speeches were fine and the program of bigger and better business was given the spotlight, by gentlemen with the experience and reputations for being interesting speakers. Of course local welcomes from the various organizations took up a bit of the program to the delight of many, for the snappy welcomes were quite in order. To complete the evening of activities, the Delta Sigma Theta Sorors joined the Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity and played the hostess role for the visiting Sigmas and company. Quite an affair, quite an affair. . . . Dr. C. W. Hill, Sigma president in Los Angeles, and in this writer's estimation one of the most diligent workers of the national organization, is up to his neck with keeping all running smoothly. By the way, the L. A. Sigmas are being perfect hosts.

While afternoon sessions held sway, today, the visiting wives of Sigma men will be honored at a buffet luncheon around the hour of 1:00 p.m. Should be a very glamorous affair, giving ye scribe an eye view of what's happening on the feminine side of this great convention. Mrs. H. A. Howard, head of the local wives club, will be key hostess. Tonight, after the sessions are over, and what have you, the Sigma Gamma Rho Sorority will present their uniquely named "Sirotor et Causer, on South Wilton. Then comes Friday night, and the Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorors will join the Kappa Alpha Psi gents with a well appointed social welcome party for the Sigmas. Saturday will be the finale to the convention, and a very suitable ending will be the clever "Hollywood Party," being staged by the Iota Phi Lambda business sorority, at the hill top home of lovely Nadine Cole. Stars, Glamour and what have you will be the feature of the evening. As you note, so many affairs are going on, its really hard to pick out any one invitation, so the wise thing to do, is use them all. To date, it has been quite a job for ye scribe, and a very pleasant one. Here's hoping for the Sigma Frat, a very successful conclave, one in which they will accomplish much toward building "Bigger and Better Business."

ROUND ABOUT

Visitors galore are claiming the social calendar of events. This summer's list of sojourners seems to be so very interesting. For instance, Bill Chase, a fellow scribe, whose reputation is way up high, as Society Editor of the Amsterdam News, has been visiting our fair city for several days, as house guest of the Alpha man, George Waugh. Anybody who has ever read the Amsterdam News, is quite familiar with his work, and especially the ladies and gents who have moved in New York circles from time to time. Out of the many affairs that have been given in his honor, one of the most outstanding, was an informal get together, given Monday night by Lena Torrance. The milling throng in attendance produced such well known names as, Lena Horn, Dorothy Donegan, the Jimmy Andersons (Libby Clark) who are also visiting here and a host of others. Bill visited the EAGLE office on Tuesday afternoon, mentioning the fact that his social post on the News, has been given the farewell, as he is new City Editor now and the promotion is exactly what he has been waiting for nigh on to 8 years of his 17 in journalism. Loads of luck in the new position Bill. . . .

It was cool with a slight sunshiney breeze on Wednesday afternoon, when Mrs. George Griffin Smith (Josephine Blodgett) entertained in the gardens of her smart S. Serrano Avenue home honoring visitors, Mrs. Sidney Jones and Mrs. Eunice Brown of Savannah and Mrs. Edith Rawlings of Detroit. Beautifully summer garbed socialites were much in evidence, exchanging greetings with the charming visitors to the city.

Dr. C. W. Hill gains mention twice in this week's jottings, for he proved a very gay host, as per usual, when he entertained in honor of visitors with an impromptu party at his Hollywood Hills home. The honorees were, Atty. Earl B. Dickenson of Chicago, Dr. and Mrs. Milos Love and family of Pittsburgh, Miss., Mr. and Mrs. F. Bennett of Detroit. Also guest listed were, Dr. and Mrs. D. Hawkins, Atty. and Mrs. George Cannady (Camille), Mrs. Clara Harris, Mr. Bill Jones, Dr. John Robinson Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. S. Lisberg. . . .

'Crown City' Will Be Scene Of Bunch-Malone Wedding: Family Arrives for Ceremony

Arriving in Los Angeles late Friday evening by plane from Washington D. C., was Mrs. Lillian Malone, principal of the Stevens School of Washington D. C. and her daughter, Miss Crystal Malone. Here for the marriage of her son, Stanley Malone, to popular Gloria Bunch of Pasadena, the prominent matron and daughter were guest listed at the Bridal Brunch given Saturday morning by Mrs. Jessie Mae Beavers.

The occasion was a linen shower and place cards were marked for 25 smartly dressed young ladies. The honoree received in a smart silk print, and was quite charming, as she opened the many gifts that were heaped around the bridal center piece.

Guest listed at the affair were the bride-elect's mother, Mrs. Celeste Bunch of Pasadena and Barbara James, Betty Benson, Carolyn Hennington, Elizabeth Williams, Lucille Harrison, Lois Prince Clark, Jessie Johnson, Irene Henderson and Jackie Bailey of the Crown City, while from Los Angeles were Trudy White, Gertrude Gipson, Symanthia Williams, Angelle Stratton, Helen Wright, Rebecca Farrington, Jane Hampton, Maethilde Kenner, Odessa Jones, Lucille Boswell, Gloria Mitchell, Audrey Brantley and Mrs. Irene Henderson.

The hostess was assisted by her mother, Mrs. Arnetta Brown and sisters, Mmes. Rebecca Farrington, Fannie DeMan and Marion Jackson.

The popular couple will speak wedding vows on Sunday afternoon in Pasadena. Rev. Robert Hill of Scotts Methodist church will officiate. Gloria will be attended by her younger sister, Lulu Marie Bunch, as maid of honor. A reception will follow at the family home on N. Vernon Avenue.

While in the city, Mrs. Malone and daughter are the house guests of Mrs. Irene Henderson.

Elaborate Afternoon Fete Given for Visitors to City

Mrs. Hazel Brown, 1197 E. 49th Street, was hostess to a gay and colorful afternoon "Desert Hour," Sunday, Aug. 1, for her special guests, her sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Stephen of Macon, Ga., and Mrs. Alice Junkins of Bloomfield, Iowa, both of whom are seasonal visitors to Southern California.

The guest list included other out-of-state visitors, Msr. Irma Woolridge, Joplin, Mo.; Mrs. Iris McGowan, of Chicago, Ill.; Mrs. D. U. Carter of San Antonio, Texas; Mrs. Star Goodman of Birmingham, Ala., and Mrs. Esther Jacquet of Beaumont, Texas.

Mrs. Marie Fredericks acted as co-hostess and Mrs. Mildred Knox rendered sweet music at the piano all during the fete, while Mr. Ernest Lightener and Mr. Stanley Huddeston entertained with choice vocal renditions to make it very pleasant for over 60 guests.

Delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. Mabel Oliver, Mrs. Cornelia L. Grigsby and Mrs. Mildred Cromell.

Formal Dinner Given For Delegates Of Peter Claver

Mrs. Mae G. Pierson, Grand Lady of Court 87, Los Angeles, entertained a group of delegate officers and visitors including the national officers here in the city attending the National convention of the Knights and Ladies of St. Peter Claver. The dinner was formal.

WEDDING RECEPTION—Ralphe Porter's Casa Raphael was the lovely setting for an elabora wedding reception held Sunday afternoon in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Allen. The bric the former Bernice Lorrain Hawkins, is the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. D. D. Hawkins of L tle Rock, Arkansas. Her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Scott. Assisting we parents of the bridegroom, the bride's cousin, Mrs. Richard Witherspoon; Mrs. Irma Smit Mrs. Gladys Freeman, Mrs. Vivian Rhone and Mrs. Elnora J. Brown.

SOCIAL NOTES

Dr. Welles E. Forde, nationally known medico in surgical circles, was informed here early this week by officials of the Queen of Angels hospital, that he had been appointed a member of the Courtesy staff of that institution.

Interviewed on the subject, Dr. Forde revealed to newsmen that he already had been made a staff surgeon of Temple Hospital, and was also a member of the staff of Alta Vista hospital of Pasadena, Calif. Dr. Forde left here August 12, by plane for New York, where he will attend the national convention of the National Medical Association.

Surprise Party Given For Mrs. Ruby Wells

On Saturday evening, July 31, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Graham played host to a very delightful surprise party honoring Mrs. Ruby Wells. The affair proved to be a two-fold event, with Mrs. Mary Williams, Mrs. Wells' sister sharing honors. Mrs. Williams is visiting Los Angeles and other parts of California from her home in Edward, Mississippi.

Mrs. Williams, who knew of the surprise planned for her sister, had her accompany her on a visit to the Grahams. On arriving at the residence, she was taken by surprise when a number of friends and relatives sang "Happy Birthday" to her. Miss Rose Marie Lawson played music throughout, accompanied by Mr. Graham on the guitar. A spicy program held sway. The honoree received many useful gifts.

The main feature of the affair was a large birthday cake artistically decorated in pink roses.

Among guests taking part in the celebration were: Mmes. Erma Trotter, Emma Lee Campbell, Lucille Williams, Emma Graham, Edith Smith, Elinora Graham, Cedella Morgan, Ada Duette and baby Linda, Mary Neal, Beulah Mae Green, Nettie B. Sledge, Marie Travis, Bessie Johnson, Florence Smith, F. C. Johnson, Jennie Wells, Ruby Wells, Misses Jean Goodwin, Rose Marie Lawson, Lenora Mack, Mary Frances Travis and Messrs. John Trotter, J. P. Campbell, Roosevelt Graham, Richard Graham, Roy Moore, Melvin neal, Benjamin Smith, Otis Johnson, Thomas C. Travis, Bill Griffin and Johnnie Wells, husband of the honoree.

Mrs. Williams left Los Angeles August 1, enroute for her home, where she will be joined by her husband, Mr. Eugene Williams, who is chef cook in Malton, Ill.

A delightful time was had by all attending, and Mr. and Mrs. Graham were voted as charming hosts.

Raisin' Cain

By CARL L. CAIN

The Special Session of the Eightieth Congress of the United States was called to order and adjourned. Those are the most important things that happened there. Someone mentioned their passing a "watered down" housing bill—so wet, as a matter of fact, that it's something like a wet blanket. It doesn't help a person who's cold, the same as that so-called housing bill won't help the people who haven't got home, mainly the veterans. In addition, there naturally won't be time to do anything about the housing program anyway before the elections, and after that the new President will have opportunity, along with the new Congress, to do just about anything he desires with the new housing program. There's an abundance of legislature in our country regarding housing—all that's necessary is the transition of law and promise into reality and housing. You can't "law" the rain and weather off a man who hasn't got a house. You can't vote the storm down. And for those who live in slum areas, you can't talk down diseases and cockroaches. But they still think passing a "watered down" housing bill will help. Typically a thing of the Eightieth Congress and President Truman.

Without any doubt, however, they were busy at the special session. The Southerners might think they talked down any legislation regarding Civil Rights. But they're wrong. They could not have said a word and the result would have been the same. Now it wasn't the purpose of the Congress to pass a Civil Rights Program at this particular time. It would be very destructive to both the Democratic and Republican platforms. In my opinion, and in view of that fact, political leaders should never have advised the President to call a special session. All the President can do now is point a finger and say I told you they wouldn't do it, never having realized that an election of him in November would lead to four more years of the same do-nothing state of affairs.

They gave the poor Communists in the country a big hearty "BOO!" while lingering around waiting for someone to adjourn the session. Instead of acting to head off inflation, a war with Russia and violence in the South when the whites attempt to keep Negroes from the polls the Senate was busy "investigating" those who have infiltered the government — those "communists." When they started to search for communists they were getting so close and so hot on the trail that a halt had to be called to the thing because President Truman refused to hand over the loyalty tests of some of his leading officials. Now that never would have happened — the abandonment of the investigation—if Mr. Truman hadn't withheld the results of the loyalty checks. He had the House and Senate committees formed to chase others around, but still he did not cooperate. Funny thing, too, that Rankin of Mississippi, the man who pledged to follow in the footsteps of Bilbo, has asked more questions and had more to say during the investigation than anyone else. A person would think that the whole plight is aimed at Negroes, New Dealers, and Liberals. The Communists are just thrown as a filling for the mudcake. And since when did the communists in our country turn villians? During the thirties, they were running candidates on every ballot in elections throughout the country and gaining strength all the time. Anyone who wanted to get himself elected to any small office, all too often, was turning to the Communist Party. But it's so strange now . . . you can't find yourself hide nor hair of a Communist anywhere. "UNLIKE THE KU KLUX KLAN," they're pledged to overthrow the government by force and we could never have that.

And so the Congress spent valuable time with its investigations, and wound up with nothing to show for the people's money and time . . . and the stoppage of the whole thing by the President.

I had a strange feeling t'other day when a fellow came up to me, and in a coy manner, asked me what a Communist was. He said that in Russia they were supposed to have STATE CAPITALISM, although they're supposed to be Communists at the same time. And here we have Capitalism, although several thousand stockholders own the major industries. And that anyone who acted like he wanted to imitate Thomas Jefferson would hear from the Committee right away. Just what is Communism, he asked me.

I told him that Communism is a rubber jacket, which can be stretched to fit any person, regardless of shape, size or form. The term can be applied to any noun or pronoun; and deed.

He lit out behind me in hot pursuit when he said that he could call his hat a communist. I said yes. Anything. It didn't matter what. And soon that young man had lost complete control. He walked out of the house, looked up at the sky, and said COMMUNIST. He looked at the running water from a hosepipe and said COMMUNIST. He looked at the bright yellow blossoms on a flower and said COMMUNIST. He looked at a baby carriage with a cute tot in it as a lady passed by and said COMMUNIST. I told him to stop it; he'd be as bad as the House Committee on Un-American Activities, presently. But he just couldn't stoppit. He was having too much fun. He looked at his shoe and shouted COMMUNIST! and stamped his feet against the flor in bitter rage. He snatched the buttons from his coat shouting COMMUNISTS. However, when I told him he'd soon be as bad as RANKIN if he didn't stop, he apologized to the sky, the water, flower, baby carriage, shoe, and buttons. Good old Democratic things, he cried, fearing a fate worse than anything imaginable.

Avalon Playground To Be Opened Soon

The playground at 88th-89th Streets between Avalon and San Pedro will be ready for use in the near future, according to Councilman Kenneth Hahn who first advocated the playground in this community.

Councilman Hahn pointed out that this week the City Attorney advised him that the defendants who own the property at this location have been served by the City Attorney's office with subpoenas to appear in court. Following court action, the judge will fix a fair and reasonable rate for the property and the city will then have access to a clear title for playground and recreation purposes.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By REV. IKE EVANS, D.D.

Subject: Andrew, The Man Who Brought Others. Other Lesson Text and Outline. John 1:37-42; Mark 1:16-18; John 12:20-22. Motto Text John 1:42.

INTRODUCTION

Andrew was a native of Bethsaida, son of John, brother of Peter, fisherman in the Sea of Galilee, and part owner of a residence in Capernaum. He was a disciple of John the Baptist who directed him to Jesus whom he accepted as the Messiah and at once brought to him his brother Peter who also was converted. He was called later to the ministry and later still to become an apostle, his name appearing after Peter's in two lists and before Philip's in two lists. He and Philip were associated in the feeding of the five thousand and in the request of the Greeks. He was one of the four who inquired of Jesus concerning the destruction of Jerusalem and the end of the world.

COMMENTS

I. Andrew had heard John Baptist speaking of Christ as the Lamb of God, that takes away the sin of the world, and this make him follow him. The strongest and most prevailing argument with a sensible awakened soul to follow Christ is that it is he, and only he, that takes away sin. Christ takes early cognizance of the first motions of a soul toward him, and the first step taken in the way to heaven. He did not stay till they begged leave to speak with him, but spoke first. What communion there is between a soul and Christ, it is he that begins the discourse. He saith unto them, What seek ye?

This was not a reprimand for their boldness in intruding into his company: he that came to seek us never checked any for seeking him; but, on the contrary, it is a kind invitation of them into his acquaintance whom he saw bashful and modest; "Come, what have you to say to me? What is your petition? What is your request? "Those business it is to instruct people in affairs of their souls should be humble, and mild, and easy of access, and should encourage those that apply to them. The question Christ put to them in what we should all put to ourselves when we begin to follow Christ, and take upon us, the profession of his holy religion; "What seek ye? What do we dedign and desire?"

Those that follow Christ, and yet seek the world, or themselves, or the praise of men themselves. These came to Christ to be his scholars, so must all those that apply themselves to him. Unless we give up ourselves to be ruled and taught by him, he will not take away sins. We ought with a particular concern and application to seek the spiritual welfare of those that are related to us; for their relation to us adds both to the obligation and to the opportunity of doing good to their soul. The best evidence of our profiting by the by the means of grace is the piety and usefulness of our conversation afterwards. True grace hates monopolies, and loves not to eat its morsels alone. Those that come ti Christ must come with a fixed resolution to be firm and constant to him, like a stone, solid and stedfast; and it is by his grace that we so.

2. Christ will have followers. If he set up a school, he will have scholars; if he set up his standard, he will have soldiers; if he preach, he will have hearers. He has taken an effectual course to secure this; for all that the Father has given him, shall, without a fail, come to him. The instruments Christ chose to employ in setting up his kingdom, were the weak and foolish things of the world; not called from the great sanhedrim, or the schools of the rabbin, but picked up from among the tarpaulins by the sea-side, that the excellency of the power might appear to be wholly of God, and not at all of them.

Though Christ needs not the help of man, yet he is please to make use of it in setting up his kingdom, that he might deal with us not in a formidable but in a familar way, and that in his kingdom the nobles and governors may be of ourselves. The business of ministers is to fish for souls, and win them to Christ. The children of men, in their natural condition, are lost, wander endlessly in the great ocean of this world, and carried down the stream of its course and way; they are unprofitable. Fishermen take great pains, and expose themselves to great perils, so do ministers; and they have need of wisdom.

If many a draught brings home nothing, yet they must go on. Those whom Christ calls, must leave all, to follow him; and by his grace he inclines them to do so. Not that we must needs go out of the world immediatetly, but we must sit loose to the world, and forsake every thing that is inconsistent with out duty to Christ, and that cannot be kept without prejudice to our souls.

3. These Greeks have a desire to see Christ, they were industrious in the use of proper means. They did not conclude it impossible because he was so much crowded to get to speak with him, nor rest in bare wishes but resolved to try what could be done. Those that would have the knowledge of Christ must sek it. They made their application to Philip, one of his disciples. Those would see Jesus by faith now that he is in Heaven must apply to his ministers, of grace from him; we miss of our end in coming if we do not see Jesus.

Comments on the Motto Text

Glimpse three person here: "He . . . Him . . . Jesus whom the Baptist had identified as the Son of God and introduced as "the Lamb of God, which taketh away the sin of the world" was on this very day, initiating his public ministry. "He" was Andrew who, after reliable revelation through John the Baptist and individual investigation in a full day's interview with Jesus, declared his fath: "We have found the Messias! "Peter was "Him" who, as a devot Jew was looking for the Messiah; as a disciple of the Baptist, believed his advent imminent and as brother of Andrew, just converted, welcomed the Interview which resulted in his own conversion to Christ as Saviour and Lord.

What we obtain too cheap, we esteem too lightly; it is dearness only that gives everything its value.—Thomas Paine.

Kingdom Baptist Fellowship Services

Rev. Thomas E. Brown, D.D.

Rev. J. T. Brown, D.D., pastor of the Progressive Baptist Church, Chicago, will be the evangelist-preacher at an evangelistic and soul-saving meeting to be held Sunday evening, August 15, in the Kingdom Baptist Church, 2808 Temple street.

The fellowship and formal opening of the Kingdom Baptist Church began July 25, and will continue through August 15. Ministers with their choirs and congregations who have participated during the week of July 25 to August 1, are as follows: Rev. Charles H. Davis, Salem Baptist Church; Rev. L. D. Revoal, First Baptist Church, Venice; Rev. Frederick D. Jordan, First A. M. E.; Rev. L. B. Moss, D.D., Park Avenue Baptist, Riverside; Rev. D. C. Austin, Greater Cornerstone Baptist; Rev. S. A. Amos, Bethel A. M. E.; and Rev. R. B. Porter, Progressive Baptist.

The Fellowship Service began its second week of jubilation on Sunday, Aug. 8, with Rev. Grant Harris, pastor of Zion Hill Baptist Church, two choirs, and a host of members who filled the auditorium of Kingdom, taking part in the services.

Other ministers with their choirs and congregations who have taken part this past week are: Rev. S. H. Marion, D.D., First A. M. E. Zion; Rev. L. D. Stevens, B.D., Abyssinia Baptist; Rev. F. Douglas Ferral, Tabernacle of Faith Baptist; Rev. A. A. Peters, Victory Baptist; Rev. W. D. Carter, D.D., Friendship Baptist, Pasadena; and Rev. A. C. Capers, D.D., the Faithful Central Baptist.

All Christians who are interested in the salvation of the world are invited to join the pastor of Kingdom Baptist, the Rev. A. Wendell Ross, and his congregation in these special services. Prayer and consecration services are being held each day at 10 a. m. and 2 p. m.

Come. Bring your unsaved friends.

Services For Lee C. Allen Held Friday

Funeral services were held recently at Angelus Temple for Lee C. Allen, father of Dr. Howard Allen, and a prominent resident of Los Angeles for over thirty years. The deceased was employed by the county for twenty-two years, and he was an active member of the Urban League and the NAACP.

Elders P. T. Rogers, Owen A. Troy, R. H. Robinson and Garland Millet of the Seventh Day Adventist Church of which the late Mr. Allen was a member officiated at the funeral services. Interment was in Rosedale cemetery.

Mr. Allen was reared in St. Mary's, Kansas, where he went to live in his early youth. Nearly half of his life was spent in Los Angeles where he took part in many civic activities. Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Lee Allen, a son, Dr. Howard Allen, a daughter, Hortense Allen, seven brothers, three sisters, and a host of nieces and nephews. His brothers, Henry Allen of Los Angeles, Ernest Allen of Oregon, Guy Allen of Manhattan, Kansas, and Gilbert Allen of San Francisco, and a sister Emma Allen of Sacramento attended the funeral services.

"Unsurpassed Service Through The Years"

HUNDREDS HAVE SAID, as time has passed, that the ceremony we conducted was one of correct appointment, and that our personal assistance was with a spirit of sincere helpfulness.

SUCH PUBLIC CONFIDENCE is not won by words. Actions are the only reliable symptoms of sympathetic sincerity. And that is what you get in a CONNER-JOHNSON service, whether it is one of utmost simplicity, or the most elaborate.

Consult us about our recommended pre-payment plan of funeral expenses, with no obligation. It costs only a few cents a day.

THROUGH THE YEARS

In the 23 years we have been serving families of this community, we have always considered fine service and fair dealing our obligation to the bereaved family. Through years to come we shall continue, always, to provide the service increasingly preferred by bereaved families.

A Proved Plan to Eliminate Funeral Expense

A new funeral service policy, recommended by Angelus Funeral Home, pays all expenses regardless of how little has been paid in, costs only a few cents a day. Phone or stop in for free information today—no obligation.

Y.M.C.A. Interracial Camp A Success

The 28th Street YMCA returned from Camp Big Pines last week, highly elated at having carried out a successful experiment in interracial camping for boys.

This was the first attempt at this kind of camping for the branch. Dr. Leonard Stovall, chairman of the camp committee, says: "The Youth Division of the 28th Street 'Y' under the leadership of Emory L. Cain, is among the nation's leaders in providing this new democratic camping experience for the youth of Los Angeles."

The camp attendance included 52 Negro boys, 3 Japanese-American, 2 Mexican-American, 1 Korean-American and 40 white boys.

Much of the success of the project was due to the fine work done by Frank E. Donaldson and Russ Brand, co-directors, and their interracial staff of counselors. Outstanding among these were: John Bucknew, Charles McArthur, John Youngblood, Andrew Smith, Ambler Pearson, Dickie Hubbard, Lowell Brinson and Victor Tyler.

Preparing for an active program scheduled for the 1948-49 school year, the Los Angeles Junior Red Cross this week moved its workshop into new quarters, located at 3965½ West Sixth Street.

Outstanding merchants from throughout Southern California will display their latest food products as well as appliances for the home, in beautiful individualized display booths.

Over $5000 in valuable prizes of every description will be given away ABSOLUTELY FREE during this gigantic eight-day exhibit. A brand-new California-style home, now on exhibit in the spacious Elks patio will be GIVEN AWAY WITHOUT OBLIGATION, ABSOLUTELY FREE.

Charity Report Given to Mayor

The people of Los Angeles contributed $27,958,636.45 to charity during the 194?-48 fiscal year, according to a report received this week by Mayor Fletcher Bowron from the City's Department of Social Service.

Evelyn Spaulding, general manager of the department, told the Mayor that in only one other year, 1945-46, has there been a greater amount given for charitable purposes. In that year the receipts for all solicitations totaled $28,210,733.40.

In order to protect the people, the City requires that full information on all solicitations for charity be filed with the Social Service Department. Last year, 1,182 solicitation reports were filed and the total expense of the drives was $3,953,261.56, or 14.1 per cent of the total collected.

Community Church Meet, Aug. 17

The 17th biennial session of Community and Independent churches will be held at the Neighborhood Community Church, San Pedro street at 47th place. August 17-22.

Churches from all parts of America will be represented. A public reception will be held Tuesday evening, August 17. The Council will organize Tuesday morning at ten o'clock, at which time the biennial sermon will be delivered and Holy Communion observed.

A special train with more than 300 passengers will arrive Monday at 10:30 a.m. via Southern Pacific.

The public is invited to all meetings, and to all the daily sessions.

Antioch Notes

PHOENIX, Ariz. — The united services of Antioch Baptist and Calvary Baptist churches closed last Sunday, August 8, with the pastor of the Antioch Baptist, Rev. R. N. Holt, preaching the concluding sermon at the 3 p.m. service.

Antioch's collection for the week was $384.91, while Calvary's was a trifle over $900.

Rev. Holt left last Tuesday night for Texas, where he will attend a family reunion. In Houston, Texas, he will be guest speaker at the convention to be held there. On his way home he will visit Tulsa and Oklahoma City.

Lincoln Graduates Awarded B. S. Degree

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo.—Forty-three Lincoln university graduates received bachelor degrees following an address by State Commisioner of Education Hubert Wheeler last Thursday, in capacity-filled, historic Page auditorium. Commissioner Wheeler emphasized consideration of the youth of our times, declaring to the parents and patrons present that "your child is oyur most valuable aset; it will determine your emotional, social, mental and even economic welfare."

He stressed throughout his address that the best hope of the future is in our children. He advised those who plan to teach to "come up in their thinking to where our children are." The points were emphasized throughout the discourse with examples of personal educational experiences.

Baby Allen Captures Contest First Prize

The winner, and only boy in the recent baby contest, sponsored by the Matron League of Olivet Baptist Church; under the direction of Margaret W. Whittaker, was won by baby Gregory Allen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jonah Allen, 1709 East 40th Place. The first prize was a lovely gold trophy cup.

The second prize was won by Lillian R. Ternell, and third prize by baby Gertrude Addison. Each baby in the contest was awarded a gift.

A very timely message, "Leading These Babies to Christ At An Early Age," was brought to the parents and congregation by Reverend H. H. Collins Jr. of Pasadena.

Rev. W. R. Hutchinson, D.D., is the pastor.

Charming Music In a Charming Park

JUST DATA BUT WHAT'S DA' MATTA WITH DATTA?

All of you blues lovers are in for a real treat when Eddie (Mr. Cleanhead) Vinson brings his band and his real gone blues to th eCricket Club on the 18th of the month . . . Jimmy Williams hanging around the house of pretty Lola Sears (And he ain't there to talk for Joe either! !). . . That smile you see on the face of vocalist Ernie Andrews is cause he's the poppa of a three week old boy . . . Sudden Thawt: A girl knows more about men at the age of sixteen than a man does—about women at the age of sixty . . . A 17 year old girl is being held in a detention home as a deliquent. Officers say she was found in a home. Not that I am trying to tell the court how to run it's business, but howcum a morals charge wasn't placed against the man? . . . Understand that the new management of the Last Word are dickering with the idea of bringing back Little Miss Cornshucks, well, they sure couldn't dicker with a better idea . . . Will someone tell us whats wrong with Joe Adams? I can't seem to find his name in the pages anymore? But he's still an alright guy, huh Joe? . . . Matthew Thompson is one of the few young fella's that really looks good in a straw hat . . . Pal, Libby Clark Williams, now pens a national column for the Chi-Defender. Libby's a great gal and a heckuva writer . . . Bradford Harrison and his Eevlyn are dreaming out loud, they've got "softening of the hearteries" . . . That brunch Eagle Soc. Ed. gave for Gloria Bunch who'll say her "I Do's" Sunday afternoon with Stanly Malone was quite the thing and that food was seeeeply wonder-ful. Stanly's Mon and Sis Crystal flew out from Washington, D. C. to attend the weeding ceremony . . . Understand that attractive Eythel Sissle is now Mrs. Walter Gordon Jr. . . . The cute blond you see pecking at the cash register in the Last Word is shaply Dottie Seamon . . . Somebody said that when Lloyd Murdock sleeps he snores so loud it's hard to tel whether he's making the noise or one of those Kirby vacum cleaners he sells . . . The Turnabouts present their cocktail party Sunday afternoon over on Harvard with lots of entertainment chalked up for all . . . Hear that one of the local so-called playgirls is flirting with a whole mess of trouble . . . Peter Rabbit and her chorines are going over real great at one of the bay city's finer niteries.

NOTES, NEWS AND NONESENSE

Very seldom do you come in contact with a man and wife who both have such a pleasant disposition . . . we're talking about the Johnson's over there at the Bath House. . . . Sure wish Joe Shipp would hurry and get well so he can start playin all over again ha, ha . . . Herbit (Mickey) McMurry talking about his birthday party already . . . One of the finest hat cleaners in the city right on Central Ave. operated by Maimie Epps, on 50th and Central. There's nothin they can't do to a hat I'm tellin ya! . . . Cute as cute can be Louise (Bo) Franklin . . . sorta reminds you of "Lil Bo Peep" . . . None of the gang is hep as to why Helen Weber is laying "silent" in her fly pad . . . none of the gang except a Candid Commentator . . . And so with that we'll pull the cover ove rthe Trusty Underwood and start throwin a few clothes toegther, leaving you with this, that "What this country needs is fewer people telling us what this country needs!"

"SISTER ROSETTA THARPE, internationally famed entertainer, was denied admittance at Ciro's, in Hollywood, last week when she, in the company of Sportsman Artie Graves, visited the Sunset strip nitery to hear the King Cole trio. The couple had previously made reservations by telephone, but when they arrived at the club the management said, "Sorry, there must be some mistake!"

Diz to Appear in Jazz Show

Another great honor was bestowed on Dizzy Gillespie here this week. The high priest of be-bop has been selected as one of the feature bands to appear on the annual "Cavalcade of Jazz" extravaganza, scheduled for Wrigley Field September 12.

The "Cavalcade of Jazz" show is the blue ribbon jazz fixture of the West Coast each year and one of the greatest events devoted to jazz in the entire country. The sponsors of the gala event at Wrigley Field cull only the top echelons of the popular music field and extend them invitations to participate. Selection for a place on this spectacular and significant program automatically establishes the recipient of that selection as belonging to the who's who of popular music.

eeeOOOOH, LOOK-a-there, ain't she pretty? It's shapely 19-year-old Ann Blyth, Universal-International film star perched prettily above gazing at the sea—and you can bet Old Man Neptune stares back. You would, too, wouldn't you?

DAN GRISSOM, whose latest record release, "Recess in Heaven," returned to the city last week following a successful four weeks engagement at one of Sacramento's smartest nite spots. Grissom is set for a stint at the Million Dollar theatre as a featured headline attraction. His singing is rated tops.

BOB HOWARD, handsome singing star with the Basie band, last week signed a 5-year contract with CBS for television. (Where does a guy go to learn how to croon?

Eddie Vinson Shuns Movie Comedy Roles

Eddie Vinson, Mr. Cleanhead, who is in town awaiting his opening date at Paul Rubin's Cricket Club (Aug. 18), has turned down offers from two major studios, seeking him for comedy roles.

The famous singer who made good shouting the blues says he shunned the offers because he could see no help that could come to his career from such roles as he would be called upon to play.

Vinson, however, explained that he would be happy to consider any proposition calling for his band or his blues singing specialty, but no clown roles!

THAT'S LENA HORNE posing prettily in the picture above. We have no particular reason for running the picture other than the fact that every once in a while we like to gaze upon the loveliness of the luscious Lena. She looks like something out of a dream, eh fellows?

Palmcrest Hotel to Sponsor Beauty Contest on Labor Day

A mammoth bathing beauty contest is being scheduled for Sept. 6, to be held at the newly opened Santa Monica Palmcrest Hotel by the Sea.

The contest will be supervised and conducted by Ellen Day, stage director-producer of the stage play, "Beloved Bachelor," now in its third month at the Katherine James Playhouse in Hollywood.

Ralph Porter, florist, is the coordinating chairman of the Beauty Contest and the club's membership drive.

All girls desiring to participate in this gala event are asked to read the Eagle columns next week for application blanks. First prize to the winner who will be crowned

"Miss Southern California," will be a one-picture contract at Sunshine Productions, with Motion Picture Producer Ray Dalton on hand to assist in the judging of the contest.

All girls are invited to attend. There will be other choice prizes; a one year scholarship to the Laura Bowman School of Arts; diamond wrist watches and other prizes too numerous to mention.

Application blanks will be available in next week's edition of the California Eagle.

The Palmcrest Hotel by the Sea is California's newest summer playground for vacationers with no discrimination. Accommodations are open to all races. The Palmcrest resort club has athletic facilities, dancing every Saturday night, a recreation room, spacious dining room, tennis courts—and just a three block walk from the Ocean front.

Get the Eagle next week, girls, for application blanks. YOU may be a winner!

NELLIE LUTCHER opens ta Cafe Society (NY) Sept. 7. She recently closed a smash engagement at the prejudiced Melodee club, on East Slauson Blvd.

NICKI O'DANIELS, former dancing beauty and musical comedy star, is the mother of a newly-arrived six pound baby girl. In private life, the luscious Nicki is Mrs. L. Randolph.

DUKE HENDERSON, better known (and billed) as "His Majesty of the Blues," has been held over indefinitely at the Last Word cafe, and is scoring a smash hit with the guys and gals. Duke, a product of Kansas City's cradle of Swing, has a new and different style of blues singing, and his latest recording, "Early Morning Blues," is due out August 15.

Lionel Hampton and His Band Given Ovation in Louisville

LOUISVILLE, Ky.—Lionel Hampton returned to his birthplace, Louisville, Kentucky, last week, August 2, triumphantly amid thousands of well wishers in a mammoth street parade and dance.

Appearing in Louisville for the second time within two months by popular demand to play a coronation ball for the town's Queen of Waitresses, and King of Bartenders, sponsored by the Louisville Defender, Lionel virtually set the town on fire.

Long before parade time, huge crowds formed along the streets to witness Hamp's band in action atop a float. More than 50,000 people heard Lionel beat it out all along the way for over a solid hour. The parade included, besides the King and Queen, and Hampton's band, many colorful floats and shiny new 1948 model cars.

It was the first time that any big name band has been heard in the flesh in a Louisville parade. At 6 a.m., Lionel tired, but happy, loaded his aggregation into two buses and took off for another date—reminiscent of the happiness he has both provided and received in his home town!

VISITING BEAUTY

DORA FORD, beautiful society miss from New York is spending her summer vacation here as the house-guest of her cousin, Lulu Bendy. Mrs. Bendy is the wife of Dynamite Jackson, former state heavyweight champion, now owner-manager of Dynamite Jackson's Liquor store and the Paradise Lounge on Central. Miss Ford is residing at 3420 Edgehill Drive.

CANADA LEE Jr. will star in a N.Y. stage play in September. He's the son of the famous actor.

MAGGIE HATHAWAY is the exotic lush-thrush in the pic above. La Hathaway returns to the Theatrical profession following a short absence due to illness. Her Black-White recording of "Here Goes A Fool" is still a top favorite on juke-boxes. The Gip calls Miss Hathaway a "Sweet Singer Of Swing Songs!"

Actor's Lab to Stage Top Show Sunday, Aug. 22

On Sunday evening, August 22, theatre goers will have another opportunity to attend a repeat Actor's Lam performance of two dynamic one-act plays "Freight" and "Plant in the Sun."

In "Plant in the Sun" Jerry Paris, David Fresco, and Bob Hoffman will again re-enact their stellar roles in the ideological maelstrom of shipping clerks who decide to "sit-down" when one of the group has been fired for "talking union." This modern classic by Ben Bengal about a labor-management struggle in a candy factory is one of the finest things the cast has done in some time.

"Freight," a new play by Kenneth White, is skillfully directed by Arthur Spencer and reduces the Negro-white race relations problem to a traveling boxcar populated by one white man and six Negroes.

Joel Fluellan as Samp, Emmet Smith as Roth and Ken Jones as the loathsome Jake bring superb characterizations to the production and make the play an unforgetable experience in the theatre.

The show is for the benefit of youngsters who are participating in a special summer program of healthful supervised recreation at the Soto-Michigan Jewish Community Center.

True confession: If I Had My Life To Live Over Again—I Wouldn't! . . . Seated at one of the Sin Den bars the other early ayem, Levi Burney (the colyum's "shadow") niftied: "Money isn't everything in the world," then added, "I refer, of course, to Confederate money!" Mildred Caro (she manages Baby Sandra's Snack Bar) has the kind of personality that makes you love her right off the bat.

Patrollin' The Bronzeville Sector: Bill Chase, the alert and witty NY Amsterdam News columnist, is in town on what he calls a vacation visit. Bill is the breeziest of the Sepia Scribblers—when Bill Smallwood isn't around . . . Eddie Walker (he writes for a San Diego sheet, when he isn't in town chasing chippies) spent the night with a columnist, and complained: "His snoring's on a Be-Bop kick!" . . . Dora Ford is N. Y.'s prettiest advertisement. She's vacationing here from The Apple, and if you wanna see the kind of kewpie who oughta be in pickchas—you oughta see Dora Ford! . . To inform the Mis-Informed: Ordinarily, we leave Politics to writers who know what they're writing about, but just one time we'd like to put in our two cents worth: With Henry A. Wallace in as President, it'll mean Peace of Mind and Peace for the World! . . . "Yeah," yeah'd Gambler Eddie Ford, "my income runs into three figures: Mine, my wife's and daughter's! . . . Gloria Bunch (the pretty Pasadena deb) will become Mrs. Stanley Malone Sunday next. Some guys get all the breaks; Gloria's one of the darlingest darlings we've seen in our life, the kind of girl your sister is, and the kind your mother was! . . . Why don't they stop those lies? Jimmie Bell, the Accountant, didn't drop 4-grand (as rumored) in a gambling den the other evng. Whd 'dya trying to do, get the guy in bad with the Internal Revenue dept'?

The Gipson Ticker Tape: Everyone (well, nearly everyone) is talking about the pretty personality of Eileen LeBell, of the Olympic Aud. office staff. She inspired the sunset, and we'd rather watch her smile than to be stranded on a desert island with Lena Horne! . . . Did Johnny Torrio (he's the one who taught the racket ropes to Capone) slip quietly in town on a b'sness deal the other day? . . . Julia Harrington looks like Betty Grable. Not complainin'—just colyumin' . . . Esther Kamin Brown counted her birfday candles Wednesday last. How old she was I, of course, am not saying. . . . Alyce Key, the pretty person who usta push a pen profitably for the Los Angeles Sentinel, ring-siding at the Cresbar and looking as sweet as an angel on a furlough from heaven. Alyce is suing a well-known Law Firm for damaging her reputation in a recent divorce trial . . . The George Parkers (she's the ah-tractive Melba) are expecting a little Income Tax deduction. Pop's the Compton Print Shop bus. mgr. . . . Louis Magana (my pizan) is an okay guy to know, in case you go around looking for okay guys to know. Looie never says an unkind word about no one, and no one ever says an unkind word about Looie . . . They'll say I'm nuts, but over at our house we're putting our dough on Fitzy Fitzpatrick to beat Len Morrow Tuesday night next at the Olympic Swatatorium. In spite of the fact that Len's a coming champ. Why'm I betting on Fitzy, then? I gotta hunch. (Oh, fevvensakes, Gipson, you and your hunches).

JIVIN' WITH JAY: Betty Muldrew and a certain man-about-town are going around in what is generally known as a daze. They've got it baaaaaaaaaaaaaaaad! . . . Zutty Singleton, the drummer (and wotta musician!) is entertaining the wife of Chi trumpeter Charlie Creath. Now I know that doesn't sound as bad as it looks in print. I mean she's the wife of his best—ohthehelliwithit . . . Geraldine Lung, the dumpling we item'd about in last wk's. col'm, is one of the reasons guys buy their giggle-water at Rainey's likker store . . . Luis Bendy (Mrs. Dynamite Jackson) is one of the nicest persons we know. Always smilin', always the personification of friendliness! Her old man's not a bad guy, either! Fact is, we love 'em both over at our house! . . . Mary Cole (who works at the Memo Store) and her shoulder-length tresses are a sight for tireless orbs . . Rosa Lee Lincoln and Ruth Mills (two eyeful eyefuls) sippin' Cocah-Colah at the Downbeat, and having more fun than anybody.

Say You Saw It In The EAGLE

Even With a 'Resevation' They Couldn't Get In At Ciro's Club

By J. T. Gipson, Theatrical Editor

Last Tuesday evening Artie Graves, popular young sportsman and Rosetta Tharpe, guitar-playing-singing "sister" of songs, decided to drop in at Ciro's and pay respects to their friend, Nat "King" Cole.

When the couple arrived at the club they were stopped at the entrance by a stern-looking gent whose business occupation is "head-waiter," who asked if they had reservations.

"Yes, we have reservations," Mr. Graves replied. "Then there must be some mistake," the maitre d' answered, "because we're filled up." Mr. Graves explained that he phoned his reservation in, but the gent whose occupation is "head-waiter" continued to use the phrase "Then there must be some mistake, because we're filled up."

When the two continued to seek admission, the head-waiter became insulting and abusive. He stated that he wouldn't seat them as the club was filled up.

The club wasn't filled when I telephoned in for reservations," Mr. Graves snapped, and walked out. He is turning the case over to Attorney Walter L. Gordon, Jr.

When King Cole heard of the incident, he angrily retorted to Graves, "This job doesn't mean so much to me that my people have to be insulted when they come to hear us play. I'll be your witness. Cole reportedly said later in conversation with Graves, "It doesn't matter how much money you get in suing the place—but this kind of stuff must be broken down!"

Artie Graves and Sister Rosetta Tharpe, with Nat King Cole as a witness, will attempt to break it down when their case comes up before a judge.

A similar incident occurred Sunday night when Mr. and Mrs. Al Epps visited the Melodee club on East Slauson Blvd. They were denied tables of their choice, and were told if they wanted to come in they must take a seat "in the back with the rest of the Negroes." Mrs. Epps, whose first name is Ruth, is one of the town's top milliners.

Nellie Lutcher recently closed at that spot.

Marl Young At Downbeat Tues., Aug. 17

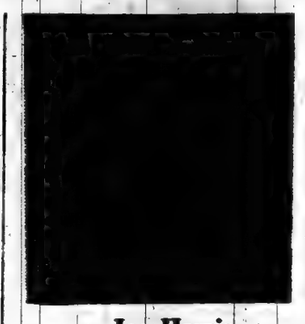
Tuesday evening, Aug. 17, Marl Young and his recording orchestra return to the Downbeat club bandstand for an indefinite stay, replacing Joe Liggins and his Honeydrippers.

Also featured with Young's great young band is Judy Carol, shapely songstress who formerly sang with Lucky Millinder's orchestra and "Spoons" Donaldson.

Marl Young, who made a rep in Chicago music circles during his stay at Joe Louis' Rhumboogie club, is also the music arranger for Little Miss Cornshucks and T-Bone Walker, and has written several swing masterpieces for the Benny Goodman band.

Bunky Alston Killed As He Lay Sleeping

COLUMBUS, Ohio — Norman "Bunky" Alston, one of the nation's top trumpet players and featured star with the Percy Lowry band here, was shot and killed last week by his pretty young wife as he lay asleep in his bed.



"Bunky," as he was affectionately known throughout the music kingdom, was working as a mail carrier and had spurned several offers to travel with "name" bands in preference to remaining in Columbus with his wife and 2-year old son.

Alston, whose brother, Harvey, is Columbus' first and only Negro police Seargant, wrote the song, "Hot Licks For Brass," which was featured by Lionel Hampton's band.

Humphrey Bogart To Star in Pic Written by Negro

The first Columbia picture to star actor Humphrey Bogart will be Willard Motley's thrilling "Knock on My Door," the best seller which Frank Sinatra begged to star in.

Motley's book written in Chicago about Chicago slums, will be the second Negro-authored novel to hit the screen recently. The first was Frank Yorby's "Foxes of Harrow."

Nice Work If You Can Get It, and Joe's Got It!

Joe Harris, who formerly edited the EAGLE's theatrical section, last week turned down a lucrative offer as columnist on a local daily to remain at the Lost Word niteclub as Host.

Mr. Harris, who is assistant to Manager Esvan Mosby at the Word, is an accomplished writer and has a book due out soon. He gave as his reason for turning down the daily newspaper-writing offer the fact that he has been interested in niteclub work for years and prefers that particular kind of work to writing a daily column.

Mr. Harris forgot to add that there is more money in a nightclub than there is writing a newspaper column!

EARL AND FRANCIS

Earl and Francis, internationally famous dance team, are appearing at the Cotton Club, Cincinnati. They'll be there four weeks after which they'l head back for Hollywood.

The Famous Ward Singers

The famous Ward Singers of Philadelphia are scoring a big success on their first Western concert tour. On their first visit to the coast the popular Dolphin's Recording Stars played to a capacity crowd at the Civic Auditorium in Oakland last week, and have been signed for a leading singing role in a forthcoming Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture.

They sing religious and spiritual songs, and their latest Dolphin record releases are: "Just One Moment," backed by "When I Get Home." Critics hail this singing group as top artists in their chosen profession!

The Ward Singers are currently doing concerts at Churches and Civic Auditoriums. They will remain on the coast for another month.

Dinah Has a Baby!

CHICAGO, Ill.—A lusty-voiced (natch!) eight pound son was born to songstress Dinah Washington in Providence Hospital her Monday. Both mother and baby are doing well. The newcomer has been named Robert, Jr.

Dinah's husband is Bobby Grayson, a non-professional. The singer will return to the footlights and recording studios early in September.

Turnham Band Clicks

Another young up-and-coming band you'll be hearing plenty about one of these no-too-distant days is Floyd Turnham's outfit cut at the Bal Tabarin.

Turnham, whose alto playing won him many music and popularity awards during his stay with the Les Hite and Gerald Wilson bands, took over the leaders chair left vacated by piano-playing Charles Davis after the band members voted him their leader when Davis was dropped from the crew because of "strained relations" with members of the band.

Featuring Oscar Bra drums, the Turnha rated on a par with the city and should heights when the re lifted.

Some of their musi ments should be se They're terrific!

PORTRAIT OF A PLAYBOY

I've lived my life, I've had my fun,
I've played the game, I've lost, I've won.
It matters not what others say,
As all through life I've paid my way.

Friends I've known but none I've had,
To share my luck, the good and bad—
Those so-called friends are never 'round,
To lend a hand once you're down.

Show me this creature called a sincere friend,
Who'll stick with you through thick and thin.
One who'll lend as quick as he'll borrow,
And share your happiness as well as your sorrow.

The first one to praise you when you're going strong,
The last one to fault you when everything's wrong.
I doubt that you can find that kind,
For friendship, like gold, is hard to find.

Experience has taught me since I left home,
You travel safe when you travel alone.
No questions asked, no explaining to give,
Just living and loving the life that you live.

Loving many, trusting few,
Always paddling your own canoe.
Perhaps you wonder why I talk this way?
Well, a FRIEND stole my girl away!

A COL'M O' THANX TO A COUPLA GUYS: We momentarily take time out from peckin' at a portable just long enough to thank Henry Armstrong for doing a guest col'm for us last wk. Hank's writings are breezy and to the point. And we also wanna thank the former three-time titleholder for giving us an opportunity to die rich. Hank's sending us to the mountains next month to put his life story between pages for a famed book publishing company. He'll always be a little champ in our books!

A SPORTSMAN'S HAVEN

THE OTHER SATURDAY, harrassed by the heat and the gruff voice of Managing Editor John Lee, we waddled over to the Johnson Bath House, on Western Ave., for one of those refreshing Turkish baths and rubdowns. Bob and Virginia Johnson, who operate the palatial establishment, rate a nod for giving to the community something the community didn't have before Bob and Virginia Johnson thought of giving the community something the community didn't have before. (Hell, this could go on all day.) It's a place where men and women of all walks of life gather for a few hours of complete relaxation. We love to spend our time there. Men attendants for men, and women attendants for women, and they know what they're doing! We were somewhat reluctant to drop in on our first visit for a steam bath, 'cause (hell, you can see for yourself why) we only weigh 200 pounds soaking wet with a complete set of the Encyclopedia Britannica under each arm, and for a guy this size to lose more weight would make about as much sense as Louis Armstrong giving Turkey Thompson for the heavyweight championship of California. But we, as usual, had the cow by the back of her tail. You DON'T LOSE WEIGHT, you just feel good all over after Johnson's treatments, and in case you wanna find us every Saturday afternoon you can find us at Johnson's Bath House, on Western Ave.

A KID NAMED ZANZIBAR: Some few months ago, a husky-ing youngster (he's 22) popped in port named Jimmie How-who fights under the nom de plume of KID ZANZIBAR, a name given him by Jack Dempsey. This Howard lad is the sweet-looking fighter we've seen since the days of Dynamite Jack-

Out of 30 professional fights, he's lost but three, which is the record in case you're keeping records, and most of those he won via the knockout route. He hails from Ohio and punches with all the wallop of a Kansas City mule. A boxer who packs a wallop in each mitt, Howard is one of the cleverest boxers in the game. Doesn't smoke. Doesn't drink. Takes his training seriously, and has the makings of a coming champ. If only someone could talk Dynamite Jackson into getting back in the right game (in a trainer's capacity) this fellow Kid Zanzibar would become a household word quicker than it takes my boss to say no when we try to borrow twenty dollars. Why Jackson as a trainer for Zanzibar? Because Jackson (whose real name is Ernest Bendy; and who formerly held the heavyweight title of California) knows more about fighting and the training end of the game than any retired fighter in the burg. The Kid isn't in too much of a hurry to get started in California rings. He wants to train a few weeks longer, nursing a sprained ankle, but when he does engage in a 10-round fistic encounter, take it from us—you'll see more action with Howard throwing the gloves than you can ever hope to see with any of these other so-called "top" boxing "kings" of California! 'Nuff sed.

JOE LOUIS and wife Marva are shown above looking as sharp as the proverbial tack. The retired (?) heavyweight champ and his wife are shown arriving in New York following a vacation trip to Europe. Joe spends his leisure hours playing Golf. Last week at Roslyn L. I., the Champ added to his mounting golf defeats by dropping 4 and 2 decisions to Judson Grant of Los Angeues. While Joe's golf isn't bad, it surely lacks the calibre of his boxing.

Reversal Gives U.S. Track Team First in Relay

LONDON—Hy, say ol' chap, it's just bloody tough luck for the British. Great Britain lost its only track and field victory Tuesday last after winning it. Does that sound possible? Read on, brother, read on.

A couple of Tuesdays ago the officials unwound a spool of movie film of that much-discussed and disputed 400-meter relay and after the picture was over, the United States team of Barney Ewell, Lorenzo Wright, Harrison Dillard and Mel Patton was given the decision.

The United States team won the relay by a dozen yards as Pell-Mell Patton raced the last leg. But Great Britian was awarded the victory with America ruled out of the picture.

The dispute came about when officials stated that Ewell and Wright illegally passed the blazing 400-meter relay finals. The motion picture of the photo finished in question caused the Judges to reverse their decision of two weeks ago.

WILLIAMS VS. FLORES

NEW YORK—Lightweight king Ike Williams signed last week to defend his 135-pound title against Jess Flores of Stockton, Cal., in a 15-round bout at the Yankee Stadium, Sept. 22.

HOT RODS .....

An experience-packed field of 31 hotrod jockey gathers for 95 laps of scurying and scrambling next Monday night (August 16) at Gilmore Stadium, as the 1948 racing season slides into its eighth week.

A NEW TURKEY THOMPSON will be ready to do battle at the Hollywood Legion Friday night when he meets Whitey Berlier, the fighting heavywieght King of Texas. Thompson has shelved most of the added poundage from his hefty frame and is now down to a trim fighting weight. The Turk believes he can fill the shoes Joe Louis vacated when the champ announced his retirement.

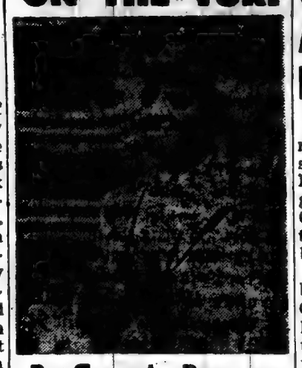
Was Shelved By Commish

Watson Jones, the playboy of the boxing ring and probably one of California's all-time greatest drawing cards, was given the green light last week by the State Athletic Commission to resume his boxing career.

Alexander Dumas Watson Jones, a 'classy light-heavyweight boxer who throws plenty of leather when he's in a leather-throwing mood, was suspended after a match last March in Oakland with Bert Lytel. In that engagement Lytell won by a TKO in the fifth round, but Jones was et down for what was termed an "insufficient performance."

Jones proved that he wasn't "dogging" it, as the Commission suspected, and his story was so convincing the former State Light Heavyweight king had his boxing license returned.

Redskins Tangle With L. A. Rams September 2nd



Within an hour after their special Santa Fe Pullman rumbled into town on Monday, a businesslike band of Washington Redskins set up their wigwams on the Occidental College Campus.

Headed by Harry Gilmer, Alabama's great All-American quarterback, 26 new stars have been added to the Redskin Roster.

The veterans were headed by the National League's record smashing passer, Elingin' Sammy Baugh. The tall Texan attired in his half gallon Stetson, blue cotton shirt, jeans and cowboy boots, led the 24 vetertans of previous campaigns.

The addition of Eddie Saenz, former great Tropan speedster to the veteran roster brought forth a smile from head coach Turk Edwards. Saenz had been considered a hold out. Edwards reflected the attitude of the entire Redskin outfit when he declared that this was a business trip. The business at hand being a victory in the annual charity game with the Los Angeles Rams in the Coliseum on Thursday night, Sept. 2.

ON THE TURF

By Geo. A. Ramsey

CALIENTE, Old Mexico—Pretty Mary, the good looking daughter of Gallant Sir finally made good in the feature race at the border course last Sunday by sprinting to a two length victory, beating some of the best sprinters on the grounds. Taking the lead at the break the brown mare made it a wire to wire win. Hugging the rail and running straight, she made a show of her field. Paying in the mutuels $6.00, as the public favorite. In the secondary attraction "The Decathlon" at six furlongs straight on the hottest favorite in many months scored an easy victory over Brown Box held at six to one. With Sunny Grove a longshot third. The winner paid $3.00. and ran the distance in 1:12 2/5. Six favorites were able to visit the charmed circle and the books took a good lacing. The crowd was one of the largest in many months more than seven thousand lovers of the sport of king were on hand for a fine program of twelve races. The daily-double combination of Better No Bet winner of the second race and Valdina Joy victor the third paid $30.20. While the quniela backer received $48.00. when Honest Moe was first and Kharian was second. This Sunday General Manager Walter C. Marty has arranged two feature attractions one at six furlongs and the other at one and one-sixteenth miles. Again the best sprinters will meet in the sprint dash. While some of the best middle distance runner will compete in the longer race. All in all twelve races filled with thrills and excitement will greet the fans this Sunday. As announced some time ago the popular general manager William Collier of the greyhounds races brought the the west for the first time in history two of the finest greyhounds in the world. One of them is Beach Comber who won his second race last Sunday night and with the ease that he done make him the outstanding champion at the border course. He ran the rastest 5-16ths-of-a-mile turned in by any greyhound this season. My Pleasure hold the record at this distance 31 3/5. It was in the Betty Grable Handicap that Beach Comber scored his handy victory. No Refund. Another champion that will give Beach Comber plenty trouble next time these to great greyhounds meet. General Manager Collier should be congratulated in bringing the the best hounds in the country to the border track.

BULLETIN

NEW YORK—Babe Ruth, the most famous name in baseball, lies seriously ill at Memorial Hospital, suffering from cancer and allied diseases. The Bambino, idol of youth, is in a critical condition, and is fighting for his life as hordes of fans and friends patiently await news of the Babe's recovery. There's a prayer in every heart for the Bambino's speedy recovery.

Tommy Campbell Ready for Bigtime

Wants a Shot at Enrique Bolanos

Not since jabbing John Thomas showed up has the eastside railbirds had a chance to yell foa a coming champion, until this year when Tommy Campbell, a young married man, appeared on the local boxing scene. Trained by Chalky Wright, Campbell has advanced by leaps and bounds until today his owner and trainer, Wright, insists he (Campbell) is ready for any and all comers, preferably Enrique Bolanos.

In his last start Tommy flattened one Tony Mar who, although not the top notcher, is a tough cookie in his own right, and when Campbell disposed of him in six rounds at the Olympic last Tuesday night it stamped the young lightweight with a "ready now" seal.

The question of "who can whip who" with regards to Enrique Bolanos, who without a doubt has the best charted course of any fighter in the game today, said mentor being one George Parnassus who knows all the questions and answers, is the query of the day in Los Angeles fight circles. Bolanos got over Eddie Giosa the other week by a TKO when Giosa, seemingly ahead of a rusty Bolanos, went to the canvas after receiving what looked like a light blow to the elbow.

Enrique looked none too good in winning the fight, and although he was certainly rusty due to a layoff he shouldn't have had that much trouble with a fighter of Giosa's caliber. Such a performance brought the Campbell rooters out in force and they are demanding a match with Bolanos.

Chalky Wright, who handles the up and coming youngster, is outspoken in his belief that his fighter can whip Bolanos. He says Campbell will whip Bolanos "anytime, anywhere!" Wright should know. He beat Bolanos once and "lost" twice in decision bouts. The first bout was the real fight. Bolanos had no chance. Then of course Chalky was brought back to fight Bolanos again, and Chalky wasn't right that night, losing a close one.

When an authority like Wright says Campbell can whip any lightweight on the coast, including Bolanos, it behooves one to take heed. The odds are two to one it will never come off until Parnassus knows for certain whether or not Bolanos can whip Campbell or they are ready to throw the popular Mexican lad to the wolves and get another meal ticket.

Meanwhile Tommy will cool his heels until he either gets disgusted, out of shape, or through and fighters will be imported to be guinea pigs for the favorites to build up their puny abilities. It's a case of "you can't see the forest for the trees."

Fitzpatrick - Morrow In Return Go At Olympic Tuesday Night

Fightin' Fitzy Fitzpatric,k the Irishman with the 'iron chin and stout heart, meets Len Morrow Tuesday night in a return 10-round joust at the Olympic Auditorium. Fightin' Fitzy dropped a 5th round TKO to Morrow some few weeks ago in what has now gone down in the Olympic ring history books as the top fistic encounter of the year. It was a brawl to end all brawls, with Fitzpatrick sending "The Little Joe Louis" to the canvas on several different occasions.

day night, Sept. 17 is a date to set aside, if you like your fighting in a brawling form.

Tfter three rounds, the Bronze atomic bomber from up Oakland way found his mark and dished out merciless punishment to the Irishman before the referee wisely halted the slaughter.

Beating Fitzpatrick was no easy job for Len Morrow, rated a miniature Joe Louis (and who definitely lived up to his advance billing on his debut here), and if the second fight proves one-third as interesting as their first match, then Tues-

Morrow is boxing's hottest discovery of the year, but Fitzy's been around for a long time, which gives him a mite more experience. Both are deadly punchers. Both are dead game. Both are clever boxers. Both are always in the peak of condition. And both (love that word!) should give you your money's worth Tuesday night at the Olympic.

Morrow will go in as the favorite, but the Gip tabs Fitzy to win this one after a hard-fought battle.

EAGLE MUSIC CRITIC

Mayme Richardson, soprano

Staff writer Chatwood Hall of the Afro-American gave us an exciting account of a U. S. Soprano who recently became the first top-ranking American artist ever to appear in Ethiopia. Mayme Richardson. Miss Richardson, soprano, presented a program of Art Songs, Spirituals, and Folk Songs, in the auditorium of Cinema Ethiopia, largest hall in the city.

Despite a tropical downpour, Miss Richardson's concert proved a success, people coming by car and fast, including numbers of the European Colony.

Her rendition of the aria from Verdi's opera "Aida," dressed in a native Ethiopian costume, made a special hit with the audience. She was ably accompanied by Madame Dobbusse and Mlle. Baghdassarian.

While here Miss Richardson gave a "command" performance at the American Legation upon the invitation of American Minister, George Merrell.

During the heavy fighting in Jerusalem, Miss Richardson said she had several harrowing experiences, sometimes being suspected of being an Arab by the Jews and of being a Jewess by the Arabs. Through the help of the American consul, who was later killed, she was transported out of Jerusalem by a roundabout way to the coast and safety.

Eighth Notes

Correspondence of long standing has finally reached my desk here at the University: it is interesting to note the number of outstanding musical everts which have been made available to music lovers.

My good friend and colleague, Robert V. Edwards, deserves community plaudits for the very unique program entitled "An All Request Programme" which was presented the early part of July in historic First A.M.E. Church of which the Dr. F. D. Jordan is the Minister. The presentation featured talented Bill Valentine, and New Yorkers, that is by adoption, Ann Hunter and Gloria Roberts. In Miss Edwards, we find the same urge and desire for accomplishments that permeates our thinking in so far as Church Music activities and community cultural opportunities are concerned. The program planning deserves mention here. Ballots upon which the Senior Choir's complete repertoire had been noted, were mailed to interested patrons. A request was made to submit numbers of interest. This certainly was a performance of community interest and community planning. Assisting Miss Edwards was Gussie Bacon, dynamic veteran prexy of the choir; and Sara Lumpkins, charming pianist. . . . May we acknowledge Alpha Kappa Alpha's invitation to attend an "Artist Recital" held recently in honor of Edna Over Gray, Supreme Basileus. Appearing on the Concert were artists of reputation: Rubeline Long, Naida McCullough and Georgia Ann Laster. . . . Undoubtedly the Entre-Nous's presentation of Mary Woodard, Lillian Moore, and Katie Miller recently in Masonic Temple was an overwhelming success. Only miles could prevent our appearance. . . . Netta Paullyn Garner, concert pianist and Instructor in Piano at Lincoln University, has returned to Los Angeles for an indefinite stay.

ALABAMA'S ALL-AMERICAN, Hurlin' Harry Gilmer, now with the Washington Redskins, displays form that made him deadliest passer inthe Southeastern Conference. In his sophmore year, 'Bama went to Rose Bowl and wallaped USC Jan 1, 1946. As a freshman, Gilmer led Tide into Sugar Bowl Jan. 1, 1945. where he set record of eight complete passes in eight tosses. Gilmer will be seen in action at the Coliseum on Sept. 2, when the Redskins meet the LA Rams.

Satchel Paige Receives Credit for Another Win

Satchel Paige, the ageless twirler now doing more than his bit for the Cleveland Indians, received credit for another game in the column last Sunday before a sell-out crowd of 73, 484 screaming partisans when he relieved Ed Klieman in the inning and shutout the Yankees for 1 1⅔ innings. Paige has now won four games and lost one and saved at least four more for starting pitchers.

The Indians won both games, 8-6 and 2-1.

When Cleveland signed Paige, the critics were skeptical of his ability to help the Indians, due to his longevity in baseball. Those who were close to "Satch" knew he could help any club, because at the tender age of 42 he can outpitch almost anyone in the big show!

Only once in 10 games has he allowed more than one hit in any one inning. His drawing power was also demonstrated the other night when the Cleveland management announced a day ahead that Paige was to start his first major league game. Playing Washington, a sixth-place club 19½ games from the top, more than 72,000 paying customers showed up to see Satchel do his stuff and he did, by beating Washington easily, allowing seven hits, three runs, walking four and striking out six by the score of 8-3.

Plans are going ahead for a big "Satchel Paige day" at Wrigley Field when he makes his annual fall coast jaunt with the barnstorming majors. This year however, Paige will be allowed to play only the regular 30 days after the close of the major league season. Merchants will give many gifts to Paige and a huge program is being planned.

The date hinges on whether or not Cleveland wins the American League flag and with the wishes of Paige's many friends boosting them on it is difficult to see how they can miss.

Lary Doby, the other race member of the Indians, is more than holding his own, also. Playing center and right field, he hasn't been out of the lineup since his return from an injury 10 days ago. Doby bats either in the cleanup spot (fourth) or third. Driving in runs is his forte and he has six home runs to his credit.

Docusen Dukes Trigo

Little Maxie Docusen, a New Orleans scrapper who could have easily been a motion picture star (according to our social secretary, Bedelia Caladonia Pratt) had he not decided on a career in the pugilistic field, came out on the winning end of what was scheduled as a 10-round argument Tuesday night at the Olympic auditorium with Mario Trigo when a cut eye in the third round lost Trigo a TKO duke.

It was a good fight as far as good fights go, and a near-capacity house sat tense as Trigo, on a coupla occasions, rocked the idol of the local clout circuit and buckled his knees with two sharp hooks on Little Duke's jaw.

Trigo was a substitute for bantamweight king Manuel Ortiz and the good fight he put up before he was forced out of action with the eye cut in all probability earned him a return match with the younger of the fighting Docusens.

Docusen weighed 132, Trigo tipped the beams ot 134.

In the six-round semi-wind-up, Richard Jones, 144, scored a split decision over Phil Sampson and the crowd booed the decision. The action in the Jones-Sampson fight was slower than the B car from 51st and Ascot to 5th and Main.

Hy Say, Ol' Top Let's Get Ready For the 1st Lydy

NEW YORK CITY—"Blimey, hit's the First Lydy, herself. Wot a stroke of bloody luck, hy say!" Comes September 27 in London, that will be the gist of conversation among patrons of the famed Palladium, English music mecca.

The reason for the exchange of verbal gladness this coming fall is the renowned songstress, Ella Fitzgerald, who has just completed negotiations with the Palladium for a month long engagement at the London music hall.

Ella, hubby Ray Brown and accompanist Hank Jones will make the 3000 mile journey abroad another queen—the Queen Mary.

London columnists published the news of Ella's forthcoming appearance and, as a result, there has been a rush among record dealers to import as many Ella Fitzgerald discs as possible. The trouble is, that no matter how many they get their hands on, it isn't enough. Ella's fans buy out the records as soon as they arrive in the shops.

DINAH SHORE

Dinah Shore will fly to London August 27th, taking along her daughter, Melissa Ann. A few days later, husband George Montgomery will also board a plane for England, arriving just in time for Dinah's opening at the famed Palladium.

her way across the threshold of the Elks Auditorium, beautifully garbed in either a red or white formal gown, with an expectancy for having a perfect evening. Sticking true to form, the younger brothers of Kappa Alpha Psi, afforded, just the answer to the debs expectations, for a perfect evening is exactly what held sway. Wearing white jackets with dark trousers, the more than 50 Scroller Pledge club members, headed by Herbie Howard, were the gents of the evening. To name a few who mingled in the foyer of the popular Elks Hall or on the crowded dance floor, the handles of Samuel Strain, John Delgardo, Wally Miles, Frank Harvey Jr., Tommy Kyser come to mind. Many were the neophyte Kappas in attendance who just couldn't forget last year, when they too were little brothers. . . .

On last Saturday evening, the Playtimers donned dark skirts and white blouses to greet friends at their annual invitational cocktail soiree. The Taylor play room was the scene of the affair, and believe me it was quite a gathering. Alice Watkins was quite fashionable garbed in a silver blue leme cocktail dress with silver accessories. Noted the newlywed Gerald Stovalls, Pauline still blushing as friends passed congratulations. The LaFrance Browns were much in evidence, first time ye scribe has seen them since they said "I Do." Johnnie and Betty Alston were full of interesting chatter on the new home they purchased west of Crenshaw. The barbeque pit and the like, sounds for very pleasant living. Flo Nukes, who has been re-elected president of the Mothers League was there with her better half; Sis and Rip Russell both sporting tans following a brief vacation in Val Verde, seemed to be enjoying a perfect evening. Gwen Simmons, Leola Hatcher, Joe and Ann Clay Johnson and oodles more made up the guest list for this delightful affair.

By the way, the Turnabout Charity Club's cocktail party should be a "must" on your list of Sunday affairs. The girls have set the hour for 4:00 in the afternoon. An array of talent has been listed to appear, and the M.C. for the affair will be J. T. Gipson. Dancing will also be an added feature. Among Turnabout members who will be on hand as hostesses will be Jane Hampton, Haroldine Browning, Lula Green, Ruth Kenner, Mel Blocker, Joyce Steward and the rest of the lovelies.

August 22, is the date set by the Mothers League for their Fashion Review, and Ralphe Porter's Casa Raphael will be the scene of the affair. New members accepted were, Norma Green, Gladys Carter, Anita King, Beverly Clarke and Josephine Birch.

Pretty Vaine Hassen, is mixing summer fun with the study of law. . . . The Crop 'N' Tailers spent the week end up at the Fearence summer place in Elsinore. . . . Freda and Rene DeKnight, leave L. A. this week-end for points East. . . . Dr. E. I. Robinson still recuperating, will do part of it in New York, while attending the Medical convention. . . . Members of the board of directors of Henderson Community Center accepted with regret the resignation of directress Mary Lou Roberson, who will start teaching the 3Rs come Sept. . . . While mentioning the Henderson name, Velva, the charming wife of Rev. J. R. Henderson, is taking her millinery very seriously and will be ready for her first showing on August 29. . . . Gertrude Gipson, EAGLE scribe left by plane for New York this morning. Before returning to L. A. she will visit relatives in New Jersey. The whole trip will take a little more than two weeks. . . . Libby Clark, back from her Eastern visit, is now scribing for the Defender. . . . The Silver Spurs, gave one of the most outstanding affairs in their 3 years of organization when they entertained on Sunday evening, in celebration of their third anniversary. . . .

From up Seattle way, petite Freddie Mae Hurd, jots happenings. Edyth Mary Baun, popular pianist will leave Seeattle for Paris this month to complete her studies. Her sister, Milley, just received the bit of sheep skin from Seattle College and is now an X-Ray Technician. . . . Mrs. Doris Miller, the former Mrs. Doris Houston of this city, is quite the social leader in Seeattle. . . . Jimmy Boyd is head printer at EAGLE now.

Buckeyes Meet the Blues

Cleveland's Buckeyes, currently the second place club in the Negro American League, will meet the Asheville (N. C.) Blues of the newly formed Negro American Association at League Park on Sunday, August 15. The Blues first appeared in Cleveland last August when they were members of the Southern Association.

The Blues are tabbed as one of the best teams in the south. They won the first-half race in their circuit with a record of 40 wins and 9 losses and are leading the second half with a 12-2 posting. The Bucks finished second in the first half and are now challenging the Kansas City Monarchs for the top spot—which they must win if they're to play in the post-season playoffs and the subsequent world series.

COUNT BASIE (with Billie Holiday) topped the all-time record at the N. Y. Strand theatre a coupla weeks ago when they bagged down a hefty 93 Grand during their stay there.

Duke Ellington Rejoins Band

Duke Ellington proved such a draw in England that the entire program had to be altered to give him more time on the stage reports Harold Fielding, the veteran producer who organized Duke's tour and proclaimed it the most successful he ever managed. In France too, it was the same happy story.

The legion of Ellington admirers, aware of the fact that he would be in the country only three days, staged veritable mob scenes at the box offices. Now Ellington is on his way back to America, where he rejoins his band for a tour starting in mid-August.

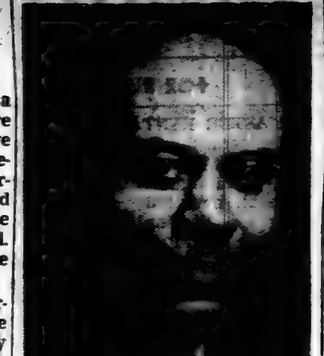
Boycott Roosters? Eat Some Boosters

High meat prices may have an adverse effect on the public health here unless families cutting down their meat purchases replace the loss with protein boosters.

That was the prediction today of Dr. George M. Uhl, city health officer, who said that the drop in meat buying could easily result in serious nutritional deficiencies.

"A lack of protein in the diet not only leaves the person susceptible to infection, but also prolongs recovery," Dr. Uhl said.

Tax Exempt Property



SACRAMENTO — Locally assessed tangible property valued, before exemptions, at $11,352,721,790 was reported by county assessors to the State Board of Equalization, which met this week in Sacramento for intercounty equalization.

This total, based on county assessment rolls before local equalization, exceeded last year's final assessed value by $1,169,334,958 and represented a gain of 11.5 per cent in the value of property assessed by local officials, acording to William G. Bonelli, Chairman of the State Board of Equalization.

Passenger Steals Bus

While thousands of people everywhere complain about their streetcar and bus service, there was one man in Detroit, Mich., who did something about it.

While the driver of the 26-passenger bus was loitering over his coffee in a coffee shop, an impatient passenger started the bus and got away with it. The bus without any passengers was discovered later in an alley several blocks away.

DR. I. B. ENGLISH, prominent physician and surgeon here, is scheduled to speak on the surgical panel headed by famed Dr. Charles Drew of Washington, D. C. during the 53rd Annual Convention of the National Medical Association in New York, August 16-20. Dr. English came here three years ago from Springfield, Ill. He is a graduate of Meharry medical college His internship was at Homer G. Phillips hospital in St. Louis, Mo., the institution he later served as resident surgeon. Dr. English will deliver a paper on Perforated Pepsic Ulcers before the convention.

Institute Opens Classes

The Metaphysical Bible Institute of Progressive Christianity Inc. begins fall classes, August 30.

Why not learn to solve your own problems? Also, help others. You can learn through systematic study of the Science of Metaphysics as lived and taught by Jesus Christ. You may know the art of having a peaceful, happy, healthy and prosperous life just by taking a little time each day to learn what these things are, and how to use the Divine Law for your wellbeing.

We realize the need for better trained counselors, instructors, practitioners, ministers of metaphysics and personal spiritual growth among all people everywhere. Therefore, a provision is made for your graduation when you have completed the requirement for the above courses.

A correspondence department is maintained for those who find it inconvenient to attend the regular classes. However, there are class schedules to meet every convenience. You may write a letter or post card and get full information about the terms and time.

Address all mail to Dr. Lucy Johnson, June Cobb Institute Bldg., 1195 East 55th St.

A free lecture on The Seventh Sense will be given on Sunday Aug. 22nd at 4:00 p.m. Questions will be answered after the lecture, on the Subject of Metaphysirs and its many uses, by Dr. Johnson. No donation or offering will be taken at this time. 9-2

Cities and Counties Get Tax Refunds

SACRAMENTO, California — Thomas H. Kuchel, State Controller, this week apportioned to the citise and counties of California $23,816,584 of motor vehicle license fee ("in lieu" tax) revenues, an increase of $12,789,674 over the allocation made during July, 1947.

One-half, or $11,908,292 was distributed to the 304 cities of the State, and a like amount was apportioned to the 58 counties. The allocation was made on a population basis, with a per capita rate for cities of $1.76, and a county rate of $1.72.

Museum Films Have Canadian Flavor

Canada will be the theme of the next program, Friday, August 13, at 8 p.m., in the series of documentary films being presented each week at the Los Angeles County Museum in Exposition Park.

Six films will be run, the titles of which are: "Face of Time," "Painters of Quebec," "Banff to Lake Louise," "Chants Populaires No. 4," "Music in the Wind," and "Ski in the Valley of the Saints."

The film programs, ending August 27 next, are presented by the education division of the Museum in collaboration with the Museum Association and the County Board of Supervisors. No admission is charged.

IT IS BLESSED TO FORGIVE

To forgive those that do us harm is not easy. It requires great faith and courage—to forgive those who would wreck our homes, bring sadness into our hearts and destruction to our loved ones.

You will find, however, that if you can accomplish this feat you will cease to toss and turn at night as you used to do because your thoughts were of the wrongs done to you, or trying to plan revenge. Instead you will sleep peacefully, and you will discover something still more wonderful, for your heart will also be glad and your daily activities made easy.

PROF. HERMAN'S book, "With God All Things Are Possible," will further aid you in finding happiness and comfort. Send for it at your earliest convenience.

O. F. T.: Will we carry out our plans?

ANSWER: Probing into the matter I find that you have made several plans with T. B., for the future and are wondering if they will materialize. Have no fears, many good things are revealed to me that may bring you much happiness and success.

B. B.: I have an idea for a motion picture story. What do you suggest I do to sell it?

ANSWER: Perhaps if you write to any one of the well-known studios in California, they would be interested in your idea and request your finishing the story so that they might read it, and let you know just what possibilities it has.

G. E. M.: Does he really intend to keep his word?

ANSWER: You must dismiss your doubts and suspicions if you want to find happiness with this young man. He has tried to prove how he feels about you and if nothing unforeseen intervenes, will keep his word.

Mrs. N. T. T.: Will I be able to enjoy life as I desire?

ANSWER: Your Lucky Stars and Guiding Planet indicate many changes taking place in your home which will no doubt bring you peace of mind and happiness. At present you are very much dissatisfied because some things haven't been going so well. Look forward to this change making a great difference in your life.

F. C. V.: Will my husband and I ever live together again?

ANSWER: Because of the limited amount of space in the column I am unable to answer your question as I would like to do. If you will write in for a private reply I shall be more than glad to help you.

Hann Announces Some Improvements At 49th and Central

Councilman Kenneth Hahn announced this week that his request for a crosswalk at 49th and Central Avenue was approved.

The Councilman requested the Board of Police Commissioners to approve this crosswalk because there is heavy traffic on Central Avenue and many people have to cross this busy intersection without the aid of any safety devices.

Hahn also announced that the repair work at 49th and Central (northeast corner) has been completed.
